NEWS OF THE THEATERS

HADING AND REJANE, FRENCH ACTRESSES, COMING HERE.

Irving's Lyceum Theater to Be Torn Down-This Week at the Park-Notes of Music.

Two French actresses unfamiliar to this public. Gabrielle Rejane and Jane Hading, are preparing to come to this country. Rejane's visit is a year off, but she will spend a large part of the interim adding to her repertory for her American tour. Madame Hading's is the first foreign engagement of the Independent Booking Agency, just organized, operated by Harrison Gray Fiske, James K. Hackett and Maurice Campbell, She will spend twenty weeks in this country, beginning in New York in November,

Madame Rejane was brought quickly to distinction as a young actress by Francisque Sarcey, the great French dramatic critic. Alphonse Daudet made a play of his novel, "Sappho," for her. She was the first Cyprienne in "Divorcons." Her method is the acme of Parisian realism, and when she acted in London in Berton's "Zaza," which David Belasco mangled for Mrs. Leslie Carter's use in America, the critic for the Times, A. B. Walkley, wrote

"Watch the music hall 'artiste' at her toilet. How she rubs in the grease paint, unpins her false hair, dabs the powder puff over her shoulders, pulling on a pinafore the while in order not to soil her skirt. Not a detail is missed. Even when the corset is unlaced Zaza is careful to go through the pantomime of holding her breath. Having combed her hair in Act 1, she combs it again in Act 4 and offers you a further plece of minute realism by removing the loose ends of hair from the comb and throwing them out the window. Then she dusts the chairs with her uplifted petticoats, cleans the wine glasses by blowing into them, hides a hole in the tablecloth with a plate, and makes a face at the bonne about it. Then watch her in an attack of 'nerves'-see her mouth twitching, her hands clenched, listen to the shrill note gradually coming into her voice. Then sit tight in your seat for the final expl the total physical abandonment and degradation. It is the very thing. Coleridge had a mock apostrophe to 'Innoculation, heavenly mald.' So Madame Rejane-for Madame Rejane and Zaza are one-so Madame Rejane is the muse of hystero-

The Lyceum, Sir Henry Irving's London theater, probably will be destroyed. The County Council has condemned the old playhouse, and its shareholders have refused to spend the several thousand pounds required to put it in shape to satisfy the Council. The Lyceum Company (Limited) has lost money for years, and it has been its from Sir Henry's American tours have to Mr. Seth Low. They will be welcomed by kept the London house up. Now it is rumored that Charles Frohman, who has been extending his London interests, will and mature than the groups of short pieces become Sir Henry's manager. If this be confirmed it will be up to Mr. Frohman's "By Smoldering Embers," is, indeed, as enemies to express grave fears for Sir Henry's abilities. How shall his genius survive under the dominance of the American theatrical syndicate? Will not Mr. Frohman persuade him to impersonate Lady Macbeth, as he has arranged for Madame Bernhardt to play Romeo to Maude Adams's | to-date as those of Chopin, Wagner, Grieg Juliet? In fact, it would no doubt be good policy for Irving to take Frohman as his manager. The Napoleon of the stage would | hide their dearth of ideas. heighten the prosperity of the greatest English-speaking actor. Frohman apparently is the most expert of theatrical business men; that he should be able to debase Irving's purpose is absurd. It would be a

his way to take his holiday in New York. He will translate Victorien Sardou's new Dante play for his father. Miss Terry will have a part in the play. Cecilia Loftus returns to the United States, after playing Marguerite with Sir Henry in "Faust," and will rejoin Edward H. Sothern. Sir Henry returns to this country this winter, and whether or not the Dante play is ready his welcome will be deserved. No criticism that "his plays are old" is fair. The melo- pay the lucky guesser five times his bet, dramas in which he acts are of no consequence in themselves. It is a case where the actor, not the play, "is the thing." His marvelously intricate characterizations of Shylock and of the dying old soldier in "Waterloo," imbued with his fine, powerful personality, are exhibitions to be studied by the theater-goer year after year, enduring sources of inspiration. In Irving the "old school" is justified in the face of the are trained for the purpose, and a good progress of the "new movement." He is a contradiction. No matter how intensely one may hold for the naturalistic drama, one can not withhold admiration for Irving, who always is "out of drawing" in his plays, and whose plays end without having shed any new light on those painful perstruggling public.

