

NEW YORK CORRESPONDENCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 17, 1859. The Crescent—We are now in the midst of an Indian Summer, and the weather is delightful.

Unless something is done, unless there is a new and a grand rally, the Presidential nominee of the Black Republicans (who will assuredly be Seward) will quietly walk over the course, so far as New York is concerned.

There is no question about it, but you have not hung. He deserves it. Nevertheless, his hanging will furnish ammunition for 10,000 pupils and 2000 Republican papers, and if the thunder don't roll, and if the whole North does not become abolitionized and browbeaten, I shall be glad to believe.

Our Ballroomman Lowe is smart. He takes in some times $1000 a day, besides considerable sums from other sources. He will feather his nest extensively, say $70,000 to $30,000, and when he starts for Europe, will take good care not to get out of sight of American land.

This reminds me of another man, who really is a genius. He is making more substantial benefit for himself now than he ever made before in his life, and it is done so quietly, no noise, and the money comes in $500 every night.

He is making more substantial benefit for himself now than he ever made before in his life, and it is done so quietly, no noise, and the money comes in $500 every night.
