FATAL SHOOTING AFFRAY

FRANK BRANKLE SHOT BY WALTER BENNETT AT WINDFALL.

Assault in at Large—Football Player Hurt at Thorntown—Merchant Assailed by Robbers—College News.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WINDFALL, Ind., Nov. 4.—A shooting affray occurred at the Panhandle depot at this place last night as the Logansport accommodation pulled into the station, as the result of which Frank Brankle, single, aged thirty, will lose his life. Yesterday afternoon Bailey Behmer and Walter Bennett, of Rigdon, came to town and made the rounds of the saloons, drinking heavily. Lete in the evening Brankle, who also was drinking, met them in S. A. Webber's saloon, and they got into a quarrel, but the peace was maintained by bystanders. Bennett and Behmer left the saloon and went to the depot to take the train for Logansport. Just as the accommodation from Richmond was coming into the station and the platform was crowded with people, Brankle appeared and renewed the trouble with Bennett, and it is said, struck Bennett over the head with a club, whereupon Bennett drew a revolver and fired twice at Brankle. The first shot went wild, but the second entered the abdomen and Brankle fell across the railroad track but a few feet from the engine.

DEMANDS OF MINERS

STATEMENT FILED WITH THE ANTHRACITE STRIKE COMMISSION.

Increase of 20 Per Cent. in Wages and Reduction of 20 Per Cent. in Hours of Labor Asked.

NEW SYSTEM OF WEIGHING AND A BINDING AGREEMENT WITH EMPLOYERS ALSO DEMANDED.

Arrangement Similar to That Between Bituminous Operators and Their Men Considered Desirable.

HAZLETON, Nov. 4.—The statement of the anthracite mine workers' case, which was filed with the strike commission on Sunday night, was made public today. Copies of the statement have been furnished to the operators, who will reply in three or four days. The miners' statement, in full, follows:

"The mine workers make of the operators the following demands, which were formulated by the Shannon commission held March 21 to 24, for the enforcement of which the strike was inaugurated:

"First.—The present state of wages is lower than the rate of wages paid in the bituminous coal fields for substantially similar work.

"Second.—The present rate of wages is lower than is paid in other occupations requiring equal skill and training.

"Third.—The average annual earnings in the anthracite coal fields are much less than the average annual earnings in the bituminous coal fields for substantially similar work.

"Fourth.—The average annual earnings in the anthracite coal fields are much less than the average annual earnings in other occupations requiring equal skill and training.

"Fifth.—The rate of wages in the anthracite coal fields only prevents the mine workers in view of the dangerous character of the occupation in relation to accidents, the liability to permanent disability, the high death rate and the short-grade life incident to this employment from securing any benefit from increased prosperity, but has made their condition more onerous on account of:

"Sixth.—The annual earnings of the mine workers are insufficient to maintain the American standard of living.

"Seventh.—It is impossible to maintain a fair standard of life upon the basis of present wages, and hence only prevent the mine workers from securing any benefit from increased prosperity, but has made their condition more onerous on account of:

"Eighth.—The wages of the anthracite mine workers are so low that their children are prematurely crowded into the breakers and mills, instead of being supported and educated upon the earnings of their parents.

"Ninth.—Wages are below the fair and just earnings of mine workers in this industry.

—Second.—

"A reduction of 20 per cent. in hours of labor, without any reduction of earnings, for all employees by the hour, day or week. The second demand is similar to the first in that it is designed to increase the hourly rate of wages, and is to be employed by the hour, day or week, and all the reasons applicable to the first demand are applicable to this demand with the repetition. In addition thereto we submit the following:

"Tenth.—Fewer hours improve the physical, mental and moral conditions of the workers.

"Eleventh.—Fewer hours increase the intensity and efficiency of labor.

"Twelfth.—The tendency of national and international competition to reduce the rate of production generally is toward fewer hours.

"Thirteenth.—A working day of eight hours is sufficiently long for the best interests of the workmen and of the community.

—Third.—

"The adoption of a system by which coal shall be weighed and paid for by weight at the rate of 60 cents for a legal ton of 2,240 pounds, the differentials now existing between the factor of weight and price. This demand is made on account of the following reasons:

"First.—Measurement by the legal ton wherever practicable is the only honest and just system of measuring the earnings of mine workers.

"Second.—When the operators sell or transport coal on the basis of a legal ton of 2,000 pounds, the operators are intended to compensate the operator for the weight of the small excess of coal, which is sold at the rate of 60 cents per ton, and therefore there is no present necessity for the use of any other factor than the legal ton.

"Third.—The adoption of this system would remove an incentive, both to the operator and to the worker, to cheating and dishonesty, and would allow jealousy among the miners and prevent unjust discrimination and favoritism.

