

The New Orleans Crescent

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE STATE OF LOUISIANA. PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY.

FRIDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 28, 1896.

AMUSEMENTS THIS EVENING.

NEW OPERA HOUSE—French Opera Troupe—In the Grand Opera House.

GRAND FETE DATES ON THE FAIR GROUNDS. In another column will be found the programme of two grand fete days on the Fair Grounds, under the supervision of the Fair Grounds Association.

We give elsewhere a telegraphic abstract of the debate in the House of Representatives, on the 23d, upon the question of impeachment.

Elsewhere will be found the message of the President to the Senate, defending his right to remove Secretary Stanton.

Business quite lively on the levee yesterday.

The "Proprietor" was again magnificently rendered at the Opera House last night to a good audience.

The Galveston Bulletin says the celebration of Mardi Gras in that city was the sickliest attempt of fun within its memory.

A Cincinnati housekeeper last week advertised "a girl wanted."

Mardi Gras was celebrated in Mobile by the O. O. M. society—whenever they are—who marched through the principal streets and wound up at Temperance Hall.

ATTENTION, THIRD WARDERS.—The regular meeting of all voters of the Third Ward, opposed to radicalism, is to be held Monday evening next at Mechanics' Institute.

Next Friday evening, a week from to-day, there is to be at the National Theater, a complimentary concert gotten up by some of our citizens in honor of a very remarkable young lady—Senorita Josefa Filomeno.

WADSWORTH'S CABINET. One of the Washington evening papers, confident of the removal of the President, talks about Mr. Wadsworth's cabinet.

SALE OF STATUARY, VASES, ETC.—We call the attention of connoisseurs, and of all who wish to obtain handsome and classical wall ornaments.

A NATIONAL BOARD OF UNDERWRITERS.—The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, writing on the 26th says: The National Board of Underwriters resumed its sessions this morning.

Most people think editing a paper is as easy as making love. A half day's experience will expel the pleasant fiction.

A handsome bouquet was sent from this city to Washington by the Fire Company at Baton Rouge for their 24th of February celebration.

Never waste argument on a man who does not know logic from logwood, which is the case with half the people who love disputation.

PAINT SUPPORT FROM THE REPUBLICAN PRESS

The Republican papers of the North in general seem little disposed to heap fuel on the flames of the impeachment frenzy in Congress. The New York Tribune is the only one which enthusiastically supports the radical precipitators in the work of removing the President because he would not consent to abdicate his most essential executive functions in favor of Grant, Stanton and company.

Among the Republican journals which openly depreciate the course of the Republican majority in Congress with reference to the Stanton affair, is the Cincinnati Commercial, which, it sometimes stigmatized as conservative by such journals as the New York Tribune, is still radical enough to be friendly to the election of Mr. Chase to the presidency.

Of all the causes of quarrel that Congress has had with the President, the removal of Stanton is the case in which the President has most sympathizers. The universal understanding has been that the beginning of the workings of our government, that wherever the President was restricted, he was at least master of his own household, and capable of making choice of his own cabinet.

According to the journal here quoted—the most popular and widely circulated Republican paper, perhaps, in the West—the convictions and feelings of the people at large are on the side of the President in his effort to protect his official home and family from the impudent and indecent intrusion of a minion and spy of a hostile faction in Congress.

The presence of Stanton in the war office is not essential to the safety of the country or the salvation of mankind. The last we heard from Stanton on the tenure of office act, he thought it un-constitutional. A majority of the lawyers throughout the country are of that opinion now.

In the air, the tone, and words of men of the streets yesterday—taken in connection with the flying of many flags, as it happened, to be Washington's birthday—the days of the first alarm and excitement of the war were recalled with startling force; and the reality of danger certainly was sufficiently great to induce, in the thoughtful, the gravest solicitude, and in the timid the liveliest apprehension.

So, the gleam of war was visible in the passing faces of people in the West, when they heard of the extraordinary and portentous complication of affairs in Washington.

Forty or fifty spinsters, halting from Barrville, R. I., get on what would be called in the masculine tongue, "a tear" a few minutes ago, their hired sleigh, and hastened by any gentleman drove to Woonsocket, paid their own bills and did their own driving.

IMPEACHMENT

There are indications of vacillation and trepidation among the radical conspirators at Washington. The impeachment resolutions were hurried through the House with impatient and vindictive haste; the representative impeachers appeared in the Senate Chamber and declared that the House would soon present its charges; Mr. Wade responded that the Senate would take due action in the premises; and people fancied that the affair would be pressed forward to the ultima thule of radical hopes.

What is to be done in this emergency? It is easy enough to call the President hard names; to stigmatize him as a traitor to his party; as a sympathizer with "rebels"; as an impediment to reconstruction; but these are abstract figures of rhetoric which do not constitute crime or misdemeanor.

By command of Major General Hancock: GEO. L. HARTSUFF, Assistant Adjutant General.

THE OPERA.—To-night, Mr. Gilbert, a deserving young artist, native of this city, takes his benefit at this fashionable place of resort.

ER. CHARLES.—Somebody's son went in the "Nobody's Daughter" last week, and when Mr. D. H. Harkins said in one of his detective cases that he "wished there was a newspaper reporter here," this reporter gave him a look to be found only in the "Nobody's Daughter."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Kittredge and Harry Hood appeared last evening (in the book entitled "The Musician's Life") in a good many people (at each) to witness a good "thoroughbred" entertainment, in which all the old favorites, Emerson, Parker, (just imported from Paris) Bloodgood and the rest appeared and made night merry with good things, and is "a good egg" in his way.

The chief of police of New York has discovered a stupendous gun powder plot. One hundred and sixty pounds of nitro-glycerine have been discovered in unauthorized hands, and the implication is that those unauthorized hands are to deposit the one hundred and sixty pounds of nitro-glycerine under the Capitol, and finish the radical party, reconstruction, impeachment and all, by blowing up the whole concern.

The Avalanche published at Silver Creek, Idaho, says there are two kinds of wood in that country, fir and mahogany, the former rates in town at $12 to $13 per cord, and the latter at $15.

A splendid new Chinese theater was dedicated recently in San Francisco. The interior of the drama, in gorgeous costume, were on the stage; smoke was blown against the four walls, representing the four quarters of the globe, from whence intelligence is received, and other ceremonies performed; the whole closing with the benediction of a cock and a grand display of fireworks.
