Local Intelligence.

DAY BEFORE YESTERDAY the Sixth District Court room presented an appearance as incongruous and ludicrous as it was lamentable. There was a jury, sitting in the court, five of whom had negro blood in their veins; three of these were uneducated, unbleached and unshined, and the other two were mixed. The case was a most intricate commercial case, and none but merchants of the first class should have been jurors.

The technical assistance of the lawyers and the lawyers employed on either side were enough to puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer. They bothered even Judge Cooley, but they didn't bother the colored jurists on the jury, for they sat there as stolid and uncomprehending as they were ignorant in a cornfield. There, too, was the Nestor of the Louisiana bar, as counsel for one of the parties, a gentleman who has never had a superior in law learning since the days of Judge Martin. And the judge and the lawyers addressed the panel as "Gentlemen of the jury," and the intelligent and respectable white members of that jury had to consult those negroes, who probably could not add up 10 and 15 correctly—they had to consult them as to a verdict involving the most points in commerce, as well as the difference in exchange, and the comparative value of a c. d. and greenbacks.

Such are the effects of the magnificent efforts of reconstruction:

THE LOCAL is indebted to Mr. P. Fell, of this city, for an invitation to attend a grand entertainment next Sunday forenoon, at the Grand Ball Room, at which numerous matches of fencing, boxing and wrestling will be held, the performances to close with a wrestling match between two renowned French wrestlers. From all we can learn, success, strength and agility will be put to the test without any of the brutality of the English prize ring.

THE TEMPERATURE yesterday, as shown by the thermometer at C. Duhamel's, 111 Canal street, lately corner Bienville and Chartres streets, was as follows: At 6 A. M. 49 degrees; 11 A. M. 54; 3 P. M. 68; 6 P. M. 57.

THERE WAS A THOROUGH VENTILATION of levee houses yesterday, made by Judge Leauvent, of the Fifth District Court. It was pretty conclusively shown that of $1,600,000 issued by legislative authority only $100,000 were accounted for and turned into the State treasury. Of that pitiful sum of $160,000 $200,000 were in State warrants.

POLICE OFFICER JAMES A. KELLEY, of this city, returned yesterday from Vicksburg, bringing with him two young men, Willis and Robert Haddock, who were arrested in recovering the outfit from Governor Warmoth upon the governor of Mississippi, and upon a charge of having some time since committed the murder of one Kelley at Ray's store, in Morehouse parish. We clip from the Vicksburg Democrat the following account of the trial of the accused themselves, who lay the murder, it will be seen, upon a party by the name of Johnson.

It appears on the day of the homicide there was a grand gathering of negroes and barbeque for the benefit of the colored men. The speeches had concluded, and while the negroes were at dinner, a young man named Johnson came to Ray's store for a bottle of whisky. Mr. Owens, the clerk in charge, stated that what Mr. Owens said was perfectly true, and that he did right in refusing the liquor. More words passed between Kelley and Johnson, and the controversy bid fair to result in a fight. The former was armed with the time with a double-barreled shot gun and a Colt's revolver. Johnson also had a revolver. Mr. Owens participated in the dispute.

Willis Haddock, who with two brothers, was standing by, begged him not to say anything to do with the matter. Kelley directed Haddock not to mention his name. Willis, turning round, said: "Do you allude to me?" Kelley replied: "Yes, you O—d—d—infamous son of a—, and discharge your shot gun and kill the fellow who is lying, passing around under the skin. The marks of the missiles are plainly visible. Turning to another brother, Kelley discharged the other barrel, burning his clothing, but inflicting no injury. He then attempted to draw his knife, which Robert Haddock caught hold of. Johnson then fired and wounded Kelley, from the effects of which he expired.

FIVE BARRELS OF WHISKY were missed from the levee yesterday noon by the discharging clerk Mr. R. H. Wicker, who once applied to officer Johnson for assistance in recovering the outfit. A list of search a negro drayman, Harry Knight by name, was found, who confessed that he had loaded up and driven away the five barrels to a place on the corner of Howard and Perdido streets. He was accordingly conducted to the locality mentioned, and sure enough upon the premises were found the missing five barrels. The proprietor, Martin Finerty, was arrested by Superintendent Olin for having the property in his possession, although he claims, we understand, to have been absent when it was brought in and to know nothing about it. The barkeeper, named O'Brien, was also arrested.