Lawrence Irving, Sir Henry's son, is on

John J. McNally's new farce, "The Rogers Brothers in Harvard," in which the Rogers brothers will be seen this season, tells of two young fellows that pretend to be going to college and introduce to their are matched as to size and color. The bet- works. Kubelik played Saint-Saens's Ronrich uncles as their professors two German ting is done just as carefully as at an do Capriccioso and Wilhelmi's splendid ar- New York is more foreign than either. The waiters (the Rogers brothers.) The colors English horse race. The stakes are held Theme and Variations" Introduction, percentage of foreign born is 37. These of all the big colleges will be used in the percentage for those who own the fighting costumes, and the play is a burlesque on houses. During the fight the gamblers college life in general.

a star this season is called "The Vinegar | when one wins. Buyer," and its scenes are in Indiana, the last in Indianapolis.

of Old When Knights Were Bold," deals strongest string, forcing his string against with wars between Spaniards and Moors. act in a new play next season, came to this | that they may cut or saw the better. At country with the Kendalls in 1893 to play every feast, however, there are games of Ellean in Pinero's "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." She stopped in this country and played in both the Empire and Lyceum companies. She was the first Marion in "Tess o' the D'Urbervilles." She acted in Sunset and evening star, this city with Mr. Dodson in "Because She Loved Him So," and with N. C. Goodwin | And may there be no mouning of the bar, and Maxine Elliott in "The Merchant of

English's Opera House will open on Aug. 2. with Al G. Field's minstrels. One of the early entertainments there will be Amelia Bingham's company in Haddon Chambers's "A Modern Magdalen." In the company are Wilton Lackaye, Joseph Holland, Ferd. inand Gottschalk and Henry E. Dixey, who are among the best American actors. TWO PLAYS AT THE PARK.

"Railroad Jack" and "Nobody's

Claim" to Be Acted This Week. For the second week of its new season the Park Theater will have two melodramas, "Railroad Jack" and "Nobody's Claim." The first-named will open to-morrow, and one of its claims to distinction is a lion, which has an important part in the play. The resourceful villain, desiring to get rid of the heroine, has her thrown into the lion's cage at a circus. Just as the beast is to tear her to pieces, the tramp comedian, who was a trainer of Duke in his prosperous days, orders the lion back and is obeyed. The tramp then rescues the heroine. The villain's reason for his bloody design forms the plot of the play. 'Nobody's Claim," which will be acted during the latter half of the week, is an old favorite. Among its incidents are the flight of the 'Frisco express through a blizzard. an attack on the train by outlaws, an attack of wolves and the burning of an old

NOTES OF MUSIC.

Pianists that Will Be Available This Winter-Howells and MacDowell.

Josef Hofmann has decided not to come to this country this season, but Ossip Gabrilowitsch, Russian, and Raoul Pugno, French, will be European plane players here this winter. Gabrilowitsch has been heard in this city and Pugno should have played in Indianapolis several years ago if his train had not been delayed. Slivinski, Zeidenrust, Fannie Bloomfield-Zeisier and Augusta Cottlow also will make tours.

Elsa Ruegger, 'cellist, will come over in November and after a series of concerts with the Boston Symphony Orchestra will give recitals in the larger cities.

When Mr. W. D. Howells was a very young man-about nineteen or twenty-his idol was the German poet Heine. His admiration led him to try to write some verse in the Heine vein, says the New York Post. The result was the three romantic and picturesque poems entitled "The Sea," "Through the Meadow" and "Is it the Shrewd October Wind?" Now Heine happens to be the poet most after the heart of musical composers. Accordingly it is not surprising that, about a decade ago, Edward MacDowell's keen musical instinct led him to discover these three Howelis poems and to promptly set them to music. They were printed by Breitkopf & Hartel in the collection called "Eight Songs." One | in London to remain for a brief period beof them, "The Sea," is the best song ever fore proceeding to the continent in search composed in America, and the other two

GABRIELLE REJANE. French Actress That Will Make a Tour of the United States in 1903-'04.

never heard them sung until the other day. songs, which took him back to the days of his youth, and gave Mr. MacDowell several "Fireside Tales." and are dedicated entitled "Woodland Sketches" and "Sea The fifth of the new set, entitled superbly original as "The Sea." It is one those vigorous yet graceful melodies which haunt the memory day and night, over and over again. What a delight to come across a composer-an American, too and whose harmonies are as fresh and upand Liszt, without copying those masters, or indulging in orgies of cacophony, as most of the present-day German composers do, to

CHINESE LOVE FOR GAMBLING. Celestials Even Bet on the Number of

Seeds in an Orange.

