Then the Irish were the slaves of the landlords and had no incentive to industry, for the harder they worked the higher went the rents. Parnell lifted off a part of the burden of rent and capricious eviction, and under a government concession 50,000 Irish farmers are buying their farms from the landlords. IS CHILDREN'S DAY

JUDGE STUBBS WILL KEEP CLOSE WATCH ON YOUNGSTERS.

Two Ordinances Considered by the Committee, but Present Laws Are Sufficient If Enforced.

As the result of a meeting of the Council committee on public safety and comfort yesterday afternoon with Police Judge Stubbs, Police Superintendent Taffe, Prosecutor Collins, Chief Truant Officer Perry N. Hiser and the Rev. W. V. Wheeler, superintendent of the Rescue Mission, new methods of dealing with juvenile offenders of all kinds and sizes were adopted, and will at once be put in force.

The committee meeting was held for the purpose of taking action on general ordinances Nos. 69 and 70, recently introduced by Mr. Negley, chairman of the committee. The first ordinance provides for taking into custody vagrant and mendicant children, and gives to the authorities a sort of paternal supervision of youngsters without proper connections. The other measure

Judge Stubbs, Prosecutor Collins, Superintendent Taffe, Truant Officer Hiser and Mr. Wheeler are greatly interested in of dealing with boys and girls who sin the meeting. During the consideration of the ordinances they volunteered a number of suggestions, several of which induced the committee to decide against favorable action on one measure and to delay action on the other. THE ORDINANCE KILLED. The ordinance providing for the taking into custody of truant and vagabond children was killed by the committee because discussion indicated it was the general opinion that the Board of Children's Guardians' act and the truancy act passed by the Legislature and the city ordinance against loitering furnished enough law on the question, and the ordinance could be dispensed with if more care were taken by ing exact reports to headquarters. When discussion of the ordinance providing against incarceration of children with older persons came up Mr. Hiser suggested to the members of the committee and to Judge Stubbs that the ordinance is not necessary providing one or two new ideas were put in force by the police department and by Judge Stubbs. Mr. Hiser recommended that the cases of all juvenile offenders who are arrested during one week be continued until some afternoon toward the close of the week, when their cases could all be heard at the same time. In that manner children could be tried separately from older and more hardened criminals. Mr. | minutes ride of Union Stockyards. Hiser declared that the moral effect of such a course would be great. Judge Stubbs agreed with Mr. Hiser as to the value of the idea, and remarked that he would put it in force at once. He set Friepidemic. The college authorities have he would consider juvenile cases exclusivecumstances affecting each case and to allow him to confer in each case, if possible, with the parents of the children. The committee expressed its approval of the idea.

MR. HISER'S SUGGESTION. Another suggestion made by Mr. Hiser governed the committee in its decision to set aside the ordinance, temporarily, at least. The truant officer suggested to Superintendent Taffe that he instruct his paat night. Through the superintendent Mr. Hiser, as chief truant officer, would then be in a position to investigate each case and see if the child in question could be got into school or kept off the street without having it arrested and subjected to the ceration in a station house. Prosecutor Collins warmly commended the plans outlined by Mr. Hiser, and declared they would go far toward solving one of the lice department and school authorities have to deal. The Rev. Mr. Wheeler, who made several suggestions to the committee durmeeting enoke in favor of th believed they would prove more effective than the passing of the two ordinances, as first suggested. Superintendent Taffe expressed the same views and promised the active co-operation of the police department in carrying out the reform. The members of the committee came to the conclusion that the suggestions were more valuable than the proposed ordinances, and, setting aside both of them, recommended to the judge and the police superintendent that Mr. Hiser's ideas be executed in detail. REMONSTRANCE SHRINKS.

Brewery People Make Gains in the Schafer License Case.

The temperance people were heavy losers in the liquor license remonstrance hearing before the County Commissioners yesterday, more than 100 names being stricken from their petition. The day was spent in going over the remonstrance and marking off names that had been repeated. The attorneys agreed that they would discontinue the use of witneses to decide what names had been repeated, and they started over the long list of names. The attorneys for the temperance element admitted that some of the names had been repeated and these were stricken off by agreement. The list will likely be finished to-day and Friday the hearing of testimony will again begin. So far the saloon ele ment has succeeded in having about 15 names marked off. At the present rate it appears that the temperance people will lose and the attorneys for the brewery interests say they feel confident that they will reduce the number of signatures be low a majority of the voters of the Fourth ward. There will be no hearing to-morrow.

Mrs. Jane Deitchman, of 308 South Noble street, was taken to the City Hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from burns from which she died about 10 o'clock last President Hickey of the Western League | night. She attempted to start a fire in the stove with coal oil and an explosion followed. Her clothes and hair caught fire and she ran screaming into the yard. Harry Barneco, who had for a week been unable to leave his bed, heard her screams and jumped out of bed, running to her assistance. Several other neighbors arrived about the same time and the fire was put out, but not until Mrs. Deitchman's clothing had been burned from her body. Mrs. Deitchman was seventy years of age

PART OF TRAIN DERAILED.

Accident to a Big Four Passenger Train in the Early Morning.

The early morning train on the Big Four from Chicago was delayed in reaching the Union Station yesterday morning by being wrecked between Ohio and Market streets. A switch rod broke when the engine struck the switch. The engine and express car passed safely over, but the next car was thrown from the track and carried with it the three following coaches. The derailed cars collided with some box cars on a sidshaken up, but none was injured. The fact that no further damage was done was due to the slow speed at which the train, although behind time, was running. The track was badly torn up and several hours' work was necessary to put it in order. The track parallels the canal, and had the train gone off on the other side the cars would no doubt have gone into the canal.
