

BREIDY WINS.

The Supreme Court Decides in Breidenthal's Favor.

State Bank Commissioner's Term Expires Feb. 12, 1897.

JUSTICE JOHNSTON

Does Not Concur in Decision of Other Judges.

Administration May Go After Breidenthal Another Way.

TO MAKE CHARGES

Against the Manner He Conducts His Office

And Have Him Removed for Alleged "Cause."

John W. Breidenthal, chairman of the Populist state central committee and state commissioner, has won his case in the supreme court and will continue to hold the office of bank commissioner until February 12, 1897.

The supreme court today decided the bank commissioner case in Mr. Breidenthal's favor, holding that his appointment was for a term of four years from February 12, 1893.

The office of state bank commissioner was created by the legislature of 1891, and the law provided that the commissioner should be appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate, for a term of four years.

Governor Humphrey, after the adjournment of the legislature, appointed Charles F. Johnson, of Oskaloosa, to the office.

When the Populists went into power Governor Lewelling removed Mr. Johnson, who had never been confirmed by the senate, and appointed Mr. Breidenthal, who was immediately confirmed.

A few months ago Governor Morrill, acting on the theory that the term of bank commissioner began with Mr. Johnson's appointment, and although Mr. Breidenthal had been confirmed, his time expired in February, made an order removing him from the office and appointed C. S. Jobs of Atchison, Harper county as bank commissioner.

Mr. Breidenthal refused to turn over the office on the ground that as he was the first bank commissioner to be appointed with the advice and consent of the senate, the term of four years began with his appointment.

Mr. C. S. Jobs then brought suit in the supreme court to oust Mr. Breidenthal from the office, and that is the case which is decided today.

A majority of the court—Chief Justice Martin and Associate Justice Allen—held "that the appointment of Johnson was only provisional and temporary, and the commencement of the official term began to run from the appointment of Breidenthal, and that he is entitled to hold the office for four years from the time of that appointment."

Associate Justice Johnston dissents from that opinion, holding that the full term should be counted from the appointment of Charles F. Johnson.

Chief Justice Martin concurs in some special findings as follows:

"I concur, but after deciding that the four years term is not vitiated by the provision for holding over until a successor is elected and qualified, I would prefer to place my concurrence upon the ground that this statute does not recognize any vacant, unexpired, or fractional term, and each incumbent appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate, is entitled to hold for the full term of four years."

Mr. C. S. Jobs, the defeated candidate for the office, was the first to carry the news of the decision to Mr. Breidenthal.

When asked what he proposed to do, Mr. Jobs said to a JOURNAL reporter that he did not propose to divulge his plans, but would continue the fight in another way.

It is said that it is now the purpose of the Republican managers to have a legislative committee appointed to investigate the bank commissioner's office, and acting on the report of that committee, Governor Morrill will use his discretion, remove Breidenthal and appoint Jobs to the office.

Mr. Jobs denied that he had ever heard of such a plan of procedure.

Other Political Cases. The supreme court also decided several other political cases.

The Osawatimie asylum cases were decided in favor of the Republicans. Dr. L. F. Wentworth and Steward T. J. Hayes win their suits for possession of their offices. They were appointed for a term of three years each July 1, 1893, but in July 1894, the Populist board of charities appointed Dr. C. H. Wetmore superintendent and named a steward to succeed Hayes. The Republican officials refused to give up their offices and the court now holds that they were right in staying in office for the full term of three years. Their terms will however expire July 1 this year.

In the case of S. W. Chase against the board of penitentiary directors, the court holds that the directors were right in refusing to audit the accounts of the warden after he had been suspended and removed as a result of a report filed with the governor by a legislative investigation committee.

The supreme court also decided that Senator M. A. Householder can not get back his place on the state board of charities.

Governor Morrill suspended Senator Householder pending an investigation by the asylum investigation committee, and Senator Householder brought this suit to compel the governor to reinstate him.

The court holds that the governor acting in the capacity of his office, is not inferior to the supreme court, and that it cannot compel him to revoke an order of suspension based on charges which the governor deemed worthy of credit.

Good News For Students. The supreme court today decided the case in which the students at the state university law school rebelled against the charge of library fees by the regents. The supreme court decides that the regents have no right to charge for the use of the library and laboratory.

PATTI SINGING AGAIN. Seats Are Bringing Four Pounds For Her First Appearance.