"Fourth.—The change of the present system to the one asked for would prove a strong factor in allying the interests and discent among the mine workers.

—Fourth.—

"The incorporation in an agreement between the anthracite coal companies of the wages which shall be paid and the conditions of employment which shall obtain, and the adjustment of grievances which may arise from time to time, and the settlement of disputes by satisfactory methods for the benefit of both parties, and the prevention of any strike or lockout may be unnecessary. In support of this demand we submit the following reasons:

"First.—Anthracite mine workers should not be compelled to make or sign individual agreements, but should have the right to form such organizations and choose such agents and officers as they desire, to act collectively instead of individually, when they deem their best interests are subserved thereby.

"Second.—Agreement between employers and employees through workingmen's organizations are the ordinary methods of regulating production and wages in the bituminous coal fields, in other large industries, and are beneficial, successful and in keeping with the spirit of the times.

"Third.—The mine workers are entitled to the better discipline of the men, and to the improvement of their physical, moral and mental conditions, and to the preservation of friendly relations between employer and employee.

"Fourth.—Experience shows that the trade agreement is the only effective method by which it is possible to regulate questions arising between employers and employees in large industries, and that a trade agreement is the only possible way to establish the relations between employers and the wage workers in the anthracite fields on a just and permanent basis, and as far as possible to remove the causes for the recurrence of such difficulties as those of the anthracite coal strike (commission) have been called in to settle.

—Fifth.—

"The arbitration commission arrived here at 11:15 from Logansport. On the run down, the commissioners' special train passed through Mahanoy, Centralia, Shenandoah and Mount Carmel. The Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company operates nearly all the mines in this region. While en route to this place the commission made up the itinerary for the remainder of the observation tour. After the arrival here the train was run to the Bear Valley colliery, four miles out, operated by the Reading Company. The commission inspected the mine and afterwards made a trip to the morning Shamokin region, going as far as Travertor. Bear Valley mine is a wet one and the commissioners were compelled to don the rubber coats and hats. The train was lowered into the workings at noon. The shaft is about 450 feet deep and miners are paid

AN ALLEGED SLUGGER

ARREST OF ALAN G. MASON, A PROMINENT BOSTON CLUBMAN.

Suspected of Having Committed the Mysterious Assaults on Women at Cambridge.

PROTESTS HIS INNOCENCE

POLICE BELIEVE HE KILLED MISS CLARA MORTON RECENTLY.

Graduate of Harvard and Member of the Mason & Hamlin Music House, Who Was Treated for Insanity.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—In connection with the fifteen murderous assault cases which have occurred in Cambridge, Brookline and Somerville in the last few months, two of which resulted fatally, the state police today arrested Alan G. Mason, of Boston, a well-known and wealthy business man, a member of the piano manufacturing firm of Mason & Hamlin, a prominent club member and a Harvard graduate. The police suspect, from evidence in their hands, that Mr. Mason has been involved in nearly all the cases referred to, as the circumstances have been very similar. Mason has been a victim of mental trouble, for which he was treated at the McLean asylum at Waverley. About a year ago he was permitted to leave the institution. Since that time he has been permitted to come and go at will, and the fact that he has been seen about the localities in which the assaults occurred led to suspicion against him.

The peculiar assault cases which have terrorized Cambridge and vicinity, as well as other suburban sections began last June. During the summer there were half a dozen cases of a woman being assaulted, each of which was struck down and beaten with a blunt instrument. Early in October Miss Agnes McPhee was assaulted in Somerville and died from her injuries. An iron wrench was found and fixed upon as the weapon used. During the same month eight other cases followed, the last of which occurred last Saturday night. The victim, Miss Clara Morton, a laundress at the McLean Asylum, was accosted on the grounds of that institution by a man who threatened her with a revolver. She fled to her home on Sunday. Mr. Mason was taken into custody at his mother's home on the way to police headquarters. It is said Mr. Mason admitted to the officers that he had been in the vicinity of the place on which Miss McPhee was fatally injured.

PROMINENT BOSTONIAN.

The prisoner is about thirty-nine years old, and is the son of the founder of the firm of Mason & Hamlin, organ and piano manufacturers. He was graduated from Harvard in 1888 and entered the firm of the same name as a partner. He has had several troubles developed within a few years of his graduation and he went to McLean Asylum for treatment. After a time he showed improvement and left the institution. A second time it became necessary for him to return, but he soon improved and he was released a second time. In 1901, he was again committed to the asylum. He had threatened both a petition was filed to have him sent away on the ground of insanity. The petition was granted and he was committed to the asylum for the third time. The man himself protested against what he termed an injustice, and said he was perfectly sane and would conduct himself as well as possible while he was there. He remained six weeks in the asylum, but he was released and has been a stock-taker at the Mason & Hamlin organ factory at Cambridge. He is a member of the Newbury Athletic Club and has been a member of the Cambridge Athletic Club. He is a member of the Cambridge Athletic Club and has been a member of the Cambridge Athletic Club. PREPARING FOR INDIANA.