IT IS STATED BY A CONTEMPORARY that owing to the illness of the contractor for fitting up a car to be run upon the principle of Major Watley's pneumatic invention, and the consequent necessity of awarding a new contract, the completion of preparations for a public display of his system of working is unavoidably postponed for a few weeks present, which was carried.

AMONG the articles disposed of yesterday at public auction, at the Custom House, were a quantity of cigars which had been shipped hither from Havana, concealed in barrels of pea-tots. There were in all eleven barrels and two boxes of these contraband treasures. If the purchaser desires he may send the pea-tots round to the Customers office. Amid the glories of the symposium he will be gratefully remembered.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—This board met last evening in special session and a quorum present. The secretary commended to read the budget of receipts and expenditures for the year 1869, which has been adopted by the lower board. It was agreed to take up the budget, item by item, as adopted by the lower board, and to adopt the expenditures for contingent expenses, the sum of $250,000 was moved to be stricken out. Mr. Kaiser was in favor of the sum and gave satisfactory reasons for having such a sum to fall back on. Mr. Prados moved to lay the item over for present consideration.

Mr. Prados was in favor of striking out the item of $5000 for the library, as the sum has not been required for some years past. The item was, on motion, laid over, subject to call.

Mr. Kaiser approved for the public schools. Mr. Kaiser could not see why the Board of School Directors could not get along with the sum of $300,000 annually. He was opposed to placing so much money in the charge of the directors, as the same draw it immediately after it was adopted.

Mr. Brady stated that the appropriations were merely estimates, and that the item set down might be made to cover the expenses, but if it did not the council would make up the deficiency if required. He moved the item be postponed for future action, which was adopted.

The whole amount of expenditures is estimated at $4,184,261.

It was moved and seconded that the sum of $300,000 be appropriated for the support of the police, and on call of the vote it was lost. It was then moved and seconded that the sum of $102,000 be appropriated for the police of the city, and on call of the vote it was adopted.

The different items of receipts amounted to the sum of $4,234,985, was on motion adopted as a whole.

On the question of appropriating the sum of $300,000 for the support of the public schools it was urged that the sum of $300,000 was barely sufficient to keep the schools going.

The item of $5000 for the library was on motion stricken from the budget.

Mr. Polynot moved for the appropriation for the public schools be fixed at the sum of $375,000.

Mr. Kaiser was in favor of doing away with the ornamental portion of the public schools, but he cautioned the council not to make who appreciate the benefits of education more than he did. He was, nevertheless, aware that the sum of $300,000 was a large amount of money, besides, the board would take the money immediately out of the treasury.

Mr. P. Polynot withdrew his amendments and moved the adoption of the sum of $300,000, which was seconded by Mr. Brady. Lost by a vote of 10 yeas and 10 nays.

On the item of contingent, $250,000 was on motion reduced to $200,000 and adopted.

On the question of the sum of $100,000 called on the adoption of the budget as amended and it was adopted.

A good deal of discussion took place on the question of adjournment, which was carried.

ROBERTS.—Mr. Samuel Cooper, while walking along Canal street, near Toon, on Wednesday night, was attacked and robbed by a party of five men, one of whom struck him heavily on the head with a slingshot, injuring him seriously.

A man named Harry Coles was arrested on Wednesday night and confined in Paucator station, charged with the robbery of the St. Simon Institute on Annunciation street.

NEED ALIAS COCK-EYED GALLAGHER, against whom it is said several charges are preferred in the city, was transferred here yesterday by Superintendent Olin from Carrollton, where he has been for some time on trial before the Second Judicial District Court.

A KEIF bearing Frank Kline and his fortunes across the stormy Mississippi, on Wednesday morning, was so unlucky as to capsize. The fortunes, consisting of a load of furniture, floated off or went to the bottom. Mr. Kline barely escaped drowning.

MRS. FANNY R. PRICE, after successful engagement at Houston and Galveston, returned here with her father, Mr. Hanbrett, on Thursday, and will remain for some time. She reappears at the St. Charles on the 26th prox.

