SOCIETY

Mrs. J. D. M. Hamilton entertained her bridge club today at her home in Topeka avenue. Those who played for absent members were: Mrs. Marie Price Wear, Mrs. Schuyler Nichols and Mrs. I. Hale.

Society has been active in many ways this winter, with some important teas in the early part of the season, dances all through the winter, and a good many club affairs of a semi-social nature. But now there are but few parties of importance, except among the college and high school people. Some are keeping Lent, some are resting, and others are preparing their spring clothes, and still others are relaxing the strain on their finances. An occasional small social function bursts into view to console the S. R., but at this time of the year the hostess touchingly pleads to have the news withheld because it is so small, and the old song of "I am indebted to many" is heard with all the variations.

The young people of high school age are to have a dancing party next Saturday night. The affair is to be given at the Country club, and Mr. Wilbur Cole will be host.

There is some assurance that a second The-Damsant will be given soon after Easter, which falls this year on the 12th of April. Meanwhile, preparations are being made for the presentation of the pantomime play "Sleeping Beauty," which will be given in March by the women and girls of the Social Service club.

Dr. E. C. Wilms, formerly professor of philosophy in Washburn college, has been elected head of the department of philosophy in Bryn Mawr college, and will assume his duties there next fall. Mrs. Wilms will also have a piano studio in Bryn Mawr. Dr. Wilms has written extensively on philosophical and psychological topics, and is the author of the following books: "The Problem of Religion," "The Culture of Religion," "The Philosophy of Friedrich Schiller," and "Henri Bergson: A Study in Radical Evolution."

The Crochet club will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. B. Swan, 914 King street.

The meeting of the Chaldean club to have been held today, has been postponed one week. The club will be entertained Monday, March 9, by Mrs. Silas Porter.

Mrs. B. F. Akers will entertain the Duplicate Whist club Tuesday afternoon.

The newly elected officers of Sorosis club, which held its business meeting Saturday afternoon with Mrs. J. Ware Butterfield, are: Mrs. C. J. Evans, president; Mrs. Thomas Lyon, secretary; and Mrs. A. A. Godard, treasurer.

The concert to have been given Wednesday by Miss Nell Kouns and Miss Sara Kouns at the First Baptist church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Music club, has been postponed indefinitely. Notice will be published when the date for the concert is decided upon. The postponement is made on account of the death of Mrs. Scott Hopkins, who was a member of the club.

Mrs. D. L. Whitney gave a party Saturday afternoon for her little granddaughter, Elizabeth Spear, who celebrated her seventh birthday anniversary February 22. The hostess was assisted by Miss Vivian Bush, and the guests were: Elizabeth Spear, Helen Goodwin, Elizabeth Patten, Mary Camuse, Cleo Camuse, Mildred Graber, Virginia Welty, Mary Lee Vance, Katharine Drum, Jean St. John, Evelyn Shaw, Mary Buck, Adel Badger, Tressa Perkaaka, Clifford Baker and Alexander Harvey.

Another anniversary party given Saturday afternoon was in honor of Margaret Morrison, and her mother, Mrs. T. S. Morrison, was hostess. Mrs. W. H. Bird, Miss Elizabeth Morrison, Miss Adaline Spickerman and Miss Ruth Zimmerman assisted. The guests were: Margaret Morrison, Edna Spickerman, Louis Zimmerman, Lucile Johnston, Helen Kestfield, Mildred Darlow, Thelma Steinmeyer, Irene White, Lois Ferguson, Helen Studdard, Marion Studdard, Leo Black, Elinor Black, Doris Flanagan, Josephine Gilmore, Caroline Dozier, Helen Whittlessey, Eunice Clark, and Madeline Stewart.

The alumnae chapter of the Sigma Delta Psi sorority will give a party Tuesday evening, March 17, called an "Irish Stew." The party is an annual affair, and the feature of the evening is a burlesque play written and acted by the alumnae girls. The party will be given at the home of Miss Bernice Emahiser, and will be preceded by a dinner.

The Sigma Delta girls have chosen St. Patrick as the patron of the sorority, and St. Patrick's day is elaborately kept. The first party in honor of the day was given Saturday afternoon at the Country club. The flowers used in decorating the rooms were narcissi, and the score cards were green, and other decorations appropriate to the occasion were used. Music was furnished by an orchestra. The early part of the afternoon was spent at bridge, and afterwards there was dancing.

The party was given for some of the new students and for the sorority pledges. The hostesses were: Miss Juliet Pettyjohn, Miss Mary Ferguson, Miss Helen Johnston, Miss Mary Wickwire, Miss Marjorie Rodgers, Miss Esther Clark, Miss Margaret Tillotson, Miss Adelaide Johnston, Miss Marguerite Selzer, Miss Helen Guild, Miss Ruth Kaster, Miss Frances Perry, Miss Marie Porter, Miss Erna Zutzoven, Miss Maude Hawley, Miss Mary Parkinson, Miss Marguerite Klene, Miss Marjorie Lyle and Miss Mary Van Vechten. The guests included: Miss Isabel Savage, Miss Beulah Scarie, Miss Helen Crawford, Miss Margaret Shakeshaft, Miss Helen Cook, Miss Marian Walp, Miss Violet Crumbine, Miss Marie Miller, Miss Louise Bell, Miss Marguerite Thrapp, Miss Jane Alexander, Miss Gertrude Gray, Miss Katherine McParland, Miss Grace Dana, Miss Margaret Ewers, Miss Helen Neese and Miss Helen Welty.

