State Fair Week SEPTEMBER 15th to 20th.

The annual recurrence of the "State Fair" during the present week offers favorable opportunity for a visit to Indianapolis. The railroads are making reduced rates, the fair management promise a large display and many attractions, including "Souza's Famous Band." Our city is at its best in this season.

We tender our customers and the trade in this and adjoining States a most cordial invitation to visit us, proffering our store as headquarters, and our services, as well as those of our traveling salesmen, towards personal attention and entertainment.

Throughout all departments our stocks are complete and representative of the best lines of foreign and domestic manufacture. Better selection now and probably lower prices than may be had later.

ORA COPENHAVER'S TRIAL

IN PRELIMINARY HEARING HE ENTERS PLEA OF NOT GUILTY.

He Will Have to Answer for His Crime Within Three Weeks After It Was Committed—Other Cases.

Oran Copenhaver, who shot his young wife to death last Monday, will face a jury in the Criminal Court three weeks from the day of his crime to answer for the life he has taken. The grand jury yesterday returned a true bill against him for murder. That this was done was a mere legal formality, for Copenhaver himself notified the police of his deed and waited for them to arrest him. The true bill is in the usual form, alleging that he killed her with a revolver. Copenhaver was brought before Judge Alford yesterday with the other jail prisoners who were indicted and arraigned on the charge against him. He stood, droop-shouldered and with downcast eyes, while Prosecutor Ruckelshaus read the indictment.

What do you plead, guilty or not guilty?" asked the prosecutor.

"There were not many present, but every one had his gaze fixed on Copenhaver. "Not guilty," he said, in a loud voice. He did not seem disturbed by the charge. He lifted his eyes, but not momentarily. "Have you an attorney to defend you?" asked Judge Alford.

"No," said Copenhaver.

"Have you means to employ one?"

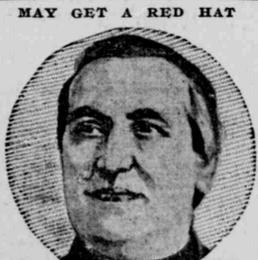

"No."

"Then the court will appoint Charles McGroarty to look after your defense," said the court. "Your case will be set down on the trial docket for Monday, Sept. 22."

Copenhaver sat down without expression. He was handcuffed to another prisoner and was guarded closely. After the other prisoners had been arraigned all were taken back through the underground passage. He was not communicative.

Charles McGroarty, who has been appointed to defend Copenhaver, is the attorney for the poor employed by the County Commissioners. He has two weeks in which to prepare for the trial. It is not likely an extension will be asked, for the facts as to the tragedy are few and simple. It is not expected that the trial will take more than two or three days, unless unusual difficulty is found in selecting a jury. This may be the case, as the crime has aroused public sentiment in a large measure against Copenhaver, and it may be difficult to find men who have not made up their minds as to his guilt or punishment.

Other indictments returned were: Surl Fletcher, arson; John Marks, incest; Perry Yaw and Rees, Har-

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND.
It is again rumored that another American cardinal will be created, and that John P. Ireland, archbishop of St. Paul, the most popular Catholic prelate in the United States, will be honored by the conistory.

TWO ARMY NOVELTIES
INNOVATIONS AT THE GERMAN MILITARY MANEUVERS.
New Secret System of Wireless Telegraphy Used for the First Time and Boer Tactics Tested.
FOREIGN OFFICE SOUNDED
GERMAN MINISTRY ASKED CONCERNING MR. WHITE'S SUCCESSOR.
Names of Tower, Storer and Hill Submitted—Any One of the Three Acceptable at Berlin.
BERLIN, Sept. 13.—Two novelties at the army maneuvers just ended were wireless telegraphy and Boer tactics. The results of the wireless experiments seem completely satisfactory, and in the opinion of the military chiefs will enormously affect the transmission of intelligence during battle. The system used was neither the Slaby nor the Marconi, and a description of the apparatus is not available because visitors at the maneuvers when they came close to the stations were requested to retire. The exterior of the apparatus is simply a cubical box, about three feet square, mounted on a wagon resembling a gun carriage, and drawn by four horses. The message sent was caught on a wire attached to a small balloon several hundred feet above the carriage. These stations were moved freely about the field, the horses sometimes galloping at full trot, but they were stopped for telegraphing. The operator used a key producing a shrill, metallic sound audible for a hundred yards. The cavalry corps, in making the detour yesterday, kept constantly in touch with headquarters through the wireless telegraph, enabling the corps to hasten or retard its movement throughout the thirty-two miles ride as in the judgment of the headquarters staff changes in the situation were required. It will now be possible to deliver co-ordinating attacks by widely separated divisions in a way hitherto impossible.

