GETS GOOD CROWDS.

Wagstaff Well Received in Miami and Woodson.

Yates Center, July 8.—Tom Wagstaff, Republican candidate for governor, spoke here last night. His supporters say Mr. Wagstaff had one of the most enthusiastic meetings held in this place for many years. It was the intention to have an open air meeting, but owing to a severe wind and rain storm it was necessary to adjourn to the court house, and notwithstanding the severe storm it was filled to its capacity. Mr. Wagstaff's speech was well received and there is no question but that it gained many votes for him. Woodson county gave Governor Stubbs a majority two years ago but the Wagstaff workers say there is a big change in sentiment among the farmers in this county and their estimate is that the county will be close, and in all probability will give Mr. Wagstaff a majority.

Mr. Wagstaff came to Yates Center from Paola yesterday afternoon, where he had spoken to a large, enthusiastic meeting of Republicans the night before. His crowd at Paola was estimated at 500, and so well was his speech received and so deep an impression did the arguments make that he produced against the present administration, that his friends say that several men who had circulated Stubbs' petitions early in the campaign declared that they could not support him at the primary and from now on they would work for Wagstaff.

Mr. Wagstaff's friends claim he will carry Miami county by a good majority.

Money For K. U. Building Can't Be Used.

Auditor Rules That Appropriation Has Lapsed

SAYS LAW IS PLAIN.

Has Not Been Adhered to in the Past.

Similar Question Involved With Memorial Building.

The proposed administration building for Kansas university is hung up on the same snag with the Memorial building so far as using the appropriation for the year ending June 30, 1910, is concerned. The trustees in charge of the building can use only such money of the appropriation as is necessary to pay for material on the ground and for work that has been done. The rest of the appropriation for the first year will have to be carried back into the state treasury as by law provided.

The sum of $50,000 was appropriated for the first year and $75,000 for the second year. Of course the $75,000 can be used, but only that much of the $50,000 will be available as is necessary to pay for material on hand and work done. They have the excavation made on the building and some penitentiary brick piled on the site, but not much more has been accomplished.

When asked about the university administration building today and whether they could go ahead and use the $50,000 appropriation after June 30, Auditor Nation today declared that they could not do so. It is against the law. That is all.

There will only be available the $75,000 for the building and some $10,000 or $15,000 that can be used now to pay for work done and material on hand. Contracts for material will not be accepted, only material bought and delivered can be paid for out of the first year's funds.

The matter of the university building was referred to at the time work on the Memorial building was abandoned, and it was said then that of the university could go ahead and build its building the Memorial commission could do likewise. But the people who took it for granted that the university could go ahead and use its appropriation after the time limit set by law had expired, were premature.

A ruling that has not always been strictly enforced in the past will be applied to the letter and the spirit hereafter, and that is in regard to the custom (not general but rather occasional) of department heads drawing on the new appropriation when they run out of funds during the year. Right now some of the departments are out of funds and they want to draw on their 1911 appropriation six months before the legislature meets, but this will not be allowed in any case. It is not so wrong as it is irregular.

THEY GOT $5,000.

Two Swindlers Secured Life's Savings of Retired Cigar Manufacturer.

New York, July 8.—Detectives are today hunting for two men who, passing as trustees of the "Carnegie Thrift Fund," yesterday swindled an aged Brooklyn man out of $5,000, his life's savings. Nicholas Jacobs, a retired cigar manufacturer, 82 years old, was their victim.

One of the swindlers who was represented as having won the $10,000 prize in a "thrift lottery" conducted by the fund, was filled with sympathy for Jacobs because both Jacobs and he were fellow mariners, rheumatism, and he wanted to divide the prize with him. The other swindler protested, however, that by the rules of the thrift fund only persons who had been thrifty were entitled to share in it.

Had Jacobs been thrifty? Indeed he had; he had $5,000 in the savings bank. Was he willing to draw it out and show it to his benefactors in earnest of his thrift? He was more than willing; he was eager to do so.

So he drew out the $5,000 and his friends placed it carefully in a box, together with the whole $10,000 which his rheumatic friend had won in the lottery, and Jacobs was placed in custody of the box. But there was a mix-up somewhere, for when the old man finally grew suspicious and went to the police station last night, his box was found to contain a varied assortment of paper, but no paper money.

TRUSTEE FOR CONVICT.

One Is Sought for Estate of Otho Battles.

Application for the appointment of a trustee for the estate of a man now serving a sentence in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth was filed in the probate court of this county this morning and will be heard next week. Otho Battles, formerly a mail carrier, is the convict for whose estate a trustee is asked. He was convicted about a year ago of robbing the mails. Battles had been in the public eye since he had benefited from the public's sympathies prior to the time when he was arrested for pilfering from the mails. He had, a couple of years or so ago, been the victim of an accident, in which he lost his leg. A public subscription was started for him, its purpose being to give the young man the benefit of further education, and several hundred dollars were thus collected.

Only a part of the money had been spent at the time Battles got into trouble and it is this money that Annie Spikes, the petitioner in the probate court, wants placed at the disposal of Hugh T. Fisher as trustee, as she says Battles owes her money. Two points have already been raised as possible objections to this procedure. First, the fact that Battles is now a charge of the United States government may make it difficult for the trustee to handle the money for the jurisdiction of the probate court. Second, the fact that the money for which a trustee is asked is already a trust fund dedicated to the young man's education may make it unavailable for disbursement in payment of other claims.

Two children of Mrs. August Ruck, the woman who killed herself last week, yesterday were ordered to the Orphans' home at Atchison. Schoch will endeavor to arrange for its treatment in a local hospital.

Commissioner Miller has arranged with several of the big water consumers in the city to use city water at certain times so that the city will be able to flush the streets during the week. Until the new well at the water-works is connected with the pumps it is necessary for the city officials to be supplied with their water. Commissioner Miller does not want to find it necessary to pump river water into the mains this hot weather.

A party of Rock Island officials passed through Topeka last night on their way to Herington and the southwest. They will inspect the gumbo ballast pits in the central part of the state and make plans to ballast with gumbo ballast from the west.

The party was composed of A. C. Ridgway, assistant general manager of Chicago; General Superintendent J. B. Smalley of Topeka, and Division Engineer H. M. Stone of Topeka.

Three Motherless Children. The juvenile court has charge of the three children left motherless by the suicide of Mrs. August Ruck, who took chloroform last week during a fit of despondency. Two older children were adopted by the county, but the youngest, an infant of 14 months, is said to have been seriously injured a few months ago by his mother, who said to have thrown it from her arms in a fit of passion. On this account the child has been refused admission to the Orphans' home. The children were reported by Humane Officer Kilmaurs King.
