OFFICIAL JOURNAL THE STATE OF LOUISIANA. G. O. NIXON, Editor and Proprietor. OFFICE, NO. 24 CAMP STREET.

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 28, 1886.

We learn by our Texas exchanges that, on the 24th, the Galveston banks paid, at the counter 14 1/2 per cent, and sold at 14 1/2. Silver ruled Mexican gold with gold and American five cents below gold. There was more activity in domestic exchange at former rates.

The Board of Health of St. Louis has appointed three physicians in each ward to visit daily every house in their respective districts, and furnish the poor people with medicine, and enforce all sanitary measures adopted by the board.

General Brown, of the freedmen's bureau at Richmond, has had twenty days leave of absence granted him. The Dispatch says the people of Richmond would like to extend the leave indefinitely.

The Lynchburg Republican says that Gen. Terry, who has been relieved of his command in Virginia, forgot to settle his little bill of subscription to that paper. The bill is offered for sale cheap.

We are indebted to the officers of the steamer Matagorda for late Texas papers. One office has been furnished by the officers of the steamer Idaho with late Onachita papers.

We have received a supply of Onachita papers from the officers of the steamer Judge Fletcher. The officers of the Southern Express have furnished us with late dates from Boston.

We are under obligations to the officers of the steamer H. A. Honeyser for late Red River papers. The radicals of Copper county, Missouri, recently passed resolutions that returned rebels are convicted felons, and should not be tolerated in a "loyal" community.

A YANKEE GENERAL, BEATEN BY A NEGRO.—A correspondent of the Metropolitan Record, writing from Lake Providence, Louisiana, says: In Issaquena county, Miss., just opposite our parish, Gen. Andrews, of Massachusetts, (who claims to be a brother of the great abolition deacon, Roger W. Andrews, late governor) has been endeavoring to run a plantation.

A favorite method of treating cholera patients in St. Louis, consists in bleeding until the pulse rises, then the administration of opium or morphia, then camphor and chloroform, with two grains of mercury every half hour. Ice is placed on the chest, and the extremities are rubbed with a mixture of camphor, chloroform and aqua ammonia. This treatment has been successful in numerous cases.

It has been discovered at Detroit that millers in the interior have practiced fraud to quite an extent in packing flour for market. The quantity, it is said, falls short, from one to five pounds per barrel.

A wealthy bachelor, named Edward Sullivan, died recently in St. Louis of cholera. He occupied a room in the third story of a large building, the lower part of which was used for storage, and it was not until the stenographer from his dozing corpse aroused attention that the nature of his fate was suspected.

FOUNTERS AND FARMERS.—In the mountain regions of India, where English settlers have cut away large tracts of forests to make room for coffee, tea and cinchona plantations, sudden floods have become frequent, and are yearly increasing in volume and destructiveness.

John Deussen, a Frenchman, with a wife and nine children, was run over and fatally injured at Burlington on Monday last week. This fearful catastrophe is recorded by a Vermont paper. An entire family of eleven persons fatally injured by one accident! It is too horrible to contemplate.

THE VOICE OF CONSERVATISM.

We augur a happy influence from the result of the recent election in Kentucky. We have already announced to our readers the victory of the Democratic candidate, Judge Davall, and have analyzed to some extent, the character of the opposition to him. The election attracted the attention of the whole of the Northern press. Strident efforts were made to plant firmly on the soil of Kentucky the standard of radicalism.

But the herculean efforts of the opposition were of no avail. By a majority unparalleled in her political history, Kentucky sustained the humane and statesman-like policy of President Johnson, and administered to the radical party of the North and their allies in the State the most signal rebuke. Her majority of nearly fifty thousand votes proclaims her sentiments in such thunder tones as to awaken the spirits of conservatism throughout the Northwest, and inspire hope even in hitherto desponding hearts.

The issues involved, and the results attained, as far as the voice of Kentucky is concerned, are very distinctly stated in a recent able address of the Democratic State central committee to the people of Kentucky, in congratulating them on their success in the recent contest. We commend the following wholesome extracts from this address, as indicative of the re-awakening of public sentiment to principles long since established as true, but for some time past forgotten, neglected or discarded in the presence of oppression and usurpation:

We stand by the great Democratic party of the North and Northwest, and constitute a part of their general government. We have entered the field of politics to see battle in common with our Democratic friends in the other States, not only for the rights of the people, but for the rights of the States and the people of the several States.

We maintain that the functions which may be lawfully exercised by the Federal government as the administrators thereof, whether State or Federal, are just as much bound by the provisions of the Constitution as the people, or as the humblest official.

That the federal government has no right to deprive any citizen of his property without just compensation, and that the federal government has no right to take private property for public use, and in process without making compensation.

That the federal government has no right to take private property for public use, and in process without making compensation. That the federal government has no right to take private property for public use, and in process without making compensation.

RENTS.

If high rents are a sign of prosperity New Orleans ought to be one of the most prosperous cities in the world. And, as a general rule, the rise of rents is in a direct ratio to the augmentation of wealth, commerce, population—all those elements, in fact, which constitute what is called property.

Neither the Cananachs nor the Tonkaws could ever compete on equal terms with the Indians of the mountains and those who had been removed from Northern soil to the Blackfoot and the Delawares and the Shawnees. Years ago we wandered over a great portion of that section of country—then the primeval forest and the virgin prairie—where the axe was still untraced and the plow unknown, where the wild deer, the buffalo, the turkey and the prairie dog were not a whit more guarded and cautious in their movements than the dusky primeval men that roamed the solitary wild—each one of the latter, like a true son of Ishmael, with "his hand against every man, and every man's hand against him."

Our public spirited and distinguished fellow-citizen, the Hon. Jacob Beckey, has caused to be published a number of copies of the grand jury's report upon the riot of the 30th July, and prefaced a few appropriate remarks. Although we do not entirely concur with that portion of Mr. Beckey's observations which allude to the police, still we submit this as a whole for the perusal of our readers.

The Christian Watchman of Mississippi states that the Roman Catholics have resolved to revise their English version of the Bible and circulate it freely among the people. They have also begun in New York the publication of tracts on a large scale, which they are to spread throughout the country.

At Troy, New York, a few days since a man hired a son of John Jay, of Albany, to procure an insurance upon the life of the boy, and then endeavored to kill the latter to get the insurance money.