WITH $1,000,000 CAPITAL.
Pine Mountain Mica and Asbestos Company Organized.
The Pine Mountain Mica and Asbestos Mining Company, capitalized at $1,000,000, was organized in this city yesterday. Among the stockholders of the new company are M. B. Wilson, W. F. Churchman, Andrew Kramer, Harry Shaw, Daniel Leslie, E. B. Moore, Harry B. Smith, H. C. Dewenter and W. P. Meyer. Crawfordsville is represented by Charles M. Travis, George P. Carver, Dr. Thomas Griffith, S. C. Rowland and William G. White. D. V. Miller and E. M. Sparks, Terre Haute attorneys, and McRea & Brown, a business firm of Brazil, are in the list of incorporators.

The company has options on 4,000 acres of ground for mining purposes in Georgia and North Carolina. It will build mills on Pine Mountain to be operated by water power. The land holdings of the company contain valuable timber and the lumber adjunct of its business is believed to be valuable.

The company elected the following officers: Daniel Leslie, of Indianapolis, president and superintendent; Sidney Kravitz, of Indianapolis, vice president; M. E. Wilson, of Indianapolis, treasurer; C. M. Travis, of Crawfordsville, secretary. The directors are Edward M. Moore, Harry B. Smith, Daniel Leslie, M. B. Wilson, John H. Shaw, Andrew Kramer, H. C. Dewenter, of Indianapolis; George P. Carver, C. M. Travis and S. C. Rowland, of Crawfordsville, and Willis Wright, of Terre Haute.

Looking for Escaped Prisoners.
Yesterday the Indianapolis police department received the photographs of nine prisoners who escaped from the Tennessee State Prison on Aug. 4 by dynamiting the walls. In looking over the pictures the police were at once struck by the close resemblance between a prisoner named Williams and Frank Ford, who was arrested Friday by Detectives Dugan and Locaster. Ford, who was yesterday photographed by Bertillon Clerk Ed McGuff and the pictures will be sent to all the large cities of the United States.

At first it was thought Ford had escaped from the Dayton, O., jail. Detective Frank McBride, in this city Friday night and said Ford closely resembled one of the escaped prisoners, but did not have a number skin mark, as the Dayton prisoner is supposed to have.

Wants to Be Tried Here.
Matthew Alexander, who is accused of the murder of Thomas Burke in Terre Haute last Sunday and who was brought here to be tried in Indianapolis, he said he is not afraid to return to Terre Haute in a motor car, but he would like to ask for a change of venue. Austin Sweet, of Terre Haute, is the negro's attorney and has advised Alexander to return to Terre Haute.

Laying of Cornerstone.
The cornerstone of the new Superior Court building at Hancock, Ind., will be laid next Thursday. Arrangements have been made to make the ceremony one of general interest and invitations have been sent out over the State by the committee in charge of the cornerstone laying. The committee is composed of J. C. Bach, V. G. Reiter and Peter Crumpacker.

A New Act Substituted.
Manager Anderson, of the Grand Opera House, at the last moment had to cancel O'Brien and Buckley for this week and substitute the Novelty Trio—Ruth, Glig and Claire—in "The Wax Doll." The latter is said to be one of the most entertaining acts in vaudeville. O'Brien and Buckley will be at the Grand the week of Sept. 22.

Objects to a Will.
Lena Ludlow, an heirless to the estate of George Weininger, has filed notice in the Probate Court that she objects to the probate of the will, because, she alleges, the testator was of unsound mind at the time he executed it. The will was unduly and illegally executed.

Thad Gurley and Harry Gravis, of Carpenters' Union, No. 281, and Charles Newman, of No. 60, left yesterday afternoon for Atlanta, Ga., as delegates to the International Carpenters' and Joiners' convention. The original object of the convention was to have the international offices located in this city.

