SHOCKS THE POLICE.

New York's Police Commissioner Makes a Night Trip and Catches Them Napping.

New York, June 10.—New York's president of the police board, Theodore Roosevelt, played a trick on his policemen Saturday night. Taking a friend with him he started out to make a trip through the Twenty-first police district at 2:30 a. m.

On Third avenue, from Forty-second to Twenty-seventh street, not a policeman was visible. Then they returned by way of Second avenue. The same "copless" state of affairs existed. Then the head of the police department concluded he would go to the station house and ascertain if the whole force had dropped dead and the entire coroner's office was in demand. The sergeant on duty nearly dropped dead himself when he found out who the visitor was. After stirring things up and getting a sergeant out to hunt up the roundsman on the beat he had just traveled over, the president and his friend took another turn up Forty-second street. This time the roundsman and two patrolmen were found loitering against a liquor store. President Roosevelt approached the trio.

"Why don't you men patrol your posts?" he said in a manner that might have been assumed by any citizen. The coppers sized up the little man with a yellow mustache and glasses and straightened up full of light.

"What is it you whether we patrol or not?" said both patrolmen sneeringly. "You'd better go and mind your business."
"The city pays you to do your duty," again remarked President Roosevelt calmly and with his peculiar smile.

"Come, come! Go on, now!" blurted out one of the officers. "You'll get run in."

"Who are you?" asked the roundsman suspiciously.
"I'm Mr. Roosevelt, president of the police board," smiled the latter. "Report at my office at 9:30 tomorrow morning."

GRAND JURY MUST ANSWER
Civic Federation Calls For a Grand Jury to Investigate a Previous One.

CHICAGO, June 10.—The committee on morals of the Civic Federation has determined on pursuing an aggressive campaign during the summer.
President Baker said, in relation to the future action of the federation concerning the failure of the grand jury to indict the men arrested for selling pools at Hawthorne and the reopening of the track: "We shall first try to secure a special grand jury to investigate the last grand jury and take up the cases against the gamblers. The evidence we had to present to those grand jurors, if they had not refused to listen to it, was conclusive enough to justify Judges Ewing and Horton in issuing those warrants. The circumstances of the case are to say the least, of a character to justify investigation. If crime cannot be punished in this city, I think it time that the people who pay the cost of the machinery of justice should know the reason why."

NO JUNE RACES.
Race Meeting at Wichita Abandoned Owing to Lack of Entries.

WICHITA, Kan., June 10.—The state fair board of directors have decided to cancel the date of the June races on account of the scarcity of entries.

This does not injure the prospects for the fall meet, however, as the entries already made insure good races on all the state events.

HARRISON'S EPIGRAM.
The Newspapers Started the Rabbits and Will Have to Chase Them.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 10.—Although ex-president Harrison would not talk about silver or the next presidential campaign, he had a very kind word for Cleveland's new attorney general. He said: "I have known Judge Harmon for a long time, and I regard him as a good man, a man entirely capable of filling the position of attorney general."

He said in regard to politics that he had nothing to say; that "the New York newspaper men had started the rabbits and now they will have to chase them." He goes East again July 29 to the Adirondacks.

LOADED BANANAS.
Toppers in a Michigan Town Get Their "Bitters" at Fruit Stands.

BESSEMER, Mich., June 10.—The saloons are kept closely barred on Sunday, even the back doors being closed. Liquor sellers complain that the money that might otherwise be spent with them goes to neighboring cities or drug stores. It is said several were intoxicated from the use of loaded "bananas" bought at fruit stores Sunday.

EMMETT MURDEROUS

The Well Known Actor Tries to Kill His Wife.

While Drunk He Attacked Her and She Flew.

SHOT HER AS SHE RAN.

Then Beat Her in the Face With His Pistol.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—J. K. Emmett, Jr., the German dialect comedian, attempted to murder his wife Saturday night, and was only prevented from executing his design by the forcible interference of neighbors. Emmett had been about town all day, and in the evening returned home in a drunken condition. He and his wife had an altercation and the woman fled from the house. Emmett pursued her into the street and fired a pistol at her at close range. Then he caught the unfortunate woman and beat her about the face with the butt end of the gun. Two young men pulled the maddened actor from his victim and turned him over to the police. Mrs. Emmett was taken to the receiving hospital where she refused to allow her wounds to be examined. She had a violent attack of hysteria and the surgeons could do nothing with her. She insisted that she had not been shot and said her husband was too big a coward to shoot her. There was a slight wound in her temple and the police said the bullet glanced from the bone and lodged under the scalp. Mrs. Emmett is a California girl and is known on the stage as Emily Litton. She married Emmett about three years ago.

