The Wine and Spirit Gazette has no faith in the boasted prosperity of the country. The liquor business is not as good as it was under the Cleveland administration, consequently it is out for Bryan.

"The same old story, the same old candidate, the same old issue, and the same old end," is the remark of a disgusted Eastern editor. Lots of Democratic editors would say the same thing if they dared.

"We are not troubling ourselves about the elevation of the tracks," said a railway attorney last night. "Even if the Taggart people were in earnest, which they are not, their ordinance was made defective."

After noting that the largest Democratic losses were in those localities where Mr. Bryan did the most speaking in 1896, Republicans are not unwilling that he should go about Indiana as much as his engagements elsewhere will permit.

Mr. Ehrlich, a gold Democrat and an anti-expansionist, wants gold Democrats to vote for Bryan, but favors a third ticket for a class of men who will not vote for Bryan and may vote for McKinley.

Admiral Dewey lost no time in denouncing as a tissue of falsehood the letter which Senator Pettigrew received from one of Aguinaldo's generals.

Mr. Ehrlich, who was a prominent gold Democrat in 1896 and is a gold monometalist, is going to support Mr. Bryan because he thinks the gold standard to be permanently established.

The announcement that the extensive works about Chicago engaged in the manufacture of farm machinery have shut down and given their 7,000 employes a rest would give the political calamity great satisfaction.

The Democratic Legislature of North Carolina passed a Goebel election law which puts the counting of the votes in the control of the Democrats.

Some one has recalled the report that Chairman Jones, of the Democratic national committee, is a shareholder in the round-bale cotton trust, which is a company controlling the patents for pressing cotton into round bales.

The more the Kansas City platform is considered the more interesting incongruities it presents. It begins with the declaration "We regard imperialism as the paramount issue."

the men had in the Spanish war. They have learned in the school of experience what it is to be a soldier. The knowledge should inspire a soldierly spirit and ambition to make the Indiana National Guard a far more effective organization than it was before the Spanish war.

BRYAN'S ELECTION AND THE SENATE.

Now and then a man who was a gold Democrat in 1896 and is a Bryanite now finds an excuse for voting for Mr. Bryan in the declaration that the gold standard is safe for four or six years because of the present make-up of the Senate.

How does the matter stand? When the gold standard bill passed the Senate eighty-five senators voted or were paired.

There were vacancies in four States, and one senator, Mr. Kyle, of South Dakota, did not vote.

Alaska has been governed without the consent of the governed, yet there was no fear of empire until the United States did with the Philippines what it did with Louisiana, Indiana, and is now doing with New Mexico and Alaska. But these facts are not new.

The only movement to govern people without their consent is that of the Democrats in the South. The negro is far better qualified to participate in government than the Filipino, because he has been familiar with the forms of popular government all his life.

The Democrats in three Southern States have already deprived thousands of colored men of the right to vote "without their consent." In three other States the disfranchisement is going on without the consent of those to whom it is applied.

The Journal would like to print the expression of a fair-minded Democrat on this robbing of several hundred thousands of colored men of the right to vote without their consent.

So long as Democrats silently witness this outrage, it is absurd for them to be so solicitous about governing the Tagalogs.

The space that has been given to the report of the experts on the bookkeeping of the School Board and to the explanations regarding it seems to be wasted. Not a dollar has been stolen or misappropriated.

The administration is moving in an earnest and positive manner in the Chinese affair. Even if the diplomats in Peking are alive, as is now claimed, and as appears more probable, the consent of the President to act as mediator for China is so given that the negotiations must be made through our minister in China.

ver, as are the issues of 1900 more important than the issues of 1896. A gold Democrat who has the purpose of providing our Philippine policy satisfactory, ought certainly to vote straight for Mr. McKinley.
