

LAFAYETTE GREETED ITS TWO STATE CANDIDATES

Party Lines Disappear in the Welcome of Hanly and Storms by the Citizens.

OVATION IS PROLONGED

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 30.—Never before in the history of Lafayette has there been held such an enthusiastic demonstration as that of to-night in honor of the return of J. Frank Hanly and Daniel E. Storms, the Lafayette men who have been so signally honored by the Republicans of Indiana. Party ties were broken, and Republicans and Democrats alike paid tribute to their honored townsmen.

Nearly 10,000 persons were at the Union Station when the Big Four train arrived, bearing the nominees, who with dignity made their way to a carriage. Old soldiers, Purdue students, Battery C, and scores of prominent citizens joined in the procession, and the streets resounded with cheers. At the Coliseum, where the reception was held, several thousand persons gathered. W. S. Haggard, former Lieutenant Governor, presided, and Dan W. Simms was the first speaker. The remarkable spectacle of a probable candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket indulging in highest eulogy of the Republican nominee for chief executive was one that aroused great enthusiasm.

Following Mr. Simms, Judge Richard P. De Hart spoke. Addresses were made by Union E. Hunt, of Winchester, former secretary of state, and James Bingham, of Decatur. Hunt, in his address, expressed his gratitude for the reception. It was when Mr. Hanly rose to speak that the enthusiasm reached its highest pitch. It was some minutes before he could be heard, and then, choking with emotion and with tears standing in his eyes, he thanked the citizens of Lafayette and Tippecanoe counties. His voice was scarcely audible so deeply he was affected. He declared it was the proudest moment of his life, that he could stand before his own neighbors and feel the friendship and confidence in him. "I have done more than anything else to make me fight and win," he said.

Reception to Judge Montgomery.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. SEYMOUR, Ind., April 30.—The citizens of Seymour to-night tendered a public reception at the opera house to Oscar H. Montgomery, who was nominated Wednesday for supreme judge. Mayor James M. Shields presided and addresses were made by S. A. Barnes, John M. Lewis, the Rev. W. C. Martin, W. J. Durban and Joseph H. Shaw. Judge Montgomery responded in a clever speech, expressing his deep sense of gratitude to his neighbors and friends for their expressions of esteem and confidence in him.

Mr. Mayfield is Vindicated.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., April 30.—The investigation before the grand jury by Special Prosecutor W. H. Watson of the charges of malfeasance in office and soliciting a bribe preferred by James Keenan, of this city, against Prosecuting Attorney F. M. Mayfield was completed this afternoon and the jury completely vindicated the prosecutor. It is said the filing of the charges will be the cause of further investigation.

Death of Daniel Howard.

BROCKTON, Mass., April 30.—Daniel Howard, retired shoe manufacturer, and considered one of the wealthiest men in New England, died to-day. He was eighty-five years of age.

EX-PRESIDENT SHUTTLEWORTH.

Who Carried the T. P. A. Convention Through Yesterday's Storm.

STORMY SESSION OF THE T. P. A. FOLLOWED BY BOLT AND LATER BY HARMONY

(CONCLUDED FROM FIRST PAGE.) he was ready to make a plain statement of facts. A motion then set in and the Indianapolis delegation, the leaders of the minority, secured what they were asking for. Officers were elected unanimously when the convention met this morning. The slate of the majority went through without a contest. The officers are W. H. Wiley, Marion, president; John G. Gelhardt, Anderson, second vice president; John H. Terrell, Terre Haute, third vice president; W. O. Anderson, Marion, secretary and G. C. Harwood, Marion, director. According to the custom of the association the subordinate officers are always selected from the same post to which the president belongs.

INCIDENTS OF THE STORM.

Nearly the whole session to-day was replete with stirring and exciting events. During the storm over the rule there were accusations and retorts hurled from one side to the other which seemed to have the effect of a dangerous explosion, which tended to make the division more marked. State President Shuttleworth was accused of being allied with the majority forces, and from the ranks of the minority, when a decision was rendered against them, would come hisses and derisive shouts of "robber," "unfair," "no good" and "get out." The same decision would be greeted by the majority with applause and shouts of approval.

At one time, when a delegate, amid cries and shouts of others, asked for the floor, he demanded to know if the president would be "decent enough" to explain what was going on.

"Yes, sir," replied the president, "but if you would direct attention to the chair to keep order you would know what was going on." A delegate from Indianapolis questioned the fairness of the presiding officer when a vote was being taken. Turning to the Indianapolis delegates and pointing at them, he said: "Would you dare, sir, to insinuate that I am not an honest man and would not give you a fair show in this convention? You, sir, will get just what is coming to you, but no more," and he emphasized his remarks with a heavy rap of the gavel on the table.

