Democratic National Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT: HORATIO SEYMOUR, OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT: FRANK P. BLAIR, OF MISSOURI.

Electors for the State at Large: GOVERNOR R. C. WICKLIFFE, of West Feliciana. ISAAH GARRETT, of Ouachita.

ALTERNATES: JAMES P. FREER, of Jefferson. JUDGE J. N. LEA, of Orleans.

District Electors: First Congressional District, A. SAMBOLA. Second, M. S. BRADY. Third, A. S. HERBOM. Fourth, A. DEBLAND. Fifth, N. D. COLEMAN.

ALTERNATES: First Congressional District, T. P. SHESSBURNE. Second, GEO. W. RACE. Third, J. H. KENARD. Fourth, E. N. CULLOM. Fifth, W. F. BLACKMAN, J. H. BRIGHAM.

We think that we may, with allowable pride, refer to the cheering and prosperous appearance of the Crescent at the entrance upon the new commercial year. The advertisements which crowd its columns, are doubly gratifying to us, as an evidence of the appreciation of the business community, and as a sign of unflagging enterprise and sustained hope in the future on the part of our merchants and capitalists.

OUR ANNUAL REVIEW.—Although not quite in consonance with our notions, we cannot help giving expression to our satisfaction at the very flattering patronage extended to us in the way of orders for the Crescent Annual Review and for the Cotton and Produce Circular. In fact, such has been the demand for both, that we are reluctantly compelled to ask indulgence at the hands of many of our friends. Although exerting to the utmost the very ample means at our command, we fear it will not be possible for us to fill all orders at hand this morning. Our presses will be kept constantly going, however, and after those now on hand shall have been filled, new orders will be promptly attended to.

THE STOCK OF COTTON AT NEW ORLEANS.—In order that our cotton statement should, as heretofore, be strictly accurate, we yesterday had the stock in warehouses, pickeries, and on ships, carefully counted, full returns of which will be found in another column. Without assuming to ourselves any claim whatever to superior advantages, it is, nevertheless, gratifying to ascertain that the stock of the staple at this port, as counted to-day, exhibits a difference but of 46 bales from our actual running account.

The order and quiet which reigned in New Orleans during the whole of Saturday night was very remarkable. Twenty thousand men, all intensely enthusiastic in the cause of their political candidates, marching to the strains of martial music, and encouraged and animated by the presence and the smiles of beauty; one hundred thousand spectators blocking up the avenues through which the procession was to pass; and still, not a blow given, not an angry word spoken, not the shadow of a dispute, or anything else to disturb the public peace or to call for the interference of the police!

We make no invidious comparisons as to what has occurred when demonstrations have been made by the opposite party. We simply state that no other city in America can boast of such implicit obedience to propriety and law, at a time when human passion is roused to the utmost bent.

The courtesy and efficiency displayed by Major Williamson, the chief of police, Saturday evening, cannot be too highly commended by our citizens. The force of mounted police which he furnished to accompany the procession, and to preserve law and order—although the event proved the precaution unnecessary—was a picked one, and appeared to great advantage.

We republish this morning our report of Saturday night's grand demonstration. We have been requested to do so by many friends who were unable to obtain copies of Sunday's edition of the Crescent.

The Radicals having nothing in the world to say for Grant as a statesman, labor hotly at the superfluous task of refuting the idea that he is "no soldier." The question is totally without relevancy to the Presidential contest, unless the Radicals design to appeal from a peaceful issue, if against them, to the sword. Attila, Alaric, Zenghis-Khan were, in their way, good soldiers. So were some of the most infamous of the Roman emperors. But history tells us that those men were destitute of every qualification for civil rule amid peaceful conditions; that they were, on the contrary, scourges of mankind and scandals to the epochs in which they lived. The Radicals are welcome to the soldier argument.

NEW COTTON.—The steamer Gov. Allen arrived yesterday evening from Columbia, Miss., with 915 bales of cotton, of which 693 bales are of this year's crop. This is an unlooked for large receipt of the new crop at so early a date, leaving us well grounded hope that our immediate future receipts of the staple will rapidly increase. The total receipts of new crop are now 1540 bales.

