AUCTION SALES THIS DAY.

By Pike & Crudose--Smith sell at 10 o'clock, at No. — Annunciation street, between Philip and First streets, household furniture, etc.

By Hennessy & Smith--sell at 10½ o'clock, at No. 124 Bourbon street, fine furniture, etc.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALES---

W. H. Watson, Constable, will sell at 12 o'clock at the door of Dr. Kohl & Mohr's stables, one small wagon.

☞ We are again indebted to Adams' Express for Southern and Western papers in advance of the public.

PEACHES FROM PARIS.---Many thanks to Mr. E. G. Chaud, at 78 St. Charles street, for that acceptable basket of peaches. Fruit of such unexceptionable flavor constitutes a present peculiarly appropriate to the hot season now upon us. Meats and heavy food must give respectful way for a while to the more delicately flavored and cooling edibles embraced in the catalogue of fruits, melons and vegetables. Health will certainly be greatly promoted by due attention to the dictates of nature in this respect; and to the public, we can say that the very earliest and finest productions of the season can always be found at the establishment of our friend E. G. Chaud.

INAUGURATION OF THE "ORLEANS AND THE MAGNOLIA."---We have received an invitation to be present this afternoon at the Girl's High School, in the Fourth District, on which occasion there will be an inauguration of a new school journal entitled the "Garland," and readings from the "Magnolia;" both sets of journals edited and conducted by the pupils of the school. Beside the ceremony of inaugurating the Garland, there will be a lunch and a pleasant time generally for all who are invited.

CONTRABAND BALLAST.---We have been favored by a call from the Rev. Wm. H. Scales, Professor of Mathematics in this institution, and presented by him with a catalogue of officers and students for the last academical year. We learn from Mr. Scales that the present number of students are two hundred and sixty-three, which indicates a very flourishing condition of the institution. This College is under the patronage of the Methodist Church, and being beautifully and healthfully located, could hardly fail of being well sustained.

☞ List of Letters on second page.---☜

THE BALTIMORE TRADE.---There was a great outcry some time since against trading with cities north of Mason & Dixon's line, and doubtless the policy would have been a most effectual one in severing to the South a due respect for her rights. But there was no unanimity of sentiment, no concert of action. Of course, no one merchant in particular could be expected to sacrifice his individual interests to no good end whatever, when the main channel of trade would remain the same as always; still a great deal might be done by a wisely directed action and influence. Whatever can be bought to Baltimore to as great advantage as further North, why not buy it there, and then lay in the remainder of the stock elsewhere? This would result in no loss of money, but a mere demand upon one's time of small moment, and involving little trouble. Such a course in one person would not amount to much, but his example might do a great deal. In dealing there, go to establishments advertising in this or other Southern papers, and the mere fact of their desire to attract Southern trade may get you even better terms than could be obtained elsewhere.

SEA-BATHING.---As many of our citizens make a Northern tour during the summer season, and pitch North spent a portion of their time at some watering place, we call their attention to a locality mentioned to-day, and which would seem to present many claims to their patronage. We refer to the sea-bathing resort of Atlantic City, New Jersey. Its hotels are said to be equal to those of Saratoga or Newport, while its natural advantages of an extended beach, beautiful walks, and sailing and fishing facilities are of the highest order. To all this may be added its comparative remoteness from New York and consequent immunity from the coarse mob who swarm at the other resorts, making an important item for those who like quiet and true gentility.

YOUNG MEN'S BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION.---The annual turnout and celebration of this excellent organization will take place on Sunday, as may be seen by the published programme in another column. The committee of arrangements have our thanks for their invitation to us, to be with them that day. We shall certainly honor the invitation, if possible.

NEW HARMONVILLE BOAT.---It will be seen by reference to the advertisement, that the steamer A. G. Brewer, J. Pottevent, captain, is to run regularly hereafter to Mandeville, Lewisburg and Madisonville, on Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, starting from the Lake end of both the Jefferson and Pontchartrain Railroads. She will make excursion trips on Sundays and on the 4th inst.

ASSISTED WARRANTEER, FOURTH DISTRICT.---Mr. H. D. Keen publishes a card to-day stating that he is still a candidate for reelection to the above office.

A GOOD IDEA.---The City Guard, a volunteer company of New York, is periodically practiced in harbor defence. They are allowed facilities for drilling with heavy artillery at the forts in the harbor, and practice with exploded guns. This feature ought to be adopted in all our volunteer organizations where facilities exist. Forts are of very little use as a defence unless there are practiced artillerists to work the guns. A little practice in this kind of instruction would soon supply the knowledge which would enable us to man every fort of our fortresses, in case of necessity, with skilled artillerists. The United States Government has been encouraging the idea among the New York volunteers, and it might extend with advantage the instruction to every large seaboard city.

