THE RECONSTRUCTION CONVENTION.

Forty-ninth day.

Monday, Jan. 27, 1868. Convention met at 10 o'clock Judge Tallaferra presiding...

An ordinance by Cromwell, colored, of Orleans, declaring all those who may have been prohibited from voting for delegates to this convention...

The discussion of Cooley's amendment to Wickliffe's substitute was resumed. Mr. McMillen, of Carroll, made an eloquent argument in behalf of a universal amnesty...

Mr. McMillen, of Carroll, made an eloquent argument in behalf of a universal amnesty, taking high moral ground in support of his position.

Wickliffe, of Orleans, opposed Cooley's amendment, and advocated, as previously, the disfranchisement of all those disfranchised by acts of Congress.

Fuller, of Avoyelles, desired upon this question to express the sentiments of the parish which he represented.