LONDON, June 8.—The principal event of the week, so far as the theatre is concerned, has been the appearance on London boards of the two great emotional actresses, Sarah Bernhardt and Eleanora Duse, the latter appearing only four times a week. It is rumored that she is suffering from consumption and that she has permanent retirement from the stage is only a matter of a short time.

Next week London theater goers will have an opportunity of contrasting the widely different methods of those two great artists in the same parts. Mme. Bernhardt is to present a French version and Signora Duse an Italian adaptation of Heimit, which in both instances has been rechristened Magda.

Great interest is taken here in Adeline Patti's first appearance of the season, next week. Seats are already bringing four pounds.

Carmencita in spite of the fact that a prominent theatrical paper declares that there is not a dancer on the stage to whom she could not give points and who "kept the Hudson in a blaze for five years," has not been successful in London. She has recently been giving a series of matinees at St. James hall, and has varied her usual entertainment by singing Spanish songs accompanied by a quartette of native players.

OSBORN'S NEW TRIAL. It Will Take Place at the November Term of Court.

LAWRENCE, Kan., June 8.—In the Douglas county district court today Clint C. Osborn, charged with the murder of Charles Hamble at Holton, was denied bail and his trial set for next November term of court.

Twelve Passengers Drowned. LONDON, June 8.—A special dispatch received here from Riga, the capital of the province of Lavinia, Russia, says that a sailing vessel has been capsized on the Sinti lake and that twelve of the sixteen persons on board of her were drowned. Marshall's band will give their usual concert at Garfield park Sunday afternoon.

CRYING FOR FOOD.

People in Oklahoma Are in a Terrible Condition.

Aid is Asked to Keep Them from Starving.

HELP NEEDED AT ONCE. Must Come to Appease Hunger of Crying Children.

The Appeal is Signed by Citizens of Medford.

KANSAS CITY, June 8.—A special to the Star from Wichita says: An appeal for aid has been received here from Medford, Ok. It is signed by four of its foremost citizens, who are vouched for by W. J. Martindale of this city, presiding elder of the Wichita district, southwest Kansas M. E. conference.

The citizens of that section of the country are in a wretched condition, so far as food and clothing are concerned, and pray for relief immediately. The appeal closes as follows:

"In the name of suffering humanity we appeal to you for such food and other things as you can spare to help the destitute and that as soon as you possibly can, to appease the hunger of crying children. Ship to the Lamont township aid association, care Mrs. Emma Beacock. The Rock Island carries supplies free of cost."

SAW A TWISTER GOING.

Startling Sight Witnessed by the People of Smith Center.

SMITH CENTER, June 8.—This city narrowly escaped a visit from a fearful tornado Sunday evening. Those who were watching the approaching storm, about 3 p. m., were startled to see an enormous whirlwind drop to the earth about three miles southwest of town and although a good rain had fallen only a day or two before, great clouds of dust soon formed and a genuine twister was soon under way, which traveled in a southeast direction.

Judging from appearance it was forty rods wide. No damage is reported.

WANTS AN ENGLISH HOUSE

A Wealthy American Advertiser for a Big Establishment to Cost $50,000.

LONDON, June 8.—Some curiosity has been aroused here over an advertisement which has just appeared in the newspapers of the city over the signature of a prominent real estate firm. It says:

"The wealthy American wishes to purchase a historical, residential estate, with a Tudor or Elizabethan mansion, having twenty bed rooms, five reception rooms and 800 to 1,000 acres of land. Would pay about fifty thousand pounds."

A representative of the Associated Press questioned the real estate agent as to the identity of this wealthy American. He said that the American referred to was at present in London, but that his client did not wish his identity to be revealed under any circumstances. Careful investigation has thus far failed to identify him.

EXPECT TROUBLE SUNDAY.

An Attempt Will Be Made to Prevent Socialists Demonstration in Vienna.

LONDON, June 8.—A dispatch to the Standard from Vienna says that it was intended that the Socialists demonstration on Sunday should be prohibited. Thousands of workmen, however, have already decided to take part in the procession, and it may be impossible to prevent a demonstration.

The police have orders to do all in their power to stop the meetings of the socialists and as the officials have recently been reprimanded for undue leniency to those taking part in these movements, serious trouble is expected.

SETTLES ROGERS' CASE.

Decision in the Householder Case Settles the Rogers Question.

In political circles today it is said that the decision of the Householder case by the supreme court settles the Rogers case.

The police decided that it has no power to compel the governor to revoke an order suspending Senator Householder from the board of charities, and the politicians draw the inference that this also means that the court will decide that it has no power to compel the governor to revoke the order removing Senator Rogers as regent of the university.

