EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS, ETC.

Prim is in Madrid. Little Mac was entertained by Aug. Belmont. Paris has forty theatres. Velocipedes are lashed in Central Park. Seaward is on his legs again. Little Mac has grown stout. Anthony Trollope is writing another novel. The case of "poor Carlotta" is hopeless. Little Mac is the father of two boys. Garibaldi snubbed Bayard Taylor. Cricket is taught in English female seminaries. Gold closed in New York at 147. England is just 426 miles long. Arkansas has fifty-four hot springs. Gen. Dick Taylor was in New York last week. There are 600 lottery shops in New York. T. B. Thorpe is writing personal reminiscences of the artist Elliott. Frank Kirk, formerly of New Orleans, died in Shelton on Thursday. A soldier at Shreveport was killed the other day by a negro woman resembling his fiancée. The Greeks went to steady though slowly spreading. It is a matter of dress, not of posture. The Florences have returned to the Broadway stage. Victims being succeeded at Lucerne, treated the musician to a supper at an inn. The Fairbanks turn out $200,000 worth of mules per year. P. T. Barnum has recently imported from Holland a herd of cows, jet black, except a white stripe like a blanket around their middles. It is said the standard of popular music in New York has declined. The "Paragon" is the name of the new English collar worn by New York beaux. Flowers will be very much used for trimming evening dresses this winter. Thanks to the officers of the steamers Mariposa, Matagorda, Louise and Crescent. Frederickburg has received one thousand tons of sumac this season. Little Mac was chided in New York as the hero of Antietam. Lester Wallace has a daughter who resembles Lotta. French maids are in great demand among New York fashionables. Carlotta Patti is shortly to return to this country professionally. Two thousand people in Paris are employed in making teeth. Fifteen miles an hour has been attained in a velocipede. Count Bismarck is very fond of cats, and possesses some fine specimens. Thanks to Mr. Charles Beauf for California papers. Australia makes kangaroo sausages for English export. Uncle Sam's Farm—the only farm where draining is carried on all the year round.—(Ex.) Gen. Lee gets a salary of $2,000 a year as president of the Washington College. Father Ignatius was mobbed in London on the 16th ult. The papers in England and France have made up their minds that there is to be a war. Only 400 young men a year are educated at Eton, Harrow, Rugby, Winchester, Westminster and Charterhouse. The National Intelligencer says the nomination of Butler by the Republicans is one eminently fit to be made by that party. A man of 80 years of age in Connecticut pitches out a load of hay and milks six cows before breakfast. The New York Tribune boasts of a circulation of over 300,000 for its three editions—daily, weekly and semi-weekly. Little Mac is said by one Jenkins to have "brought back what looks like the very perfection of hygienic color." Spin little Rowberk has pathetically implored the Sheffield cutlers to elect him; but it is probable that this time they will have the good sense to "cut" him.—(Ex.) One issue of the 240,000 copies of a New York weekly weighs 31,300 pounds, over fifteen tons. This makes a column three feet by two at the base, and one hundred and forty feet high. Miss Susan B. Anthony has adopted the Gaelic benediction.—(World.) O. H. H. Editor, here is the "suffrage band," the result of twenty years' hard work for the enfranchisement of woman.—(Revolution.) The Boston fashionables still linger on the Swansport beach, and the greatest swell among them is the British consul, Marguie Louise, who drives a four-in-hand, with two gorgeous liveried "tigers" behind. There is a single engine in New York, says the Mail, which prints all McLaughlin's toy books, runs the immense establishments of Bradstreet and J. W. Oliver, besides many other job printers, a heap-shirt manufactory and several bookbinders, and prints nearly fifty papers, besides magazines and books innumerable. Two years ago silences belated the potato and phosphoric acid annually taken from the soil in a country to be worth at the usual market price
