HOTEL LOBBY GLEANINGS

MUCH TALK ABOUT THE LINCOLN LEAGUE MEETING.

Terre Haute Will Entertain Republican Guests with a Lavish Hand-Hotel Visitors.

Word comes from Terre Haute that the hotel men of that city are getting ready to entertain a great crowd this week, the occasion of the celebration of Lincoln's birthday on Wednesday. Officers of the John Shank Passed Away at the Lincoln League say this promises to be one of the most pretentious gatherings of Lincoln League members ever held in the State. It will really be a two days' cele-

Wednesday afternoon a public meeting will be held in the Terre Haute Opera House, when some gifted orators will deliver addresses. Dan E. Storms, president of the league, will make his annual address at the afternoon meeting. In the evening there will be a banquet at the Terre Haute House, with more speeches. On the following day a business meeting of the league will be held, when officers will be elected. One of the features of the gathering will be the prominent part taken by the Thompson Club, of Terre Haute, and the Marion Club, of Indianapolis. The latter organization has arranged for a special train to be run to Terre Haute Wednesday morning and back in the even- SETTLEMENT OF INTERURBN QUESing. The members of the club will march from the clubhouse to the Union Station at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. The train will leave at 10 o'clock. The fare for the round trip is $1.75. The club will be accompanied to Terre Haute by the Indianapolis Military Band. The special train will return Wednesday night, leaving Terre Haute about 10 o'clock. A special commit-tee, of which Floyd A. Woods is chairman, has charge of the arrangements for the trip. The other members are C. C. Hadley. Thomas Carter, Thomas Wynne and William A. Bogardus. The most of the Republican state candidates are arranging to be present at the meeting, and it is stated that some localities will send parties of

DAVIS AND REMINGTON.

Major "Tom" De Frees an Admirer of Both of Them.

"I have met Richard Harding Davis and I think he is a pretty fine sort of a fellow," said Major "Tom" De Frees last night. "I don't agree with the assertion that Davis is full of self-conceit." Major on. Wirt Smith, William Irwin, John C. De Frees explained that he met Davis while he was on the coast defense commission a short time before the Spanish-American war. Davis and Frederick Remington, another well-known newspaper correspondent, were watching the work of the Property Owners Ride Over Proposed For County Recorder-W. H. Wheeler, commission. "People who do not know Davis," said the major, "get the idea perhaps that he is somewhat 'puffed,' but after getting better acquainted with him I found him a most agreeable young man. I also grew to like Remington immensely and I know a good story on him. A year or two ago while I was spending a summer on the St. Lawrence river, I happened | brings the Fall creek boulevard project of to go aboard the yacht of a Mr. Hall, a very wealthy man of Ogdensburg, N. Frederick Remington has a place up in that locality and on this particular day he also came aboard the Hall yacht, arriving in his canoe. Mr. Hall invited him to have a drink, but he declined. 'No,' he said, 'l have left off drinking for the summer; I've promised my wife I wouldn't drink and I won't.' Well, we had a pleasant afternoon and about sundown Remington remarked that he had better get home. Hall asked him if he should lower him from the deck with a rope, but Remington decided he could climb down. He tried, but being a heavy man and perhaps a bit clumsy, he struck the side of his canoe instead of the middle and took a plunge in the water. After floundering about a while we got him on deck. 'Well,' he remarked after a bit, 'If I go home now my wife will declare I've been drunk, so I guess I might as well stay with you fellows

"He stayed," concluded Major De Frees, "and when he started home his clothes were dry, but he wasn't."

He looked to be twenty-eight or thirty years old. The young man was Richard C. Davis, of Washington, Ind., who has come to the city to stand trial in the United States Court on the charge of embezzling a large sum of money. It is claimed that Davis lost thousands of dolars of the bank's money shooting craps. The case will be called in the United States Court to-morrow morning. C. K. Tharp, one of Davis's attorneys, said last night that the defense is ready for trial and that unless the State asks for a postponement the case will be started to-morrow. Davis has already pleaded "not guilty" to the charge against him. Mr. Tharp will be assisted in the defense by Smiley N. Chambers, of the law firm of Chambers, Pickens & Moores, of this city. President McGowan, of the Indianapolis Street-railway Company, believes that a "boomers" for their respective candidates. to say definitely, but declared that the importance of an early understanding between the city, his company and the interurban men is such that there can be little more delay in reason. He says he is ready to meet the interurban representatives and the board at any time this week if they are willing. Major Megrew, chairman of the board, was asked last night if there would be a conference this week, but for some reason would not commit himself. "Watch and wait," he said.

The property owners desired to obtain from Mr. Power an idea of how much of their land would be required and to ascertain if any damage would be done their property by using it for the purpose in hand. Mr. Power stated last night that, while Messrs. Reubens and Cothrell made no definite statements as to how much land they are willing to deed to the city or as to their intentions, he is confident that they will be willing to equal the donations of the other property holders when the time comes. He is very optimistic as to the success of the boulevard plan, and thinks it will be brought to an early successful conclusion. The matter is not yet in shape to present to the Board of Public Works of intersections of streets with the proposed boulevard yet to be made.

If there is any one who thinks otherwise and believes that men cannot be reared pure he should be told that it is an insult to God to hold such beliefs. The right answer to that question will go far toward holding young people in the path of purity.

'Personal vice is sapping the life of the Nation and poisoning its blood. FOUND UNCONSCIOUS ON WASHING-TON-STREET CAR TRACKS.

It Is Thought He Was Struck by Two Cars-Feet Cut Off and Head Crushed.

