

New Orleans Daily Crescent.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE STATE OF LOUISIANA. J. D. NIXON, Editor and Proprietor.

Office, No. 84 Camp Street. SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST 18, 1865.

Notes. During my temporary absence from the city the editorial department of the CRESCENT will be under the charge of W. M. SIMPSON.

Calvary Church (Protestant Episcopal). Evensong at 7 o'clock, in open for Divine service at 11 a. m. and 6 1/2 p. m. every Lord's day.

We have to welcome to the realm of newspaperdom a new candidate for public favor, a very neatly and sensibly got up contemporary of Jefferson City—the Jefferson Journal.

Funeral of Col. ... The funeral of this gallant officer, killed at the battle of Gettysburg, in July, 1863, will take place on Monday (Sunday) evening at 8 o'clock, from his late residence, corner of Common and Robertson streets.

Ladies Fair in Greena.—The ladies of Greena are going to give an entertainment and fair, commencing next Monday evening, the 20th, and continuing for six days and nights.

Charles Brancher Champagne.—Messrs. E. Thompson & Co., wholesale grocers on Tchoupitoulas street, and proprietors of the Louisiana Grocery at the corner of Camp and Julia, have lately introduced a new brand of champagne into our market.

We are indebted to the officers of the steamer National for late Alexandria and Natchitoches papers.

The Caterpillars in Terrebonne Parish.—A friend in Terrebonne sends us the following interesting news in regard to the appearance of the caterpillar in that parish:

I see by the papers many accounts of the caterpillar, or army worm, having made their appearance in different sections of the country. These reports, however, have appeared to me with some degree of incredulity.

The Law of the Republic.—At a Black Republican meeting at Pittsburg, Penn., Forney delivered himself at length in a style of unapproachable lying, of which the following specimen is a fine specimen:

It is said that the most delightful made in the case of Jefferson Davis and his cabinet were the articles and groans of Union prisoners in Libby prison, and it is said that the most delightful poor victims of pro-slavery barbarity passed along the Southern streets was groined with the drowsy laughter of the crowd.

A better bill than the following from the Louisiana Journal, we never saw credited to Sir Boyle Roche:

Our campaign documents are going off faster than we can get them ready.

Always pegging away at the Constitution—Henry Wilson.—(Boston Post.)

The point of the above jök is that Wilson was raised a shoe-maker.

Mr. Alcorn, Senator from this State, says the Vicksburg Herald, has written a letter to his constituents from Washington, It is a long document, in which he wastes a great many words to tell us that we must enforce our rights of representation, and make all other considerations subordinate to that one.

A Virginia contemporary tells us that the latest style of ladies' hats now worn is called the "butter dish." They are a cross between a snuff-bottle and a wash-pail, and are becoming quite popular.

The coming of a steamer in Montgomery, for which she has been receiving three thousand dollars, has been voluntarily taken up, and sent to the two thousand dollars. When she gets tired of Montgomery, we would be glad to see her in Mobile.—Advertiser.

Alex. H. is through in Mobile, he would be glad to see him in New Orleans.

It has already been $112,000 to pay off the extra pay to Congressmen, who voted themselves $5000 a year, and seventeen months back pay.

It is said that Thomas H. Benton, Jr., of Iowa, has been tendered the position of first assistant postmaster general.

Daniel Webster's Prophecy.—The present time, says a contemporary, calls to mind the famous prophecy of Daniel Webster, uttered in Panzani Hall in the spring of 1850:

If the infernal fanatic and abolitionist ever get power in their hands they will overthrow the Constitution, not the supreme court at defiance, make laws to suit themselves, lay violent hands on those who differ with them in their opinions, or dare question their malignity, and finally bankrupt the country, and deluge it in blood.

There is a new fireproof bell in New York city which weighs three thousand three hundred pounds, and makes itself heard within a radius of four miles.

SANTA ANNA.

Don Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna has signed extensively upon the chess board of Mexican politics. His political conscience has been as flexible as that of the sturdiest New England radical.

In the numerous convulsions which succeeded the re-establishment of the republic, he played a conspicuous part; but in every change that took place he was ever "loyal" to the best interests of Don Antonio.

He was a true Republican in that sense of the term. He advocated free speech, but he hated the freedom of expression. He was in favor of letting people say what they pleased—provided they uttered sentiments which were agreeable to him.

He was a true Republican in that sense of the term. He advocated free speech, but he hated the freedom of expression. He was in favor of letting people say what they pleased—provided they uttered sentiments which were agreeable to him.

