New Orleans Daily Crescent.

THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 6, 1859.

TALK ON CHANGE.
It was rather quiet on Carondelet street and environs yesterday. The usual daily operations were going on in cotton: in exchange there was a marked dullness, which may increase today and tomorrow.

There was some activity on Thompson's, Poyers, New Orleans and Fullerton streets, as mentioned at this season. It is manifest that the amount of business transacted, that is, sales of produce and merchandise, is less than at the corresponding time last year. All arrests may, however, be brought up next month. The largest demand for Western products at this moment is from Alabama via Mobile.

The demand for North Alabama for provisions and household articles appears to be largely beyond any previous year. The talk is if it is cheaper for the South to raise cotton, and overlook the raising of corn, wheat and bread, and depend on the Northwestern States, with abolition Ohio for food, a new leaf must be added to the records of political economy. Undoubtedly King Cotton is a great blessing to the county and entire world. A Northern writer, in commenting on the influence of the cotton trade at present prices, says the planter and grower four cents per pound profit. Possibly he is some degree from his estimate from the liberal manner in which cotton planters and Southern generally spend and distribute their money in trade and journey every summer through the Northern States.

There was a talk of the very best for picking and preparing cotton for market. There has not been any rain of consequence in this latitude since the 15th of September more than a trifling shower. Of course, the cotton fields are turning out highly satisfactory. We regret to have to remark that the prospects for sugar have declined correspondingly with the improving fortunes of the other staples.

Some letters and factors begin to talk of very low figures as the product of 1859. Talking of the sugar cane, the extension of the sugar beet on the levee, the filling up of the bottom in front of the Second District, which is progressing finely and rapidly, aided by the very dry spell of weather. The contractor talks of controlling the banks of the Mississippi the same as some financiers talk of managing banks of another cast, even with the same result. The filling up and extending of the bottom is one of the most important improvements brought forward for some years past, not second to the repairing of the streets with square blocks. The extension of the bottom was, however, an act of the City Council, and though it will be attended with large costs, they will all be returned when the ground is divided into lots and sold.

It is said she was the victim of a plot, of which a party recently arrived at New York was the supposed leader; for the overthrow of the President; but it has wholly failed. The guilty parties, who are followers of Soule, have been arrested in great numbers, and will be brought to criminal punishment. The unfortunate girl, who thus tragically perished, was nineteen years of age, and had been married two months. In assessing the charges, the complaints thought that the distracted father had hastened to the bloody scene, and they had ambuscaded arranged on the way from which they would fire at the President as he hurried by, and then the villain would have had full power to seize the capital and ensnare the whole country. Fortunately for the father, he suspected something of the kind and did not proceed.

REMARKS ON THE CHINA.—A correspondent of the London Times, recently returned from a visit to Shanghai, states that the raising of the steam fleet was proceeding very successfully. About fourteen ships only remain to be raised, consisting chiefly of three deckers and frigates, for which larger and more powerful derricks were being constructed. That portion of the fleet which at the entrance of the harbor will be blown up. He also found the graveyards containing the bodies of those who fell in the Chinese campaign, repaired and ready to be buried. The walls surrounding them were in good condition, and kept in repair by persons appointed to visit them at stated intervals.

THE COMING FAIR.—The great fight between Australia, Kelly and Ned Price comes on on Thursday, Oct. 6, (to-day) near Buffalo. Price is to be seconded by John Reenan, the Barcoo Boy, and Kelly by Harry Griffin and Jim Massey. To avoid loss of time and disputes at the ring, a referee is to be selected before leaving Buffalo.

DISPATCHES FROM CHINA.—The dispatches from Com. Tatnall, received at the Navy Department, state that a day had been fixed for the American Commissioner to proceed to Peking to meet the Chinese authorities, with a view to the immediate ratification of the treaty. The Chinese Commissioner was submitted to President Buchanan, who entirely approves of the action of the Commodore in rendering the assistance he did to the British Admiral. It was only a recognition of a courtesy extended to one of our own ships. Such is the light in which the Department views it. No opinion is expressed by Com. Tatnall as to the merits of the controversy between the English and the Chinese.

