Saloonless Town Was Strange to Lodge Visitors.

Opinion of K. & L. of S. Team From Pueblo, Colo.

WON NATIONAL PRIZE

At Philadelphia, Pa., Two Years Ago—Compete Again.

Entertained by Victor Council No. 4 of North Side.

"It seems so strange not to see any saloons here." This was the remark made by many of the degree staff of the K. and L. of S. from Pueblo, Colo., while visiting Topeka yesterday en route to Springfield, Ill. At that place they will attend the national convention of the lodge and compete again for first prize. Two years ago the same team won first prize at the national convention of the order held at Pittsburgh, Pa. They are now considered the best team in the United States.

A reception committee from Victor council No. 4, K. and L. of S. of the North side, had been notified of their coming and met them at the Santa Fe at 2:45 p. m. From that time until 7:15, when they left to continue their journey, they were shown through the capitol building and other points of interest in Topeka by the committee as well as given a supper at 6 o'clock at the North side lodge hall by Victor council.

This was the first time that many of the visitors were ever in Topeka, or in this part of the country. The majority of them expressed great admiration for this city and were particularly struck with the "saloonless" aspect of the place. Before leaving the Pueblo team gave an exhibition drill for the benefit of their hosts. The committee who "showed 'em the town" follows: H. H. Bair, Miss Lena Hohannaum, Miss Irma Leff, Mrs. Mollie Robinson and Mrs. Susie Collier.

MARS OVER ROUTE.

Establishing Path for Aeroplane Flight Wednesday.

Kansas City, June 14.—They need pathfinders for an aeroplane race, too. Not a man-bird to blaze a way through the air, but a motor car to cover the route, to mark the dangerous spots, to find places where landing is possible and to make a general chart of the land.

This morning an auto started over part of the route of the Mars will fly tomorrow in his flight from Lawrence to Overland park. In the pathfinder party were Mr. Mars and Charles Williams, another aviator.

The entire thirty-four miles the craft is scheduled to cover Wednesday will not be marked today—just the final lap of the course between Olathe and Overland park, where the chances of uncheduled landing will be much greater than at the start of the flight.

Small captive balloons will be staked out along the course so, the aviator, flying several hundred feet high, will know whether he is following the right course.

The exact hour when the aeroplane will begin its flight down the Kaw valley has not been set. Mr. Mars and W. B. Strang, the promoter of the contest, will determine that this afternoon. It is believed, however, the machine will leave Lawrence about 3:30 o'clock, so the landing can be made at Overland before 5 o'clock.

Olathe will be the only stopping point, unless the aeroplane meets with an accident. Mr. Mars will stop only long enough to oil his propeller and take on fuel. Then he will start on the last lap of his trip.

Two mechanics who follow Mars in all his aerial exhibitions will speed after the aeroplane in a motor car from Lawrence. They do not expect to be able to keep up with him, but if the aviator should meet with an accident, they could soon catch up. At Olathe a Strang car will wait the arrival of the aviator and race in the fourteen miles to Overland park with the aeroplane.

Although the flight which Mars has set out to accomplish is only thirty-one miles long, it will be a remarkable feat if the aviator is successful. It will be almost as difficult as the feat attempted by Charles K. Hamilton yesterday, although the course is only one-fifth as long.

Here is the difference: Hamilton flew in a 60-horsepower machine. Mars will attempt his journey in a 24-horsepower machine, hardly half the size of the one that carried Hamilton.

Whether Mars attains his goal or not, he will give a series of flights at Overland park Thursday.

John L. Interested.

Philadelphia, June 14.—John L. Sullivan, on his way to the Jeffries-Johnson fight in San Francisco, nearly missed his train yesterday at Jersey City in his eagerness to see aviator Hamilton in his flight from New York to Philadelphia.

John L. was so interested in Hamilton's doings he insisted on getting the latest returns before starting for his train. He said:

"You know Hamilton and I are doing big jobs now and don't want this little fellow to fall down. I don't want to leave until I at least learn he came to no harm in that Jersey bog."

Sullivan was assured at 4 o'clock that no damage had been done to Hamilton personally, and then he started for the Pennsylvania station in Jersey City.

Cats Wanted at Gary.

Chicago, June 14.—The United States Steel corporation at Gary wants cats. The demand for cats is due to the number of rats that infest the plant. For months the company has been pestered by rodents and every known form of poison and traps have been tried without success. The first blow came when one of the rats got tangled up in one of the great dynamos which gives power to the blast furnace mill.

Gasoline Launch Sinks.

Chicago June 14.—A gasoline launch containing four men caught fire and sank a mile and a half off Addison street early this morning when the gasoline tank exploded. All the occupants were rescued by the occupants of another launch which was a quarter of a mile distant when the explosion occurred.

Death of an Old Plainsman.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 14.—Walter P. Sanders, 79 years old, died at his home here today. He was an old plainsman and was engaged in many battles with Indians while freighting between St. Joseph and Denver before the days of railroads. He was a pioneer Missouri river hardware merchant.

LANDS IN A TREE.

Aeronaut Flies a Dirigible Over New York City.

New York, June 14.—Another aeronaut loomed up today, this time in a dirigible balloon. Fred Owens, a 29-year-old resident of Belleville, N. J., brought business to a virtual standstill in lower Manhattan by suddenly appearing in his airship, flying across the Hudson river and then attempting to land his craft in City Hall park.

Owens found that landing had its elements of hazard as well as those of flying. His dirigible became unmanageable in the air current between the city hall and the county court house and the framework of the gas bag bumped a chimney of the frame and putting the propeller out of business.

Owens threw out a rope and tried to land, but the gas bag shot upward and the dangling rope eluded a crowd of onlookers; the aeronaut and his unmanageable dirigible floating away in the direction of Brooklyn.

Owens made a test trip of 10 miles with his dirigible this morning from Belleville, N. J., to Passaic and returned.

Owens' helpless dirigible, gradually rising, floated across the East river and when nearly over the city hall in Brooklyn apparently reached a layer of still air. He hovered for some time directly over the Brooklyn business section and then began a slow drift further toward the Long Island interior. Owens concluded his morning's flying ventures when his airship landed in a shade tree in the Bushwick
