CALLS FOR BOOKS

Demand Is Made by Attorney for C. E. Hulet.

For the Records of the Mills Dry Goods Co.

Demand for inspection and copy of all books and records of the Mills Dry Goods company was filed today with Charles Bowers, clerk of the district court, in the case of C. E. Hulet, a stockholder of the company, against W. W. Mills and the board of directors. The paper is filed by Schoch and Rankin, attorneys for Hulet. Inspection and copy of the records has been granted without contest, according to attorneys in the case. Motion for W. W. Mills, who filed separate answer in the suit recently, to make his answer more definite and certain was also filed by Hulet's attorneys. In the motion Mills is asked to set out the source of authority claimed by him to sell capital stock of the corporation at his option without limitation except as to price. The petition also asks that Mr. Mills amend his answer to show the amount of sums which he alleges are due him from the company as salary and is asked to give the amount of advances which he claims he made to the corporation.

Among records and books of which the plaintiff demands a copy and inspection are all stock journals, all stock ledgers, stub certificates, dividend books in use since the company was incorporated, general ledgers, general journals, tickets of original entry in use since the company was incorporated, records of the proceedings of the board of directors, the audit of the company completed June 29, 1915, the contract of sale of the Mills Dry Goods company to the Mills Stores company and the by-laws of the company.

Dr. Wilson Keith Hobart, physician and surgeon, 704 Mills Building, Office phone 1234, residence phone 1045.

OUR FASHION LETTER

NEW COMBS NOW

Gorgeous and Effective Are the Late Models.

Chaste Chaplets of Leaves in the Natural Green.

BY MARGARET MASON. (Written for the State Journal.) Stuck in her hair, midday fair A stunning comb meets your eye. It gives her such a killing air That all who see, with envy stare. The hair is dressed in a new way, 'Til every head a comb does bear. Quite a la rooster, I declare.

New York, Dec. 31.—The new combs are enough to go to anybody's head, so gorgeous and effective are they. One shop is offering a barbaric model dubbed mandarin and in the form of crescent and other oriental symbols they are elaborately carved and set with semi-precious stones. The new combs are either two, three or four pronged and fit into the new high coilure most artistically.

ROBBERS KILL TWO

Bandits Raid Offices of South Bend Brewing Co. General Manager and His Chauffeur Are Shot Down.

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 31.—Henry Muesel, general manager of the Muesel Brewing company, and his chauffeur, Frank Chrobot, were instantly killed and William Muesel, secretary of the company, was, it is believed, fatally injured, by two masked bandits who entered the office of the company shortly before 6 o'clock Thursday evening. The police have a slight clue to the identity of the murderers.

According to Robert Muesel, 18-year-old son of Walter Muesel, president of the company, who was bound and gagged by the bandits, they boldly entered the office and demanded that the safe be opened. Chauffeur Shot First. Chrobot was standing outside the office door and he was commanded to throw up his hands. He refused and one of the men fired at him point blank, the bullet passing through his mouth.

With guns leveled at the Muesel brothers, the men entered the vault room and told them to give them all of their money. Henry Muesel put up his hands and told them to take the money. Robert Muesel says that in spite of this, the bandits fired at Henry, killing him instantly. Chrobot then turned the gun on William, who put up a fight. He was shot in the stomach and was taken to the hospital unconscious. His condition is serious.

Made Quick Getaway. The bandits ordered Robert Muesel into another room and when he complied, they bound and gagged him. They didn't stop to rob the safe, but fled west on Michigan avenue. Robert escaped and notified the police of the murder. John Wroblewski, 15 years old, saw the men leaving the place. They leveled a gun at him and ordered him out of the way. Henry Muesel's wife and children are visiting her parents in Oklahoma. Relatives notified the family, but said it was only a serious illness, fearing Mrs. Muesel's nervous breakdown.

Does Big Business. City License Collector Has Taken in $20,307 This Year. The office of G. T. Mattingly, city license collector, has prospered this year. He has taken in more money than ever before in the history of the office and over $3,000 more than last year. The total collections for this year are $20,307.47 as against $17,165.58 for last year.

This money was paid in by cab men, jitney men, hucksters, the Topeka street car company, various itinerant vendors and by various other persons and concerns required to take out city licenses. Mr. Mattingly has been in charge of the department since April, 1909, and in that time he has collected a total of $1,430,334 for the city. The collections have shown a growth each year and for the last year make a particularly big jump. Beginning with the year 1909 the
