

MR. HEMENWAY IS SAFE

HE SHOULD CARRY THE FIRST DISTRICT BY 1,000 PLURALITY.

The Whirlwind Campaign Has Left the Democrats with None of the Six Counties Except Posey.

TALKS BY HARRIS AND DURBIN

AFTERNOON AND EVENING MEETINGS HELD AT BLOOMINGTON.

Fred Landis Closes His Campaign at Logansport—M. M. Dunlap at Portland—Other State Politics.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 1.—The Republican leaders of the First congressional district have summed up the general situation, now that the campaign is at an end, and are jubilant over the prospects of success on Tuesday next. A hard-fought campaign was never waged in this district and there is no doubt of fruitful results. Two years ago, after Representative Hemenway was returned to the national Congress by a small plurality, the leaders began to realize that in the future the most vigorous campaigns would have to be conducted, and that was done this year, and there is now not the least doubt of the success of Mr. Hemenway.

A district that only a few years ago was safely Democratic is now declared to be as safely Republican. Summing up, from all the information and data at hand, the Republicans should carry at least four of the six counties in the district, although the leaders say the Democrats will save but one county—Posey, where the normal majority is about 300. It is the belief that John W. Spencer, the Democratic candidate for Congress, will be lucky if he leaves Posey with three hundred to the good.

Hemenway should carry Vanderburg by at least one thousand, and the leaders figure that Warrick, another Democratic stronghold, but the home of Hemenway, should fall by about one hundred plurality, although an even break there will be to Republicans. Gibson, where the Democrats have a 150 plurality, Pike is expected to trail in with about 100, while Spencer is said to be good for about 100 for the Republicans. By conservative figuring, Mr. Hemenway should have a plurality in the district of between 2,000 and 2,500.

There has been less discussion of political issues and candidates by the rank and file than usual, and the campaign has shown unusual interest in the public meetings held during the campaign. The Republicans have been circulated concerning the platform orators here—Senator Hanna and the two Indiana senators, Fairbanks and Beveridge. Representatives Hemenway and Landis, Governor Durbin and others of the "while secretary" Shaw and others have been in the district.

The local campaign closed on Wednesday evening last, when Senator Fairbanks appeared at the Logansport meeting. Four thousand people crowded into the place and listened to one of the best arguments of the entire campaign. Senator Fairbanks is very popular in this part of the State, and persons who were at the meeting say he never made a more convincing speech. It was a fitting close to a great contest and no doubt was worth much to the Republicans from a vote-getting standpoint.

Vanderburg county is safely Republican all times, and it is not believed that the Democrats will have much trouble in getting men of prominence to accept places on the ticket.

Cromer's Election Assured.

MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 1.—From all parts of the Eighth congressional district comes trustworthy evidence of the election of George W. Cromer to Congress by a majority of at least 2,500. That was the conservative estimate given out by Republican leaders here to-day. The Democrats in Delaware county have made no effort to elect their county ticket; their one object is to defeat Cromer. Continually failing in their efforts to create dissension in the Republican ranks, the Democrats have made a hard fight to turn the labor vote against Representative Cromer. False reports have been circulated concerning Cromer's labor record. Judge Truesdale, the Democratic nominee, has been heralded as the labor champion, and the attacks Truesdale's chances are as hopeless as ever. The Democratic leaders themselves admit that such a campaign could not be expected to succeed, and have turned the voters of Muncie and Delaware county against the Democrats.

The laboring people that elected him mayor of Muncie and that vote has stood by him ever since. The Democrats have made a hard fight to turn the labor vote against Representative Cromer. False reports have been circulated concerning Cromer's labor record. Judge Truesdale, the Democratic nominee, has been heralded as the labor champion, and the attacks Truesdale's chances are as hopeless as ever. The Democratic leaders themselves admit that such a campaign could not be expected to succeed, and have turned the voters of Muncie and Delaware county against the Democrats.

The last speeches were made in Delaware county last night. The campaign is practically closed. It is not a question of victory or defeat but a question of how large the majority. Republican workers will see to it that a full party vote is cast next Tuesday, which means that Delaware county and the Eighth district will respond with the usual big Republican majorities.

Mr. Holliday's Last Meeting.

BRAZIL, Ind., Nov. 1.—Representative Holliday closed the campaign for his reelection by making an eloquent speech at Bowling Green, the old county seat, last night. An immense crowd gathered to hear the issues discussed, and frequently cheered the speaker so vigorously that he was forced to stop speaking until the enthusiasm had subsided. The speaker has been well received all over the district, and is confident of re-election by an increased majority. In fact, it is thought that many of the candidates for county offices in the Republican ticket will be elected, notwithstanding the large normal Democratic majority.

The Journal will begin, this week, the serial publication of

GENERAL CHARLES KING'S

Story of the Civil War, entitled

"The Iron Brigade"

The entertaining quality of this author's novels is well known. They deal invariably with some phase of army life, and one secret of their charm is undoubtedly the writer's familiarity with this life on all of its sides.

None of his stories is lacking in incident and action, but "The Iron Brigade," owing to the character of the events in which the famous brigade of that name figured, is unusually stirring. It is a dashingly tale, playing around the fortunes of that brave command, which prayed to go into every battle from Bull Run to the surrender, and did go into most of them until it was nearly destroyed at Gettysburg.

The story will have an especial interest for the Journal's readers because the Nineteenth Indiana Regiment was a part of the brigade and shared in all its fortunes. Many thrilling events are described in the tale, and Lincoln, Stanton, Kearny, McClellan, Meade, Grant and others pass before the reader in striking scenes and episodes. The story is woven about the fortunes of an officer of the brigade who was captured early in the war and fell in love with a beautiful Southern girl. This story WILL NOT appear in the Sunday Journal.
