☞ Our report of the examination yesterday of the Boys' High School, with much other interesting matter, is omitted this morning from want of space.

THE MARSH CHILDREN.—This famous crowd of juveniles reached the city yesterday morning, all "right side up, with care." They are to make their first appearance at the Amphitheater on Monday evening.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The New Orleans Academy of Music give their third concert on Tuesday evening next, at Lyceum Hall. It is to be under the direction of Mr. Thomas Cripps and Prof. Von la Hache; and a splendid programme of music is to be given. We acknowledge the receipt of tickets.

UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA.—The Law Class of the University intend celebrating Washington's Birthday (Monday) by an oration and other exercises, in Lyceum Hall. We are indebted to the committee of arrangements for an invitation to be present. Mr. Kennard is to deliver the oration, and Mr. Jowell is to read Washington's Farewell Address.

LECTURES ON SPIRITUALISM.—Mr. Thomas Gales Forster is to deliver two more lectures on Spiritualism to-morrow, at Armory Hall; the first lecture beginning at 11 o'clock forenoon, and the other at 7 in the evening. Both lectures are to be delivered in the trance state, and at the close some portraits, painted through spirit influence, are to be exhibited. The lectures will be highly interesting to all who go—believers as well as unbelievers.

CLASSIC MUSIC SOCIETY.—The concert of this Society last night, at Odd Fellows' Hall, passed off with the usual eclat. The audience was fashionable, and very great—every part of the hall being filled.

THE THALBERG AND VIEUXTEMPS CONCERTS.—All the seats for the concert to-night have been sold, except those which it has been announced would be sold only at the door, and a few reserved seats which are to be had at the office of the St. Charles Hotel, and at Mr. Gabici's music store, No. 30 Camp street.

Two more concerts are announced, for Wednesday and Friday of next week. Also, several matinees musicale, or morning concerts, during the week; the particulars of which will be given in due time.

DR. BOYNTON'S LECTURE NEXT WEEK.—On Tuesday next, Dr. Boynton gives a lecture in Odd Fellows' Hall for the benefit of the fund of the Southwestern Sunday School Union. Subject—The Structure of the Heavens and the Earth. See advertisement.

COURT OF DEATH.—Last Day.—This afternoon affords the last opportunity to see this magnificent painting. Dr. Boynton will precede the exhibition with the series of original and beautiful experiments in Natural Philosophy, including the Balloon Ascension. By the advertisement, it will be seen that the admission for adults and children is but nominal.

ST. CHARLES THEATER.—Miss Cushman as Meg Merrilies again, to-night. Gentlemen intending to take ladies must be at the box-office at its opening—10 o'clock, A. M.

ORLEANS THEATER.—Verdi's grand opera, "Ernani," is to be repeated at the Orleans theater to-night. M. Colson takes a benefit to-morrow night. "L'Etoile du Nord" is in preparation for next week.

AMPHITHEATER.—Last Day Performance of the Kellers.—To-day the ladies and the children will have a last opportunity of seeing the Keller troupe and the Young America ballet troupe in their exquisitely beautiful day performances. A choice programme will be given. Be on hand early if you wish the good seats.

Benefit of Mr. Keller.—The last performance but one will be given at night for Mr. Keller's benefit. The programme for the occasion is an excellent one, embracing tableaux, ballets and dances. The inspiring picture of "Dr. Kane in the Arctic Regions" is also to be given, introducing, as usual, the celebrated Esquimaux dog, presented by Lieut. Morton to Louis Keller. Those who have read and heard so much of these wonderful animals will now have an opportunity of seeing one who accompanied the celebrated explorer in all his wanderings. The tableaux alone, with Keller in his personation of the hero Kane, are worth double the price of admission. The little girl dancers will give a series of their most brilliant and charming performances.

ACCIDENT TO THE STEAMER JACOB TRADER.—The Trader left the levee at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, for Bayou Lafourche, and when opposite the upper shipping she burst her steam-pipe, without, however, doing any other damage. She then drifted down and was towed to the levee by one of the ferry boats. She will leave again as soon as repaired.

THAT SILVER TRUMPET.—The firemen are especially referred to the advertisement in this morning's Crescent of Mr. Storts, of the City Gift Store, No. 30 Camp street. A splendid silver trumpet is put up under conditions which should create a lively competition among the fire companies. The offer is well worth looking into.

DOLBEAR'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE, 106 CANAL STREET.—New classes begin this week. All are desired to begin immediately. Those who wish to be prepared for business are referred to this establishment.

FISK'S COTTON SEED OIL.—Mr. Fisk, proprietor of the cotton seed oil factory, No. 74 New Levee street, announces a reduction in the price of his refined cotton oil, and offers it to the public as something better, cheaper and cleaner than any other oil used in burning; also, as better for table use than most of the olive oil used. See advertisement.

