

The weather was very favorable yesterday, and the flags were tolerably well crowded. The telegraph wires were all down, and the usual drying reports and fabrications, it is somewhat astonishing how some parties—speculators and quackmen—have existed for forty-eight hours. The talk of what the Government at Washington intends to do seems to be paramount. The time for the meeting of the Convention is approaching, and session being a fixed fact, the question is proposed: Will we still deliberate on the usual dry reports and fabrications, or will we have some indications that Governor Moore would find it politic to take charge of the telegraph offices in this city, so far as the transmission of dispatches and intelligence from Washington City is concerned. Dispatches in cipher to the officers of the squadron in the Gulf ought to be closely repressed, and those pertaining to carriers on the blockade movements stopped. The Administration, the papers that be at Washington, must be considered as enemies. There was some inquiry regarding Collector Hays' instructions, and his intent about the revenue cutters under his control.

The talk about foreign bottom—shipments of produce on foreign account—still continues, which seems to be the different representations of foreign countries adopt when session of Louisiana is completed, and the State assumes its independent sovereignty. One important view or question is lost sight of, overlooked. With some of the European powers there is a differential duty on produce imported in foreign vessels, or vessels under foreign flags, or by treaty American vessels are exempted from it. In the ports of France and Belgium, it coming from the West, which is a duty on the date and merchandise of that country. The question arises whether American vessels loaded with cotton at the ports of the seceding States will be considered as foreign vessels coming from foreign ports, and their cargoes amenable or subject to these discriminating duties. This will be an item on shipments of produce hence, and will take something of a slice away and another, of which some speculators may not want to differ. The duty will, of course, have to be borne in whole by the difference in the value of cotton, or rather will have to come out of the planter. This discriminating duty will, of course, be productive of loss to the vessels of nations making the discrimination. This subject—the forming of treaties with foreign powers—will be one of the first to be taken into consideration after the passage and becomes the law of Louisiana.

The freight market continues under some excitement. British bottomers are obtaining a lot of bit more than Northern, or what were American vessels. The advance in freights is owing to the general scarcity of shipping. The number of vessels, of all kinds and nationalities now in port, is not half what it was last year at this time. Of the tonnage now in port, 21,100 tons are British, only twenty-five vessels. Of the other foreign vessels, two are Bremen, 1,071 tons; nine Spanish, 2,490 tons; five Swedish, 1,071 tons; one Sardinian, 698 tons; and two German, 1,071 tons. This is a very light quantity of tonnage. The talk is, that it will be likely conducive to cotton and train to visit to Nova Scotia and Newfoundland for all the British vessels in the ports of these colonies to come forward. It is probably that there will be a large number of British vessels now in and employed in the ports of Great Britain, and will be sent to aid in transporting cotton—24, will encourage an immense quantity of tonnage to come to this port.

It was lively on the great levee yesterday. Our marine records several large loads of cotton. The past two days also continued arrivals of cotton. The weather was very favorable, and the ships of these lying correspondents of Northern newspapers, that there is a scarcity of breadstuffs and provisions in the South. It would be a hopeless task to attempt to correct the misrepresentations and falsehoods which are said to emanate from the South. Harpers' Weekly Journal is now becoming notorious for disseminating these fabrications. It is almost as correct as the blackest Republican paper.

There were no mails yesterday. However, we are getting along very well without them. In the meantime, the alterations at our Post-office are progressing. Postmaster Ribbel has returned to the post plan in locating the boxes. There are a great many ideas in and about the lobby of the Post-office; they appear to have no business, and really every day, and really intercept and interfere with those that have business. There is no remedy for the abuse, and our community must stand to the impotence.

Local Intelligence.

THE WEATHER AND THE TOWN. Were agreeable enough yesterday. The first was cool, but bright, bracing, and delicious; the other was gay, bustling, and brilliant, as it always is in the city of the West, which, owing to the sale of the ships of these lying correspondents of Northern newspapers, that there is a scarcity of breadstuffs and provisions in the South. It would be a hopeless task to attempt to correct the misrepresentations and falsehoods which are said to emanate from the South. Harpers' Weekly Journal is now becoming notorious for disseminating these fabrications. It is almost as correct as the blackest Republican paper.

At about 5 o'clock yesterday morning, the private school of Mrs. Westcott, a small two-story brick building on the corner of Basin and Frank streets, Mrs. W. had barely time to escape with her clothing. The fire started in the kitchen, and was believed to be the work of an incendiary. It is a severe affliction to an industrious and most deserving lady.

DEPARTURE OF TROOPS.

Capt. Bradford's first company of Louisiana Infantry yesterday morning left the Barracks, and took passage on the towboat Opelika, for Forts Jackson and St. Philip, the main outposts of Louisiana, and sentries special and extraordinary for the South. The company will have occupied the forts thus far, may therefore be expected back very soon, if, indeed, they be not here before this reaches our readers' eyes.

THE COURT.

CONVICTS INQUEST.

The inquest on the body of the Irish laborer, Jim Ward, who on Monday evening was found dead in a boiler on the levee, just after having had a fight with another man, was held yesterday. The only inquiry was a slightly black one. The testimony by Dr. Berkeley showed that the death was caused by a rupture of the spleen. Upon this and the verdict rendered, the Coroner ordered the release of H. Young, who had been arrested on the charge of killing Ward.

A RECKLESS SON.

Mr. Gaudin, residing on Harmony street, near Constance, yesterday reported to the Fourth District police that one Paul Seigensberger, her own son, had entered her house and robbed her of $200. The boy is certainly a great rascal; but the enormity of the robbery is considerably excused by the fact that it was in the family. Probably the mother is not entirely blameless for her share in the bringing up of such a baby.

From Fort Pike.

Fortune favors us with a glance at a labor written by a gentleman connected with the military department, who has been in the city a few days. As the writer is well known to many of our readers, we are not at all scrupulous about extracting from his letter, which, by the way, he evidently did not intend for publication. He says: We entered immediately into strict military discipline, and the most rigid army regulations. It would amuse you to hear some of our boys grumble, who, perhaps, had had no idea of the duties they were to perform. For instance: We are regularly drilled into the march of six, eight, ten, and so on. Our Quartermaster department is the funny part of the business, and we have really suffered and toiling to get our provisions. The commissary has to get up for his flour, hard and butter, and his tin cups for coffee, sugar and salt, and his tin tin for the marching and so on. He gets one day's ration in the morning, and he has to get it at once or at any time he pleases; but if he should waste any in cooking, or in eating, he may go hungry for a day. The proper State officers failed to provide us with necessaries, and we have really suffered and toiling to get our provisions.
