Appointments.

Washington, April 3.

The Senate has confirmed Howard, Postmaster at [illegible]; Pope, Postmaster at Vicksburg; and, after a long discussion, the appointments of Dix as Postmaster at New York, you also confirmed; also the appointment of Jno. G. Dewitt Collector at St. Johns, Florida, and Smith S. Blackburn for the Southern District of Florida.

Difficulties between Honduras and Guatemala.

Baltimore, April 3.

Captain Smith Hampton, arrived at NewYork as late as the 25th ult., and states that the commencement of hostilities between Honduras and Guatemala. A [illegible] had fought in which the troops of Honduras [illegible].

NewYork Market.

NewYork, April 3.

Money loan demand, Cotton firm.

Mobile Appointment.

Baltimore, April 4.

Dr. Logan has been appointed Surgeon of the Marine Hospital at Mobile.

From Havana.

Baltimore, April 3.

Advices from Havana to the 28th ult., state that it was reported that Canada would be superseded by Hilcanado, and that the political prisoners had not been shot. [We have seldom put Black Warrior two days later, and no news or any numeral change in the governments of the Island. Eds.]

New Orleans Appointments.

Baltimore, April 3.

It is now reported that Mandeville Marigny will receive the appointment of Naval Officer at New Orleans; Thos. O. Porter, Surveyor; Dr. Hereford, Marshal. All other appointments stored.

Mississippi Appointments.

The appointment of C. D. Dickerson, as Postmaster at Jackson, and of Nathaniel I. Price, as Attorney of Mississippi, have been confirmed by the Senate.

Georgia Appointments.

Thomas Nancy has been appointed and confirmed as Postmaster at Macon, Georgia.

Affairs from Buenos Ayres—More Fighting.

Baltimore, April 3.

Advices from Buenos Ayres, as late as the 19th of February, have been received. Considerable skirmishing, and one attached battle, had taken place, in which Urquiza was victorious.

Election Returns.

Louisiana—Hunn Gubernatorial, 25 majority. Pinpoint—Gubernatorial, 24 majority. Alcorn—Senator, 4 majority. Senate—Senate, 4 majority.

Arkansas—Rector Gubernatorial—Senator, 125; Gilbert, 80. Senate, 25; Senate, 20; Taylor, 5; Rooney, 3; Senate—Senate 1; Senate 1. Massachusetts—Senator, 4 majority.

Mr. James Harrison—Two protests—Gilbert, 25; Rowling, 20; Rooney, 20; Gaines, 24; Taylor, 1.

Mr. Graham—Senator, 30 majority.

Letter from Texas.

By the steamship Louisiana we have Galveston dates to the 27th inst., and advise from the interior to correspond. From no quarter either. Items are of interest to our readers.

The Galveston Journal of the 21st ult., announces the arrival of George D. Prentice in that city. He proceeded immediately on the Trinity with his family.

The Galveston Journal says that the mail bag for Galveston, which was on the steamer Summer when the boiler exploded, was taken on Bolivar Point, and was brought over safely. All its contents are safe. When the mail arrived at the head of the bay, it was taken from all appearances it had been in the water. The mail was sent to Houston for New Orleans is expected to be lost, as nothing has been heard of it since the explosion.

The Jury of Inquest, on the unfortunate victims of the Summer explosion, were still investigating when the Louisiana left. As far as we can learn, the testimony has gone to establish the fact that the steam-gauge of the engine did not, at any time, when examined during the day, indicate more than 90 pounds pressure, and that 100 pounds, which is 20 pounds less than had been used on the same boat. This fact, if it be so, appears quite inconsistent with the great heat in the furnaces and the unusual speed of the boat, as testified to by the engineer, and witness will be elicited to give a more satisfactory explanation to the public of the real cause of this explosion. [Galveston News, April 1.]

Robbery of the Post-Office.—A case which excites the utmost interest among our citizens, is undergoing investigation to-day, before United States Commissioner, J. S. [illegible].