One of the most comon ways of betting number is odd or even, and at others as to but the loser must pay the value of the orange, also five times as much as he has wagered. little fence about its edge. The fighting qualls have been starved for some time. As they are put into the pen a few grains of wheat or rice are laid before them and they at once begin to fight over them. They fighter is worth $100 and upward. plexities of life as it is lived by the great, the crickets for the fray. They give them honey, boiled chestnuts, and boiled rice and certain kinds of fish. They do not allow any one to smoke near them, for they think that tobacco injures them. If the crickets nittee, which deducts a certain grow excited. They scream and yell and hop up and down as one insect gets the The farce in which Ezra Kendall will be better of the other, and go almost mad

The Chinese have all sorts of games, but mostly games of chance. Even in kiteflying the boys and men-for even the men Walker Whiteside's new play, "In Days | fly kites-will try to see which has the the string of others to break them. In such contests the strings are often soaked Annie Irish, who, with J. E. Dodson, will with glue and dusted with powdered glass guessing upon which money is staked.

Crossing the Bar.

And one clear call for me! When I put out to sea,

But such a tide as moving seems asleep, Too full for sound and foam, When that which drew from out the boundless Turns again home.

And after that the dark! And may there be no sadness of farewell, When I embark;

Twilight and evening bell,

For the' from out our bourne of Time and Place,

The flood may bear me far, I hope to see my Pilot face to face When I have cross'd the bar.

LONDON'S MUSIC AFFAIRS

WILHELMJ, VETERAN VIOLINIST, TO RETURN TO CONCERT STAGE.

Camille Saint-Saens, French Composer, and Jan Kubelik, Bohemian Violinist, Exchange Courtesies.

In the midst of the musical and theatrical season during the festivities in the week previous to King Edward's illness I arrived are hardly inferior to it. Mr. Howells had of material for use in the approaching musical year, writes Sam Franko in the New York Sun. About a week was spent in hearing the best music offered to the London public and in meeting the resident and be most interested in Wilhelmj, who has not the clear eye and melodious voice.

Wilhelmj displayed much interest in the musical development of this country. He remembers all the incidents of his American sojourn and expresses the hope of coming again professionally, for it is his intention to reappear on the concert platform. This will seem strange to those who could not understand his sudden retirement soon after his American tour. Wilhelmj evades all efforts to discover the reason for his withdrawal from public view.

His resolve to court popular favor again is more easily explained. On the death of George Hart, a well-known writer on the violin, his son reluctantly sold his violin to Wilhelmj on the condition that the latter again enter the concert field.

Although Wilhelm; had been the possessor | to know where they are of one of the best Stradivarius violins known, he prefers his new instrument. It is a Joseph Guarnerius del Gesu, possibly the finest specimen from its maker, as beautiful in appearance as in quality. The four strings are absolutely even and the tone is mellow, powerful, brilliant. It is surely worth the price, which was about $10,000 and the abandonment of private life. In its way the case which holds the instrument is just as beautiful, being skillfully carved and inlaid. A man was said to have spent two years in making it.

same rich tone that won our admiration years ago and most perfect intonation. | rug and carpet trade. This quality is especially apparent in his clean-cut double-stopping. His repertoire probably contains few additions. Mme. Wilhelmj, an excellent planist, accompanied her husband when he played for me. earth of thirty-three islands. All around Wilhelmj's room are evidences of his tastes, triumphs and associations. Violins lie all over-on the floor, on the piano; a collection of medals and decorations and framed letters from Wagner, Liszt, Buelow, Richter and other great lights hang on the walls. A powerful young English bulldog is his constant companion. The animal takes the liberties of a pampered pet, and will sometimes snatch the food which his master is about to eat.

PARAPHRASE OF "RHEINGOLD." The great violinist devotes himself to teaching at present, and has great hopes for a few of his pupils, especially an eightyear-old girl, Sybil Keymer, who has already mastered the classic concertos and standard violin literature. It is well known ranger for the violin; he is now working on a "Rheingold" paraphrase, some frag- ty-two and cattle only fifty-six." ments of which he played for me.

votion to his ninety-year-old father, who lives at Biebrich on the Rhine. He is an enthusiastic amateur violinist, clear-headed despite his age, and is consulted by his son several times. His success was greater in the artists' room after one concert was Saint-Saens. I introduced them to each other, though the violinist reminded the which followed I acted as interpreter, for any marks which would restrict the player in his interpretation be omitted. The ex-

Theme and Variations."

sulted to the explosive style of their conductor, Nedbal, the viola player of the famous Bohemian string quartet.

march. He is engaged on the music for the or contract them away. forthcoming theatrical production by "the divine Sarah.

put to me: What would be the effect of the music if Nikisch were screened from the listeners' view?

