

SOCIETY

A number of the prominent organizations of the town are interested in assisting in the great Kansas pageant to be given on Washburn college campus the ninth of June. Among the people responsible for the success of a part of the pageant are the members of the Topeka Federation of Women, through a committee appointed to make arrangements for a section of the display. Mrs. Jonathan Thomas is chairman of that committee, and Mrs. Bennett K. Wheeler is vice chairman.

The Federation is to be in charge of the pageant for the period extending from the time of the first permanent white settlements to the admission of Kansas as a state in 1861; that is the "free soil" or territorial period. The committee has divided their part of the pageant into ten scenes, the opening one to be the reading of Eugene Field's poem, "Quizero," which tells of the coming of the Spaniards in the period of discovery. Miss Lucy Kingsman will have charge of the scene.

Scene 2 will show an Indian near looking toward the east for the coming of the white men, and this will be followed by a file of Indians moving off to the west to make way for the incoming settlers. Miss Clara Francis will be in charge of the two Indian scenes.

Throughout the pageant it is the purpose to keep the display strictly historical. The Rotary club has charge of the pageant that shows the Indian period. It is their intention to bring Indians, either from the Potawatomi or from Haskell, and the Federation committee counts on borrowing the Rotary club's Indians.

The next stage of the territory's progress will be represented by a prairie schooner, bringing a family of settlers. There will be the necessary paraphernalia, not yet entirely arranged for. The committee hopes to be able to have a yoke of oxen to haul the schooner. The pageant will go on to show the emigrants leaving their wagons to make their homes on the prairie. This division of the pageant will be in charge of Mrs. DeWitte C. Nellis, who was born in the territory of Kansas, and has lived in the state all her life.

The prairie schooner days and first home building will come the pony express. The scene will show a pony and rider bringing mail to the settlers. Col. J. W. E. Hughes has been asked to look after that part of the pageant.

The stage coach period follows the express. A real stage coach that is a relic of territorial days will be used, and will be occupied by members of pioneer families. The costuming will be in keeping with the time, and the scenery will be of the stage coach party will wear hoop skirts. Mrs. H. P. Dillon and Mrs. C. W. Kouns are making arrangements for the stage coach division of the pageant.

After the stage coach will be shown the "Becher Rifles." In the time of the border troubles Henry Ward Beecher sent a company of men to Kansas, who carried in with them the rifle he supplied them and in the other hand a Bible. Some of those rifles are still in the basement of the capitol building, and they will be shown in the pageant. Mrs. M. A. Low will have the rifle display in charge.

After the Beecher rifles is the Underground Railway part of the pageant. This will show how the covered wagons, making trips at night, assisted in the escape of runaway slaves. Mrs. A. A. Godard will have charge of it.

The last scene will be a tableau which is to be an epitome of Kansas. Mrs. M. C. Hammett and Mrs. M. C. Low will have charge of arranging the tableau.

The matter of costumes and invitations will be in the hands of Mrs. Charles Skinner.

The material for the pageant is being collected at the cost of a great deal of effort. All the articles used are genuine, so far as it is possible to obtain them. Some things are being brought from Lawrence and other settlements that have the relics that are needed for the success of the pageant.

the wedding were: Mrs. Brenton Woodward of Lawrence, Mrs. Frank Pollock of Independence, Mr. and Mrs. Loveland of Topeka, Oregon, and Miss Hazelle Loveland of New York. About 250 guests were invited to the wedding.

Dr. and Mrs. Loveland have left for a short wedding trip, to be gone a few days. At home after June 15 at 138 Woodlawn avenue, Potwin Place.

Mrs. Otis Allen will entertain the Kappa Kappa Gamma alumnae club Saturday afternoon at four o'clock.

The A. R. O. S. of the high school will have a garden party Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Frances Gaw.

Miss Grace Rickenbacher will give a bridge luncheon Saturday. The guests will be thirty of her college friends.

