The Squatter Sovereign,
ATCHISON, DEC. 2, 1856.
J. POST, Esq., is authorized to act as AGENT for the "Squatter Sovereign," in the City of St. Louis.
RAIN! RAIN!!—It commenced raining early Monday morning, and until now, 4 o'clock, p. m., it has been falling with increased accelerated motion, producing such an effect upon the soil as to make it quite unpleasant to peripatetic round town.
SUGGESTIVE.—If our subscribers only knew how hard we have to scramble, during a wet spell like this, to ascend to our sanctum—often descending to the great displeasure of our unmerciful subscribers—they would certainly send us one subscriber each.
KANSAS JUDGE APPOINTED.—The President has appointed Thomas S. Cunningham, Esq., of Beaver, Penn., Associate Judge of the Supreme Court of Kansas, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Judge Burwell. The Pittsburgh Dispatch says Mr. Cunningham stands high as a lawyer, and is well known throughout the State as a gentleman of talent and fine education.
READ.—We have quite a number of subscribers upon our books, who have been taking the paper ever since it was first started, and have not yet paid for it. To such we would say, that we want money and hope they will not delay in sending in the amount of their bills. There may be names on our books, which were put on at the time the paper started, who do not consider themselves subscribers; if there are any such, we hope they will foot up their bills, and order the paper stopped, as we do not desire to send the Squatter to any extent actual subscribers—those that intend to pay.
It is proposed to divide the city of New York into two separate municipalities. It is getting too large for one man to govern, we suppose.
WELL SAID.—A contemporary says, "In our opinion, the result of long experience and observation, an editor of a newspaper deserves more credit for what he keeps out of the paper than for what he puts in it."
DYING OUT.—Kansas sympathies are dying out. The legislature of Vermont, almost wholly Republican, refused to vote $20,000 supplies to Kansas—to support robberies and murders. Getting sensible.
We are fast returning to a state of primitive simplicity. Grand-mother Eve went bare-headed, and our ladies have nearly got back to it. Fashions revolve.
Our friend Snooks says that the only time he was ever in a real quandary was when he had a pretty girl on each side of him and flea in the bottom of his boot!
What is the chief end of Americans? To get money and elect Presidents.
The Albany Express has the following advertisement:
"Wanted—an able-bodied Irishman to hold my wife's tongue—she and I being unable to keep it quiet. Constant employment given."
We doubt whether he will find anybody reckless enough to undertake that job.
A patent has been secured in Boston for a sneezing fish by giving them snuff. The sneezing causes the scales to fly off!
A man was eating oysters in Syracuse recently, when he discovered a hard substance in one of them, which proved to be a pearl valued by various jewellers at from $10 to $40! A lucky purchase.
It is said that a mountain of silver has been discovered in California. Reckon not.
We commend to the countrymen of Hecker the speech of his co-laborer in the cause of Fremont. Hecker says that God intended the negro to be free as the white man, and he should be free as the white man, and Frederick Douglass follows on, proclaiming that Hecker is right. It is lawful, and indeed praiseworthy, to visit the slaveholder with fire in his bed, and poison in his food. Hecker declares the negro the equal of the white man, and his negro associate follows on, rejoicing in the hour when negro arms will encircle the fair daughters of Germany, and a new progeny will arise in the land.
These people, these men who profess to be, and believe themselves to be, pious Christians, were there, and with their clerical heard and applauded the fiendish invocation to murder. They retired from that meeting, repaired to their respective homes, and gathering around them their families, with upturned hearts and eyes, invoked from their Heavenly Father, a blessing and their daily bread. This they did, forgetful that a few hours before they had, with voice and hand, and heart, occurred in the justice of a rising thousand in their fellow men and countrymen with fire in their beds and poison in their bread. They asked of Heaven their daily bread—pure and strengthening, and wished to their neighbors the poisoned crust, the deadly cup, the blazing bed. Such is Fremontism in Chicago, on Sunday, October 26th, 1856.