A NARROW ESCAPE.---A German child in the town of Ashford, New York, had been very ill with scarlet fever. On Sunday last, says the Cattaraugus Republican, the child seemed to die, and on Monday preparations were made for its burial. Monday afternoon the funeral was held, and the body of the child, accompanied by a large number of friends, was conveyed to the grave. As the sod began to fall upon the coffin, a feeble cry was heard, just a shriek of "mother!" burst from the lips of the emaciated child. The child is in a fair way to recover.

INTERESTING INFORMATION.---The following appears among the "foreign intelligence" of the London Illustrated Times of the 2d inst:

The Baltimore Democratic Convention has nominated Mr. Bell for the Presidency. Mr. Everett has also been nominated. The Republicans of Chicago have nominated Mr. Lincoln. The Illinois Convention has nominated Mr. Hamlin and Mr. Maine as Vice Presidents.

A CAT, which had lost the whole of her interesting family of puppies, was seen trying to poke a piece of crape through the handle of a door of one of the Philadelphia sausage shops.

COMMISSION AND FORWARDING BUSINESS.---Under the head of "Wanted" will be found an advertisement for a partner in an old established house of the above description.

GROCERY.---A competent man with a capital of $10,000 is wanted to take charge of a grocery business. See advertisement.

ADMISSION OF NEW STATES.

On the 15th of March, 1850, John Bell of Tennessee expressed himself thus:

I would not have the South trickle or surrender any of their rights. I would not have them yield one jot or tittle of their rights; but I would have them make no questionable issues in advance, stir up no strife upon unnecessary, abstract questions having no practical value, but to do always what is just and right upon all questions. When a people or Territory applies for admission into the Union under a Constitution fairly formed, with the assent of the people, excluding slavery, I would admit it promptly; and when an application comes, on the other hand, from people of a Territory who have fairly formed a Constitution recognizing slavery, I would insist upon its admission as a slave State. If the North should not agree to this, it would be time enough to consider the remedy.

If this is not sound doctrine, then we are unable to understand what sound doctrine is. Mr. Bell here plants himself distinctly and firmly upon the ground advocated by ninety-nine Southern men in every hundred, without respect of party. He will admit a State with an anti-slavery Constitution, if that Constitution be fairly formed by the people. He will admit a State with a Constitution recognizing slavery, if it be the wish of the people who compose it. He will not only admit such a State into the Union, but he will "insist" upon its admission. And he is ready to consider the "remedy" if a Northern majority, because of slavery, shall exclude such a State from the Union.

Mr. Breckinridge goes no further than this. Very likely he has expressed the same sentiments. If he has not, such is undoubtedly the position of that portion of the Democratic party of which he is the representative.

It is hardly necessary to specify the points of difference between this position of Mr. Bell and that occupied by Mr. Lincoln. The latter affirms the unlimited right of Congress to refuse, or consent to, the admission of a new State into the Union. He holds to the doctrine of Congressional sovereignty---that Congress is supreme over the Territories, and has the power to refuse admission to a State, either because of slavery, or for any other cause. Mr. Bell, on the contrary, affirms the right of the people to a final decision of this question for themselves, no matter how that decision may be; and the duty of Congress to grant them admission with such a Constitution as may be fairly and legally made.

Yet there are some Southern opponents of Mr. Bell who affect to believe that there is no difference of any consequence, so far as this question is concerned, between Mr. Bell and Mr. Lincoln. And they point to the fact that Mr. Bell's name was mentioned, in some obscure and unauthorized quarters, in connection with the Chicago nomination. Mr. Bell's name was not breathed in the Chicago Convention, and we doubt if there was a man there who could have been induced, under any circumstances, to propose his name to that assembly as a candidate for the nomination.

In the extract from Mr. Bell's speech in 1850, which we published yesterday, he affirmed the right of slaveholders to protection, and made a strong argument in favor of slavery as an economical and social institution. He claimed the prosperity of this country, and its material wealth and political power, as being due, in a great measure, to the influence of this institution. Add to this that he is largely interested in it personally---and we cannot believe that this old hackneyed charge of "unsoundness," against any candidate that the opposition to the Democracy may bring forward, will be urged against Mr. Bell in the ensuing canvass.

In thus defending Mr. Bell we make no attack upon Mr. Breckinridge. We have yet to learn that in the polemics of politics, defense on one side necessarily involves attack on the other. We frankly admit that the platform of the Convention which nominated Mr. Breckinridge, so far as its assertion of the rights of the South in the Territories is concerned, is not open to objection. If the slavery question alone were involved in the present canvass, the issue would be narrowed down at once to a question of personal preference. And, after all, people in these days take as much account of men as of platforms in making up their minds how they shall vote.

