HARRISON MEMORIAL MEETINGS HELD GENERALLY. Special Services Held at the Young Men's Christian Association in This City.

ADDRESS BY REV. F. O. BALLARD. REV. T. J. VILLERS'S MEMORIAL SERMON AT FIRST BAPTIST.

Rev. R. V. Hunter's Tribute at the Seventh Presbyterian Meetings Held Throughout the State.

Memorial services over the death of General Harrison were held in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association building yesterday afternoon.

Mr. T. C. Day, who presided, said: "My friends, we have met this afternoon to consider the influence of the religion of Jesus Christ upon the heart and character of the great man whom we mourn today."

After the reading of a scripture lesson by Rev. C. E. Bacon, of Roberts Park Church, and a song by the quartet from the First Baptist Church, Rev. F. O. Ballard, of Memorial Presbyterian Church, delivered the address.

The Rev. Mr. Ballard first gave a brief review of the ex-President's life before taking up his subject proper. He said the newspapers and public comment had told much about General Harrison's personality relating to political, industrial and social life, but as a Christian he had not been discussed.

Mr. Ballard said he would confine his remarks to what he would call the influence of the Christian religion upon the life of the man. He said he considered a Christian the very best defense for adverse commentary against Christianity.

Continuing, he said: "He believed in the common doctrine of Christianity. It is not that he believed in any one particular church. We are all the same. He loved the sweetness of the Christian faith, this intellect, which had such a grasp of justice, this intellect, which had such a grasp of politics; this intellect, which had such a grasp of matters of state and the powers that belong to statesmanship."