Peter Dugan, sixty-three years old, was fatally crushed by one or more street cars last night about 7:30 o'clock on West Washington street, just west of Blackford street. Both feet were severed and the right side of the head was crushed into an unrecognizable shape. He died last night at 11

No one saw the accident, and there were several stories as to how it occurred. J. B. Needham, conductor of West Washington-street car No. 172, said that on his western trip, and when about at the place where Dugan was picked up, he felt the car lurch and give a bump as if running over some obstacle. When the car reached the bridge he had a conference with the motorman, W. L. Zook, and they came to the conclusion that rocks had been placed on the tracks by mischievous boys. In running the car back toward the center of the city the motorman was given instructions to keep a lookout for anything on the track. The car was run slowly, Needham said, and the motorman, when near the place, saw by the headlight a dark object lying in the open space between the tracks. Both men went out and found the mangled body of Dugan. It is thought by Needham and Zook that when they went west with their car they cut off Dugan's feet, which were protruding over the inner rail. It is supposed that the car which preceded No. 172 is the one that first struck Dugan. The greater part of the man's body was lying in the open space between the four rails and near a trolley pole. It was thought the man had evidently been under the influence of liquor, and in attempting to cross the track was struck by the car.

After Needham and Zook found the body they went into the cigar store of Todd & settlement of the interurban question may | Brandt near by and told a number of young be reached this week. They came here fully expecting an increase, but at the same time believe the operators were sincere in demanding a reduction and really expected it. As for them I believe they are as sorely disappointed as the miners, but I think for its action. There are several surveys there is little probability of any trouble breaking out during the year on account of the scale. It seems to me that the miners and operators this year are more thoroughly convinced than ever that it is essential to the best interests of both to hold the agreement intact and I do not think that any contracts will be

The couple have been married about twelve years. Each had been married before. Mrs. Morgan claimed they had never got along well together. She said her husband, who is employed at the Atlas engine works, habitually whipped her without cause. She said yesterday she became convinced that it was useless to submit without protest to his abuse and struck him over the head with a stick. They have five or six children and she claims she does extra work in order to get money. She said the quarrel yesterday started because Morgan claimed she did not save enough out of the small sum he gave her to keep up the house. When he was searched at police headquarters he had about $70. The woman, after having her badly bruised head dressed at the City Dispensary, was slated for assault and battery and then released on her own recognizance to appear in court this morning. She mentioned the fact that she did not have enough money to pay car fare home and ten cents was taken from the money found on her husband. Joe Aser, forty-four years of age, living at 2121 Yandes street, was also arrested yesterday by Mackessy and charged with assault upon his wife. With blood running from a bruised lip and from her nose, she ran about the neighborhood looking for a policeman. Mackessy found her on the street some distance from her home. She said her husband, who she claims has beat her without cause for several years, became angry yesterday because she let a few beans fall from a sack on to the floor. She was quite badly bruised about head

THE Y. M. C. A. IN COLLEGES

AN OBSERVANCE OF THE DAY SET APART FOR PRAYER.

At the morning service yesterday in the Downey-avenue Christian Church President Scot Butler, of Butler College, addressed the members of the college Y. M. C. A. who are students in the institution. The occasion was the annual universal day of prayer set apart by the general committee of the World's Student Christian Federation. Dr. Butler spoke of the great good derived from the earnest work now being done by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. in bringing young men and young women students in closer relations with Christ. "To-day throughout Christendom." he continued, "the churches are asked to remember in their prayers the movements being carried on in the colleges by the Y. M. C. A. for the religious culture of students. We are asked to pray for the missionary spirit to continue in the work now being done; that success may attend labors of Christian students in new Christian lands. The work taken up by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. for the Christian culture of students is one whose importance cannot be overestimated. It is vast in its proportions, it is vast in its purpose. It is being carried on in institutions of higher education all over the world, not only in the colleges and universities of Christendom, but in schools established by Christian missionaries in pagan lands.

"The movement under discussion recognizes the truth of this proposition, namely if Christianity is to affect the life of the world, it can do so only by entering into that life, becoming part of it. To do this the young people's societies undertake first to influence what they regard as the sources of civilization. They would win to the religious life the hearts of those young people who are destined to be leaders in the social and political and industrial life of their day, to the end that with greater power and increased helpfulness the word of God may be brought to rule in "The Young People's Christian associations are doing a good work. It is a work in the interest of liberal Christianity. It tends to the weakening of doctrinal differences and to the breaking down of sectarian barriers. As to our so-called denominational colleges, they could be given up without serious loss both to education and to the cause of Christ. Among the educational institutions of the land they are in proceedings of this year's conference, the majority and they are conservators of genuine culture-the culture that gives prominence to the spiritual. The other institutions of learning by the nature of their organization cannot, at least officially, recognize any religion. I would not deny that there may exist a fair amount of religious life, but I hold that this condition, most fortunate for the spiritual welfare of their students, is brought about solely by reason of the influence that church colleges work on public opinion.'

The room which Smith had occupied was quarantined, but not the rest of the house. This is said to be for the reason that no others were allowed in his room, and that the room must be considered the same as would the two sides of a double house, only one of which may be quarantined unless there are contagious diseases in both. .. The Wonder of the Age ... THE "OMEGA" ODORLESS SANITARY GAS STOVE .....

A decided innovation in gas heating. Unique, scientific. Destroys injurious products and organic matter by intense heat. ENGLISH.—From opinion of George Rudd Thompson, F. E. C., F. M. R. S., etc., Public Analyst, Newport, Eng. "In my opinion the maximum of heat is evolved by the combustion of the minimum of Gas, without any smell or undue dryness of atmosphere. The theory of stove is, in my opinion, perfect and the result ditto. The percentage of carbonic acid is not sensibly raised in a closed room after ten hours' burning, and the air is not dried to an appreciable extent. I am simply delighted with it, and am quite in a position to recommend it for offices, sick-rooms.