LOTS OF WAIS TO DIE.
The Chicago Tribune, a while ago, published a column of strange fatalities selected from its exchanges of a single week. It illustrates on how slight a thread man's life often hangs, and how oddly unexpected may be the accidents that result in death.

One man, Henry Bush, of Quincy, kicked at a cat, missed the animal and fell, breaking his neck. At Akron, Ohio, a barber died from inhaling hair while working on his customer's head. At Hossburg, N. Y., in opening a can of peaches the top of the jar was fractured, and bits of the powdered glass being stirred resulted in death. At Dillsboro, Ind., a farmer undertook to shoot a hog. The bullet hit the animal, but rebounded, striking the farmer full in the face. In the midst of a blinding storm Mrs. Mary Penderland and Samuel Dolan, of Altoona, Pa., were walking in opposite directions on the railway track. A locomotive struck the woman and threw her with such force against the rails that she instantly died. Another and more recent unusual death was that of Prof. John Butler Johnson, of the University of Wisconsin, who fell from a load of goods which he was assisting to remove to his summer home, and was instantly killed. Still another was that of Frank Huntley, a seaman in the navy, who has been sailing all around the world and participated in the action against Cervera's fleet off Santiago. He was killed while the ship was in port at Seattle by falling down a gangway while escorting a party of visitors over the cruiser.

Supposing any one of these victims had been told that he was to die as indicated, could he have believed it? Supposing one of them had been implored to insure his life to guard against the possibility of death by such a peculiar accident, would he have thought there was much of a chance of anything in the way of unusual deadly disaster befalling him?

Foreign Office Sounded
The Foreign Office has received from the German embassy at Washington a memorandum of inquiry made by Secretary Hay as to whether it would be agreeable to receive as ambassador, in succession to Mr. White, Charlemagne Tower, the present United States ambassador at St. Petersburg. Bellamy Storer, now United States minister at Madrid, or David J. Hill, assistant secretary of state. The Foreign Office has instructed the German charge d'affaires at Washington to say that any one of the three is acceptable. The impression here is that Mr. Tower is the most likely to be appointed. Submitting a list of names, instead of a single one is quite outside of diplomatic custom. Usually only one name is submitted to the Emperor, and Switzerland next week and will probably remain here until he presents his letters of recall to Emperor William. His retirement has not yet been officially notified and consequently no arrangements have been made for a far future. It is understood that it would be agreeable to Mr. White to conclude his term of office on his seventeenth birthday, Nov. 15. His Majesty will doubtless receive him in audience on that day.

Professor Angst, of the Swiss National Museum, will discuss in his forthcoming annual report recent American influence upon the European market for antique objects of art, pointing out that, while American collectors formerly bought single objects like the European, the latter American generation of millionaires buy entire collections at once at prices utterly unlike those of the European. The director will say, gives the purchaser a guarantee of the genuineness of the objects, particularly mentioning the bronzes, etc. in Paris. Such purchases, the director asserts, are an irreplaceable loss for Europe. He admits that Mr. Morgan, Mr. Carnegie and others will often open their collections to the public or give them outright to museums, adding: "The liberality with which rich Americans treat the museums of their country throws into the shade everything hitherto seen in Europe." Director Angst also refers to the enormous advance in prices through American buying, particularly mentioning old Zurich porcelains.

The Frankfurt Opera House has secured Hamperdick's new fairy opera, "The Sleeping Beauty." The first performance will take place about Nov. 12. The court theaters of Berlin and Munich, the Stadt Theater of Leipzig and the German National Theater of Prague have also acquired "The Sleeping Beauty."

A dispatch from Weimar says Mascagni will undertake a tour of Germany in the spring of 1903, conducting his own operas. The Leipzig Stadt Theater has acquired Bjornson's new drama, the "King," which will be first presented. Dec. 31, simultaneously at Leipzig and at Christiania on the author's seventeenth birthday.

A plaster cast of the copy of bronze of Schadow's statue of Frederick the Great at Stettin, erected in 1753, is being prepared for Emperor William's gift to Vienna. The original statue, which was in marble, is much injured.

At a banquet given to-night at the new palace, Potsdam, in honor of the King of Saxony, Emperor William said he heartily transferred to King George all of the gratitude, attachment and affection he had entertained for the late King Albert. King