A COUPLE TARRIED AND FEATHERED.
WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 10.—Fifty masked men, heavily armed, took Joseph Fossati and Robbie Allen, a colored woman who runs a house of ill repute, and applied to them a coat of tar and feathers early yesterday morning. Shortly after midnight a body of men with masks over their faces went to the house occupied by the woman, a hack was driven up to the front door, the men broke open the door, and, going to a bedroom, dragged Fossati and the woman from the bed and carried them to the hack which was driven to the outskirts of the city. Their clothing was torn off and a heavy coat of tar and feathers applied, and the two ordered to leave the city. The affair was well planned and executed, the thoroughfare through which the hack passed being guarded by armed men. Although Fossati is the son of a very respectable family and has had more than the average advantages in life, he was persistent in living with this woman, and on Friday they were married. Mrs. D. Fossati, the mother of young Fossati, is prostrated with grief and is in a precarious condition.

TWO FEMALE BANDITS CAPTURED.
GUTHRIE, Ok., June 10.—Deputy United States Marshals Rannels and McCraft came in from Woods county yesterday afternoon and lodged in the federal jail Belle Black and Jennie Freeman, female members of the Zip Wyatt gang. Saturday the two women attempted to escape by a secret entrance to the cave, and were captured after a long chase. They had in their possession considerable money, and were going after supplies and reinforcements. The deputies secured a large quantity of dynamite and left again at night for the Glass mountains, determined to blow up the cave.

SMOTHERED IN A TUNNEL.
An Engine Crew Expires Trying to Save a Comrade Near Pitkin, Col.

PITKIN, Col., June 10.—News reached here that four men were suffocated in the Alpine tunnel yesterday afternoon. An engine had run into the tunnel, which is 1,776 feet long, with a crew of several men to syphon out an accumulation of water held in by a dirt cave. The ventilation of the tunnel is poor and the smoke and gas from the engine made the air so stifling that the men soon prepared to leave. As the engine was backing out a man was discovered lying across the track and the engineer reversed, running further into the tunnel, where all the men were quickly overcome by suffocation.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Ex-Congressman Frank Jones, of New Hampshire, has just returned from his 17th annual tour of England. "I drove in a carriage through the English farming districts and I found that a late frost had killed the crops there."

"The result will be to make a good market in England for American wheat and grain, which will bring good times to the western farmers. As soon as they find the money coming in for their products they will stop worrying about free silver and will become advocates of sound money, so the silver question will be no longer the political nightmare of this country."

LET THEM STARVE.

Turkey Will Not Admit Food to Nestorian Christians.

She Will Try to Starve Them Into Subjection.

IS TO EXTORT TAXES.

Only the Beginning of Persecution it is Thought.

NEW YORK, June 10.—A Press correspondent, writing from Djulea, Russia, says: The Turkish government, it is claimed, has just taken the preliminary steps in what may result in a massacre of Nestorian Christians in the mountains of Kurdistan. It is asserted the government has given orders to starve the independent tribes of Nestorians in the mountain region immediately west of Gawar, which may be described as lying about midway between Mosul and Lake Van, about 50 miles west of the Persian frontier. The orders, it is stated are that no food supplies of any kind shall be allowed to enter the territory of the independent tribes, and that measures are said to have been taken to enforce these orders to the letter. This action is apparently taken as a means of compelling the independent tribes to submit to the Turkish authorities, and to pay the taxes demanded by the Turkish government, and is regarded as the first serious attempt that the Turks have made to extort taxes from the independent tribes. The present course of the government is taken in some quarters as an indication that the sultan has set on foot a systematic persecution of Christians in all parts of the empire.

Fully one-half of the people, or 150 families of the local township, are going hungry, many of them living on shorts and some on shorts and bran mixed. They are also in dire need of clothing to hide their nakedness, and seed corn to raise provender for their stock this coming winter.

