RIVER INTELLIGENCE.

TUESDAY MORNING, Jan. 13, 1858.

Yesterday was a clear and lovely day—quite spring like. Business continues dull on the levee compared with what it should be at this season of the year. Up freights are still scarce. Very few boats left yesterday, but a goodly number arrived, all with large cargoes of produce; and if the rates were only reasonable, instead of being unreasonably low, the boats might make something. It is to be hoped fauire will soon be a change for the better.

Of the lower tributaries of the Mississippi we hear nothing of special interest. Of the upper rivers the St. Louis Republican of the 6th inst. says:

The river at this point was still falling steadily yesterday. There is six feet in the channel out to Cairo. There is a good deal of soft, floating ice in the river, but not enough to interfere with navigation. We have no reports of change in either the Missouri or Illinois rivers. A shower of rain occurred on Monday night, which made the levee very muddy and unpleasant for business. The weather still continues warm for the season, and business dull.

ARRIVALS.—The Vicksburg U. S. mail packet Princess, Capt. W. C. Wilson, arrived with 3,063 bales of cotton and full of passengers. She leaves again to-day as usual, at 5 P. M., punctually.

The St. Louis packets J. D. Early, City of Memphis and E. J. Lackland, arrived with large cargoes, and the last two leave again on Thursday, at 5 P. M. We are obliged to their polite clerks for late papers.

POPULATION OF AUSTRIA.—An Austrian statistician has just published a classification of the people of that empire. The last census stated the population as 36,350,000. Of this number the dominant race yields the smallest proportion, there being less than eight millions of Germans in the Emperor. Sclavonic race forms the bulk of the empire, nearly fifteen millions in number. The Asiatic tribes under Austrian rule are between five and six millions, and of these the Magyars in Hungary are the chief portion. The Austrian army, which in its complete state numbers 448,000 men, is the "largest army in Europe for actual service."

New Orleans Money Market.

CRESCENT OFFICE, No. 70 Camp street, } Monday Evening, Jan. 11, 1858. }

The money market to day was what is considered in financial circles close, though there was a very small quantity of paper offering. In bank there was not much done, though the calls were pretty large.

The accounts by the Africa up to the 26th ult from Liverpool, were decidedly favorable. There is, however, a discrepancy in the quotations of cotton. One dispatch places Middling Orleans at 6¾d., another at 6d., which is correct, is a question yet to be answered. The financial accounts are considered decidedly of a favorable import. A reduction in the rate of interest by the Bank of England is reported, which places the rate at 8 per cent. The will lead to activity in trade regularly. We feel very certain that the turning point has been reached, and though there may not be any great advance in the price of cotton, we consider it very certain that we have received the most depressing intelligence for this season. There were no failures of note reported at the date of the sailing of the Africa. The quotations of cotton are safe for the prices now ruling in this market, and dealers in Liverpool can now move on with safety.

The market for exchange opened with something in favor of drawers. The banks sold checks on New York, sometime during the day, at ¼ per cent. premium; outside rates from ¼@¾ per cent. days sight, ¾@⅞c. discount; thirty days sight from 1¼@1½c. discount; sixty days sight at 1¾ from 2¼@2½ and 2¾c. good, 3@3½c. discount; but most any amount of double A1 could be had at 2¾@2¾c. discount; Sterling jumped 1 per cent. or more; bills on shipping documents advanced to 10¾@10¾c. clear bills, of first class make, were sold at 107, 107¼ and 107½, which is a great advance over last week's rates. The Southern Bank held at 108½, and the Bank of Louisiana at 110. France is some request at 5.09¾ 4.25—extreme range being from 5.08 @5.04.

We did not hear of any sales of stocks to day.

A sale of $6000 Louisiana State bonds was made in New York, on Monday last, at 85c.

There were two more failures reported as 'change this evening.

The annual election for Directors of the Bank of New Orleans was held to-day, which resulted in the choice of

Frank Williams,
E. M. Horrell, of Horrell, Gayle & Co., Western Produce.
J. T. Hanneman, of Clason & Co., Foreign Export Trade.
W. J. Gregory,
L. C. Janvy, of Farley, Janvy & Co., Cotton Factors.
Adam Gilles, Treasurer of City.
John S. Wallis, Waste-r Produce.
N. N. Bennett, of Ruhl & Co., Foreign Merchants.
James H. Low, of Wood, Low & Co., Commission Merchants.
Joseph Maussel, of Maussel, Tessen & Co., Exchange Dealers.
W. H. Dameron, of Payne & Harrison, Cotton Factors.
John Pemberton, President Merchants' Insurance Company.

Mr. Frank Williams will be unanimously re-elected President. The daily business of the bank is highly satisfactory; of course it cannot be expected that the business of this or any other bank will this season be as large or as profitable as last year.

The recent dividend of four per cent. declared will be payable to-morrow, the 12th.

The last weekly statement of the banks of the city of New York, ending on the 2d January, show as—

Increase in loans and discounts	767,848
Increase in specie	1,410,847
Increase in circulation	126,914
Increase of deposits, actual	1,975,974

The additional movement in the Clearing House is probably the result of a little more than the usual activity am ng capitalists in relation to their dividends. The banks have, doubtless, in many instances discounted their dividends to supply the pressing wants of many stockholders. The increase in deposits follows an increase in the specie reserve. The amount of specie in hand is now nearly as large as at any time previously reported. The strength of the banks shows an increase in the last returns. The deposits and circulation are liabilities, amount to more than the increase in discounts and specie.

The advices by the Niagara quote silver coin and Mexican dollars as having advanced from 1¼@1½ per ounce. The European Times, of the 19th, says:

The arrivals of gold have been very plentiful this week, the Bank of England having purchased the whole of the supplies to almost a million sterling. Silver continues scarce, and is readily taken, particularly for Hamburg, at the present high quotations. American eagles and Mexican dollars are also in demand. Spanish doubloons are offering, and could be purchased a little under the printed prices.

The money article of the New York Tribune, of the 9th, says:

There is no variation of consequence to note in money matters. The public on call and short time is very abundant, at 7@8 per cent. Good discount paper is also plenty, and the banks and bankers continue to pay off their circulation and deposits with great freedom. The supply of commercial paper, which is seldom offered out of the city, is very large, and the demand from the interior is very moderate, and quality coming almost exclusively within the "gilt-edged" in point of classification. It is a difficult matter for capitalists to employ their money at remunerative rates, even for short periods, and the great bulk of interest in loans of a satisfactory stamp, and the great bulk of recent accommodations is thereby unemployed, and is becoming almost as much a source of anxiety and perplexity to the capitalists as before it had been gathered from the various channels of business. Until trade revives with vigor to furnish an outlet for this pecuniary plethoricness, if not nervousness, heaps of idle capital are as threatened with a plethora of money almost as one and ready to a portion of the community as its previous scarcity. Now Yard and Boston hold more specie than ever before, the former city greatly beyond any precedent. England and France are following in the same direction, and Germany begins also to manifest signs of the same money dyspepsia. If we may use a homely comparison, and cover the continent of Europe, treading upon the heels of panic and bankruptcy, comes the enormous loss of money at the great banks of circulations, whose pulsations cease under the weight of frustrated credits and utter prostration in all branches of trade.

Review of the Markets.

TUESDAY MORNING, January 13, 1858.

COTTON.... The advices by the Africa were considered favorable, and gave a most active impulse to the demand, while factors asked and realized higher rates.