A pair of tango garters are shown to the left of the group. Shirred pink satin ribbon was used for the garters proper with a rosette decoration of baby ribbon. To these garters was gathered a knee length ruffle consisting of all-over shadow lace, double-edged lace beading run with satin ribbon and below this deep shadow lace edging finely pleated. The jeweled tiara to the right was simple and smart and was softened and rendered becoming by the white aigrette which sprung from its center ornament. Fine white tulle stiffened by invisible wires formed the hair ornament at the foot of the group. This was sparingly sewn with rhinestones. The butterfly effect was further increased by the antennae of wire also jeweled tipped.

A dispatch from Paris gives the results of some observations on fashionable attire worn at the races in that city. Apart from the extremes which fashion experts say are only tentative experiments before the final models for the season are selected, today's meeting was remarkable for the introduction for afternoon wear of colored wigs, a revival of the blue serge skirt and especially for a startling attempt to launch frilled pantaloons of fine linen with alencon lace which were worn with a short crinoline skirt.

The whole scheme of this costume was most faithfully carried out. The material was old fashioned silk of natural color with small roses and an 1830 bonnet tied under the chin which vividly recalled visions of Dolly Varden.

Regarding hats, although everybody is wearing exceedingly small shapes, practically no aigrette plumes are to be seen. According to expert authority this is only a passing phase. Later in the spring parade and oesprey feathers may again hold sway.

A real novelty in perfectly good taste is a tailor-made suit of finest blue serge with a long overcoat, reaching almost to the ankles, either full or pleated, giving the impression of a hosopier. At first glance the costume looks like a coat and skirt, but in reality it is a one-piece gown with a very high waist.

Soft pongee in sombre coloring is a great favorite in place of cloth for walking costumes as it lends itself to the tailor-made lines.

Red Sox Feel Loss of Joe Wood—Team Threatened.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 2.—With Pitcher Joe Wood lost to the Boston Red Sox until June 1 or 15, as a result of the operation performed on him for appendicitis last Saturday, the team's pennant chances will be completely riddled should Tris Speaker, who is homeward bound from the trip around the world with the tourists, sign up with the Federals. "Cobb may be a better drawing card than Speaker, but Tris is worth a whole lot more to his team and his manager than the Georgia peach," stated Captain Heinie Wagner of the Red Sox today.

Dr. Mahy at First Presbyterian. Dr. George Gordon Mahy preached to large audiences yesterday at the First Presbyterian church. These services were the first of a series of evangelistic meetings which will be conducted every evening this week by Dr. Mahy. It is not too much to say that Dr. Mahy made a profound impression on his audience yesterday. He is distinctly different in his methods and type of preaching from the usual evangelistic, and by the sanest of methods succeeds in reaching the hearts and wills of the most intelligent. Dr. Mahy spent a week recently at Emporia college, and President Culbertson reports that never in the history of the college has the religious life of the college been so stirred and revived. These meetings at the Presbyterian church are open to all and the public are cordially invited.

"You do not offer enough." "I don't quite get you, duke," said the heiress. "That's the idea. You don't quite get me. Another lady has raised the bid"—Judge.

IS YOUR CHILD'S TONGUE COATED?

Look and See, Mother! When Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When persistent, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company," Inc., as any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

The white old man drowns in the chimney corner—his shriveled chin sunk into his breast, his weary, quiet feet turned sole to sole in slippers that flip when he walks, his hair in a remnant of the black lock that once fell over his brows in a wave that shone like a bird's wing, his spectacles slipped down on his pinched nose, a strange little smile in the wrinkled corner of his lips. And sometimes he heaves a soft sigh under his chin and smiles and nods his head gayly.

And the two lovers who peep in at him on their way to the frozen pond look deep into one another's eyes and whisper, "He'd never understand!" But ah-h, wouldn't he? How can they know that his ghost—the white little wraith of a GIRL—drifts from the flames of the hearth and the dreams in his own white head, and nods and beckons and calls his name—her hair still gold after all these long dead years, her chin as softly curved as a baby bird's breast, a bit of velvet ribbon about her swiftly-moving wrist as she winds the yarn from his out-held hands? How can they know that when he sighs in his drowse she has turned her bright head to one side in the old, old trick and said, "Is THAT how much you love me?" How can they know when he smiles that he has begged again to drop her pale blue yarn and use his hungry arms for "better things," and she has wound faster and faster and denied? How can they know that he winds again the soft blue wool for a Girl whose silken curls and slim white hands and tender mouth have long ago fallen into dust? Ah-h-h, WOULDN'T he understand?—NELL BRINKLEY.