Mrs. J. L. Moore entertained informally Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. Francis L. Spear, who will soon leave for Fairbury, Neb., where she will make her home.

Bethany college senior play will be given Saturday night at the college. Admission 25 cents.—Adv.

The commencement exercises of the Bible classes of Mrs. C. F. Menninger were held Tuesday night in the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Menninger conducts a Bible school, having a class in the Presbyterian Sunday school and classes at the Y. W. C. A. She presented with diplomas the students who have finished a four year course of Bible study, which includes a study of every book of the Bible and every chapter.

The program began with an organ prelude played by Mrs. Arza Clark. Other music was furnished by the Santa Fe Concert company, the members of which were: Mrs. J. S. Smythe, Mrs. J. W. Wahler, Mrs. J. V. Deacon, Mrs. Charles Bair and Miss Lillian Tasek, all of whom sang, and Mrs. Harry Tanski, pianist, and Miss Gladys Gaw, violinist. The quartet sang two groups of numbers and the Good Night song. There was a reading, "The Sign of the Cross," by Miss Georgia Neese, the story being one of a Christian martyr in the days of Nero.

A feature of the evening was an address by Mrs. Menninger, telling of the purpose of holding the school, the progress and something of their history. The first of her Bible classes was organized eighteen years ago, with about twenty-six members. The first week-day classes in Topeka were held in November, 1899. In the years since the first class there have been about 3,500 people engaged in the study of the Bible under Mrs. Menninger's direction. She has pupils in twenty-six states, in Canada, China and New Zealand. Three generations were represented at the commencement last night, in the family of Joseph Otis, a member of the classes, who had with her as students also, her daughter, Mrs. J. F. True, and her granddaughter, a girl ten years old.

At the commencement were three women who had studied under Mrs. Menninger ten consecutive years, Mrs. Charles Vore, Mrs. H. L. Shirer and Mrs. W. E. Hughes. The latter two have been students for eight years, Mrs. Eliza S. Gonder and Mrs. Eugene Quinton. Mrs. Menninger spoke with a good deal of feeling of the women who had continued the Bible study, and especially of those who had given up recreations on the days of the class meetings to be present. For seven years the foundation was of the women of the Bible school. Miss Elizabeth Harkins and Miss Antoinette Williams have not missed a meeting of the class in six years. Mrs. C. F. Joslin, Miss Carrie Robertson and Miss Laura Beverly have been present at every recitation in four years.

After Mrs. Menninger's address, a tableau of the school was presented. The divisions of the books of the Bible into books of the Law, History, Devotional, Poetry, Prophecy and Apocalyptic were marked off by printed signs, and grouped in front of each sign, were the students now studying in that division, wearing the name of the books they are now reading. The tableau in the tableau was made up of girls wearing the letters that spelled the words, "A Living Bible."

Miss Helen Smith and Dr. Forrest Loveland were married Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blood Smith, 827 Topeka avenue. The service was read by Dr. Loveland's father, the Rev. Dr. Frank Lafayette Loveland, pastor of a Methodist church of Portland, Oregon, and formerly pastor of the First Methodist church of Topeka.

The colors for the decorations and the gowning of the bride and groom were pink and white. Pink is the color that the bride has chosen for many of her party gowns, and it is especially becoming to her style of prettiness, with her brown hair and brown hair, and her delicate complexion. The bridal gown was of white crepe made with round length, double skirt. The foundation was of white chiffon, and the overskirt was made in tiers, with deeply scalloped edges of thread lace. The bodice also was of thread lace, with long sleeves and slightly low cut neck. The wedding veil was of point applique, and was fashioned with a cap, wreathed with orange blossoms. The veil was worn by Mrs. Guilford Dudley at her wedding, when Miss Smith was one of the attendants. The bride's bouquet was a shower of pink Killarney roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's sister, Miss Eva Smith, was her maid of honor, and the flower girl was the pretty and lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sallee, and a niece of the bride. Dr. Loveland was attended by Dr. Milton Miller as best man.