It appears that about the latter part of January last, numerous letters from the interior of the State, for New Orleans, were opened and rifled. examination of such letters proved that all of these letters were traceable to Hempstead, and the ladies on the other, as if they were to dance a Virginia reel. Space enough is left between for their Majesties to pass easily. The Americans had one-half of the presentation room, and the English the other. The practice of the Emperor would seem to be to address some remarks to about every third person, as the names of the presentees are mentioned to him; those of the ladies by their ambassadress, and those of the gentlemen by their ambassador. The American portion of the ceremony was easy, graceful and highly successful; their Majesties were gracious in the extreme. Lord Cowley made a bokeh of the English introductions; and an amused Lord was heard to remark, 'Those Americans always do every thing better than any one else; we set no figure at all next to them.' The Emperor looked well; better indeed, more at ease, more desirous of pleasing than I have ever before seen him. The Empress wore white flowers, both in her hair, and scattered in graceful profusion over her dress. She had a necklace of large pearls around her neck, but not a single diamond. The American ladies that had put on all their finery, and to compete with her Majesty, showed to extreme disadvantage. It made a very striking display. I doubt whether thirty handsomer women were ever collected on an occasion of the kind. More than once the Emperor seemed to single out a lady of more than ordinary beauty, and call the Empress' attention to her. After the presentation there was dancing and a supper. Their Majesties waltzed together, and were once or twice bumped in a most unseemly manner by Americans who had grown dizzy, and lost the power of properly guiding their footsteps. It was past one when their Majesties retired. The festivities continued, however, after their departure, and when the clock struck three the company had not yet left."

Foreign Theatrical Items.—Miss Dolaro is playing an engagement at the Olympic Theatre, London, after which she is engaged to appear at Drury Lane.

There is some curiosity in London to see Mr. Murdoch. There has been a good deal said of him of late.

The American comedian is playing a star engagement in Birmingham. His wife for America, with his family, in August, in order to be in New York ready for a fall campaign.

Howard Paul's play, "The Mob Cap," founded on Mrs. Lee Kenh's tale, is about to be played at Drury Lane. Miss Fanny Vining and Henry Wallack in the principal characters.

Mr. Sands is walking hand downwards in London. He is the equestrian hands who used to have the clever ponies at Welsh's establishment.

Fullen has engaged Belletini, the great double bass player, and Madame Zerr, the best tenorm singer in England, to support him.

Mrs. Sterling, of the Haymarket, will soon visit the United States, professionally. She is the most elegant comedienne in England, (always excepting Mrs. Nesbitt, the queen of comedy,) and far, far superior to Julia Bennett.

Fanny Wallack is in Scotland. Her husband, Mr. Mowbourne, is in London, playing at Drury Lane. [Cor. Philadelphia Sun.

Destruction of the Chesterfield (S. C.) Jail.—Eight Persons Consumed in the Flames.—The county jail at Chesterfield, S. C., was destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock, a. m., on the 30th ult., and and to retain, eight persons—all the prison contained, save one—perished in the flames. The following letter, from the Clerk of the Court, giving particulars, is copied from the Charaw Gazette, of the 30th ultimo:

Chesterfield C. H., March 29.—James Powell, Esq.—Dear Sir: The Chesterfield Jail was consumed by fire this morning, about 3 o'clock, destroying the lives of eight persons. The fire was first discovered in one of the front rooms used as a cook room. When first discovered, it was then too late to render assistance to the prisoners up stairs sufficient to enable them to make their escape.

The names of those consumed are: Shadrville H. Hall, Robert Dickson, John Farr, Francis H. Hall, Wm. Gregson, Malcom Martin, prisoners; Mrs. Martin, wife of Malcom Martin; John Martin, brother of Malcom Martin. The last two were on a visit to Malcom Martin. James W. Jowers and Richard Dickson, were discharged yesterday, so they escaped. W. W. Campbell was in the debtor's room, and was turned out in time to be saved. Every exertion was used to save the lives of the prisoners and building, but all failed. Yours, etc., J. C. Craig.

