

The New Orleans Crescent

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CITY OF NEW ORLEANS.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 12, 1888.

AUCTION SALES THIS DAY.

DEAR T. FARR, sold at 11 o'clock A. M. at saleroom corner St. Charles and Perdido, furniture.

FURNACE AND POLITICAL ITEMS.

Gen. Logan is doing Radical work in Maine. The Fenians are coming over to the Democrats.

Fernando Wood announces that he has retired from political life. It is proposed to run Andrew Johnson for governor of Tennessee.

General Grant arrived in Chicago on the 7th, and took passage immediately for Galena. Drums are now ornamented with a likeness of Grant.

Gen. Morgan, Gen. Forrest, Judge Sledge, Col. King and others addressed a large peace meeting at Memphis on the 5th.

The Democrats have nominated Hon. Warren P. Noble, of Ohio, as candidate for Congress from the sixth district of Ohio.

General O. Lagrange and John B. Felton have been nominated for electors at large by the California Republicans convention.

The Missouri Democratic convention nominated E. A. Lewis, Washington Adams and E. H. Morion for judges of the Supreme Court.

Grant having been in the tanning business for so long, his mind is so puckered that he cannot make a speech.—[Ex.]

Gen. E. Kirby Smith will open a military academy for boys at New Castle, Ky., on September 10th.

Nast, the artist, began his career with Frank Leslie at $3 per week. He was only Nast then. Some people now think him nasty.

Captain Wm. Hart, Democrat, was elected mayor of New Albany on the 4th by a majority of 145 out of a vote of 223.

Chas. W. Shaw, of Biddeford, has been nominated for Congress from the First District of Maine, by the Democrats.

Greely says "I am a Democrat and you will find a rebel under his skin." The carpet baggers are too dirty to scratch.

O. L. Grant, brother of the general, is out in a campaign that he won't vote for Seymour, Dredfall.

The First Congressional District Republican Convention of California has nominated Frank M. Hixley for Congress.

James Gordon Bennett, Jr., manages the New York Herald on board his yacht. Hence, the politics of the paper are all at sea.—[Exchange.]

The question "can a Democrat be saved?" is seriously put by a correspondent to the Advance, a religious paper published at Chicago.

Horace Greely was the first carpet-bagger. In 1850, at the Chicago convention, he was the delegate from Oregon.

John Tyler is the only widow of a president upon whom Congress has not conferred the franking privilege.

The proposition to confer upon Horace Greely the office of city register of New York, made vacant by the death of Gen. Halpin, meets with general favor.

Prominent Kentuckians are urging the president to remove Gen. George H. Thomas from his command in Kentucky and Tennessee. No promise has been made.

The remains of the late Rev. B. J. Spaulding were followed to the grave in Louisville by nearly 10,000 persons. The ceremonies were very impressive.

The election of municipal director for Yokohama, Japan, on the 20th of June, resulted in the success of E. S. Benson, American, over H. L. Boyle, British.

The Grand Lockwood, Esq., has bought ten marble statues of Larkin G. Moad, at Florence, and to decorate the magnificent grounds of his new palace at Norwalk, Connecticut.

Beverly Johnson has taken with him as maitre d'hotel Wormley, who is known as a voracious and tends to regale his London visitors with canvas back ducks, terrapin and crabs.

The Democrats of the twelfth Ohio district have nominated "Thin" Van Meter for Congress, by acclamation, by acclamation.

The Radicals have made a savage attack on Seymour and Blair, but it does not compare with their attack upon the treasury. This is the heartiest.

The president has accepted the resignation of Commissioner Rollins unconditionally, and the latter has been advised by his friends to surrender the office.

The New York Tribune and Philadelphia Press have both a serious attack of the old "pro-se" fever. It has visited them prior to election for years.

Grant, at any rate, is good-natured to his poor relations. He submits to them and the other day, at Mayville, gave a rebel cousin $100 to start a bar with.

Mr. Charles L. Wilson, proprietor of the Chicago Evening Journal, was married on Monday week at Cambridge, Massachusetts, to Miss Caroline Farrar, of that city, daughter of the late Isaac Farrar, of Bangor, Maine.

The late party of Nashville was illuminated on the night of the 8th by a magnificent torch-light procession in honor of Seymour and Blair. At least 15,000 persons were on the square at one time.