VERY LATE.—The Duke of Argyll thinks highly of Mrs. H. R. Stone—thinks she can't be spoiled, but the Duke does not approve of a woman appearing on a platform in plain, unless she is going to be hanged, when, he says, "it is unavoidable."

TRAGIC FALL.—We learn from the Manchester (N. H.) American that a man named Robert Rankin was killed by a fall from a scaffold on Monday afternoon, the 30th ult., and in the course of the same day was buried around the city to Merrimack Square, and was seized with a desire to climb to the summit of the flag-staff, which, if he remembered right, is 200 feet in height. It was quite dark, but he started on his perilous ascent, passed the first spike and gained the dizzy altitude of 135 feet, when he lost his hold and fell to the ground. He was killed by the fall, and the cause of the accident was the splintered ladder on which he was standing, which lay the lower mast, and then fell to the ground, and he died, as would be, as a matter of course, he supposed, but without a bone broken, or any serious injury. The following morning he said he felt pretty well, with the exception of a little sensation as if he had been "jammed."

SHIPWRECK.—The bark Green of the Fleet, of Yarmouth, N. S., which arrived at New York on the 28th ult., had on board the captain and crew, eight in number, of the schooner Pilgrimage, of and from Sydney, C. B., for Boston, which was badly damaged. She went down shortly after her crew were rescued. The owner, Mr. Francis O'Neil, who was also on board, was lost overboard in attempting to get on board the bark.

ANTHONY DENNIS HAS CALLED.—Anthony Dennis, of fugitive slave origin, having been the pastor of a colored Baptist Church in Indianapolis, is threatened with the penalties of the "Black Law" of that State, if he accepts the call.

THE SAN JUAN DISPATCH.—Dispatches received by government from General Harney say that no conflict had taken place between the English and Americans, nor was there the least danger of one. There is reason to believe that if these dispatches had been received prior to General Scott's departure, that officer would have been sent to the Pacific. It may be that orders will go by the next steamer for his return.

THE NEWSPAPER FURNISHES.—The St. John (N. B.) Morning News of the 28th ult. says: "The people of Newfoundland are looking with great anxiety for the daily expected reports of the mixed commission appointed by the English and French Governments to inquire into the rights and wrongs existing between England and France with reference to the Newfoundland fisheries. It having been intimated that the French are determined not to abandon an inch of their claim, the people of Newfoundland will not patiently submit to any agreement, even if made by the home Government, that will deprive them of their fisheries, but will offer as far as their means will go, an armed resistance to the foreign aggression, and will resist any encroachment upon the soil or upon their fishing grounds."

Telegraphed to the New Orleans Crescent.

LATER FROM HAVANA.
ARRIVAL OF THE DE ROTON.
PARIS 4 OCTOBER, Oct. 5.—The steamship De Roton, from New York via Havana, crossed the bar at 6 o'clock this evening, bringing dates from Havana of the 21st instant.

At Havana the sugar market closed much improved at 10 cent per arroba. There was nothing doing in Malacca. The transactions in land were limited—prices nominal at $18 to $25 per acre for trees and $19 to $20 per acre for open land. Stock on hand 315 steers and 1200 pigs.

Exchange rates high and firm. Exchange on London 15 to 16c premium, on New York Boston and Philadelphia 4 to 5c premium, on New Orleans 6 to 7c premium.

The following numbers drew the principal prizes in the Havana Lottery of the 1st: 26,567, 2774, 20,731, 594, 17,523.

STILL FURTHER FROM CALIFORNIA.
BY THE SOUTHERN LINE.
St. Louis, Oct. 5.—The St. Louis Republican has received a note from the Postmaster at Santa Clara, saying that Senator Broderick and Judge Terry had fought a duel. Judge Terry received his antagonist's ball in his throat, and his supposed to be mortally wounded.

Advices from El Paso state that there is upwards of a ton of silver bullion at that point awaiting shipment to the United States.

The silver mines of Arizona are proving very productive, but the miners are greatly annoyed by the constant depredations of the Apache Indians. Rich mines of quartz gold have been discovered in the Santa Cruz river, near Fort Buchanan.

