

General Jackson

General Jackson was a great and glorious man, a patriot, and a statesman of the highest order.

As a soldier he was the hero of the battle of New Orleans, and as a statesman he was the author of the Monroe Doctrine.

His administration was marked by the Louisiana Purchase, the removal of the Indians, and the annexation of Texas.

He was a man of great energy and determination, and his policies were aimed at the expansion of the United States.

His death was a national tragedy, and he is remembered as one of the greatest leaders in American history.

His legacy lives on in the name of the city of Jackson, Mississippi, and in the hearts of the American people.

His military and political achievements are a source of pride and inspiration for all Americans.

His leadership during the War of 1812 and the Seminole Wars is particularly noteworthy.

His vision of a united and expanding nation is a testament to his greatness as a leader.

His policies on Indian removal and Texas annexation remain controversial, but his overall impact on the nation is undeniable.

His military campaigns and political decisions shaped the course of American history.

His leadership and courage are still admired and studied by generations of Americans.

His legacy is a testament to the values of courage, leadership, and national service.

STARTLING NEWS FROM KANSAS! ATTACK ON THE CITY OF LEAVENWORTH

The President driven out at the Bayonet Point. PROPERTY DESTROYED AND CONTAGIOUS!

New York Tribune's Correspondent Killed! BLOODY BATTLE AT OSSAWATOMIE!

THE FREESOLDERS TOTALLY ROUTED! BROWN & SON (EDITORS) KILLED!

OSAWATOMIE BARRICAD AND BURNED! THE IOWA ROAD BLOCKADED!

FREE STATE EMIGRANTS STOPPED! 1500 MISSOURIANS IN THE FIELD!

Contemplated Attack on Lawrence! Lack of Men and Means on the Pro-Slavery Side!

ARRIVAL OF GOV. GEARY AT ST. LOUIS. He Proceeds to Kansas—His Instructions. THE PRESIDENT MOVING IN THE MATTER!

Illinois and Kentucky Called upon by the President for Volunteers. FIRST DISPATCH. CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—The road known as the Iowa road, leading from Iowa into Kansas, is completely blockaded by armed Missourians.

The blockading force have prevented an emigrant party from the Free States, numbering one hundred and fifty men, entering the Territory.

This party will, as soon as it can obtain reinforcements, attempt to force a passage into Kansas. SECOND DISPATCH. ST. LOUIS, Sept. 5.—We have advice from Kansas to the effect that a force of 1500 men, under the command of Abolition, were preparing to attack Lawrence on the 1st of September.

The Free State forces at Lawrence number from 1500 to 2000, and a sanguinary conflict will probably result. THIRD DISPATCH. ST. LOUIS, Sept. 5.—Every Freeholder has been driven from Leavenworth at the point of the bayonet, and all their property has been either destroyed or confiscated.

FOURTH DISPATCH. ST. LOUIS, Sept. 5.—On the morning of the 30th a battle took place at Osawatomie between 300 Pro-Slavery troops, under Capt. Reid, and about the same number of Freeholders, under Gen. Jackson.

CONTRIBUTION FUND

The New York Express states that the published circular has been laid on the desks of nearly all of the Custom-House clerks, and other employees of Government in this city.

It is presumed the fund and onward pressure caused by the alternative presented induced the above clerks to "look over" it.

In connection with the foregoing, the Express gives the following form of oath taken by every clerk and employee before he can receive his salary at the custom-house.

So it will be seen that the aforementioned "Democratic Republican General Committee" not only pay for the fund, but also make them commit perjury.

We have not heard of any such outrageous proceedings at the New Orleans Custom-House, and are persuaded that the veteran and honest Col. Porter would sooner throw up his commission than tolerate them.

A Short Story from a Short Text. "The first of September was not a day to be remembered for the good it has done, but for the evil it has done."

The writer who penned the above, either openly or covertly, is a man who intends to register their names, and stay away from the polls, in order to avoid the necessity of serving a jury, or to avoid the necessity of observing the inconsistency of the proposition to shut up the polls in the text above quoted.

Let it be admitted, for the sake of argument, and justly the fact is, that it is the sheriff's duty to make the polls open, and to see that the voters of this city do not vote at the polls.

Has the Democratic party of this city any other voters than the registered ones, from which to make up the poll list? or are poll lists to be manufactured for the occasion, in a Secret Ward—or in a Penitentiary?

The voter who registers his name and votes, must expect, if he has done so, that he will be called upon to vote at the polls, and if he does not, he will stand a chance of being drawn and having to serve as a juror—a duty which, although onerous, no good American citizen will shrink from for the sake of the fact of exemption from the avoidance of jury duty by so many of our citizens heretofore, is what has brought the administration of the law, particularly the criminal law of this city, into such a state of confusion.

The vigilance committee is at present prepared to take of the constituted authorities of the land. Yet in the quotation placed at the head of this article, we see the organ of a great party attempting to inculcate a doctrine which plainly involves fraud upon the law itself. If such a thing were possible, which fortunately is not the case in this instance, has indignation against so deep a foundation in the minds of the law-abiding citizens, that the plainest unvarnished truth has become unpalatable?

CITIZENS. The Tennessee Courier (Franklin, Ga.) of the 26th ult., says that the "army corps" has made its appearance in that vicinity, and is destroying everything every green thing in its course.

THE GREAT CROP THIS YEAR. Southern Ohio, says the Cincinnati Courier, will be very small indeed. Many of the buds were killed by the extreme cold of last winter, and some of the fruit has been affected with the rot; but it is generally believed that the wine made this season, though deficient in amount, will be of unusually good quality.

SECOND RALLY OF THE BANGERS

ODD-FELLOWS HALL GROWED—MONSTER PROCESSION—GREAT ENTHUSIASM! That noble, patriotic and gigantic body of men, the Odd-Fellows, held their second grand rally on Saturday night, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

Like its predecessor, in every respect worthy of the name of New Orleans. Though but very briefly looked at, it was, nevertheless, a grand and noble display.

The meeting was proclaimed to the distance by rockets, and 50 Camp Street by a large banner, bearing the words "Fillmore's Ruffians" stretched from the Hall to a tree in the Lafayette Square, opposite.

Inside, a trial of music discoursed patriotic and new airs of an inspiring nature. As the assembling increased in density, before the hour of coming to order, the hum of greeting, congratulation, and conversation swelled to a chorus like the roar of distant waters; and this sound, with the sight of the good humor and enthusiasm that shone in every manly countenance, seemed to constitute a language stronger than any that is written or spoken, and more easily understood.

The meeting was called to order by B. L. Parker, President of the Odd-Fellows, who, after a few remarks, introduced the first speaker, the venerable, high-spirited, and well-known member of our bar, Mr. W. M. W. made a very able and entertaining speech, presenting familiar facts and arguments in a fresh light, and drawing portraits of the Presidential candidates—beginning with Fremont and ending with Fillmore—that elicited, alternately, roars of laughter and shouts of approval.

He is presumed the fund and onward pressure caused by the alternative presented induced the above clerks to "look over" it. In connection with the foregoing, the Express gives the following form of oath taken by every clerk and employee before he can receive his salary at the custom-house.