American Outfits in London. LONDON, June 8.—Loungers in Hyde Park on Thursday last were startled by the appearance of a smart trotter drawing an American sulky and driven by a well known Britisher. Another novelty seen in the same locality is a Caster's barrow, built by the best London coach builder, in which two tall swells drive every afternoon.

AN INTERNATIONAL UNION.

Window Glass Workers Propose a World Wide Federation.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 8.—Preliminary steps, with a view of forming an international federation of the window glass workers of the world, have been taken by the American Window Glass Workers' association for the protection of their mutual interest. At the coming convention of the American association, which will meet in this city on July 18, the proposition will probably be one of the most important to consider, and an alliance with the organized workmen of Belgium and France negotiated.

A strike has been in progress in Belgium for several weeks. The members of the window glass workers association have urged that money be contributed at once to support the Belgian strikers if they are in need of it.

The crisis abroad has led to the consideration of the benefits of an international union of the craft organizations. Such an allowance was maintained between the workmen of America and Belgium for many years, but the Americans withdrew.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 8.—Benjamin Harrison got home today. He was one of the first men to step off the Pennsylvania limited when it arrived at the Union station this afternoon. Mr. Harrison carried a big yellow traveling bag and was alone.

The mercury stood at seventy-four here this morning and at 2:30 this afternoon it had reached ninety-two.

WATER SHOT UP.

A Big Pipe Breaks on Eighth Street, Making a Little Flood.

At 10 o'clock this morning a large water pipe was broken near the corner of Eighth and Kansas avenue, and it was not five minutes until a crowd had collected to watch the water gush out of the hole in the sidewalk.

Only the people who got any satisfaction from the occurrence were a half dozen barefooted boys who waded around in the cool water and enjoyed it. After the water had been running about an hour the water was turned off and the pipe repaired. The pipe was broken at a valve while a street sprinkler was being filled.

WON'T HELP SILVER.

United States Treasurer O'Neill Thinks Its Discussion Does It No Good.

BOSTON, June 8.—United States Assistant Treasurer Jos. O'Neill is not disposed to attach much importance to the free silver convention held in Springfield, Ill., nor to take seriously the statement that if its action shall be followed out to its logical conclusion, the Democratic party will be in danger of disruption.

He says that any convention that could be called by the silver men, if they were to ignore the authority of the Democratic national committee, would be but a "rump convention," and not be representative of the Democratic party. Although he admits there is a strong feeling in the south and west in favor of free coinage of silver.

Mr. O'Neill says the views of the extremists who were represented at this Springfield convention do not represent the sentiments of the majority of the people of the country, or even a majority of the Democratic party.

"If they persist in their course," said Mr. O'Neill, "I believe it will result in the further degradation of silver rather than its advancement, because the more this question is discussed before an intelligent jury as the people of the United States, it seems to me the worse it is for the extreme advocates of silver."

DEBS NOT A CANDIDATE.

Wouldn't Lose His Little Liberty by Becoming a Candidate for President.

CLEVELAND, O., June 8.—An officer of the local A. R. U. organization has received a letter from Eugene V. Debs, who among other things said: "I cannot be considered a candidate for the presidency. I would not permit myself to harbor such an aspiration for an instant. I have little enough liberty as it is, and what little there is, I do not want to sacrifice on the political altar."

"Not that I would fear to face the whirlwind of denunciation which such an ambition would arouse, but I wish to remain untrammelled and do what little I can in my own way to free the American people. Yours faithfully, E. V. Debs."

HIS PEANUT STAND STAYS.

The Peanutter Inside the Capital Couldn't Oust the Outside Peanutter.

It has just leaked out that the man who sells lemons and peanuts at the front entrance to the state house grounds on Ninth street had influence enough to make the executive council rescind an order.

This peanut seller is an old soldier from Morris county named Alfred World.

He secured permission from the superintendent of the state house grounds to place his pop corn and lemonade stand up against the state house fence, but the state house guide who sells that kind of stuff in the east corridor objected, as he said it was an encroachment on his rights.

The result of the objection was that the executive council ordered Mr. World to move his peanut sphere away from the state house grounds.

Mr. World applied to his Republican friends in Morris county.

The other day Harry Richter came to Topeka and laid Mr. World's case before the executive council. He told them that World had six Republican brothers in Morris county and that if the peanut stand was not given the right of way an anti-administration delegation might be expected in the next state convention from Morris county.

The executive council at once rescinded its order and World will stay.