For a long while he disappeared from the public view. Occasionally he was heard of at Carthage or at St. Thomas, and the sumptuous style in which he lived shows him to have been as frugal in office as those patriots of Plymouth Rock.

But Maximilian became emperor, and his late serene highness appears off Vera Cruz. He is ever "loyal." He was loyal to Spain, he was loyal to the first republic; he was loyal to Turbide; he was loyal to each succeeding government; he was loyal to the Constitution; he was loyal to all its amendments; he was loyal to law and order.

But it seems that his countrymen, as represented by the Journalists, do not rush faithfully to the proffered embrace. It would appear that some of them would think it threatened to be as fatal as that of Sumner or Stevens, when they would sign the Constitution in their arms.

It is in order not to believe in his new protest of patriotism, the people would repeat that he has violated before all his oaths, and that he has broken before his most solemn engagements.

It is in order not to believe his new protest of loyalty to the republic, they would repeat the charges that have been made, that as an officer he has been disloyal to all the governments that have employed him; that as the head of the government he has lately been disloyal to the cause of his country.

It is in order not to believe his new protest of loyalty to the republic, they would repeat the charges that have been made, that as an officer he has been disloyal to all the governments that have employed him; that as the head of the government he has lately been disloyal to the cause of his country.

It is in order not to believe his new protest of loyalty to the republic, they would repeat the charges that have been made, that as an officer he has been disloyal to all the governments that have employed him; that as the head of the government he has lately been disloyal to the cause of his country.

It is in order not to believe his new protest of loyalty to the republic, they would repeat the charges that have been made, that as an officer he has been disloyal to all the governments that have employed him; that as the head of the government he has lately been disloyal to the cause of his country.

It is in order not to believe his new protest of loyalty to the republic, they would repeat the charges that have been made, that as an officer he has been disloyal to all the governments that have employed him; that as the head of the government he has lately been disloyal to the cause of his country.

It is in order not to believe his new protest of loyalty to the republic, they would repeat the charges that have been made, that as an officer he has been disloyal to all the governments that have employed him; that as the head of the government he has lately been disloyal to the cause of his country.

It is in order not to believe his new protest of loyalty to the republic, they would repeat the charges that have been made, that as an officer he has been disloyal to all the governments that have employed him; that as the head of the government he has lately been disloyal to the cause of his country.

It is in order not to believe his new protest of loyalty to the republic, they would repeat the charges that have been made, that as an officer he has been disloyal to all the governments that have employed him; that as the head of the government he has lately been disloyal to the cause of his country.

found expression in protective tariffs, government bounties, Maine liquor laws, and summary enactments of various kinds. Like all of these it is essentially arbitrary and tyrannical, and is, like them, in direct opposition to the liberal and progressive spirit of the age.

THE FREEDMEN'S BUREAU.

The investigations of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton will sustain all the objections which President Johnson urged against the bureau system in both of his admirable veto messages.

In advanced the system was demonstrated false and pernicious, because it was a direct attack on one of the very few recognized and established principles of government—that of leaving the relations of labor and capital to adjust themselves according to the laws of political economy.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

The report of Gen. Steadman and Fullerton does not, of course, attempt to argue these questions, because they are premises which are to be proved by reference to economic and constitutional principles.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract. What these witnesses declared to the committee that they were promised and had received large sums of money for making the false affidavits for the benefit of military justice, and yet the committee cannot see in such inducements and considerations a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued.

A RADICAL CONSPIRACY.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

The most wonderful thing in the history of the actual United States Congress is that the majority of the judiciary committee should have had the temerity to publish the evidence on which they attempt to connect Jefferson Davis with the conspiracy to assassinate the late President Lincoln.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

ment or consideration which seemed to the committee a reasonable explanation for the course they had pursued. It is remarkable that at this time he is able to say whether the original statements of these witnesses are true or false, leaving it open to conjecture, and in fact making a serious question of the veracity of the original statements of these persons, which, as the report declares, harmonize in every particular with facts derived from documents and other trustworthy sources, were true, and that the witnesses have since been forced by the friends of Davis to retract.

MOON "BLENDING KANSAS."

The following appears in the New York Post of Saturday:

A number of prominent citizens of New Orleans have called a meeting in Cooper Institute, on Wednesday evening next, to bring before the people the facts of the late riot.

A meeting was held in Tyler, Texas, last night in the middle of the riot and chopped his wife and three children to pieces.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col. MICHAEL BOLAN, Post-Commodore, U. S. A., a native of this country, died on the 14th inst.

Funeral Notice. Read at the Hall of Deseret on July 18th, 1865, Col.