The World of Music and Drama

To-Day's Local Attractions. PARK—Holden Stock Company in "Denver" at 8 p. m. EMPIRE—Burlesque, 2 and 8 p. m.

Drama at the Park.

"The Denver Express," a melodrama street play, which the Holden stock company is presenting at the Park, is not the kind of play which draws heavily upon the talent of that organization. Instead of calling for serious acting, the play, with its plot shot full of bullet holes, rather draws upon lung capacity, for cowboys, miners and Indians "shoot up" things generally and their dolours are of the rip-roaring kind.

Burlesque at the Empire.

With opening and closing burlesques that are somewhat better than the average, and with one of the strongest vaudeville oases here this season, the "World Beaters" company scored quite a success at the Empire yesterday afternoon and last night, when this combination opened a week's engagement.

Ben Greet's English Players

A company that appeared in Indianapolis in "Everyman" last season, gave a special matinee performance of "The Merchant of Venice" last week in New York. Mr. Greet, who declares that there is no such thing as a competent dramatic critic in America, refused to grant the usual courtesy to the newspaper writers on dramatic topics, and now the metropolitan reviewers are having fun with the English actor-manager.

The Schumann-Heink Retinal.

When Mme. Schumann-Heink, the greatest contralto of the times, gives one of her noteworthy recitals at English's next Friday evening the program will not be started until 8:45, this arrangement being made for the convenience of the Chinese price, Pu Lin, who, with his suite and the members of the committee having his entertainment in charge, will occupy the three boxes on the left side of the theater.

Lillian Russell to Star.

The latest theatrical news from New York is that Lillian Russell will again become a star next season, appearing under the management of Joseph Weber, late of Weber & Fields, in the musical comedy, "Lady Teazle," written by John Kendrick Bangs, with music by A. Baldwin Sloat.

Ethel Clayton Tricked by Alleged Scoundrel

LONDON, May 16.—Harry M. Vernon, who was arrested last week under the alias of Julian Ralph, was convicted at the Old Bailey today of stealing a ring valued at $500 from Ethel Clayton, the American actress who inherited the bulk of Prince Soltykoff's fortune. Vernon met Miss Clinton on board the Oceanic on her last trip from New York, and represented himself as being a war correspondent for a New York paper.

Frohman Presents New Play.

LONDON, May 16.—"Cynthia," which Charles Frohman presented at Wyndham's Theater last night, is regarded by the critics as inferior to the previous plays of Henry Herbert Davies, and as hardly giving Miss Ethel Barrymore a good chance, but it was cordially received by an unusually representative audience, including Ambassador Whitwell, Mrs. W. H. Murray, secretary of the United States embassy, and Miss White.

Mme. Rejane Not Mulctured for Damages

PARIS, May 16.—One of the various suits growing out of the divorce proceedings brought by M. Porel, director of the Vaudeville Theater, against his wife, Mme. Rejane, was decided today in favor of the latter. M. Porel hired his wife to play in a series of pieces and he claimed she violated the contract by not making a suitable change of program, and claimed $2,000 damages. The court did not discuss the domestic aspect of the case, holding that Mme. Rejane had sufficiently performed her contract and gave costs against the husband.