During the session repeated appeals were sent up from the members of the minority for a fair deal and justice. Horace Starr, of Muncie, who has had some experience in political address, addressed the convention in behalf of what he termed justice, but without avail. He said: "Gentlemen of the convention, when we go out on the road and sample case, we go posing as fair men and as representatives of fair business concerns. Should we then want to enter a protest to the actions of this convention? I appeal to you as men to do what is right. In behalf of the majority, I want to enter a protest to the actions of this convention." Similar speeches were made by P. J. O'Meara, of Chicago, and J. H. Terrell, of Terre Haute, the latter surprising his friends with his unexpected eloquence.

It is not known whether the convention before it adjourned finished all of the business that came before it for consideration, as a motion to adjourn was taken during the night. After the adjourned delegates returned, it was decided to reconsider the question as to whether the delegates to the national convention should be instructed to vote as a unit and to grant the request of the Indianapolis delegation for four instead of three delegates. This was followed by a motion that the entire list of national delegates be voted on again, which was carried. A motion to depose, if such is the case, the Indianapolis delegation will be the only one that would really have any effect upon the national convention. It is claimed, however, by others that the motion was acted upon and the delegates legally selected. The next morning the convention held its session at West Baden. This resort was the only invitation extended and it was accepted unanimously.

NOTES FROM THE CONVENTION.

Aside from the storm to-day, it is unanimously conceded that the convention just closed has been one of the most enjoyable in the history of the state organization, which fact is due to the generous hospitality of Lafayette post. The entertainment for the guests was in the hands of competent committees and not a hitch was experienced in the plans from the beginning to the end. A great part of the credit of this success is due to the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary Society of the local post, who assumed many of the responsibilities for the entertainment. The card party given for the visiting women this afternoon was largely attended, as also was the trolley party which followed.

Dr. Stansfield said that he hoped to see the Republican party secure an overwhelming victory, for he believed that if it did the next decade will stand out for a movement for civic, political righteousness. He contended as the policy of the prohibitionists that they hold solidly to their present position.

ACCUSED OF COLLECTING EXTORTIONATE AMOUNTS

Insurance Commissioner Alleged to Have Assessed a Company for Big Fees.

MILWAUKEE, April 30.—Illegal collection of alleged extortionate fees and expenses for the conduct of an examination of the affairs of the Prudential Insurance Company of America is charged against State insurance commissioner Zeno M. Host by the company in a suit begun in the United States Circuit Court at Milwaukee. These sensational charges are the outgrowth of an alleged attempt on the part of the insurance commissioner to examine into the affairs of the Fidelity Trust Company of Newark, N. J., a corporation in which the Prudential Insurance Company owns a large amount of stock. The insurance company alleges that it has called upon to pay sums aggregating $21,024 to the state insurance commissioner for an examination of its affairs, and that it has been ordered to show cause why its license should not be discontinued. Judge Seaman to-day ordered insurance Commissioner Host to show cause on May 2 why a preliminary injunction should not be granted restraining him and his agents from interfering with the right of the insurance company to do business in the state.

Girl Hurt on a Skating Floor.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. KOKOMO, Ind., April 30.—Miss Bessie Pierce, a girl of fifteen, while skating at the Alhambra to-night, fell and fractured her shoulder blade. This is the last night of the roller-skating season, and an unusually large crowd was on the floor. In skating to Miss Pierce's aid fully twenty-five persons fell, and the floor looked like a football field in a scrimmage.

PROHIBITORS HAVE A BANQUET AT THE LINDEN HOTEL

Rev. Joshua Stansfield Says the Democratic Party is Hopelessly Divided.

SEVERAL SPEECHES MADE

Seventy-five prohibitionists and their wives, of Indianapolis, gathered last night at the Linden Hotel on North Illinois street, where an elaborate dinner had been prepared. Later there were prohibition speeches. The principal speaker of the evening was Felix T. McWhirter, the prohibition candidate for Governor, whose toast was "The Evolution of Our Party." Mr. McWhirter traced the history of the prohibition party from its earliest inception to the present time. He did not touch, however, on the coming campaign, in which he is to take a part.

MINE WORKERS' ORGANIZER ASSAULTED IN COLORADO

W. N. Wardjohn Badly Treated—Executive Board Still in Session.

Word was received yesterday at the headquarters of the United Mine Workers during the session of the executive board from Denver, Col., notifying President Mitchell that W. N. Wardjohn, a national organizer of the miners, was terribly beaten over the head and shoulders yesterday morning by three unknown men and is now expected to die. Wardjohn was attacked at Sargent, Col., and the instruments used were the butts of revolvers. He was given a concussion of the brain.