Chicago Will Try to Drub the Bloomington Eleven—Saturday's Receipts.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Indiana University will play Chicago on Marshall Field Saturday. The Maroons expect an easy victory, but they are taking no chances and will train hard this week. After the showing of the Maroons in the Beloit game on Saturday, Stagg started in to give them a week of perhaps the hardest practice they have yet had. The Maroon coach was highly displeased with the miserable work of his proteges and took no pains to conceal it. All the boys could do was simply to follow the instructions that were coming to them and keep still.

Stagg commenced the week's practice with a long session of signal practice. It was not until ten minutes before 7 that the Maroons were sent off the field to the gym. Constant signal practice for speed and accuracy was the programme. The hospital list is decreasing. Bezdek got into the game for the first time since the Illinois Nightman's hand, upon which he has been compelled to wear a heavy leather gauntlet, is slowly getting well. Speik is still troubled with a sore shin. The worst feature of the work was a severe bruise which Catlin sustained. In tackling he reached loose a ligament in his chest. Coach Stagg, however, said the injury would be serious.

Managers Baird and Kilpatrick have counted the money taken for tickets at the Beloit game. The receipts were $10,000, and while the official figures, with expenses, will not be ready for nearly a week the estimate shows that the receipts for the game through the gates on paid admissions. The total receipts will aggregate in the neighborhood of $25,000, of which Chicago will receive 10 per cent. gross for the use of the field. After all the other expenses are taken out, the balance will be equally divided between the athletic associations of the two colleges, each receiving $3,000 or $3,500.

With the Wisconsin game only a few days off, only five members of the regular Northwestern team appeared for practice yesterday. Including the substitutes and members of the scrub eleven just twenty men were in uniform. As a result of the lack of interest, the coaches are downcast, but are doing everything possible to revive the drooping spirits of the players. The star players are given a trial quarter back, and will doubtless play that position against the Badgers. He made an excellent showing for a man green at the position, and his promise of becoming a good quarter back as he is a tackle. The failure of the Beloit game to draw a large crowd, and the position of quarter back prompted the coach to try a heavy man in that position.

Football Player Baldy Hurt.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

THORNTOWN, Ind., Nov. 4.—Dr. A. A. Nelson, a veterinary surgeon of this place and a graduate of the Indiana Veterinary College at Indianapolis, who engaged in a game of football between Thorntown and Darlington this afternoon was seriously injured. The Darlington eleven had made the kickoff to Dr. Nelson, who caught the ball. He was carrying it to a touchdown when he was struck by one of the Darlington players, head to head. Dr. Nelson was knocked unconscious. He was taken immediately to the hospital, where he regained consciousness. His condition is such that he could not be removed to his home to-night, and he was taken to a nearby hotel.

Hanover Much Surprised.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

HANOVER, Ind., Nov. 4.—The defeat of the football team at Franklin last Saturday came as a great surprise to the students here. Although defeat was expected, nothing like the score of 46 to 0 was anticipated. So great was the shock and so keenly was the disgrace felt that none of the usual Halloween pranks were indulged in, the town remaining even quieter than usual.

Last night, however, a parade was formed, in which nearly every male student in the college took part arrayed in his robes de nuit. The procession marched through the streets to the music of life and drums, singing and shouting. A bonfire was built on the athletic field in front of

FOR RESISTING ROBBERS.

Chicago Real Estate Man Wounded so Seriously He Died in Hospital.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Because he resisted the efforts of thugs to relieve him of his valuable Charles E. Bohlene, a West Side real estate dealer, was shot early this morning, and died shortly after being taken to the county hospital. Bohlene, with several other persons, was in Benjamin Marovig's saloon, at 724 West Harrison street, discussing politics, and at 1:30 a. m. the meeting broke up, and only Bohlene and the saloon keeper remained, the two intending to go home together, as they had but a short distance from each other. The proprietor turned out the lights preparatory to going home, and was engaged in talking to the saloon keeper when he heard a noise at the front door. He opened it and went to walk out, when he was confronted by four masked men with drawn revolvers. Two of the robbers immediately went past Bohlene into the saloon and proceeded to ransack the place. Bohlene was a powerfully built man, and comprehending the situation, at once started for the door, but the robbers were already on the outside, and with a good stiff punch sent him reeling to the sidewalk. Seeing that the remaining robbers had already fled, he fell to the ground, and the robbers had good descriptions of the man, but no trace of them has yet been found.
