La Crosse Daily Crescent.

Vol. 1. LA CROSSE, WISCONSIN, SATURDAY, APRIL 25, 1857. No. 21.

Local Intelligence.

Yesterday.—The weather yesterday was dry, dark and chilly. A few showers threatened to descend, but the heavens put every drop back, and kept it to themselves. The streets were in a terrible condition, and to be making the most of what there is to walk in.

Burnt.—Mike Sullivan, on Saturday night, cut off the head of Michael Kelly's favorite wooden chicken, cut up Feydras Kelly's favorite wooden chicken, cut up Feydras Kelly's favorite wooden chicken, cut up Feydras