Destructive Fire at Cincinnati.—At an early hour on the morning of the 28th ult., a fire broke out in the carriage shop of Mr. Wolfson, on Sycamore, below Third street, and before it could be subdued, fifteen houses, mostly frame, were destroyed, rendering thirty families homeless. Some of the buildings were owned by Mrs. Bowman, of Philadelphia. Many of the families lost all they had. A fire also occurred on Sunday, the 26th ult., at 2 o'clock. It broke out in the candy store of R. Hall, in Main street, near Columbia, and communicated to the store of Aub, Black & Frankley, clothiers, on the north, and Messrs. Little & Co.'s liquor store on the south, which, together with the store of Mr. Hall, were, with their contents, entirely consumed. The buildings were owned by M. A. White, of Philadelphia, and were insured. The goods were only partially insured. The stock of W. B. Smith & Co. was much injured by water. The loss is about $60,000.

Shocking Accident from the Bursting of a Fluid Lamp.—The wife of Deacon Perley Allen, of Hicksville, Ohio, was burned to death on the 23d ult., by the bursting of a fluid lamp. The particulars of this accident, as given by the Worcester Transcript, are of the most shocking character. She was sitting by the lamp when it burst, throwing some unexplained cause, communicating the fire to her dress. There was no one in the house but an aged man, who was too feeble to render any assistance. Mrs. Allen ran to a bed, in which she rolled herself to extinguish the fire from her person. She succeeded in doing so, but not until her clothes were entirely consumed from her waist downward, and her flesh burned to a crisp. In the meantime the child had put the room on fire, and yet, notwithstanding her terrible condition, she had the coolest superhuman courage and presence of mind to think of extinguishing the fire, which, by this time, had communicated to various parts of the room. With this purpose in view, she ran to the well and drew pail after pail of water, which she dashed around the room till the fire was subdued, thus saving the house and the life of an aged and helpless man. She then ran into the street and made her condition known. She was so badly burned that portions of her flesh and also her finger nails came off, and one part of her back was almost literally roasted, burning her inwardly. She lingered in excruciating torture, but in full possession of her faculties, when death terminated her sufferings. She was fifty-six years of age.

Prevention of Railroad Collisions.—Dr. Clayton, of Norfolk, Va., has invented a machine for the prevention of collisions on railroads, and, as a consequence, the prevention of burning of human life, and is now in Washington exhibiting his model, having taken the necessary steps for obtaining a patent right. The contrivance, it is said, is simple. There is a jointed lever at right angles with the rail, connected by a wire with a pulley wheel, by means of which a bell is raised in the engineer's house, say at the height of eight feet, directly the axis of the car touches the lever. The same machinery depresses the signal just after the train passes it.

Reservoir Railroads.—The New York Courier understands that some enterprising manufacturers and wealthy citizens of New Jersey and New York have purchased a very large estate, opposite the city of New York, in New Jersey, having a water front of about one mile, and extending from a point just below Jersey City to Caven Point, opposite Bedlow's Island. The intention is to lay out and build up a new city for manufacturing purposes. Already two large manufacturing establishments are projected.

A Real Daughter of the Regiment.—One evening of last week, while the 7th Regiment, better known as the National Guard of New York city, was on parade, Miss Divver, the daughter of the late Adjutant of the Regiment, was presented, at her own request, by the drum-major with every member of the corps then present. This child was adopted by the regiment soon after the Adjutant's decease, and is supported by a yearly assessment on each member.

Tom Fitzgerald.—The editor of the Richmond (Va.) Dispatch, who prophesied that we should have a hard winter in consequence of the great number of pumpkin-seeds, has "given in." He says:

"We foretold that the winter was to be a hard one. It has been hard upon nothing but our pumpkin character. Pumpkins and pumpkin seeds will be scarce; but unfortunately it turned out not to be a seed ball."

