

House.

Parliament adjourned from yesterday, the Senate assembled at noon today. Lieut. Gov. Voorhies took the Chair at 10 minutes past 12 o'clock.

On the bill for the relief of the following members of the House of Representatives: Mr. Halsey, Assistant Clerk, was introduced yesterday. It was to the following purport: Announcing that the Speaker had signed the Senate act to provide for the payment of the members, officers and confidential expenses of the General Assembly.

Mr. Palfrey offered a resolution that the Sergeant at Arms be authorized to purchase for the use of members of the Senate, and to hang up in the Senate Chamber, a large map of the United States, to be paid for out of the contingent fund of the General Assembly. He alleged that the necessity for such a map was felt every day. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Palfrey presented a report from the Committee on Public Works, Lands and Leases, favorably on the act to establish an internal improvement district, to provide for the election of commissioners and other officers therefor, and to authorize the levying and collection of taxes for the improvement of the same.

Mr. Kenner, from the Committee on Finance, presented a bill in relation to the bank of the city of New Orleans. He stated that he had taken up and read a first and second time with a view to action. The bill finds itself in the position of being compelled to ask for a postponement of the payment of their State bonds for ten years, and to grant to the bank on the other side of the water a postponement for a similar period.

Mr. Munday, from the Committee on Claims, presented, as a substitute, an act for the relief of Wm. Lockwood, appropriating $1000 to him as custodian of the machinery of the State Penitentiary. The bill was carried through its various stages and passed.

Mr. Abney introduced a bill for the relief of Harriet Walker, wife of the minor heirs of Elizabeth Dyson. Read a first and second time and referred to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. Davigneaud called up the bill to authorize the sale of lottery tickets. This bill, he said, would yield some $50,000 a year, which would go for the support of the Charitable Hospital.

Mr. Kenner declined to object to such a motion, but the measure was likely to elicit long discussion, which would interfere with the taking up of the unfinished bill for the organization of corporations.

Mr. Kenner, believing that the more this measure he discussed the stronger it would become, would consent to the motion upon the condition that the bill should come up only for final consideration on the day designated.

Mr. Egan offered a proviso to the whole bill, that the right be reserved of modifying or repealing the act at any time, without its being considered violating any contract or vesting of any vested right.

Mr. Armstrong moved to lay the proviso on the table, which was carried.

At the suggestion of Mr. Kenner, the further consideration of the bill was postponed to Wednesday instead of Tuesday the 7th.

The Senate adjourned to noon on Monday, February 6th, 1866.

House of Representatives. The House came to order at 11 o'clock. Speaker Cayce presiding; seventy-three members present.

Prayer by Rev. Dr. McCoy, of the Seaman's Bethel.

On motion of Mr. Halsey a resolution was adopted inviting Hon. Wm. H. Wadsworth and Assistant Secretary W. E. Chandler to seats on the floor of the House.

Mr. Gates submitted a joint resolution to postpone the election of State Printer from the third Monday of the session to the fourth Monday.

Mr. McClennan regarded this as too important a measure to be passed hastily, and moved that it be printed and made the order of the day for Monday next.

Mr. Walker said he had apprised the House of the danger of delay, and had acquitted himself of any responsibility in that connection.

Mr. McClennan said there was one fact in connection with this matter which he would mention. The contract, as he understood it, was now, to a certain extent, under the supervision of United States officers, who had been sent here to make a survey of the levees, and where the contractors failed, these officers, by order of the President, put others on to complete the work.

Mr. Walker replied that General Humphreys had determined to do nothing except to assist in constructing the levees which had been destroyed by the United States forces.

Mr. McClennan said he had his information from a source which he deemed authoritative.

Mr. Walker still maintained the correctness of his information.

Mr. Scanlan, in view of the great importance of completing the levees before the river overflowed, was of opinion the bill should be acted upon promptly.

Mr. McClennan's motion prevailed by a vote of 45 to 20.

ORDER OF THE DAY.—LIQUIDATION OF BANKS. The order of the day, the bill for the Senate to provide for the liquidation of certain banks, reported by the House Committee on Banks and Banking, with amendments was taken up.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The public debt of the United States at the end of February amounted to twenty-eight hundred and twenty-four million dollars.

The Third Auditor yesterday decided in the case of the steamer R. Hamilton, seized by United States authorities in 1863, for the transportation of troops from St. Louis to Mobile, and blown up by torpedoes in Mobile bay by Confederate emissaries, that the owners are entitled to the full value of the vessel destroyed.

The precedent thus established affects many cases. Nine thousand and seventy-three claims, involving fifteen million dollars, were received at the office of the Second Comptroller last month.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The monthly statement of the National debt shows an increase of seven million dollars in the public indebtedness during the month of January.

POPE'S MECHANICS' ASSOCIATION.—The association met last night in room No. 1, Old Fellows Hall, and the society appeared to be largely represented, judging by the numerous attendance.

The President introduced Mr. St. James, of Mobile, who spoke at some length, and with much force and eloquence on the subject of protective unions amongst mechanics, and the right they should have of obtaining aid, and just compensation for their labor. Mr. James urged an association to connect itself with the "International Union of Blacksmiths and Machinists," the purpose of which, and its utility to mechanics, he explained.

After some remarks by members, a motion was made to dissolve the "Poverty Mechanics Association." In order to connect with the "International Union." The question was put by the President and unanimously approved.

Officers were elected for the new organization; but we are unable to give the names, for a reason which the blacksmiths and machinists who were present will understand, when we say a resolution which the blacksmiths and machinists of New Orleans desire to enter, should be presented at secret assemblies. We throw out this hint for their consideration, because we earnestly and sincerely wish to see all working men, irrespective of course, obtain the full and just fruits of their labor.

PROVOST COURT.—Judge Benedict had no business before him yesterday, and the Court adjourned to to-day. The jurisdiction of the Provost Judge had been very extensive, but recently orders from military sources, returned almost all the powers exercised before the war, to civil magistrates, relieved Major Benedict from attending to various classes of offenders, of whom he had previously to take cognizance. The Provost Judge will doubtless soon be allowed to retire from his official station. We understand that Major Benedict intends to settle in Texas, as he is relieved from duty here. He will make many friends wherever he casts his lot in life.