New York, Oct. 5.—Postmaster General Holt has ordered the mails for Aspinwall, Panama, Central America, etc., to be sent today by the steamship Northern Light, but nothing further has transpired in relation to the California mails.

Accident, Oct. 5.—The Congressional District in this State is conceded to the Opposition, but the balance is regarded Democratic. In the Seventh and Eighth the election is very close.

Local Intelligence.

WITH THE REVIVAL of business the drymen and carters have every incentive to make the most of their time; but still, as they have not, by any means, the entire monopoly of the streets, we should like to see the city better regulated by the Recorder, whenever they legally take possession of the streets by galloping their mules and endangering slighter vehicles and human life, not to mention the too prevalent evil of running in long strings, close together, thereby stopping the vehicles of the cross streets as well as pedestrians.

There was an ordinance prohibiting all this; but it is thought to be a dead letter, for it has not been met with every body of the day in all the commercial streets, there are but few of the police who remember the ordinance or feel disposed to interfere with the thundering carts and drays of their rascally drivers. It therefore seems to us to be the duty of the Recorder to see to it that the ordinance is given to the individuals who forget that they are not the exclusive owners of the streets.

Sergeant McFarland yesterday arrested John Rodin and Barney Mitchell, and Jerry, said of Madsen, for too furiously going it in the commercial gallopade. They were locked up and their teams set to the pound. Recorder Summers will attend to them. We hope the day police will pay special attention to this sort of their daily duty.

THE CARROLLTON FIRM COMRADES celebrated their anniversary on Tuesday. They had a procession and a fine time generally, and closed their festivity with a ball at night.

BOOKERY FIRM COMPANY No. 2, of Algiers, celebrated their anniversary yesterday. Members of Felicia No. 1, of that town, were in the procession, which crossed the river and paraded the principal streets of the city, headed by Just tall Algeria, Norbert Trepanier, as Grand Marshal. The engine was beautifully decorated and bore the miniature ship which is the symbol of Algiers industry. A handsome silk flag headed the procession, being a present from the ladies of the right bank. The festivity was concluded with a ball at night.

A BIZ OF ROMANCE of the French school, appears to be connected with the death of the slave boy Isham, which death before last, in Prindler's street, by an overdose of laudanum, is reported in another part of our local intelligence. Last night a slave named Maria, a handsome light-colored young woman, was taken to the lockup for keeping a key. She belongs to Mr. Prindler, and stays at his depot on Baronne street, where Isham died. The story in connection with her arrest, as we obtained it, was this: that she and Isham were lovers; that she started to buy a quantity of laudanum, in which she named him and named him, and told him never to speak to her again; that he did that night; and that, either because he committed suicide by taking the "overdose of laudanum," or because she believed so to the fact, she related, gave herself up to grief, finally became desperate, and was last night locked up to prevent her from following her lover by committing suicide to her. Maria, in a handsome white woman by night. She declares that she had committed suicide, he having taken the laudanum himself, which had no effect of medicine.

THOMAS CORPUS made a great fool of himself on Tuesday night. He got beastly drunk and fell down on Julia street, and was logged to the lock-up, with the "Key of Heaven" in his pocket. The brief entry on the police book read, "Thos. Coffey, lying drunk on Julia street; had key of Heaven." The key, we suppose, every one knows is a religious book. But having two dollars and a half in his pocket for getting drunk with such a thing in his pocket, Recorder Summers yesterday sent him to the perpetual institution known as the Work-house.

WILLIAM DAVIS was arrested last evening for endeavoring to create a jump of the crew on board the steamer Vicksburg. He will be properly attended to to-day by Recorder Summers.

DAVID DEXTER was sent to prison yesterday by Recorder Will. He was charged with stealing a watch worth $50 of Mr. W. M. Mason, in a boarding house on St. Louis street, on Tuesday night. He was sick at the time, and Dexter was acting as his nurse.

Mrs. HEARN, charged with an assault upon Juan Raines with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill, was dismissed yesterday by Recorder Will; Release failing to appear against her. She gave him an ugly look in the right shoulder with a baton on the 17th ult., at No. 132 St. Philip street, where both rested at the time.