Novelties were not contained in his programmes. It suited his purpose better to

A SLIGHT MISTAKE. Pat-Be gob! there's wan av th' biggest thousand legs Oi ever saw.

There is something quaint about Dolvisiting celebrities of the profession. been in this country since his professional tour many years ago. His appearance today presents a strong contrast to the large, erect, blonde man who became so popular here. His hair is silvery white and by no means as luxuriant in its growth as formerly; he appears heavier and the clasticity of bearing of other days is absent. His features are a little coarser, but he still retains

One of his endearing qualities is his de-than ever before and the audience went the meeting there between Wilhelmj and composer that they had played together in Paris many years ago. In the conversation Wilhelmj's French is as poor as Saint-Saens's German, and neither has mastered English. Wilhelmj suggested that he be allowed to prepare editions of the Rondo Capriccioso and concertos by Saint-Saens, with proper bowings and fingerings, saving that in teaching it would save making the which the Parisian responded that his compositions were not written for pupils and he preferred that fingerings, bowings and ecutant's individuality should appear through the medium of the composition. "I myself never play my works twice alike." It is likely that both musicians attended this particular concert to hear their own As an encore Kubelik played "The Swan," by Saint-Saens, and when he came off the platform to where we were standing the great Frenchman moved forward to grasp his hand and leaned over to kiss it. With a quick movement the violinist disengaged his hand, grasped that of Saint-Saens and reversed the proceeding. It was a graceful and touching act.

The Bohemian orchestra was specially engaged to perform at the Kubelik concerts. I was not greatly impressed by them; theirs is a wild, gypsy-like way of playing, well Saint-Saens's errand in London was to music; he sways gracefully to the undula- in the United States. tions of the "Waldweben" and moves with martial rigidity to the strains of the "Ra-koczy March" There is food for reflection in the question which a Boston composer

"Third Leonore" overtures, familiar Wag- | vote-unless, gentlemen, he is considerate ner excerpts and the "Damnation de enough to go elsewhere to pass away." The playing of the orchestra, which was Henry Wood's, increased to 110 men, was cause of union labor had been conscien-

below the standard to which Americans are | tiously, effectively and logically upheld.

ANCIENT MUSIC REVIVED. No person in London artistic circles is more interesting than Arnold Dolmetsch, whose concerts of old music with instruments of bygone periods have aroused much favorable comment. During my call he rehearsed a suite by Marais (1686), for two viols de gamba (he and an associate playing these instruments) and harpsichord played by Mme. Dolmetsch. Then the latter sang two seventeenth century French songs, her husband accompanying her on the lute. Mme. Dolmetsch is a splendid performer on the harpsichord, on which she also played a sonata by Scarlatti.

metsch's appearance, and he almost suggests the period whose music he plays. Americans will be introduced to him at my concerts of old music at Mr. Frohman's over world on reception and dinner nights; New Lyceum Theater this season. At the Empire Johann Strauss, jr., holds Of all the people I met Americans will | forth with his Imperial Band. They played light music, mostly by the Strauss family. and the orchestra seems to include good | the country. Anyhow, we have the pubmusicians, but they strive in vain to licity, and there is no doubt that it is inachieve good results on account of the utter inability of their spiritless leader. Young Strauss is slim and conducts violin in hand, like the better known Edouard Strauss, who was here, and whom he resembles

> Stosch, the violinist, now Mrs. Speyer. I attended a musical function at her home and imagined myself back in New York, for the company included, besides Mr. and Mrs. Nikisch, Mrs. John E. Cowdin, Mrs. Morris | deaths, but they are almost. One would Black, Fritz Kreisler and Arthur Hadley. Francois Korbay, who lived in New York for a time, was also there. Mrs. Speyer possesses a wonderful Guar> nerius, upon which she played excellently a sonata by Cesar Franck, then, with Mr. Kreisler, the double concerto by Bach, Nikisch playing the plane in both works. Mrs. Black sang some Brahms songs. I had the best opportunities for studying musical conditions in London, and feel satisfied that a comparison with affairs here be a complete list of that noble army of would be entirely satisfactory to Amer- standbys known as "among those pres-

OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

Since the close of the civil war the State of Louisiana has spent more than $30,000,000 on Mississippi levees. Somewhere in the world there are 119,000,-000 big copper pennies, but nobody appears

Alaska has paid its cost twenty times. It was bought for $7,200,000, and has supplied $150,000,000 in furs, fish and gold. A young Danish author named Madsen fell down stairs in his house in Copenhagen recently and was choked to death by his high collar. Within the last fifty years 164,589 people have emigrated from the county of Mayo, Ireland, or nearly as many as there are

