For the benefit of the readers of the CRES-CENT we continue this morning the publication of the laws passed by the Legislature now in session on Dryades street. We shall continue the publication of the laws from day to day until we bring up all arrearages, and then will keep the public duly advised of the promulgation of the acts of the Legislature as they are made. By referring to the sixth page of this morning's CRESCENT our readers will find several laws enacted by our model Leg-

From the Evening Times of yesterday we copy the following:

copy the following:

It would be well for the tax-payers of this city to remember that by some strange hocus poous of parties they are saddled with the support of two official journals—the CRESCENT and the Republican. It is clear that only one of these papers is entitled to the patronage in question, and the publication of the proceedings of the council in the other is a traud upon the public. The question then occurs, why is this fraud permitted? If the CRESCENT is under a contract to publish these proceedings at 40 cents per square, how is it that they are sent to the Republican, without protest on the part of the council, the mayor, or any other city official, where the charge is one dollar per square? It is true that the Legislature passed a law to transfer the patronage of the city from the CRESCENT, or whatever other paper might be entitled to it, to the Rapublican, but the Legislature, powerful as it claims to be, cannot pass a valid law impairing the obligation of a contract. If the CRESCENT be the official journal of the city, the oppressed tax-payers should be obliged to nay for their official pubjournal of the city, the oppressed tax-payers should be obliged to pay for their official pub-lications only in that paper; if it be not, and then the publications should be made in it plicity somewhere, or those intrusted with the protection of the city's financial interests would not thus permit the corporation to be plundered without a word of protest. We hear curious uchispers of arrangements between Radical and Democratic partisans which require

The italies of the last sentence are our own. To whom does the Times refer? We ask the question and request an answer. We submit that as the CRESCENT is somewhat interested in a full understanding of this matter before the community, the CRESCENT has a right to an explicit answer.

The Evening Times of yesterday not having answered our query we repeat it.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION. - The Demo cratic Convention meets to-day for the purpose of reconstituting the electoral ticket, and choosing candidates for Congress. A very and, it is probable that the convention will be full, or very nearly full. Many questions of great interest and importance will come up for discussion and decision, and will doubt less be considered and acted on with the calm wisdom and sagacity which befit the hour. It is not for us to advise the convention and we shall, therefore, refrain from suggestions, satisfied that the best interests of the State will be promoted by the deliberations and action of this body of representative Democrats.

Democrats! register. That is your first duty. Lose no time. Register at once. Do not put it off. Delays are dangerous. Remember! you cannot vote unless your name is duly registered.

Personal.-We were heartily gratified by a visit yesterday from Capt. William L. Ditto, formerly of the 1st Louisians Cavalry. Capt. Ditto has exchanged the sword for the quill, which he uses quite as trenchantly, as editor of that staunch and able paper, the Harrisonburg New Era. Capt. Ditto was a brave and efficient soldier throughout the war. He comes to the city as delegate to the Democratic State Convention from the parish of Catahoula. We warmly commend him and his paper to the readers and patrons of the CRES-

Col. E. N. Hill, associate editor of the Camden, Arkansas Democrat, favored the CRES-CENT with a visit yesterday. The Camden Democrat is one of the best papers in Arkansas, and is a valuable medium for advertising, as our merchants will find if they patronize it. Col. Hill is a courteous and highly intelligent and educated man.

We had the pleasure of a visit yesterday from Capt. Yowell, of that sprightly sheet the Southern Eagle, published at Water Valley, Mississippi. Capt. Yowell is stopping at the City Hotel, and will remain in the city during the week. Our people, who have mercantile interests in the section of Mssissippi where the Southern Eagle is published, will find that journal an excellent medium for advertising.

All delegates to the Democratic State convention are requested to call at headquarters, 205 Canal street, at their earliest leisure, and have their names registered.

A LOGICAL FATALITY.

By logical fatality, whenever a Republican leader takes occasion to oppose any of the extreme measures of his party, let his design be what it may, he is compelled to borrow arguments from his political opponents with which to sustain his position. This was first which to sustain his position. and most signally illustrated in the case of Andrew Johnson when, soon after his accession to the presidency, he endeavored to put down the brakes and check the Radical element of the party which elected him; an element which, before rather abstract than practical, became with the close of the war suddenly impetuous and ferocious beyond previous example. Pleading for the Constitution, for the cause of representative government, for the indestructibility of Statehood as the only true basis of federal Union, and for the precious muniments of a free American citizenship, and against the congressional policy of obstruction, and subversion, and centralization, he was logically constrained in so doing to preach old-fashioned Democratic doctrine. He could not do less, in urging valid arguments against that policy, the talk like a Democrat. And very naturally he was denounced by Republicans of the Stevens, Sumner and Greeley stripe as a renegade, a traitor, a "copperhead." While from their standpoint this denunciation was not inconsistent, it was for him as a conscientious President who respected his office and his oath, the highest credit which they could have awarded.