JIM STANFORD, another young confidence darky, was arrested on the levee yesterday, charged with swindling. In his pocket was found a bogus $20 imitation gold piece.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—No. 4088. Mrs. Sarah J. Browne vs. M. S. Bringle. Petitioner alleged in her petition that she is the holder and owner of five certain promissory notes, each for $300, dated at New Orleans May 12, 1858, made by M. S. Bringle to his own order, payable three years after date at the Louisiana State Bank, bearing six per cent. interest per annum from date of maturity and eight per cent. therefor.

Defendant answered that the five notes used on which she claimed her priority were not hers.

This case was tried by a special jury of merchants who rendered verdict for plaintiff. Gilmore & Bayne for plaintiff; Trudeau & Morgan for defendant.

J. C. Butler vs. Francis Watkins and the Patent Nut and Bolt Company. This is a suit brought by John T. Butler against Francis Watkins, individually, and as manager of above company, to recover $15,000. His allegations in his petition are that he invented a new and useful cotton line on 15th Nov., 1859, and obtained letters patent, protecting him in his aforesaid invention for fourteen years from date aforesaid. That about February, 1868, petitioner had an understanding with Francis Watkins, and on behalf of himself and said company, which was located at 42nd business near Birmingham, England, for the manufacture and sale of petitioner's said improvement, known as "Butter's" and "Patent" cotton line, and that the manufacture of said line would be commenced and completed in ample time for the market of 1868; that he failed to do so, and only informed petitioner late in the summer, when it was impossible for petitioner to have them manufactured in time for sale as aforesaid; that this was done for the purpose of inducing petitioner to give said Watkins and said company the control of the Butler line for 1868, and to keep petitioner out of the market and prevent the sale of other lines more certain in which they were greatly interested; that large quantities of those other lines were sold, and Watkins and said company received large benefits therefrom, and that if said Watkins and said company had not so acted petitioner would have realized $35,000 by his sale during 1868; that he has further caused petitioner a prospective loss and damage of $100,000, wherefor he prays for judgment, etc. Lacy & Butler, of counsel.

FIRST DISTRICT COURT.—James, alias Francis O'Brien, was tried yesterday on a charge of larceny. James, alias Francis, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary at hard labor.

JOHN S. GANGE for assault on one of the Lyons breed was fined $5 for threats.

SEVENTH COURT.—Judge Collins will probably render a decision to-day or to-morrow in the case of Frelien and others, testing the constitutionality of the one per cent. tax.

The suit brought by the minor heirs of Geo. F. Knight and wife, deceased, against the Pontchartrain Railroad for damages resulting from the death of their parents, which is alleged to have been caused by negligence on the part of the company in their arrangements, will be tried to-day in the Sixth District Court.

SIXTH DISTRICT COURT.—Judge Cooley.—F. M. Fisk vs. Gibbs, Bright & Co. Said suit was instituted Feb. 19, 1861. W. B. Lancaster and C. P. Robert counsel for plaintiff; Alfred Henson for defendant. The jury yesterday found a verdict against the defendant. Mr. Mills made the point that if a sitor took an execution when Confederate money only was current, he compelled the officer to receive such currency, and could not go behind such action. This is in conformity with a late decision of Chief Justice Chase.

FELONY'S DOINGS.—John Miller was arrested upon a charge made of stealing a watch and chain on Barracks street, near Levee, from William Roberts. William says that he was accused by Miller under pretense that he (M.) wished to purchase his watch, and that as soon as he had allowed Miller to put hands on it that Miller refused to give it back. As the police officer upon the street saw nothing and thought he could make no arrest, Williams had to lose sight of his man, get another officer, and being caught by Officer Fitzgibbon. (He Miller) was finally arrested by Officer Fitzgibbon.

JULIUS ESSEX, one of the five men from Chicago, who were arrested some time since on entering New Orleans, but who were subsequently released, was locked up last evening by special officer Smith, charged with being caught in the act of picking a man's pocket on a Charles street. Essex denies the correctness of the charge, but awaits examination before Recorder Becher.

RECORDER GARTINER'S COURT.—Henry Evans and Mrs. Evans, charged by Mrs. Delaune with assault and battery; John Miller, charged by Wm. Robertson with robbery; J. S. Kelly, charged with like offense by Edward Gaudin, and John Teal, similarly charged by the latter, were remanded yesterday for further examination.