The affair passed off without disturbance. A Washington article states that a favorite negro servant of Judge Chase was held to bail on the 7th for rapping a mulatto girl, whom he weighed into the judge's library and treated to the judge's wines.

The list of men. Minister Johnson escaped the silly Cecilia Mrs. Lincoln to be captivated upon the Charybdis Colorado Jewett, who took passage in the same steamer with himself.—[World.]

It was the intention of Mr. Halpine's friends to run him as the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Ninth District next autumn, in place of Fernando Wood. Of his election there could have been no reasonable doubt.

W. W. Clayton, who was secretary to Jacob Thompson while Confederate secretary of the Democratic party, arrived in Cincinnati on Sunday week from Canada, on his way to his old home, Cynthiana, Kentucky. This is his first visit since the war.

It is said that E. M. Stanton will be able to stump for Grant and Colfax, but will be able to make but few speeches in consequence of ill-health. The first will probably be at Cleveland, Ohio.

Lewis Wolfley, lately appointed assessor for a New Orleans district and confirmed by the Senate, has not been commissioned by the president. The cause for withholding his commission has not transpired.

Major McDonald, the well known chief clerk of U. S. Senate, unfortunately discharged a gun while endeavoring to frighten some little girls from the street. Several shot took effect in the neck and shoulders of a child. The matter is in the hands of the police.

Petitions are pouring in by the dozens, signed by Radicals and "rebels," earnestly imploring the Legislature not to call out the militia. They will all be treated as those praying for universal suffrage, that is, with an indifference bordering on contempt.

The last story of domestic infidelity from Chicago—Ferdinand O. Cross, as a breaker of hearts, a hero of mock marriages—three of them, a forger of certificates, a hirer of false priests, a bigamist and a jail bird. Chicago turns out this style neatly and regularly.

Bot's present complaint is water on the chest. For many years it has been wind in the same region. Just now John Minor is the guest of a Dr. Wind cure, who keeps a water-cure—but not a wind cure—for Grant and you were never out of the hands of the police.

The Empress of Russia is at Kinsington (London) as the Countess Bardsky, and has hired a hotel in London at the rate of 25,000 florins a week. This is in emulation of a private American, the late Sam. Colby, who similarly took the hotel in London in celebration of some weeks.

Vanderbilt had one of the engineers of his special train removed from the Central Road, because that functionary did not take him fast enough, but stopped to allow an overhauled journal to be changed trustworthily cool. If the "overhauled journal" being the Tribune he might have been stopping there yet.—[World.]

The New Orleans Crescent

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CITY OF NEW ORLEANS.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 12, 1888.

THE NEW ORLEANS MONEY MARKET.

The movement in the money market has disclosed no alteration of late. Gold opened at New York this morning at 146 1/2, against 146 1/2, the closing rate yesterday. At 10:30 A. M. it was quoted at 146 1/2; at 12 M. it stood at 146 1/2.

Commercial Exchange.—Sterling and Franco commercial upon the market, and the banks reduce their rates very reluctantly. But the remittance demand has almost wholly abated, and transactions since our last have been confined to the ordinary remittance.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

The New Orleans Crescent

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CITY OF NEW ORLEANS.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 12, 1888.

THE NEW ORLEANS MONEY MARKET.

The movement in the money market has disclosed no alteration of late. Gold opened at New York this morning at 146 1/2, against 146 1/2, the closing rate yesterday. At 10:30 A. M. it was quoted at 146 1/2; at 12 M. it stood at 146 1/2.

Commercial Exchange.—Sterling and Franco commercial upon the market, and the banks reduce their rates very reluctantly. But the remittance demand has almost wholly abated, and transactions since our last have been confined to the ordinary remittance.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

The New Orleans Crescent

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CITY OF NEW ORLEANS.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 12, 1888.

THE NEW ORLEANS MONEY MARKET.

The movement in the money market has disclosed no alteration of late. Gold opened at New York this morning at 146 1/2, against 146 1/2, the closing rate yesterday. At 10:30 A. M. it was quoted at 146 1/2; at 12 M. it stood at 146 1/2.

Commercial Exchange.—Sterling and Franco commercial upon the market, and the banks reduce their rates very reluctantly. But the remittance demand has almost wholly abated, and transactions since our last have been confined to the ordinary remittance.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.

Exchange.—Operations under the heading exhibit little change, if any, in the offerings of commercial sight and short sight are almost wholly exhausted, and the inquiry of the part of remitters cannot longer be regarded as pressing.