Smyrna is the smartest town in Turkey so far as trade is concerned. It does a How does Wilhelmj play? With that bigger business than Constantinople. It is the headquarters of the wool and of the Fifty-two islands have appeared (by aid of volcanic action) during the present century, and nineteen have disappeared-been | readers of society news in London are the submerged. This makes a net gain to the The importation of bicycles into Japan

ing $269,027, over 95 per cent. of which Of all the silks used in the United States $26,000,000 worth is imported and $107,000,000 worth home-made. The domestic silk industry employs 24,000 men, 36,000 women and 6,000 children in 483 mills, with $81,000,000

The Chinese are commonly supposed to to the gaze of the unrelated multitude. peace loving and harmless. The Zeitschrift fur Missionkunde, however, declares and is the tendency commendable? Does that China is the greatest warlike nation | not the giving of national publicity to afin Asia and that they are in warfare worse | fairs that are of only personal or local con-

"Of the 600 weeds and grasses growing that Wilhelmj is unsurpassed as an ar- | Shaw, "it is estimated by those who have on the part of those who by endowment, made a study of it that sheep will eat occupations, aims, or charities have done 576 of them, while horses consume but eigh-The English cotton manufacturers, who have for so long a time depended on the United States for their raw material, have raised a guarantee fund of $250,000 for the purpose of promoting the cultivation of cotton within the British empire. The star Arcturus, the hottest of celestial bodies, gives us as much heat as a stand-

At St. James's Hall I heard Kubelik play | ard candle six miles away. This fact was ascertained by the radiometer, an instrument which will show the amount of heat wild about him. An interesting occurrence given off from a man's face at 2,000 feet Lawyer Luther R. Marsh, aged ninety, once the trusting victim of Edith Loleta Montez, of Ann O'Delia Diss DeBar and > purchaser of her "spook pictures," writes to a New York paper, contradicting the story that he is sick, saying that he is hunky dory. Thirty-five men are continually employed in painting the famous Forth bridge in They commence operations at the south end of the bridge and proceed laborious journey occupying three years; low, and immaculately clean. comparatively recent growth. In 1895 this shining as the stairs. At the end of this country exported only $1,000,000 worth of boots and shoes, but for the fiscal year 1901 it sent abroad $5,500,000 worth of boots easy reach from the stairs. These two and shoes, and England and her colonies cago. It has 35.1 per cent. of foreign born, while Chicago has only 34.6 per cent. But inree run'a close race for the lead. Sai Francisco comes in with 31.2 per cent. The Japanese are not a wealthy people, nor are they, even when possessed of wealth, much given to costly, extravagant or ostentatious forms of pleasure, and it substatial "swing shelf" (painted like the

Judge Bland, of the St. Louis Court of the best than could be made. On another Appeals, has decided that workmen must | there were rolls of sausages or slices of be paid in cash. He assessed a fine of $100 | delicious ham. This shelf also was the place against an employer for paying an em- for the new laid eggs, the freshly-boiled ploye in checks payable in goods at a store ham, the cold roast beef, or fowls, etc. instead of lawful money. The judge de- On the cool, clean floor in a secluded place clared that a laborer could not, if he so there were several covered jars. The condirect the rehearsals of his new coronation | desired, waive the benefits of the statute | tents of these varied, but one would often

Only one characteristic distinguishes the little village of Strong, Me., from the thou-That prima denna of the baton, Nikisch, sands of others that are scattered all over pickled beets, a few hard-boiled eggs, filled a large portion of the musical horizon. New England. That is the peculiar indus-Apart from his ability he fascinates (partic- try which serves to support the entire find small white onlons with the beets. ularly the ladies) by his remarkably engag- community. Strong is famous for nothing ing personality. One forgets to listen to the | but toothpicks, but it is known in the music in watching the conductor. His trade as the place from which come the or tripe, or all of these. In one big jar movements seem to express the mood of the majority of the toothpicks that are used were whole red tomatoes, that had been

In connection with the anniversary of the left on these and the vinegar over them Bethel Primitive Methodist Chapel, Burn- was only moderately sour. Bits of horseley, England, a souvenir handbook contain- radish were mingled with the tomatoes, ing copies of old records has been issued. A minute passed in 1834 reads: "That we do not allow young men and young women of our society to court with each other on Sunday; neither do we allow our single men and women to walk in the street together arm in arm at any time; neither do we allow them to stand at street corners chatting together." By another resolution the chapel authorities forbade girl choristers wearing bows in their bonnets.

False to the Union.