So, when the seven Republican senators stood by their oaths and maintained their senatorial independence in the impeachment trial, refusing to recognize the President as a great public criminal to be punished by deposition and official disability because he had repudiated the extreme views of his party, they, too, were inveighed against as recreants and deserters who were on the road to the enemy's camp. And it must be said that, in so far as they were right, and in so far as they defended their course by sound reasoning they stood on Democratic ground and spoke according to Democratic doctrine.

A like example is presented when a member of one of the reconstructed governments in the South attempts to tone down the overweening presumption and bridle the reckless precipitancy of his more extreme associates.

Gov. Smith, of Alabama, for instance, when he vetoes the bill for the appointment of presidential electors by the Legislature, when he recalls the delinquent Legislature together to pass a registration law, and when he denies that there is any necessity, as alleged by the Radical majority of the same Legislature, for sending a federal army into Alabama to maintain the peace against the calumniated white citizens of that State, puts himself, so far as all this goes, in Democratic shoes, assents to Democratic ideas, indorses Democratic protests, and repeats and corroborates Democratic testimony.

And Governor Warmoth, of Louisiana, for instance, in his veto message regarding the social equality bill, is indebted for all the good reasons he adduces against the measure to the political philosophy taught for years past in the Democratic party, and with which all the instincts and tendencies of the political school commonly known as Radicalism are in direct and necessary conflict. What Gov. Warmoth says about the degradation of and what he says about the impossionity o enforcing social equality by warring against the social tastes, inclinations and habits of the people, have been substantially said a thousand times heretofore by Democratic writers.

The fact is that whenever a Radical recoils from the mischievous designs of his fellow-Radicals, and whenever a number of Radicals, appalled at the evils which they have done and the still greater evils which would follow the uttermost development of their dogmas, voluntarily pause, it is to Democratic teachings that the one must look for reasons to justify himself in thus recoiling, and the others for reasons to justify them in thus pausing. In short, a Radical cannot plead against the continuance of wrong and of pernicious fallacy and folly, without bearing testimony to the truth and beneficence of Democratic ideas and Democratic policy.

HARD ON WARMOTH .- Some points in the discussion of the social equality bill in the Legislature on Monday are worth preserving. Their pungency is increased by the fact that while the debate was going on, Governor Warmoth sat in the doorway of the speaker's room listening intently to the discussion

Hall, (mulatto) of New Orleans, loq.: Had a Democratic governor done this thing. we might have anticipated it; but Henry Clay Warmoth, the pet idol of the colored people of the State of Louisiana, the man we looked up to as Radicalism personified—this is the man who has deceived us; this is the man who is too much of a pettifogger to be a statesman. Why didn't he say all this before his own election? I have heard him use language more pernicious, more incendiary than I have ever heard from a colored man yet. Why does he preach to us about his knowledge of communities where the highest regard is paid to the rights of all men? I know one community that would be benefited by Mr. Warmoth's absence.

Holland (griffe) of Tensas, log.: Governor Warmoth is merely whipping the devil round a stump by dragging in this question of social equality. We do not desire social equality. I look around me, and I say we have had too much of it already.

Isabelle, (mulatto) of New Orleans: I deny that the black man is an inferior race. He has fallen into the rear in education, but that is all. In brains to think and in muscle to act, he is the equal of the white man,

Among the accessions to the Democratic party are ex-Senators Cowan and Dixon, Senators Doolittle and Norton, ex-Attorney General Stanbery, Mr. Wells, Mr. Browning, Mr. Randall and Mr. McCullough, and Generals Blair and Ewing. Not a single prominent Democrat has gone over to the Radi-

If any citizen is improperly denied registration by the supervisors, we trust that he will immediately take legal steps to assure his rights, instead of appealing to the "trooly loil" Baker. The district courts can issue a mandamus, and no appeal lies from their decision. This course is simple, and the remedy is sure. One or two such cases will be sufficient to settle a contested point and compel the supervisors to do their duty.

WHO ARE QUALIFIED!

There seems to be still some confusion of ideas existing as to the disabilities imposed the construction relative to the right of suffrage and the manner in which those disabilities may be removed. Many persons imagine that the reconstruction laws are still in force, or that the disfranchisements wrought by the Constitution are similar to those of the reconstruction acts. This is an entire mistake. The qualifications of voters at the next election are fixed by the State Constitution alone. They are, in general terms, those heretofore in force, except that there is no distinction as to color. Beyond this certain classes are disfranchised for political cause—that is to say, all persons who held civil or military office, for a year or more, under the Confederate States; all persons who were leaders of guerrilla bands, or registered enemies, or who wrote or pub lished newspaper articles or preached ser-mons in "advocacy of treason." To have held a State office, or a United States office, does not work disfranchisement, even if the person afterwards aided the "rebellion;" and sisting or sympathizing with the Confederacy, except as above stated, does not disfranchise. The disfranchisements effected by article ninety-nine may be removed by taking affidavit No. 3, commonly known as the "re-construction affidavit," or by recantation. The first can be taken by every man in the State, and it is sufficient for the purpose. All excluded persons should qualify themselves by taking this affidavit. The supervisors cannot go behind it. Let every man, then, register at once. There is no time to lose if we are to poll anything like our full vote in November.