The gown worn by the maid of honor was of white lace and net combined with pink charmeuse. The tunic of the pink silk formed the back of the skirt and part of the bodice, and the rest of the gown was of lace. She carried a large round bouquet of sweet peas. The colors of the flowers, shaded outward from the center, were purple, lavender and pink, and the bouquet was fringed with maidenhair fern.

Little Miss Sallee wore a white frock with pink sash and hair ribbons, and she carried a basket of pink sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Before the ceremony, Miss Hazelle Loveland of New York, as sister of the bridegroom, sang "Beloved, It Is Morn." Her accompaniment was played by Mrs. Merrill Mills. Miss Loveland was gowned in pussy willow taffeta of blue, with pearl trimming. She wore a corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas.

The wedding march was the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, and was played by Hall's orchestra. Music throughout the evening following the ceremony was furnished by the orchestra.

The service was read in the living room, and the bride and groom stood before the fireplace, which was banked with palms and ferns, and draped with smilax. On each side was a tall vase of white peonies, and on the mantel were lighted tapers set in silver candlesticks. In the drawing room was a bank of palms and ferns and vases of peonies. On the table in the library was a big vase of pink peonies, and in a tall brass vase was a large cluster of pink Killarney roses. Ices were served in the dining room. In the center of the table was a basket of pink Killarney roses and lilies of the valley. The table was lighted with pink chameuse, made decollete and trimmed with lace. Her bouquet was of pink sweet peas, and the bridegroom's mother, was gowned in black lace, veiling white satin, and carried a bouquet of lavender sweet peas.

The bride is a graduate of Bethany college, and later she took the nurse's training in St. Luke's hospital in Chicago. She has been somewhat interested in local charities, having taught in an East side mission sewing school, and later acted as visiting nurse for the Provident association. She has been much in demand socially, and she and her sisters, Mrs. Eugene Sallee, Mrs. Arner Roberson of the Phillips, and Mrs. Eva Smith, have been counted among the prettiest society girls at the balls and teas and weddings that make up the social activities of the exclusive set.

The guests were received last night by Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Dr. and Mrs. Loveland, and those asked to assist were: Mrs. Edna Redden, Mrs. Lee Redden Gordon, Mrs. Eugene Sallee, Mrs. Jack Dillon, Mrs. Guilford Dudley, Mrs. A. A. Morton, Mrs. A. W. Knowles, Mrs. Doris Norton.

the Ceramic Art club is giving its annual exhibit today on the fifth floor of the Mills building. The exhibit is of unusual interest and shows the advance of the club and its tendency to keep in the vanguard of modern art.

Mrs. Oscar Perkins is showing a pretty dresser set in pink, with shaded candlesticks. The work, in realistic style, shows a tendency to a slight reversion to the older fashion, which is thought to be especially attractive for the use to which she has adapted it.

Mrs. T. S. Stevens has on display a dinner set in a conventional design of green and old gold. Miss Gussie Fuller is showing a breakfast set in blue and gold, which is decorated with a piece tea set of enamel on belleek.

Mrs. W. P. Bishop has a handsome sandwich tray, and a charmingly decorated tea set with decoration of blue birds and silver. Miss Marie Mayhew is showing a cheese and cracker set in enamels of soft toned colors. Mrs. H. Lyman's display includes a chocolate set in odd shape, done in white and gold.

Miss May Hull has a slender vase in luster, with a panel figure of a woman on one side, and with her exhibit is also a pretty tea set in blue. Mrs. M. Hammond is showing a lemonade pitcher in rose and green enamels.

Mrs. J. McDonald has in her exhibit a bon-bon dish that is especially attractive, and a satsuma dish in solid design. Mrs. George Boone has a dress set in lavender and pink. The border design is in baskets containing tiny pink flowers.