Alexander & Erskine are prepared to do all kinds of wood work at the Phoenix Steam Wood Work Manufactory, No. 310 N. Levee street, corner of Erato street. Read their card.

THE RADICAL HOPE OF VIOLENCE.

We agree with the Richmond Enquirer that if there is one counsel which, during the present campaign, should be impressed with more force than all others upon the Southern people, it is this: "Be cautious in word and act."

The Enquirer remarks, and not without reason, that it is by no means certain that the people of the North would not have sustained the President in the fall elections of 1866, purged Congress of its Radicalism and anticipated by two years the glorious victory on which we count in November, had not two unfortunate circumstances occurred to check the popular tendency in that direction. One of these was the honest but over-hasty and rash character of certain utterances by the President. But, in the words of the Enquirer, "the far more fatally effective obstacle was the riot in New Orleans." The same journal adds:

It is no exaggeration to say that that melancholy occurrence turned the scale in fifty doubtful congressional districts, and thereby secured that two-thirds vote in the House which is accountable for all the enormities of the most profligate legislation that ever cursed a people with even the traditions of freemen. Thus was lost for two years the chance of peace; thus was gained military despotism, carpet-bag constitutions, the tenure of office bill, and all the multifarious enormities which disgraced the last session of the thirty-ninth session of Congress, and the first session of its successor.

Testimony to the above effect is by no means confined to Democratic quarters. The New York Tribune has frequently accounted, in the same way, for the check of popular reaction, and the consequent Radical success, in 1866. It has often, in its scolding moods at the over-confident waywardness and heedless profligacy of its party, reminded the Radical politicians that they owe more to the indiscretion of their opponents than to their own management, and that they are more especially indebted for their continuance in power to a fortunate accident—the riot in New Orleans.

But about this matter the Tribune has taken care not to tell the whole truth. Otherwise it would have given the Radical politicians the credit, which they richly deserve, in relation to a sanguinary event that, as it admits, saved their party from disastrous defeat two years ago. This event was in reality, as all impartial inquiry shows, brought about by the contrivance of the Radical politicians. It was their deliberate work just as much as the legislative usurpation and the military despotism for which it furnished a desiderated pretext, was their deliberate work. Like the attempt, by subornation of perjury, to implicate Jefferson Davis, and even Andrew Johnson, with the Booth-Lincoln tragedy in front of a theatrical farce; like the attempt to force the conviction of the impeached President, by intimidation and calumny directed against Republican senators not yet wholly lost to shame and to conscience; like the attempt, through Stanton, to seize the war department and practically depose the President as commander-in-chief of the army; like the attempt, by terrifying and torturing colored witnesses in Georgia, to manufacture evidence to prove that the Radical and profligate wretch, Ashburn, who fell during a drunken orgy in a brothel at Atlanta, was the victim of "rebel assassination" and a martyr to the cause of freedom of opinion and speech, the riot of 1866 in New Orleans, far from being an accident, was one of the essential incidents in the programme of the Radical politicians for keeping and for universalizing their power by all means and at all hazards.

The more success, therefore, they have our people to exercise, under all provocations, a resolute patience, and to make manifest, beyond all cavil and question, their anxious solicitude for the maintenance of peace and good order. It is perfectly safe to say that secret instructions have been sent from Radical leaders in Washington for provoking at the South, before the election day, scenes of violence and bloodshed. The purposes for which they desire such catastrophes are these: To unite the colored vote on the Radical ticket; to obtain occasion for Gen. Grant to use the army in carrying Southern elections in favor of Gen. Grant's claim to the Presidency; to secure a pretext, should the emergency seem to demand such a measure, for taking the choice of presidential electors from the people, and having them chosen by Radical Legislatures; but, above all, to get such fuel for rekindling Northern passions against the South as the Radical politicians had in 1866, and such as they know they must have again, or else see their black and infamous banners swept from the whole North before a storm of popular indignation.