INDIANA NOTES.

SHELBYVILLE.—The young people of the First Presbyterian Church have completed arrangements for the festival to be given on the evenings of May 16, 17, 18 and 19. The first evening a concert will be given by the Barnard family, seven in number. On the next evening another concert will be given by the Metropolitan School orchestra of Indianapolis. On the third evening the Rev. J. Cumming Smith, D. D., of Indianapolis, will lecture on "The Humor of Culture." The closing number of the festival will be a dramatic cantata, "Jephthah's Daughter," which will be produced by the young women of the church.

INDIANA OBITUARY.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 30.—Albert H. Nagle, a prominent citizen of West Lafayette, was found dead in bed by his nurse this morning. He had been ailing for several days, but was believed to be recovering. A professional nurse was engaged to attend to him, and the nurse left the sick chamber for a few minutes. On returning the patient was found to be dead. He had expired from an attack of heart disease. Mr. Nagle served with distinction in the civil war. His daughter, Mrs. Emory Nagle, a week ago married Merrill R. Wells, of Pittsburg, a Purdue graduate. Mr. Nagle was the owner of the Beta Theta Pi chapter house of Purdue University. His funeral will be held Monday afternoon.

DEATH OF H. F. ROPKEY, A WELL-KNOWN CITIZEN

He Came to Indianapolis from Germany in 1857—Employed as Salesman.

H. F. Ropkey, sixty-seven years old, one of the best-known German citizens of Indianapolis, died at 7:30 last evening at his home, 745 Madison avenue, of heart disease. For twenty years Mr. Ropkey was employed as salesman by Dietz & Reiser, wholesale leather dealers, and later he worked for Holliday & Wyon in a similar capacity. The deceased was born in the province of Hanover, Germany, where he resided until he became a young man, coming to this country in 1857. He came directly to Indianapolis and had been a resident here ever since.

FRANK WILLIAMS, NEGRO, SUDDENLY LOST HIS MIND

He Told People on the Street that Medical Students Were After Him.

Frank Williams, a negro, who came to this city from Cleveland with a load of stock, became possessed of the idea last night while near Illinois and Washington streets that the medical students were after him and that he was about to be "carved." His terror was pitiable and his cries attracted a great crowd around him. To one bystander he gave 10 cents if he would procure a policeman that he might be protected from the imagined danger. He was taken to the police station in the patrol wagon and while on the way pointed out to the officer who had him in charge the certain men on the street who were after him.

LAST ART LECTURE BY WALTER SCOTT PERRY

The third and last of a series of lectures by Walter Scott Perry, M. A., of Pratt Institute, N. Y., was delivered at the Benjamin Harrison School last night. Mr. Perry took as his subject the "Buddhists of India, Ceylon and China, Their Life, Religion and Art." He spoke of the life of a people, street and river scenes, their temples and the decorations. He showed his audience the close relation of the art of the people to their religion and general life. The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides taken from pictures which were made by Mr. Perry when he visited these countries. He had the privilege of visiting the temples and shrines where the rare treasures in sculpture and art are housed and consequently saw more than is to be seen by the casual observer in these countries.

CLASSICAL SCHOOL GIRLS GIVE "AS YOU LIKE IT"

Large Audience at the Propylaeum Applauds the Efforts of the Thespians.

The 1904 class of the Girls' Classical School, one of the largest classes that has ever graduated from that school, gave an excellent presentation of Shakespeare's comedy, "As You Like It," at the Propylaeum last night. A large audience applauded the efforts of the young thespians and encouraged them in their work. A number of the players showed exceptional talent. Perhaps the best acting of the evening was done by Miss Ruth Pratt as Rosalind and Miss Nellie Fry as the Jester, Touchstone. Miss Gertrude Free as Orlando also gave a very good interpretation of the part. The play was given under the direction of Miss Fyrd, the teacher of reading and voice culture in the school. The cast of the play was: Nellie Free, Corin; Lucile May, Frederick; Rose Foster, Knefer; James, Alice Lea Monks; Amiens, Ruth Maxam; The Beau, Rose Morris Haas; Oliver, Wilma Allen Harpold; Jacques de Bois, Estelle Downs Rocky; Orlando, Gertrude Free; Adam, Agnes Leander Monks; Charles, Ethel Marian Tyrrel; Touchstone, Nellie Free; Corin, Lucile May; Francis, Silvio; Alice El Paso Nickey; William, Alberta May Applewhite; Hyman, Ruth Maxam; Audrey, Margaret Marie Gullison; Phoebe, Anna Louise Parker; Celia, Julia Maria Bourland; Rosalind, Ruth Augusta Pratt.
