among peers and peeresses as to whether the supply of ermine will be sufficient for the coronation ceremony on June 26. It is now estimated that a "timber" of forty skins, the highest price known in the trade, is still being raised. The majority of the skins come from Siberia, where the trappers are busy. ACTORS BEFORE THE KING. Halbrook Blinn the First American Player So Honored.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The theatrical event of the week has been the summoning of Dan Leno to Sandringham, where he and Ellaline Terris and Seymour Hicks performed before the court. Leno is the first music-hall artist ever invited to the opera and a full of interviews with him. Leno's wife and family and a large crowd of admirers met him on his return to London as if he were a victorious general. The King gave him a diamond scarf pin. Among the supporters of Miss Terris and Mr. Hicks was the first American actor to be summoned by the King. Mr. Blinn says the royal audience in contrast of the current reports of his ill health.

Returning from a day's shooting, his Majesty welcomed his guests in shooting costume, in the heartiest manner. His checks were ruddy. The Queen appeared for the first time since the late actress's death in a white evening gown. The King manifested a special interest in Dan Leno and said in a friendly way to the actor, "You ought to smoke during the performance, but I trust you will amuse us without it."

TRIBUTE TO BULLER. Demonstration in Honor of the Distinguished British General.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The Devonian dinner, at which General Buller presided, at the Hotel Cecil to-night, was the scene of great enthusiasm and a remarkable tribute to the general's popularity. It is a tribute to the anti-government demonstration. Long before the hour fixed for the reception the great courtyard of the hotel was crowded with soldiers, and the general's arrival was greeted with the loudest cheering.

The most dramatic scene was in the banquet hall, where General Buller, as the presiding officer, necessarily proposed the toast to the general. The general had been compulsorily retired from the army. A remarkable demonstration was given by the soldiers, who were cheering and singing. It is doubtful if London has ever seen a heartier response to the toast to the King.

SLUMP IN SECURITIES. Boer War Has Cost British Holders an Enormous Sum of Money.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The stupendous fall in British government railroad and industrial securities since the South African war commenced, is almost without precedent. In the years of the war, the Bankers' Magazine says, the net decrease in the value of 25 selected listed securities amounts to the enormous total of £14,946,000. Consols, which the day before the Boer ultimatum stood at 100, are now at 87, and the price of the same period, several foreign government stocks and American railroads are also lower. The total loss to British investors in the war period over £2,000,000, while the decline in railroad debentures and preferences brings the total loss to over £100,000,000.