Brooklyn Eagle. "Gentlemen," said the grand mogul of the Amalgamated Association of Workmen, "we are called upon to-day to consider the case of a man who has been false to the union. Cries of "Who?" "Whe?" "Down with

"I will state the case briefly," the grand mogul went on. "You all know that our county jail has just been painted by nonunion labor, and that in consequence we have declared a boycott against it." Cries of "Yes!" "Yes!" "Down with the

"Well, one of our members so far forget himself as to become disorderly and get in trouble with the law. Now, in ordinary circumstances, this would not be a matter worthy of consideration here, but it so happens that this man is now patronizing the county jail, contrary to the spirit of the resolution adopted at our last meeting." Cries of "Expel him!" and hisses. "That's it," continued the grand mogul.

which we have just cause of complaint. And in this same connection I wish to call your attention to the fact that the fence around the cemetery has been painted by nonunion labor also. Cries of "Never die! To die is to be false to the union!" "Precisely!" exclaimed the grand mogul. "Let that be understood! Any man who dies now thereby forfeits his membership in this he give he a swat wid a rock!

'We must expel him-not for being disorderly, but for occupying a jail against as the "Tannhauser," "Freischutz" and union, and never again will be allowed to Thereupon the Amalgamated Association of Workmen adjourned, confident that the YEARNING FOR PUBLICITY.

Why, for Instance, Should People Wish Their Weddings Published? Brooklyn Eagle.

The increasing publicity that is given to private affairs may betoken an increasing brotherhood in the race that justifies every member of it in what would once have seemed like impertinent inquiries into the finances, family relations, industries and fads of every other member; or it may be denote an increasing willingness on the part of people who do not see a clear way to fame in any other direction, to attain it by opening the parlor windows that the under world may see the doings of the or it may be merely a part of modern | Dried Apricots, per lb................100 newspaper enterprise that conceives the survival in cities of the gossiping spirit of creasing, like the material fortunes that occasion the most of it. In no other thing do we find so remarkable an exploitation of affairs that are none of the public's business as in weddings. It cannot be alleged that there is Concert-goers will remember Leonora von | anything uncommon about weddings. They are happening every hour, all over the world, and they involve in happiness or trouble every sort and shade of people. They are not quite so usual as births and think that they deserved no more advertising than does the conduct of a grocery or the taking of a vacation. Yet, if either party to the marriage contract has a certain number of dollars, be sure that the outer world will know all about the wedding. We shall have full reports of what is worn, the food at the breakfast wil be described, critical comment on the frock coats and coatless frocks of the invited will be furnished by experts, there will ent," bride and groom will be watched as they enter the church, and if either of them flinches or repents or cuts a caper of joy, the report will be sent to a syndicate of newspapers all over the land, and, finally, there will be pictures of the bride, the groom, the parents of both, the house of each family, the house or hotel of the young couple, the decorated dining room, the church, the table covered with preshas beaten various contemporaries by furnishing pictures of the bride's most inti-

Well, if the persons in interest like this kind of thing they have plenty of what they like. Yet there is a lingering and oldfashioned sentiment that private affairs, like funerals, weddings, christenings, receptions, balls and dinners, concern only participants and relatives, and as there is a certain similarity in these functions, which enables the reader to draw inferences from verbal outlines, there need be at least no extended dscription. Probably a few people employed in monotonous tasks at low wages like to read about the way people of monotonous leisure make tasks for themselves by the distribution of high incomes, just as it is said that the most confirmed servants, but to the mass of Americans it can matter little whether Miss Smythehas more than doubled in the past two gandle with mauve swiss biased on the years, the value of the imports in 1901 be- etamine, or in a purple velour garnished with percales and foulards sewed in the gores. Nor can the parents of Miss Smythe-Perkins, nor the husband of her, conceive how the public can be lifted or educated or amused or in anywise interested in the matter, yet, for some reason there is an even greater tendency to exploit the private doings of private famllies and open the doors of private houses sequence tend to invasions of privacy that sometimes encroach on right and decency, in the Northwest," writes Prof. Thomas and also intensify that struggle for notice nothing to deserve it? And, as rich familles increase and the papers are more and drinking, driving and giving of parties, will not the people who are busy about matters of more consequence sicken of it and ask for a return to the publication of news? If so, the evil is one that will cure itself.

AN OLD-FASHIONED CELLAR.

It Afforded a Glimpse of Good Housekeeping and Generous Providing.

