

Weekly Occasional.

The Weekly Occasional, published to-day, contains the latest news by telegraph and mail, interesting correspondence and general reading. It is bound up in strong wrappers, ready for mailing, at the corner of the Crescent office, and also at J. C. Morgan's book-store.

THE REFORMS TO COME.

A Reform has been voted, by the good people of the city of New Orleans. Are they to have it or are they not? Who shall guess them? Is this town their's or does it belong, in spite of itself, to a particular class?

We hope not. We think not. We know this town to be included in the general American right of self-government. It had, for a time, suffered from the rule of a few, but it is now to be governed by the people. It is to be a free town, a town of the people, a town of the future.

At Dan Bion's, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be performed this evening and Sunday evening. We learn with pleasure that the exhibition of Rosier's paintings will continue at Armory Hall during the coming week, thus giving those of our citizens who have not seen these superb paintings an opportunity.

At the Orleans to-night will be performed "Robert le Diable, the principal characters by Messrs. Genibrel, Bordas, Bontou, and Mesdames Bertini and Bertou. We are glad to learn that the manager of the St. Charles Theatre has made arrangements for the appearance at that establishment, for four alternate nights during the coming week, of Madame Rose Devries, and the entire Italian opera company under Sig. Arditi, with the addition of Sig. Lorini, in Italian Opera.

One of the most crowded and fashionable houses of the season was present last night at the benefit of Madame Devries. Both Devries and Sontag received frequent and rapturous applause. Songs from Mexico this morning in the steamship Texas.

All the principal hotels of the city are crowded to overflowing; yet, merchants from all parts of the country are now flocking in to secure their spring stock of goods; each steamer that arrives brings crowds of pleasure seekers hastening to enjoy these balmy Spring days before the warm weather shall set in.

REFORMATION ILLUSTRATIONS.—Look out for this amusing print to-day. It exhibits, in an exaggerated and amusing light, many of the late scenes at the polls, and in regard to the Reform movement and triumph, shows why and how the thing was done.

THE FIRMEN'S GRIEVANCE.—This fine military company has a meeting to-night for purpose relating to discipline and to consider special business. The regular meeting on Wednesday evening last was prevented in consequence of the muskets in the Armory having been loaded on Monday for electroplating purposes.

The great State Post-Office comes off well in the Metairie Court this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The stake is $20,000. Some of the best times ever made in this country may be expected.

BAZARAINS IN CARPETING.—Messrs. J. D. Dameron & Co., No. 20 Chartres street, are now closing out their large stock of carpeting, etc., at a very slight advance on first cost. Those about purchasing should not fail to give them a call, as their stock comprises all the varieties to be found in the country.

FASHIONABLE CLOTHING.—Among the many strangers now visiting our city, there must be many who will take this opportunity to replenish their wardrobes with fashionable clothing suitable for the present and approaching season. To all such we advise a visit to Alfred Munroe & Co's large establishment in Magazine street, corner of Gravier. See their advertisement.

WE are indebted to the Clerk of the steamer Empress for Louisville papers of the 24th. The late Major Selah R. Hobbie, Assistant Post-master General, whose death at Washington has been announced by telegraph, was, at the time of his death, aged 67. He commenced public life in 1820 as a member of Congress from Delaware, and became Assistant Post-master General in 1829, under Jackson's administration, which position he occupied until 1850.

THE WEST BAYON ROUGE VIS-A-VIS says a German wood sawyer committed suicide in that port by hanging himself in the woods late in the evening of the 24th inst. He had been working there for some time, and had been dead several days.

NEWS OF THE CITY.

INCIDENT.—An inquest was held yesterday on the body of an unknown man found floating in the river opposite McCarry's plantation, Third District. Verdict.—Drowned. The deceased appeared to be about 35 years of age, was respectably dressed, had black hair and was slightly bald.

STEALING AT A FIRE.—A WARRANT was issued yesterday by Recorder Ramos, of the Second District, for the arrest of Mrs. Heath, a colored lady, who is charged with the theft of a quantity of wearing apparel which had fallen into her possession during a fire on Bienville street a few days ago.

A FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE.—Alphonso Lardie made an affidavit in the Second District yesterday against one Melton charging him with having committed a deadly assault upon George Gilmore, in the Parish of Plaquemine, and then fled from justice after giving security for his appearance.

FIRST DISTRICT COURT.—Judge Robertson.—Messrs. Grynne and Barton yesterday presented a memorial upon the petition for a writ of habeas corpus for the murder of Mr. Walter Turnbull. It will probably conclude to-day.

RECORDED WILL.—The examination of Jerry Osborne, charged with having stabbed and killed Wm. Mecler on Monday last, at the election held in Mrs. O'Donnell's coffee-house, came up yesterday, and resulted in the acquittal of the accused.

THE FACT of the killing was established by the testimony of the Coroner, who further testified that the weapon, a long clasp-knife, which was said to have been taken from the prisoner at the time of his arrest, was found near the body of the deceased, and was in the hands of the accused.

THE FACT of the killing was established by the testimony of the Coroner, who further testified that the weapon, a long clasp-knife, which was said to have been taken from the prisoner at the time of his arrest, was found near the body of the deceased, and was in the hands of the accused.

THE FACT of the killing was established by the testimony of the Coroner, who further testified that the weapon, a long clasp-knife, which was said to have been taken from the prisoner at the time of his arrest, was found near the body of the deceased, and was in the hands of the accused.

THE FACT of the killing was established by the testimony of the Coroner, who further testified that the weapon, a long clasp-knife, which was said to have been taken from the prisoner at the time of his arrest, was found near the body of the deceased, and was in the hands of the accused.

THE FACT of the killing was established by the testimony of the Coroner, who further testified that the weapon, a long clasp-knife, which was said to have been taken from the prisoner at the time of his arrest, was found near the body of the deceased, and was in the hands of the accused.

THE FACT of the killing was established by the testimony of the Coroner, who further testified that the weapon, a long clasp-knife, which was said to have been taken from the prisoner at the time of his arrest, was found near the body of the deceased, and was in the hands of the accused.

THE FACT of the killing was established by the testimony of the Coroner, who further testified that the weapon, a long clasp-knife, which was said to have been taken from the prisoner at the time of his arrest, was found near the body of the deceased, and was in the hands of the accused.

THE FACT of the killing was established by the testimony of the Coroner, who further testified that the weapon, a long clasp-knife, which was said to have been taken from the prisoner at the time of his arrest, was found near the body of the deceased, and was in the hands of the accused.

THE FACT of the killing was established by the testimony of the Coroner, who further testified that the weapon, a long clasp-knife, which was said to have been taken from the prisoner at the time of his arrest, was found near the body of the deceased, and was in the hands of the accused.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.

The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

THE SENSIBLE BEAU.—We have sometimes amused ourselves by conjecturing, had the history of our human genus run differently than it actually did, what would be the result. It is good to see so many of them have been imprudent, foolish and depraved—had we a virtuous Dorcas, a pure Ursula, a Goldsmith with common sense, a Gargish with different views, and a Pucelle with a different heart, the world is better than it is.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

REPUTABLE CURED.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

To Country Merchants.—SHERMAN'S CURATIVE PAIN EXPELLER. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 10 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 12 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 10 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 12 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 10 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 12 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 10 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 12 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 10 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 12 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 10 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 12 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 10 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

R. B. SYKES' AUCTION SALES. THIS DAY, April 1, at 12 o'clock, will be sold at the Auction Room, No. 100 Canal Street, the following: A quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH, also a quantity of BROWN, WHITE, and RED CLOTH.

Rich Dress Silks.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.

Rich Dress Silks.—Selling at cost. The two first stanzas of this poem were written by Shakespeare, the two last by Sir John Lubbock. One of her hands one of her knees lay under, Keeping the pillow of a lawful king, She bowed her head, and with a parting smile, As happy to be so of such high birth, As to be so of such low birth.