We do not ask for money, but of course will not refuse it. We need immediate aid to help us over June and July, especially until we can harvest our scanty wheat crop of two to four bushels per acre. In the name of suffering humanity we appeal to you for such food and other things as you can spare to help the destitute and that as soon as you possibly can to appease the hunger of crying children. IN PARADISE.

A mother came to the gateway of heaven. She was aged and weary. Her body was bowed, and her face wrinkled and withered, for her burden had been the burden of care and trouble and sorrow. So she was glad to be done with life and to seek at the gateway of heaven the fulfillment of the promise that had been her solace through all the hard, bitter years.

"Whom seekest thou?" asked the angel.
An angel met the mother at the gateway and put her arms about the drooping figure and spoke gracious, tender words.

"I seek my dear ones, who came hither before me," answered the mother. "They are very many—my father, my mother, my husband, my children—they are all here together, and for many and weary years I have lived in my loneliness, with no other things to cheer me but the thought that I should follow them in good time."

"Yes, they are here, and they await thee," said the angel. "Lean upon me, dear mother, and I will lead thee to them."

Then the angel led the mother through the garden of paradise, and the angel and the mother talked as they walked together.

"I am not weary now," said the mother, "and my heart is not troubled."

"It is the grace of heaven that restoreth thee, dear mother," quoth the angel. "Presently thou shalt see all the new life, and thou shalt be young again, and thou shalt sing with rapture, and thy soul shall know the endless ecstasy of heaven."

"Alas, I care not to be young again!" said the mother. "I care only to find and to be forever with my beloved ones."

As they journeyed in their way a company came to meet them. The mother saw and knew her dear ones, even though the heavenly life had glorified their countenances the mother knew them, and she ran to greet them, and there was great joy to her and to them. Meanwhile the angel kept steadfastly by her side.

Now the mother, when she had embraced her dear ones, looked at each of them separately once more, and then she said: "Ye are indeed my beloved—my mother, my father, my husband and my children! But there is one who should be of your company whom I do not see—my babe, my little helpless babe that came hither alone so many, many years ago. My heart faileth, my breast yearneth for that dear little lamb of mine! Come, let us go together and search for her; or await me here under these pleasant trees while I search and call in this fair garden for my dear, lost little babe!"

The others answered never a word. But the angel said, "I will go with thee, mother, and together we shall find thy child."

As they went on their way the angel said: "Shall I tell thee of myself? For I was a little helpless babe when I came hither to this fair garden and into this heavenly life."

"Perchance thou knowest her, my precious lambkin?" cried the mother.

"I was a babe when I came hither," said the angel. "See how I am grown, and what happiness hath been mine! The compassion of divinity hath protected and fostered me and hath led me these years in the peace that passeth all human understanding. God hath instructed me in wisdom, and he shall instruct thee, too, for all who come hither are as children in his sight and they shall grow in wisdom and in grace eternally."

"But my babe—my own lost little one, whom I have not held in these arms for so many weary years—shall she not still be my little babe, and shall I not cradle her in my bosom?" asked the mother.

"Thy child shall be restored to thee," said the angel. "For she yearneth for thee even as thou yearnest for her. Only with this difference, dear mother: Thy child hath known, in the grace of the heavenly wisdom, that at the last thy earthly sorrow should surely be rewarded with the joys of the endless rapture in paradise!"

"Then she hath thought of me and longed for me to come," cried the mother, "and my lost babe shall be restored and shall know her mother again!"

"Aye, she loveth thee fondly," said the angel, "and she hath awaited thy coming, in these many years. Presently thine eyes shall be opened, and thou shalt see her standing before thee in her heavenly raiment, whiter than snow, and about her neck thou shalt David, and thou shalt see her wearing most precious pearls—the tears which thou hast shed, oh, lonely mother, and which are the pearls the little ones in heaven gather up and cherish as an adornment most pleasing unto God and them."

Then the mother felt that her eyes were opened, and she turned and looked upon the angel, and the mother saw that angel was her lost beloved child, whom she was seeking—not the helpless babe that she had thought to find, but a maiden of such heavenly beauty and gentleness as only the dwellers in paradise behold and know. And the mother spread her arms and gave a great cry of joy and folded her very dear one to her bosom.

Then presently they returned together to the others. And there was rapturous acclaim in paradise, and it was to God's sweet pleasure that it was so, for a mother and her beloved commended in the holy companionship of love everlasting.—Chicago Record.