Are there any housekeepers who would not be willing to exhibit their cellars? My mother's cellar was never on exhibition. and I have no recollection of any company ever seeing it. But if it had been on exhibition, competing for a prize for cleanliness and orderliness, it would have won it. There were two kitchens in my old home. The entrance to the cellar was from the winter kitchen. Opening a door from the latter one faced a flight of comfortable steadily to paint their way northward, their | stairs, painted a rather dark shade of yel-

On the right side, even with the top step many things in constant demand. At the is, the room most used. It had a smooth, hard cement floor and was lighted by a screened window in summer. On one side was an open closet (or painted drab. These shelves were a safe place for jars of fruit, bowls of preserves, glasses of jellies, pickles of various kinds and many other good things.

In the center of this room there was a is improbable that the automobile will ever | side shelves), on which (I still see them) become the toy of fashion or the mere were big platters of old-fashioned pink and pleasure vehicle that it is in Europe and blue ware. On one of these platters there were rolls of fresh, sweet, golden butter, find in one of them, tender, sliced beets in alternate layers with good cider vinegar. Sometimes one would find among the peeled but left whole. Sometimes one would In another jar, there was apple-butter. In others pickled pig's feet, or head-cheese, picked when just beginning to turn red and had ripened in the jar. Short stems were

BIBLICALLY CORRECT. Mother-Why, Johnny, what on earth are you howling about now? Johnny-Dat Smiff boy stole me bread, an' when I ast him t' give it back t' me

GOOD LARD 8%c per 1b. AT THE FULTON MARKET

FLOUR-Our High Grade Fancy Patent, no better in the market-we guarantee

Our Prices MONDAY and TUESDAY, August 11 and 12.

t to please-we have it in two sizes:

A good whole grain Rice, per lb 40

Rest Table Apricots, in syrup, per

Ladies' and Gents' Shoe Polish,

Early June Peas, per can.....50

25-lb cotton bags Not more than 200 pounds to a customer. Best Lump Starch, 3 lbs. for 100 | Soap-Best California Hams, per lb.....110 Fresh Roasted Peanuts, 3 qts for 100 Easy Monday, 2 cakes for Best on Earth, 5 cakes for 100 Cheese, best full cream, per lb...1210 Old Mill, best laundry, large Cheese, best Swiss, per lb 1210 bars, 9 for..... Cheese, best brick, per lb12%0 A Lemons, per doz.....100 Peacock, 3 cakes.....10c Flotilia, 3 boxes100 Sweet Pickles, per doz50 Washing Powder-Sour pickles, 3 doz for.....100 Nine o'Clock, a 5c package...... Wnite Line, a 5c package...... Good Prunes, per lb......40 Gold Dust, a 5c package......100 Pearline, 3 packages Rumford's Baking Powder, per Washing Soda, per lb ... lb. can200 Climax Baking Powder, per lb. A good Gunpowder, per lb 240 can120 A good Young Hyson, per lb 240 Best Nutmegs, per doz20 Our highest grade Gunpowder Young Hyson and Imperials, Heinz's Catsup, 25c size.....1250 Best Shredded Cocoanut, per lb...100 A good English Breakfast, per Best Egg Noodles, per lb......50 Best Vermicelli, per lb..................

10c size We guarantee Satisfaction Pure Maple Syrup, full quart can 250 back on Tea and Coffee. Cor. Virginia Ave. and Maryland St. old Phone, Main, 1750 per ib .

Our 18c grades, fresh roasted,

Our 25c grades, fresh roasted,

roasted

We guarantee satisfaction or money

Best Broken Macaroni, per lb 31/0 Our Golden Rio, fresh roasted, can100 Our 30c and 35c grades, fresh

"A Little Bit Off the Top"

Is the sure sign of coming baldness-an early indication of unhealthy scalp, of dandruff-killed hair. Don't be bald, use

COKE DANDRUFF CURE

It removes dandruff, cures all scalp ailments, makes the hair healthy, thick, luxuriant. Look out for poor, cheap imitations. Get the genuine Coke Dandruff Cure. In $1 and 50c bottles.

EDUCATIONAL.

A COMPANY OF THE PROPERTY OF T

INDIANAPOLIS COLLEGE OF LA

CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

our scriptification of the property of the pro

College Building, 202 Michigan Blvd., Chicago, Ill. The largest and most complete College of Music and Dramatic Art in America. The Chicago Musical College Building is the finest structure in existence devoted exclusively to an institution of its kind. The system of instruction and arrangement of urses represent the result of thirty-six years' experience. The faculty is the strongest ever assembled in any college of musical learning and

Dr. F. Ziegfeld

William Castle

Dr. Louis Falk Bernhard Listemann

Hans Von Schiller

S. E. Jacobsohn

Rudolph Ganz *Edmond Vergnet Herman Devries Felix Borowski Hart Conway, Director School of Acting. * EDMOND VERGNET the world-famous tenor, who created the leading tenor roles in Saint Saens' Samson and Delilah and Massenet's Herodiade, for the past five years instructor of voice in the National Conservatory of Paris by appointment of the French Government, has been added to the college faculty. 37th SEASON BEGINS SEPTEMBER 8.