From the Chicago Times.
Fred. Douglas in Chicago—A Black Republican Amalgamation Meeting on Sunday.
THE WOMEN IN FAVOR OF BIGGER HUS BANDS.
Without exception, the largest Fremont meeting ever held in Chicago, was at Metropolitan Hall, on Sunday last. Fred Douglass was the orator. This man, who is employed by the Republican orators to preach insurrection and murder, who obtained applause from his audience by denouncing God's justice, in allowing such men as Cass and Fremont, to address the people and proclaim the doctrine of self-government—this man is preambulating the State of Illinois, in company with John P. Hale, General Nye, and other renegade Democrats, seeking to overturn the constitution of the land.
Metropolitan Hall presented a singular scene on Sunday afternoon. There were white men and sooty wenches, and black men and white women, all listening with open mouths to the negro, who boasted that black and white people were disappearing, and that mulattoes were fast increasing. He rejoiced that this amalgamation was progressing, and his white and black audience responded with cheers and tumultuous applause to the disgusting sentiment.
Fair white maidens were there, smiling upon the champion of Freedom and Freedom, and applauding with their gloved hands, his earnest wish that the distinction between the black and white races would be lost, and that instead of them there would soon be but one race—the descendants of white women and black men—black women and white men. He thanked God that the mulatto race was on the increase in Chicago, and his audience cried—Amen.
Here was freedom, free love, free living, Fremont, and free everything else, presented to a Chicago audience by a negro, of a color that gratified by the vulgar, and that the community can complain of a want of free speech, when such a man can utter such sentiments on such a day, to a cheering, tumultuous audience in the very heart of the city.
Negro equality, social and political, is the religious or Sabbath day doctrine of the Fremont party. They proclaim that a negro man is as good a man as a German, or an Irishman; their sons and daughters are taught that a foreigner is an odious social being, and it is no wonder that these sons and daughters, following the parental teachings, take occasion to evince their delighted approval of the orator who "speaks right out in meeting" in favor of the absorption of the white race in that of the black.
Let us do this speaker justice; he spoke to no idle rabble; he spoke not alone to negro men and negro women, whose grosser instincts might be gratified by the vision of white husbands, white wives, and mixed blood children; he spoke not alone to men of infatuated notions upon the subject of human liberty. His audience was the very cream of the Fremont party in Chicago. Men of high social position were there with their wives and daughters; state and county names figure conspicuously upon Fremont calls and Republican subscription lists. Michigan Avenue, Washburn Avenue, and the palatial residences of men who earned their present wealth by mechanical pursuits, and who now, by "silks, satins, diamonds, hoops, feathers, and broadcloth," crowd out of all places the laboring man and the mechanic, (we quote the Democrat) were represented there. These representatives, ogling the sooty beak, and ogled by the colored by-standers in return. These persons, embracing the wealthy and the ton of Chicago society were there, listening with delighted hearts to treason and threats of murder and civil war.
There were merchants and their wives Fremont merchants and their Fremont wives—whose cheeks did not blush, whose hearts did not swell indignantly, when a negro stood erect in their presence, on a Sunday afternoon, and proclaimed that white men and women—that fathers and mothers, and sons and daughters, and countrymen—should be made to dream of death in their sleep, should fear death at their meals, should be met by fire in their beds, and poison in their bread! This atrocious sentiment caused no horror in their hearts. On the contrary, this terrible invocation in the name of "Fremont and Jessie," elicited enthusiastic applause. This is Fremontism in Chicago. This is the Fremontism of Lovejoy, who said that Fillmore should have received an electric shock sending him to hell, because he enforced the fugitive slave law. This is the Fremontism of John P. Hale, of General Nye. The latter do not express it quite so plainly, but they are the white laborers in the vineyard of horrors.
We commend to the countrymen of Hecker the speech of his co-laborer in the cause of Fremont. Hecker says that God intended the negro to be free as the white man, and he should be free as the white man, and Frederick Douglass follows on, proclaiming that Hecker is right. It is lawful, and indeed praiseworthy, to visit the slaveholder with fire in his bed, and poison in his food. Hecker declares the negro the equal of the white man, and his negro associate follows on, rejoicing in the hour when negro arms will encircle the fair daughters of Germany, and a new progeny will arise in the land.
These people, these men who profess to be, and believe themselves to be, pious Christians, were there, and with their clerical heard and applauded the fiendish invocation to murder. They retired from that meeting, repaired to their respective homes, and gathering around them their families, with upturned hearts and eyes, invoked from their Heavenly Father, a blessing and their daily bread. This they did, forgetful that a few hours before they had, with voice and hand, and heart, occurred in the justice of a rising thousand in their fellow men and countrymen with fire in their beds and poison in their bread. They asked of Heaven their daily bread—pure and strengthening, and wished to their neighbors the poisoned crust, the deadly cup, the blazing bed. Such is Fremontism in Chicago, on Sunday, October 26th, 1856.

PROSPECTS OF THE SQUATTER SOVEREIGN.
A PRO-SLAVERY PAPER IN KANSAS.
"THE SQUATTER SOVEREIGN" will hereafter be under the control of STRINGS, KELLY & LARAY. Mr. P. H. LARAY, formerly of Orangeburg, South Carolina, having purchased the paper, and the prospect of the paper by this addition, as Mr. LARAY is a Democrat, and one who has had experience in conducting a Democratic paper. It will be the aim of the editors to make the "Sovereign" the most acceptable paper in Kansas Territory. Now that our labors in Kansas are about to be rewarded by untold success, we will have more time to devote to our columns. Our terms are $2.00 per annum, invariably in advance. The Executive sustaining a Southern Organ in Kansas Territory, is so obvious that all who desire to see the institutions of the South perpetuated, should feel it their privilege and duty to contribute something to assist in the great work.

DELAWARE!
THE Territory of Delaware is situated in Kansas Territory, on the south side of the Missouri river, three miles above the line of the Delaware reserve, and ten miles below Leavenworth City. This town was laid off and located in February last, on a tract of land densely timbered, easy of access from the surrounding country and situated favorably for health already there are a number of houses going up. It has the following resources as a good and prominent point.
Firstly—A Good Land.
The Missouri river at this point is compressed within a narrow space, the channel is remarkably deep and swift, the soil is rich, and for a mile above and below the Kansas shore, thus affording at all times a safe and secure landing for steamers.
Secondly—Timber in Abundance.
The tract of land on which the town is laid out, is covered with valuable timber, for building purposes, besides this, there is on the opposite side of the river a large bottom, heavily timbered with oak, ash and walnut.
Thirdly—Its Position.
This town has on the Kansas side of the river a superior location, such as potatoes, cabbage, beets, turnips, &c. Also for eggs, butter, chickens, oats and corn. Persons having the above articles for sale will do well in bringing them to me, at the "Atchison House," 25-27, 1855, ft. O. B. DICKINSON.