We have been favored with the following extract from a letter from Gen. Hancock to a well known gentleman in this city. The intelligence it conveys will cause general regret and as general sympathy with the pains of the man who has endeared himself to every citizen of New Orleans:

CARONDELET, Mo., Sept. 20, 1868. I am in my bed where I have been for two weeks. I was sick for some time before, and indeed have not felt well for a long time. An ulcer has been forming in my leg about my old wound and it has only opened within the past few days. The doctor still tells me it will be a month before I can travel. I hope for better things however. I feel much better.

I have not been able to reply to the resolutions of the Hancock Club owing to my illness, and shall not be able to do so until I get well.

Ex-Senator Cowan has taken the stump for Seymour in Pennsylvania. In that State the prospects are of the most encouraging character. All our accounts represent that Pennsylvania is sure for the Democratic ticket. In the Fourth Ward registration is conducted as fairly as could be expected, with the exception of the rejection of a certain class of naturalized citizens. All others are admitted, without question, on taking the proper affidavits. The supervisors regard the Constitution and the law as superior to Baker's instructions. Citizens of the Fourth Ward will find no difficulty in registering. Among the many arrivals within the last few days, we notice with pleasure the appearance on the flags of Carondelet street, of our young and esteemed friend, Theod. Hellman, Esq., of the firm of Seligman, Hellman & Co. He returns to us much improved by his North his many friends as cordially as he is by us.

Democrats, register at once. Lose no time. We can and ought to register twenty-five thousand Democratic voters in this city, if sufficient facilities are afforded for the work.

The editor-in-chief of the CRESCENT tenders his thanks to the Magnolia Democratic Club, for the compliment tendered him in his elec tion as an honorary member thereof.

We have already called the attention of our numerous readers to the proposed affair to come off at the Opera House on the 14th for the benefit of the orphans of Sister Margaret's asylum. It is only necessary for us to repeat that the benevolent ladies of our city have charge of it, and with the gentlemen who are acting with them, it cannot be otherwise than a success. Our people were never known to fail in their response to deeds of charity. This will be one of the occasions that we know will bring them out in full force.

The adjourned meeting of the officers of independent Democratic clubs is to be held this evening at the rooms of the Constitution Club, at 75 P. M. A punctual attendance is earnestly requested.

Louisiana Lodge No. 102, F. and A. M., holds its first meeting of the season this evening. See notice published elsewhere.

Voters who relieve themselves from disability by taking the reconstruction affidavit should remember that the supervisors have no power to question them further. They must register the voter who takes th affidavit. Baker's instructions are simply illegal, and the supervisor who regards them, and acts on them, will get himself into difficulty.

We learn that W. M. Burwell, Esq., delegate from the Chamber of Commerce of this city, to the Chamber of Commerce and Boards of Trade of the cities of the West and Northwest, started yesterday afternoon to carry out the objects of the mission intrusted to him.

A RIVAL TO THE WICKEDEST MAN.—The profit and notoriety that have accrued to Allen by being the wickedest man, have induced quite a number of persons to come forward as his rivals in wickedness, and claim to be far worse. The keeper of a Mercer street bagnlo, finding himself overlooked, has come out with a card, in which he attempts to direct attention to his place. Says he:

which he attempts to direct attention to his place. Says he:

"Although I do not claim, like Mr. Allen, to be the wickedest man, or, like 'Kit' Burns, to be the cruelest, yet I think I am entitled to a little consideration from the philauthropists and missionaries of New York. I have combined the business of Messrs. Allen and Burns and have been in it longer than either—over twenty years. I first started in business in Church street, mar Anthony, in 1848, and have been gradually moving up town, until I have got here, No.—Mercer street. My object in writing is to give the good people a chance for making converts, as on any week day night (commencing at 10) can be seen in my rooms as hard a lot as can be found in the city, from the child of 15 to adults of 60, all ages and conditions."

The Barbecuz in Openus.—The Courier of the 26th says: Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather during the entire day of the 24th, the Democratic barbecue on that day, in our town, had called together a large concourse of our citizens. The procession was composed of about 1000 horsemen, belonging to the different Democratic clubs of the parish; and here we must say that the "Blair Knights," of Washington, were the most numerous sad presented a most magnificent appearance. On the barbecue ground, we judge, there were between 1500 and 1800 persons. On the whole, the Democracy of St. Landry has reason to be proud of its turn out on the 24th.