Shocking Accident from the Bursting of a Fluid Lamp.—The wife of Deacon Perley Allen, of Hicksville, Ohio, was burned to death on the 23d ult., by the bursting of a fluid lamp. The particulars of this accident, as given by the Worcester Transcript, are of the most shocking character. She was sitting by the lamp when it burst, throwing some unexplained cause, communicating the fire to her dress. There was no one in the house but an aged man, who was too feeble to render any assistance. Mrs. Allen ran to a bed, in which she rolled herself to extinguish the fire from her person. She succeeded in doing so, but not until her clothes were entirely consumed from her waist downward, and her flesh burned to a crisp. In the meantime the child had put the room on fire, and yet, notwithstanding her terrible condition, she had the coolest superhuman courage and presence of mind to think of extinguishing the fire, which, by this time, had communicated to various parts of the room. With this purpose in view, she ran to the well and drew pail after pail of water, which she dashed around the room till the fire was subdued, thus saving the house and the life of an aged and helpless man. She then ran into the street and made her condition known. She was so badly burned that portions of her flesh and also her finger nails came off, and one part of her back was almost literally roasted, burning her inwardly. She lingered in excruciating torture, but in full possession of her faculties, when death terminated her sufferings. She was fifty-six years of age.

The Washington correspondent (Ion) of the Baltimore Sun, writing from Washington, under date of the 28th ult., says:

The NewYork appointments are now the all-absorbing topic of remark here and in NewYork.

Two or three Senators left the city last evening or this morning. There is a possibility, however, of keeping a quorum even a day longer. Forty-one senators answered to their names to-day.

The Senate have not yet acted upon the nomination of Mr. Hiekel as Minister to Central America. That nomination has not yet been taken up, but possibly it may be to-day.

The International copy right treaty has not been reported, and will not be, as I now learn. There is no time for its consideration at this session.

The Senate were chiefly engaged in executive session yesterday, in consideration of the French consular treaty.

Parties interested in the late British treaty for the adjustment of mutual claims of private citizens, or subjects of either country upon the other, are very desirous, of course, to see the treaty itself. Its terms are not known, but it is said that the commission will sit the first year in London, and the next year here.

Americans in Paris.—Presentation to the Emperor and Empress.—A Paris letter of the 7th ult. says: "The first presentation of Americans to Louis Napoleon, since he has been Emperor, and to Mrs. Bonaparte, since she has been Empress, took place at the Tuileries on the 3d. About sixty Americans and seventy English were introduced to their Majesties. The ceremony is briefly this: The gentlemen and ladies to be presented form a double line, the gentlemen on one side, and the ladies on the other, as if they were to dance a Virginia reel. Space enough is left between for their Majesties to pass easily. The Americans had one-half of the presentation room, and the English the other. The practice of the Emperor would seem to be to address some remarks to about every third person, as the names of the presentees are mentioned to him; those of the ladies by their ambassadress, and those of the gentlemen by their ambassador. The American portion of the ceremony was easy, graceful and highly successful; their Majesties were gracious in the extreme. Lord Cowley made a bokeh of the English introductions; and an amused Lord was heard to remark, 'Those Americans always do every thing better than any one else; we set no figure at all next to them.' The Emperor looked well; better indeed, more at ease, more desirous of pleasing than I have ever before seen him. The Empress wore white flowers, both in her hair, and scattered in graceful profusion over her dress. She had a necklace of large pearls around her neck, but not a single diamond. The American ladies that had put on all their finery, and to compete with her Majesty, showed to extreme disadvantage. It made a very striking display. I doubt whether thirty handsomer women were ever collected on an occasion of the kind. More than once the Emperor seemed to single out a lady of more than ordinary beauty, and call the Empress' attention to her. After the presentation there was dancing and a supper. Their Majesties waltzed together, and were once or twice bumped in a most unseemly manner by Americans who had grown dizzy, and lost the power of properly guiding their footsteps. It was past one when their Majesties retired. The festivities continued, however, after their departure, and when the clock struck three the company had not yet left."

Foreign Theatrical Items.—Miss Dolaro is playing an engagement at the Olympic Theatre, London, after which she is engaged to appear at Drury Lane.