THE VIRGINIA FOR THE WATERING PLACES.—The popular iron steam packet, the Virginia, Capt. Cosmos, leaves this evening for the watering places. Her accommodations are sumptuous and the fare cheap. Those who intend going upon her town be at the Tivoli Circle depot at 2:30 P. M., or at the Pont-Chartrain depot at 4 P. M. See advertisement.

RIGHT SORT OF TALK.

The Mobile Register is one of the strongest and ablest Democratic journals in Alabama, but, notwithstanding the inflexibility of its party fealty, it occasionally speaks out regarding the aggressions of the North upon the constitutional rights of the South in a manner not to be mistaken nor misunderstood. And, whenever it breaks loose from the trammels imposed by a mere name, which now means nothing nor conveys an idea as it did in the days of JACKSON and his predecessors, it takes noble and patriotic ground which should meet with the approbation of every true Southerner.

The Register of the 17th contained an elaborate article setting forth the present political tendency of the age, from which we extract the subjoined paragraph:

Some effort or movement of this sort (with the North) must be made at the North, or something else take place to reform the course of the Northern opinion and action in connection with the question of slavery; otherwise, the Union is doomed, and to a speedy fate. The South must be rid of this continual and vexatious worrying about slavery. She has been patiently waiting to see if that "finality" of slavery agitation, which has been talked of and promised and striven for so long, is likely ever to be a reality. She cannot wait much longer. Her hopes are pretty well exhausted. We do not supplicate or implore, but admonish, warn and advise the reflecting and Union-loving people of the North to take this matter in hand and to give a speedy quietus to the anti-slavery crusade in their section; for as surely as this is not done, and that at once, the Southern people walk out of the Union. We will not be satisfied with even obtaining our rights in connection with slavery by a struggle on every occasion when it is in issue. We must be rid of the annoyance and vexation of the continual clamor against slavery. It is our right to be undisturbed altogether in the enjoyment of our institutions, and also of our peace and composure; and none have a right to interfere in any way with us in connection with our domestic affairs. It is an act of insolence and hostility in any stranger to open his mouth regarding these affairs. We demand of the Northern people to let us alone entirely on the subject of slavery, and they must do it.

We are of the deliberate and well and long considered opinion—would that we could conscientiously think otherwise!—that no efforts or movements can be successful at the North "to reform the course of the Northern opinion and action in connection with the question of slavery." We fear as well as believe that the period in which such "reform"—lasting, final and permanent reform, could have been effected—has passed and gone forever. The tide of Abolition aggression upon the South still flows with a broader, deeper and mightier current, if less noisy and tumultuous, than ever before; and he has been a poor reader of history, and a wretched observer of events, who does not know that fanaticisms like revolutions never march backwards. They must reach a certain height before they explode, and cover a nation or nations with disaster, just as certain diseases to which unfortunate flesh is heir, must run their course, attain their maximum before they abate, or kill the patient.

We have no hope that the abolition disease with which the Northern people are afflicted has abated so that it is likely to abate. We believe it will increase in virulence and intensity, grow stronger and more deadly, until it forces a dissolution of the confederacy, unless, indeed, the South is prepared to submit to a more contemptible serfdom than exists on the face of the civilized globe.

There is no evidence of any abatement of this moral pestilence—this Northern leprosy. On the contrary, the evidence goes to show that the disease is spreading—that it is becoming more and more formidable—that it is attacking what have heretofore been termed the conservative classes—that it has well nigh annihilated the "National" Democracy of the North—that it has extended its influence into the halls of Congress, to such an extent that the application of Kansas for admission into the Union is likely to be rejected, simply because it contains a clause permitting slavery, notwithstanding it is said that President Buchanan is bringing the whole influence of his office to bear to secure the success of the new Constitution. Douglas, the whilom "National" Democratic giant of the North, has virtually thrown himself into the arms of the Black Republicans. Many have followed him, and many others are preparing to follow, in order to be on the safe and strong side when the Senators and Representatives from the three or four new free-soil States shall take their seats in Congress, which they will in a year or two. Black Republicanism, which is but another name for the rankest abolitionism, is at this moment stronger in the Northern States than it was in 1856, when it came very near electing Col. Fremont President. He who doubts, doubts in the face of fact, reason and probability.

So far as the Southern people are concerned, there is but one safe policy for them. They must effect a Union of the South for the sake of the South, discard all political jealousies and rivalries, and present an undivided, impregnable front to their enemies. If they will only do this,—and they can do it,—they at least will be safe, even if the Union is shattered into fragments on the rocks of abolitionism.