Hence the highest and wisest courage that our people can now display, is the courage to be prudent, patient and unresentful to the last extremity. If the peace is broken, let it be at once clear that they were not the aggressors, and that the whole responsibility for the disturbance and for its consequences attaches to their enemies.

This is the way to confound the last hope and device of the faction that is now as desperate as it was always unscrupulous, prefligate and cruel. Remember!

MUSICAL MERCHANDISE, OF EVERY DESCRIPTION, 167 Canal Street, New Orleans, 167

NEW YORK, August 1st, 1868. As will be seen by the above card, I have established a branch of my NEW ORLEANS MUSIC HOUSE in New York city.

1st. A COMPLETE STOCK OF MY OWN MUSICAL PUBLICATIONS issued before, during and since the war. Many of these, though very popular throughout the South, are not to be had at any other Music Store in the North.

2d. ALL THE PUBLICATIONS OF OTHER SOUTHERN HOUSES, especially those issued during "Confederate times." I have the only complete collection in existence of these interesting relics of the war, which, from their rarity, are becoming great curiosities.

3d. ALL THE SHEET MUSIC AND MUSICAL WORKS of the Northern Publishers constantly on hand, and all New Music received as soon as issued. Being a member of the "BOARD OF MUSIC TRADE," and exchanging publications with every other house, I supply all Music at the regular Trade Rates.

4th. FOREIGN MUSIC—BEING AGENT FOR ONE OF the largest Music Houses in Europe, I receive by every steamer the latest musical novelties of France, Germany and England.

5th. TO THOSE DESIRING TO PURCHASE PIANOS, Organs or other Musical Instruments, I offer my personal services in making a careful selection. Having been in the business for thirteen years, I have been able to make such arrangements with all the principal manufacturers that the purchaser will not be charged any commission or expense, but will buy at the exact price he would pay if making the purchase himself.

6th. MUSICAL MERCHANDISE OF EVERY KIND—Orders from dealers and others filled at the importers' lowest rates, and all goods guaranteed of the best quality.

7th. MY PIANOS WILL CONTINUE AS IN PAST years, to bring out, in correct and handsome editions, the best and most popular Musical Compositions of native and foreign authors. Bulletins of all New Music will be sent by mail free, from time to time, to all who will favor me with their address.

8th. MUSIC PUBLISHED FOR AUTHORS AT REASONABLE RATES.

9th. TO ALL MUSIC DEALERS AND SCHOOLS THAT order their Music from me, I am willing to forward by express packages of new Music for examination and selection, provided that whatever is not retained be returned at once, in good order and without expense to me. Music returned must not be sent by mail.

Communications may be addressed to A. E. BLACKMAR, Music Publisher, New York City, or A. E. BLACKMAR, New Orleans.

The undersigned offers this STOVE to the public, the superior qualities of which have been satisfactorily tested for so many years, with the full assurance that its peculiar merits render it the MOST COMPLETE AND PERFECT COOKING AND HEATING STOVE. Its advantages, which are all the requirements of a good COOKING STOVE, are enumerated below:

Its Durability. It is so constructed that the parts liable to be burned out can be replaced, and the stove thus renovated; it is rendered a perfect in its operation as when first used, at but a comparatively trifling cost.

Its Economy in Fuel. The STOVE is air-tight, and with other contrivances appertaining to it, a great degree of heat is retained within the stove, and thereby less fuel is requisite for its various culinary purposes.

The Draft Damper. Is a perfect regulator of the heat in the firebox and oven, so that heat may be increased or moderated, as the occasion may require.

Its Ventilating Properties. By which different kinds of meat may be cooked in the oven simultaneously, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; thus securing the full benefits of the old style of cooking by an open fire-place.

THE STOVE POSSESSES MANY OTHER ADVANTAGES, SUCH AS THE HOT WATER RESERVOIR, FURNISHING HOT WATER AT ALL TIMES, AND THE TIN WARMING CLOSET, Where articles ready for the table may be kept warm and bread-past to rise, etc., etc.