New Illustrated Catalogue Mailed Free. also whole allspice, and over all were some which was likely to be the case. One of the most delicious relishes ever found in these covered jars, were the stuffed mangoes. A whole one was often served on the table and what an array of good things were found in it, tiny white onions, little green radish pods, baby cucumbers, nasturtiums, small green and yellow tomatoes, shredded cabbage, white mustard seed, small green beans, etc. There never was an unwholesome odor in the cellar. On the contrary, the atmosphere was charged with the appetizing scent of good things. One step up to the left of the room and one was in a small hall lighted by a window. On one side of this hall were bins for potatoes, and a variety of vegetables, such as pumpkins, squashes, cabbages, carrots, onlons, beets, 'Carolina potatoes," as the sweet potazenburgs, greenings, russets, pound-sweets, From the main cellar going straight ahead from the foot of the stairs, a door into what mother called the cellar-kitchen. This room was light, having three windows and a glass topped door, leading to an outside stairway of stone.

toes were then called. On the opposite side of the hall was the receptacle for apples.

Oh, those apples! Barrels of them! Spit-

No one could enter the cellar in my old home, without being impressed with two things, viz., that father was a wise and generous "provider," and that mother was the soul of cleanliness, orderliness and hospitality; also, that both of them looked well to the way of the household.

Maeterlinck Condemned. New York Evening Post.

Maurice Maeterlinck's admirable play

'Monna Vanna" only needed the condemnation of the British Matron, which it now virtually has, in the refusal at London of a license for a public performance. This gives to the London censorship the unenviable distinction of condemning as unfit for public presentation not only one of the most beautiful, but also one of the most genuinely moral plays of modern times. One is glad to learn that the French company which had come to London to give the play are not to be sent back as purveyors of an indecent performance. They will play before an improvised "Maeterlinck Society," the members of which have hired a theater and subscribed for all the seats. Such a private performance is not under the licenser's jurisdiction. The la- OPENS SEPTEMBER 24 dies and gentlemen who constitute the Maeterlinck Society are constructively in the position of organized promoters of the classical, scientific and English courses of licentious drama. We imagine that they study; superior advantages in music, art will bear rather proudly what would usual- | and modern languages; well equipped gymly be an unenviable distinction. Official nasium; complete school of domestic censors are infallibly condemned to Dog- science. Miss Reeves and Miss Whitcomb in berrylsm. Their office exaggerates their charge of kindergarten. New building ready scent for the morally offensive, while it in September. For illustrated catalogue, dulls their wits. The imminence of the address coronation may have made the London licenser doubly vigilant and ridiculous, Certainly the historian will find not a little grotesque the suppression of Maeterlinck's ideal drama, at a time when London is troubled over the brutality of its "hooligans." The Parisians will appreciate the courtesy which permits a private performance when a public one would be

Have you seen Mrs. Austin's new dress?

EDUCATIONAL.

horse-radish leaves. These would keep from Five times largest in this state; second largest in the world; half rate for short time to make it largest. Positions secured. Call, phone or write H. D. Vories, Ex-State Supt. Public Instrn., Pres.

Girls' Classical

SCHOOL Complete equipment in Classical, Literary and Scientific Departments, Gymnaslum and Kindergarten. Attractive TWENTY-FIRST YEAR opens Sept. 17. TWENTY-THREE Instructors. Send for catalogue to MAY WRIGHT SEWALL, Prin.,

THEO, L. SEWALL, Founder.

633 North Pennsylvania street.

TUDOR HALL School for Girls

N. Meridian St. Opens Sept. 17.

Boarding and day pupils. Kindergarten Primary, Preparatory, Academic Departments Prepares for College. BIBLE STUDY in all departments. NON - SECTARIAN. Native German and French teacher. Well-equipped Gymnasium, Superior advantages in Music, Voice Culture, Art. Year book sent on application. Rev. J. CUMMING SMITH, Dean.

Boarding and Day School

for Girls

All departments; prepares for college;

MARY HELEN YERKES. 1505 Central avenue. The Indiana Kindergarten and Primary

Normal Training School

Regular Course, two years. Post Graduate Course for Normal Teachers, one year. Classes formed in September and February. Fortyfive free scholarships granted in each class. For particulars address MRS. ELIZA A. BLAKER, Supt. 1343 North Illinois St.