Talk on 'Change.

In commercial circles yesterday the remarkable quietness of the cotton market was talked of, and under the expectancy of the Baltic's advices, there was very little transpired early in the day but talk. About noon the wires denoted that the Baltic had arrived, making the passage in 14 days. It is not supposed that she was pushed very hard, and a good quantity of fuel was saved thereby. The intelligence commercially was not of a very important character; financially there is no change quoted; politically there is something from France regarding Eugenie, which will be ascertained on reference to our telegraphic columns.

We have occasionally alluded to the shipments of sugar to Northern ports on planters' account. We have contended that in this market the interest of the planter is better protected and cared for than in any other. On the 11th inst. there was sold by auction in New York four hundred hogsheads of Louisiana sugar of various marks and make. It is believed, however, that part of the shipment was purchased in this market with a view of profit. If any part of it was on growers' account, a pretty round difference will result between the returns and the amount it would have commanded here. Among the sales we note a quantity marked on four months' credit. When we receive the full account of sales, we shall give the details in full.

Delta Grove, sold at	4 15-16c.
Highland Plantation, sold at	5@5½c.
Wakefield Plantation, sold at	5 9-16c.

The arrivals of boats yesterday were numerous, and our great levee presents an active scene. Those who have never seen the sights of New Orleans, will be compensated by going to the levee after 4 o'clock this evening.

The Northern mail failed yesterday. To-day's may come through. There will be very little business transacted till after Monday next, the 22d, which day is one of our legal holidays duly legalized. The Banks, Custom-House and Post-Office will be closed at the usual hour on holidays, say 11 o'clock.

Dr. Mackay's Lecture.

An audience intelligent and fashionable in appearance and respectable in numbers, assembled at the Gaiety theater last night to hear Dr. Mackay, the song-poet and editor of the London Illustrated News, lecture upon poetry.

The Doctor did not make much of an impression, either by his appearance or the manner of his lecture. He looked too sober and heavy for a poet, and especially a song-writer; and he delivered, or rather read, his lecture, from the written sheets before him, in a manner too stately and preacher-like for the sparkling nature of his subject. The spirit, the enthusiasm which we naturally looked for in a lecture on poetry, were wanting.

We must do the Doctor the justice to say, however, that his lecture in its composition was elegant, tasteful, and highly entertaining. It was composed of criticism upon poetry and song, of historical facts and anecdotes, and of illustrative quotations; all most agreeably blended, and betokening a genial heart in the composer with a cordial international feeling. The distinction between true poetry and false, and the power of song, were the themes most pleasantly dwelt upon. The lecturer, in fine, showed himself to be elegant as a scholar, and tasteful and sensible as a critic, upon a subject which opens a wide field for criticism.

Dr. Mackay concluded his lecture by reciting several poems recently composed by himself—a love song, a short poem entitled "The Primrose," and his pleasant ditty of "John and Jonathan." He delivered them well, and was heartily applauded. The audience departed altogether well pleased.

FOR LOUISVILLE.—The fine and regular passenger packet Fanny Bullitt, Capt. Dunham, leaves for Louisville and all intermediate landings this evening, at 5 o'clock. Bell, Buchanan & Co. are her agents.

CAPITOLIAN CORRESPONDENCE.

BATON ROUGE, February 18, 1858.

Editors Crescent: In the Senate, among the reports from committees, was one from the Judiciary Committee in opposition to the bill referred to it a few days since, providing for the payment to the Louisiana State Bank of $272,000, to be drawn from the Swamp Land Fund in the way of a loan. The report was not read, but I suppose the ground of opposition to the proposed loan or abstraction from the Swamp Land Fund is, that such use of the funds of that department cannot be legitimately made under the act of Congress granting the swamp lands to the State, and the article of the Constitution requiring that the means accruing from this source shall be used only for draining and reclaiming swamp and overflowed lands.

The report of the Judiciary Committee, however, is not a sure guaranty of the defeat of the bill; for, in the estimation of many members, this diversion of a part of the swamp land funds, for the return of which the faith of the State would stand pledged, would not, looking to the ultimate results, be an improper use of them, but altogether proper and eminently wise, as they would thereby be withdrawn from the immediate control of the Swamp Land Commissioners and of those who are ever on the alert to appropriate to themselves all the advantages that may be derived from the disposal of this fund. There are those who believe that the granting to the State of the whole of the annual proceeds of the sales of the swamp lands on loan, to enable her to pay her debts, the State to pay an annual interest on such loans, that interest to be used in the drainage and reclamation of lands as required by the Constitution, would be the very best disposition of this fund that could possibly be made of it. In the course of ten or fifteen years the annual interest, at six per cent., upon the fund that would by that time have accumulated, would, we might reasonably calculate, be two or three hundred thousand dollars. So large an amount, or if it were not above one hundred thousand dollars, annually and judiciously appropriated to the reclamation of swamp lands, would result in the ultimate reclamation of all the swamp lands of the State, while the principal fund would remain untouched in the hands of the State, and capable of working out other great results in the distant future. I respectfully ask the consideration of our legislators to this view of the subject.