But there are other issues involved, and other interests to be consulted. The times demand that some one should be at the head of affairs whose administration, while securing justice to all, would have a tendency to repress and destroy the fell spirit of sectionalism that bids fair to overthrow the Government if stimulated and kept up a few years longer. We believe that, of all the candidates before the people, the election of Mr. Bell would have the happiest effect in restoring the whole Union to those feelings of nationality that pervaded the people everywhere when the Presidency was so ably administered by Mr. Fillmore.

THE HOMESTEAD BILL.---In Congress, on the 23d, the Senate received a message from the President vetoing the Homestead bill. The President says the small sum asked for the public lands by the bill---twenty-five cents per acre, and a credit of five years---is equal almost to a donation, and that Congress has no right to give away the public domain to States or individuals. Furthermore, aside from the Constitutional objections, the bill is unjust to old soldiers who hold military bounty lands, as it greatly reduces their value. It opens a large field for injurious speculation; makes an unjust discrimination between Americans and foreigners, by prohibiting the former, if single, from having the benefit of the bill, while the foreigner, without being the head of a family, is given those privileges. The bill draws partial distinctions between preemptors, and seriously affects the revenue from the public lands. The question was taken on the passage of the bill, notwithstanding the President's objections, and the veto of the President was sustained. The vote stood 28 to 18, two-thirds of the votes cast being required to pass the bill over the veto.

The Post-Office Deficiency Appropriation bill was then taken up, and a long debate ensued on the proposition to restore the mail service discontinued by the Postmaster General last year. The Senate refused to restore, and thus the bill has failed, unless the action of the Senate was reversed on Monday morning. The bill embraces appropriations to the amount of $13,000,000, and it is not unlikely, should it fail altogether, that the President will call an extra session of Congress.

AN ABSCONDING MANAGER.---Frank Cahill, a young Englishman, formerly editor of the New York Picayune, and lately employed by Mrs. Levison, proprietress of a comic paper called Nick Nax, to edit and conduct that paper, recently absconded with $500 in cash, the property of Mrs. Levison. Cahill is said to be possessed of considerable literary ability.

MESSRS. C. PITTS & GARDNER SMITH will sell this day at 10½ o'clock, on Annunciation street, between Philip and First streets, an assortment of good mahogany furniture, etc. See advertisement.

☞ Soothing and Bracing---There is no preparation in existence which has such a soothing effect in cases of nervous excitement as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Although the fame of this renowned invigorant rests mainly on its astonishing cures of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and intestinal disorders, it is equally efficacious in nervous complaints. Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and lightens the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed (as is the case where ordinary drugs are administered) by any unpleasant reaction.

Sold in New Orleans, wholesale and retail, by J. WRIGHT & CO., 21 and 151 Chartres street, sole agents for the Southern States, and to whom all orders should be addressed, and by druggists and dealers generally everywhere. je25 2p6AtW

☞ From the Troy Budget.---John Quincy Adams.---It is in that famous poem, "The Siege of Corinth," where Byron records that---

"There was an old man whose hairs were white,
But his veteran arm was full of might."

The famous lines descriptive of this old man have been often quoted as applicable to that intellectual giant of the earlier days of the Republic---John Quincy Adams. Had the hero of Byron's poem lived in these days, there would have been no necessity of his recording the fact that "his hairs were white"---for, like most of the old men of the present day, he would undoubtedly have used Hostetter's Hair Restorative, which would have restored his hair to all the pristine beauty and natural color of youth.

Price 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

☞ Tycoon of Japan!---Gen. H. Sloat & Co. respectfully announce their Elliptic Sewing Machines to the Tycoon of Japan---such as are offered for sale at No. 87 Canal street, and none but one manufactured in America, without a doubt. Its unrivaled simplicity, its effective operation and its mechanical perfection, are its proud claims to utility, and the thousands who have used them will gladly attest to this great triumph of American ingenuity.

je25 2p1m M. S. HEDRICK, Agent, 87 Canal street.

☞ The Best and Cheapest Sewing Machines are Gen. H. Sloat & Co.'s New Style. These Machines have great improvements over all others, are similar to Wheeler & Wilson's---doing away with the troublesome Leather Pad and Loop Checks.

Parties in want of a Sewing Machine are invited to call and examine before making purchases, at 87 Canal street.

☞ Experience teaches us that delicacy prevents many females from applying for the means to alleviate suffering and save life. That objection is obviated in the case of "Sir James Clarke's Female Pills, prepared after the prescription of Sir James Clarke, Physician to the Queen of England, and well known to be the only sure and safe remedy for female difficulties and obstructions from any cause." They can be sent in a bottle containing 50 pills, post free, by enclosing $1 and six postage stamps to my agent.

