APRIL WEATHER.

Conditions in Kansas Were Unusually Favorable, Says Report.

The weather in April for Kansas as a whole was unusually favorable, according to the report today from the local weather bureau.

The report reads: There was plenty of moisture for present needs in nearly all counties, sufficient sunshine and warm weather to start vegetation nicely and permit of an unusual amount of outdoor work, and no frosts or freezes late enough in the month to do any material damage anywhere except on the southeastern and south-central counties, where considerable fruit, alfalfa and early vegetables were injured to a small extent by a freeze on the 8th and 9th.

The first half of the month was abnormally cool, with freezing weather in all parts on the 8th and 9th, but this deficiency was more than made up for by the warm weather of the last two weeks, and the month averaged above normal over two-thirds of the state. The mean temperature for the state was 55 degrees, which was a fraction of a degree above normal. The highest temperature recorded was 99 degrees, at Farnsworth on the 21st; the lowest, 9 degrees, at Leoti on the 8th.

The average precipitation for the entire month of the state, 1.94 inches, the middle third, 1.46 inches; the western third, 1.87 inches, and the state average, 1.76 inches, which is 0.79 inch below normal and makes it the eighth driest April on record.

The deficiency in precipitation was general in all except a few western counties, but the average for the month was greater than that of any of the three previous months of the year. Very few parts of the state, except the central counties, reported less than an inch of rain during the month. Most of the two eastern tiers of counties and several scattered counties in the western half reported from 2 to 9 inches. The least monthly total reported was 0.10 inch at Hutchinson, and the greatest, 3.58 at Oswego.

In the western half of the state considerable damage was caused by high winds blowing the soil, just after the middle of the month, but these were followed in most counties by soaking rains, and at the close of the month crops that were up were looking fine in all parts of the state, and spring work was well in hand.

TRAFFIC BUREAU WORK

It Has Saved Topeka Merchants Much Money.

The Topeka Traffic association, which has saved Topeka merchants, manufacturers and others thousands of dollars through the reduction of rates and the collection of claims, will be on a more substantial business basis in the next year than has been the case since the organization was first organized two years ago. That is, there will be a larger membership and more money with which to operate. Over five thousand dollars has already been received by H. D. Driscoll, commissioner, in renewals and new memberships, and a large number of new memberships are expected to be received by the date of the annual meeting which will be held before the middle of May. The cost of maintaining the bureau in the year ending April 20 was $4,863.86.

Several members of the bureau have increased their subscriptions this year because of the results produced by the organization and others are applying for memberships without solicitation.

The directors of the association will meet some evening this week. Commissioner Driscoll will submit a financial report and the board will appoint a committee of three to nominate directors. The terms of two of the directors have expired, W. H. Davis and C. M. Lawrence. The latter has left the city.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Advice by a Distinguished Specialist.

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach and leading to probably unnecessary suffering. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of Malted Magnesia, a simple antacid, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause greatest distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little Malted Magnesia, which has been obtained from any druggist. The stomach should always be kept healthy.—Adv.