While on this subject of swamp lands, the most interesting, probably, in its various phases, that will come before the present Legislature, I will remark that the bill introduced in the House by Mr. Hynes, of Madison, granting the swamp lands to the parishes within which they lie, is eliciting much consideration and has many supporters. This support is given it by those who are anxious to break up the present system, which they believe unjust to many parts of the State, and, generally, iniquitous and corrupt. If the bill provided for the appropriation to the respective parishes of the proceeds of the sales of lands within those parishes, to be used only for the reclamation of lands, the measure would, if passed into a law, be productive of equally good results, while many inconveniences, such as the having of a land office in each parish, would be obviated.

And, germain to this same subject of swamp lands, Mr. Pearce, of the Senate, this morning introduced a bill to transfer annually to the Road and Levee Fund five per cent. of the proceeds of sales of the swamp lands. This would add some twenty or thirty thousand dollars per annum to a fund that at present rarely goes beyond ten thousand dollars. Would this be a legitimate use of the means arising from the sales of swamp lands under the 128th article of the Constitution? Is the Road and Levee Fund ever used for the specific purpose of draining and reclaiming swamp and overflowed lands? The bill was very properly referred to the Judiciary Committee.

A lengthy and animated debate sprang up in the Senate upon the bill appropriating $30,000 to complete the buildings of the State Seminary of Learning near Alexandria. It was advocated by Messrs. Phillips, Smart, Shadburne, Pearce and Hyams, and opposed by Messrs. DeFreese and Tucker. The bill is almost identical with the one passed at the session of 1856, appropriating in that case, as now proposed, $30,000 "to complete the buildings." That act provides that no additional amount shall be paid for any additional work that may be necessary, except out of the Seminary funds.

The same provision is contained in the present bill! What is the use of such a provision in an act passed by one Legislature if it is to be overlooked or disregarded by the next? But this is precisely in keeping with the usual manner of legislation here on such subjects. The $30,000 appropriated two years ago was obtained as a loan from the general funds, to be returned out of the yearly proceeds of the Seminary Fund. Now, without paying back any part of that $30,000, the same amount is asked for, and the same terms. It was, no doubt, truly remarked by one of the advocates of the bill that it was not expected that these loans would ever be cancelled by the Seminary Fund. But the bill will pass the Senate. It was prevented to-day only by the breaking of a quorum—a sort of parliamentary ruse, by the way, rarely justified by any exigencies in legislation.

☞ Warriors and Orators have been lauded and admired in all ages, and immortal Bards have sung their songs of adulation; the whole world, in this progressive age, teems with admiration at the giant strides of Mechanism and Science; yet, when an unobtrusive mind can, in all its worldly bustlings, seek for fame in another channel—when that mind's mission is calm scrutiny searches with a philosophic eye the treasures of the earth, distills and blends them with a chemist's care, and places them in a most convenient, pleasing and delightful form at the couch of bedridden humanity—we say, hence the difference, if there ever could be found a similarity between the demands of the world for the one, and the really existing necessity for Woodman's Cherry Expectorant for all Lung and Bronchial affections. fe18 2p6t&1tW

☞ Gratitude—If gratitude was ever evi-denced among any class, it certainly has been with those who have used and tested the extraordinary virtues contained in Dr. J. Scarcely a day passes, we are informed, that the Doctor does not receive from some recent heart-stricken and collective parent, brother, sister or friend, some testimonials of deep and earnest gratitude, for his agency in restoring to health and wonted vigor some kindred. For the cure of dyspepsia, flatulency, constipation, lack of appetite and all bilious tendencies, are speedily corrected by the use of these Bitters, as per directions on bottle. Sold by druggists everywhere. fe15 2p3t&1tW

☞ If you are sick, the probability is that the root of your suffering is in the stomach. From a weak stomach proceed dyspepsia, languor, oppression in the diaphragm, jaundice, headache, nausea, bodily weakness, dizziness, sight, heartburn, costiveness, dysentery, and a legion of other tormenting diseases. Indigestion produces thin blood, and therefore destroys the strength and vigor of the system. To restore the tone of the stomach, and enable it to throw off and dismiss forever all these tormenting and dangerous complaints, nothing is necessary but a persevering use of Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, Philadelphia. There is no mistake, no failure in their sanative effects.
