THE CALIFORNIA TREATY OF SECESSION. The people of California, if they are correctly represented by the press of San Francisco, receive the news of the defeat of the Pacific with much indignation and disappointment.

It will be remembered that the late Congress was a most infamous breach of duty that schemes of personal aggrandizement and petty sectional jealousies should have prevailed to dissolve a majority of such unscrupulous and unprincipled men.

That the States growing up on the Pacific are not destined to become permanent members of the Republic we have already expressed the opinion, and we do not expect soon to learn anything that will authorize a different conclusion.

It is not probable that patriotism of this self-sacrificing character exists in any extent. The chief topic on the opening of business yesterday was the great fire of Wednesday.

Metairie Jockey Club Races.

Yesterday was not particularly bright, but it was dry. The usual dust of the late dry weather rose in a fog on the different drives to the Metairie, over which the usual tumultuous cavalcades of the present season sped to the sport.

At this occasion entered upon a contest at two mile heats, for a Jockey Club purse of $500; there being three entries, to-wit: Mr. Kenner's Variste, Gen. Westmore's Lorette, and Col. Binigam's Big Ellen. On Wednesday evening Variste was the favorite at two to one, and even three to one against the field.

At the jump, Lorette led, with Variste second and Big Ellen last, though socially in position. These positions were not changed during the first mile. In the back stretch of the second mile all got up close together, and for a moment Variste showed ahead, but soon fell back, Big Ellen taking the lead as usual to the end.

Second Heat.—Variste led and Lorette brought up the rear, though no gaps were visible. They bounded at the quarter mile, and Variste showed ahead, with Variste second and Ellen last. In this order they struck it through the first mile and into the second.

ANOTHER DESTRUCTIVE FIRE. Loss Over $200,000. At about noon yesterday a fire started in the second story of the Hala Warehouse, fronting on New Levee and Fulton streets, between Julia and St. Joseph streets.

The fire spread rapidly, and in a very short time the warehouse, through from one of the other, was enveloped in one roaring sheet of flame. The warehouse was totally destroyed, with everything in it save some barrels of stuff which were rolled out of the lower story before the flames grew too fierce.

The warehouse was a stanch two-story brick building, fronting about 120 or 140 feet on each street. It was the upper portion of the Tourne or Montgomery Warehouse, which latter, with its wealth of contents, was saved, jointly by a stout fire-wall, the firemen, and the course of the wind, which blew directly across the fire, from the river toward the city.

The firemen were unable to cope with the burning warehouse, and after another, with everything in it, was blown away by the wind, and the strong blowing wind aided the flames to bid them an extra defiance.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE. LONDON, March 23.—The Paris market shows a general improvement in the cotton market, and a decline of 1/4 is reported. Consols for money closed at 94 1/4 to 94 1/2.

a partition wall, chin-high; and then tipped and clattered some distance over plates and dishes, all in order to have a good run. The fire was extinguished by the firemen, and the loss was estimated at $200,000.

CHRISTIAN STREIBLING, a carpenter, broke his leg and otherwise badly injured himself last evening, by falling from a horse which was westward-bound, at the corner of Bacchus and Jackson streets. He was taken to Charity Hospital.

A LADY, in getting out of an omnibus yesterday, got her feet entangled in the hoops of her dress, fell, and upon the stones of the street, had her face and dress and all clothes ruined by the mud, and her face badly bruised by the fall. She got up, with the assistance of a female friend, before any gentleman had the pleasure to offer her a helping hand.

AN ARREST OF INDETERMINATE INTERESTING BEARS IN these days. We have two to report; or rather arrests of parties, one charged with attempting to fire a horse, and the other with threatening such a thing.

JOHN POMERLEAU was under arrest in the Second District, charged with attempting to fire the premises of Mr. Cammack, on Bienville street. Daniel Fitzpatrick was arrested yesterday afternoon, on New Levee street, by Sergeant Moore, upon information that he had threatened to fire the house in consequence of his late having charged Moore to burn him out. Going to and searching the house, Moore found under a bed, in the far corner, a room where there was no fireplace, a quantity of powder, and a quantity of lead, and a quantity of shot, and the threat uttered by Fitzpatrick, were very properly considered by Moore as good cause of arrest.

WILLIAM BROWN was yesterday sent to the House of Correction. He is the Irishman who twice attempted to drown himself in the Mississippi river.