There is some curiosity in London to see Mr. Murdoch. There has been a good deal said of him of late.

The American comedian is playing a star engagement in Birmingham. His wife for America, with his family, in August, in order to be in New York ready for a fall campaign.

Howard Paul's play, "The Mob Cap," founded on Mrs. Lee Kenh's tale, is about to be played at Drury Lane. Miss Fanny Vining and Henry Wallack in the principal characters.

Mr. Sands is walking hand downwards in London. He is the equestrian hands who used to have the clever ponies at Welsh's establishment.

Fullen has engaged Belletini, the great double bass player, and Madame Zerr, the best tenorm singer in England, to support him.

Mrs. Sterling, of the Haymarket, will soon visit the United States, professionally. She is the most elegant comedienne in England, (always excepting Mrs. Nesbitt, the queen of comedy,) and far, far superior to Julia Bennett.

Fanny Wallack is in Scotland. Her husband, Mr. Mowbourne, is in London, playing at Drury Lane. [Cor. Philadelphia Sun.

Destruction of the Chesterfield (S. C.) Jail.—Eight Persons Consumed in the Flames.—The county jail at Chesterfield, S. C., was destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock, a. m., on the 30th ult., and and to retain, eight persons—all the prison contained, save one—perished in the flames. The following letter, from the Clerk of the Court, giving particulars, is copied from the Charaw Gazette, of the 30th ultimo:

Chesterfield C. H., March 29.—James Powell, Esq.—Dear Sir: The Chesterfield Jail was consumed by fire this morning, about 3 o'clock, destroying the lives of eight persons. The fire was first discovered in one of the front rooms used as a cook room. When first discovered, it was then too late to render assistance to the prisoners up stairs sufficient to enable them to make their escape.

The names of those consumed are: Shadrville H. Hall, Robert Dickson, John Farr, Francis H. Hall, Wm. Gregson, Malcom Martin, prisoners; Mrs. Martin, wife of Malcom Martin; John Martin, brother of Malcom Martin. The last two were on a visit to Malcom Martin. James W. Jowers and Richard Dickson, were discharged yesterday, so they escaped. W. W. Campbell was in the debtor's room, and was turned out in time to be saved. Every exertion was used to save the lives of the prisoners and building, but all failed. Yours, etc., J. C. Craig.

Destructive Fire at Cincinnati.—At an early hour on the morning of the 28th ult., a fire broke out in the carriage shop of Mr. Wolfson, on Sycamore, below Third street, and before it could be subdued, fifteen houses, mostly frame, were destroyed, rendering thirty families homeless. Some of the buildings were owned by Mrs. Bowman, of Philadelphia. Many of the families lost all they had. A fire also occurred on Sunday, the 26th ult., at 2 o'clock. It broke out in the candy store of R. Hall, in Main street, near Columbia, and communicated to the store of Aub, Black & Frankley, clothiers, on the north, and Messrs. Little & Co.'s liquor store on the south, which, together with the store of Mr. Hall, were, with their contents, entirely consumed. The buildings were owned by M. A. White, of Philadelphia, and were insured. The goods were only partially insured. The stock of W. B. Smith & Co. was much injured by water. The loss is about $60,000.

Shocking Accident from the Bursting of a Fluid Lamp.—The wife of Deacon Perley Allen, of Hicksville, Ohio, was burned to death on the 23d ult., by the bursting of a fluid lamp. The particulars of this accident, as given by the Worcester Transcript, are of the most shocking character. She was sitting by the lamp when it burst, throwing some unexplained cause, communicating the fire to her dress. There was no one in the house but an aged man, who was too feeble to render any assistance. Mrs. Allen ran to a bed, in which she rolled herself to extinguish the fire from her person. She succeeded in doing so, but not until her clothes were entirely consumed from her waist downward, and her flesh burned to a crisp. In the meantime the child had put the room on fire, and yet, notwithstanding her terrible condition, she had the coolest superhuman courage and presence of mind to think of extinguishing the fire, which, by this time, had communicated to various parts of the room. With this purpose in view, she ran to the well and drew pail after pail of water, which she dashed around the room till the fire was subdued, thus saving the house and the life of an aged and helpless man. She then ran into the street and made her condition known. She was so badly burned that portions of her flesh and also her finger nails came off, and one part of her back was almost literally roasted, burning her inwardly. She lingered in excruciating torture, but in full possession of her faculties, when death terminated her sufferings. She was fifty-six years of age.