☞ The History of Hair Dyes shows that they have been in use in the Old World for ONE THOUSAND YEARS. Perfection is reached at last. The modern world admits that CRISTADORO'S EXCELSIOR DYE comprises and imparts all the elements of beauty which Heaven has bestowed upon the most favored heads. The change is effected in a few moments.

Dr. Chilton says, after careful analysis, that it contains "no deleterious ingredient."

Sold everywhere, and applied by all Hair Dressers.

For sale in New Orleans, wholesale and retail, by J WRIGHT & CO., 21 and 151 Chartres street, General Agents.

Fassman's

CELEBRATED "IRON TIE."

To Factors and Others Interested.

I would respectfully call your attention to the following letter, which will conclusively show the estimation in which iron-bound Cotton is held by those ship captains who have taken Cotton bound in that way. I do this, too, since there has been a systematic course of action by those opposed to the use of iron, to produce the impression upon the minds of ship captains and the community generally, that it arrives in so bad a condition at the port of destination as to cause a great loss to the ship, as well as to subject it to a higher per cent. in settling for the freight. All these charges are shown to be erroneous where the FASSMAN TIE is used, as it is now fully demonstrated that from the time it leaves the plantation until it reaches its port of destination, there is not an objection to it. It is used for re-compressing at the Orleans Cotton Press daily, with greater facility than rope.

The hoops are now all well painted and for sale in any quantity by application to

F. BELCHER, Agent,
22 Commercial Place.

A Card.

NEW ORLEANS, June 15, 1860.

Mr. Henry Fassman:

Dear Sir---In November last the ship "Cadiz," under my command, loaded at this port with a cargo of 3230 bales of Cotton, of which over 2500 bales were compressed in iron bands with your Tie, and mostly received from your press; the balance of the cargo was rope-bound. On loading the cargo, the bales bound with iron came out in much the best order, and the entire expense in putting the cargo in order was only three pound sterling. The loss in settling the freight in weight on the iron-bound Cotton was four per cent., the rope-bound was a fraction more. I consider it for the interest of ships to have their Cotton in iron bands with your Tie, provided the stevedores employed take the same pains in storing it as they do rope-bound.

In the absence of any organization in this city for the support of BELL AND EVERETT for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency of the United States, and in accordance with the following resolutions, it becomes my duty, as President of the meeting held at Odd Fellows' Hall on the 30th May last, to invite the friends of "the Constitution, the Union and the Enforcement of the Laws," favorable to the above ticket, to meet at ODD FELLOWS' HALL in Mass Meeting, on SATURDAY NEXT, 30th June, at 8 o'clock P. M., to elect DELEGATES TO THE STATE CONVENTION, which is to meet on the 4th of July in Baton Rouge, for the purpose of selecting a BELL AND EVERETT State Electoral Ticket for the Presidential campaign, and for the formation of a State Executive Committee:

Resolved, That we admit of no other Platform than the Constitution.

Resolved, That the citizens of Louisiana who revere the Constitution of their country, and regard it as the charter of their liberties, and who ardently desire to see the union of the States perpetuated, be requested to hold meetings in their respective Parishes, to elect Delegates to a Convention to be held at Baton Rouge on the 4th of July next, for the purpose of nominating an Electoral Ticket for this State.

To the Public.

The subscriber is now prepared to furnish GAS WORKS of all sizes for cities, factories, hotels, sugar houses or dwellings, under the patent granted to Prof. ROBERT GRANT, dated January 27, 1857.

These Works are arranged to make the Gas from Coal, Resin, Resin Oil, or Cotton Seed, are very simple in their construction, perfectly safe, and yield a larger quantity of gas from a given amount of material than any other known process.

I beg to refer to the following certificates of Messrs. O. E. Hall & Co., St. Louis Hotel, where large and well lighted works can be seen, and a small apparatus can be seen in operation at the Novelty Iron Works Agency, No. 1 Canal street, New Orleans:

ST. LOUIS HOTEL, New Orleans, May 29, 1860.

F. W. C. COOK, Esq.:

Dear Sir---It is now more than three months since the Gas Works known as Robert Grant's Patent, and put up by you in this Hotel, have been in operation, and it affords us pleasure to be able to state that we are satisfied with them in every particular, and will take this occasion to state, further, that for the last six days (all connection with the city gas having been cut off) we have burned an average of two hundred lights per night, and a portion of those until morning, the supply of gas for which has been made from five hundred pounds of coal each twenty-four hours. The works are simple and easily managed, and, in utility and economy, exceed the representations made in your contract. Two men are all that are required in any season of the year for the keeping of the works in order and the manufacture of gas.

Very respectfully yours,
O. E. HALL & CO.

For the sale of the above Works, or for the exclusive rights for cities, counties or States, apply to