FRANK McSIBNEY, charged as an accessory to the murder of John B. Lee's "low," on the night of the 15th ult., was examined yesterday before Recorder Summers. The testimony being insufficient, he was discharged. Jerry Casey, charged with being the murderer, has not since been heard of.

RENEE LANGENBERG, charged with stealing a coat, pair of pantaloons, pair of ladies' garters, and a set of household tools, from his employer, Chas. Nick, at No. 150 Common street, was yesterday arrested before Recorder Summers, and sent to prison to be examined on the 8th inst.

NICHOLAS ANDES, of the Crescent Opera Saloon, on Rampart street, near Gravier, was before Recorder Summers yesterday. He was charged with throwing a tumbler of John Leveque, in the said saloon, on Monday morning, and then chasing him out and around Gravier street, and finally giving him a violent blow in the back with a piece of plank. He gave bail to appear on the 7th.

High McNEIL, charged with twice invading Charles Dubois' room on Gravier street, over Holt's and the last time taking him by the throat and drawing a revolver on him, also gave bail to appear on the 7th.

A. LEROY has managed to get herself into trouble. A. Mayer, residing at No. 36 Grand street, had her before Recorder Summers yesterday, on a charge of having broken open his armoire and carried off a shirt and other articles of female apparel, valued at $40, and $300 in gold and silver coin. The robbery was alleged to have been committed in the latter part of the last month. In default of bail to appear on the 7th, she was committed to prison.

JOHN HENNESSY is under arrest in the Fourth District. He is charged with having stolen Frederick Mill.

MARY HUNT is under arrest in the Fourth District, awaiting a chat with Recorder Adams. She stands accused of having got so hot at Vincent Julien, in whose house, on Seventh street, she resided, as to undertake to set the house on fire.

THE PRINCIPAL BUSINESS before the Recorder yesterday was confined to drunkenness, vagabondage, and petty delinquency. None of the cases were worth mentioning.

The only mentionable exception in the fighting line, was that of Mary Betts and Kate Hughes. The row took place on Union street, between Baronne and Dryades, about a week ago; Mary giving Kate a severe thrashing in the morning, and repeating the dose at night, with the assistance of a young man boarding in the house, whom Kate, in a manner, forced to take sides with Mary. It was stated that on both occasions the ladies had all-singing and all-dancing, and that the complaining Kate had sustained such damage as she received. The chief witness in the case was an elderly lady who spoke with the full tongue of a downcast Yankee, and created much mirth in Court. Mary Betts had a black eye; Kate Hughes had not, but declared she was black and blue all over her body. When she said this, Mary's friend and protector said she would like to have her prove it by an exhibition of her person, then and there. This only added to the fun. The Recorder, finding it an even fight still, decided the case.

"HOW STILL THE HOUR."
From the Christian Monitor.
How still the hour, how still!
As if it had all over!
And her away, without a will,
Was a Queen upon her throne!
Yet soothes the wound it makes;
And but the west wind's breath,
Soft, over beds of balm,
That make sleep akin to death!

Al! hark! as from afar,
Love's murmur of delight;
Its sweetest, its divinest,
That sounds from yonder height.
It breaks the liquid air,
Yet soothes the wound it makes;
And though it breathes of care,
"I love alone that wakes."

Alas! for the young heart,
Whose soul so sweetly takes
Wings, waves, and with an art,
It mingles love with grief;
That fails one only ear:
Alas! when it may change,
But love is a world of war.

Election in Mississippi.
The Vicksburg Whig publishes the following returns of the election in that State on Monday last: The election passed off quietly yesterday. Four hundred and sixty-nine votes were cast in the city box, and two hundred and eight at the county box. Full returns have not of course been made yet, but the Whig is confident that the Opposition have carried both city and county by respectable majorities.

At the election two years ago the majority for Mr. Yrger, the American candidate for Governor, was two hundred and ninety-two in the whole county. The returns were not all counted out last night. At the city box only two hundred and eight votes were counted, showing a tie between Lake and McGary, as city representative. Water was two votes ahead of McGary, and McGary was two votes ahead of Lake. At the county box, the counting was discontinued, the vote for County Representative stood, secretly, for Mr. Yrger.