Prevention of Railroad Collisions.—Dr. Clayton, of Norfolk, Va., has invented a machine for the prevention of collisions on railroads, and, as a consequence, the prevention of burning of human life, and is now in Washington exhibiting his model, having taken the necessary steps for obtaining a patent right. The contrivance, it is said, is simple. There is a jointed lever at right angles with the rail, connected by a wire with a pulley wheel, by means of which a bell is raised in the engineer's house, say at the height of eight feet, directly the axis of the car touches the lever. The same machinery depresses the signal just after the train passes it.

Reservoir Railroads.—The New York Courier understands that some enterprising manufacturers and wealthy citizens of New Jersey and New York have purchased a very large estate, opposite the city of New York, in New Jersey, having a water front of about one mile, and extending from a point just below Jersey City to Caven Point, opposite Bedlow's Island. The intention is to lay out and build up a new city for manufacturing purposes. Already two large manufacturing establishments are projected.

A Real Daughter of the Regiment.—One evening of last week, while the 7th Regiment, better known as the National Guard of New York city, was on parade, Miss Divver, the daughter of the late Adjutant of the Regiment, was presented, at her own request, by the drum-major with every member of the corps then present. This child was adopted by the regiment soon after the Adjutant's decease, and is supported by a yearly assessment on each member.

Tom Fitzgerald.—The editor of the Richmond (Va.) Dispatch, who prophesied that we should have a hard winter in consequence of the great number of pumpkin-seeds, has "given in." He says:

"We foretold that the winter was to be a hard one. It has been hard upon nothing but our pumpkin character. Pumpkins and pumpkin seeds will be scarce; but unfortunately it turned out not to be a seed ball."

The Sunday Law Recorded.—Mr. Bingham, of the State of Ohio, has introduced a bill into the House of Representatives to repeal the Sunday mail law, and the members of the Ohio Legislature have passed resolutions requesting the same action of our representatives and part of. The amount of the appropriation was recommended and disagreed. Yes, $30,000 and three hundred clerks attending to upwards of 24,000 have not ceased.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Accident.—Further Particulars.—Baltimore papers of the 30th ult. contain some further items in relation to the dreadful accident on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. We copy:

Cumberland, March 29.—The cars re-night from Wheeling brought down the body of Thomas M. Woods, who was killed instantly by the fearful fusion of the accident. Also, the corpse of Mr. Gardner, the brakeman, and the remains of Chief Justice Bridge, well taken care of, and being sent.

The child of Mr. Glass, of St. Louis, was buried here today, the parents receiving the sincere sympathy of the [illegible].

All the wounded now here are getting on finely, and the physicians in attendance consider them all out of danger.

The Railroad Company has provided amply for the comfort and convenience of the wounded.

The investigation as to the causes of the accident progress it sustain that there was no neglect or fault of any one connected with the train, and the wounded speak in the highest terms of the conduct of Capt. Rawlings, the conductor, and the engineer. Generally speaking, the condition of his own condition, all were more or less [illegible] the wreck, and taken charge of by those who escaped injury.

Cumberland.—March 29, 6 p. m.—The condition of the wounded is as follows: A. R. Vaughn, knee bruised badly [illegible] Mrs. Vaughn, face cut and bruised; Mrs. Hall, [illegible] Mrs. Hall, [illegible] Mrs. Short, face cut and bruised; Mrs. Short has a [illegible] Mrs. Bowman, [illegible] Mrs. Bowman, face cut and bruised;