White Slave Charge Made No Difference to H. D. Hamilton. Oakland Lover and Mrs. M. M. Fair Married This Evening.

ANOTHER'S WIFE IS ON WATCH

Mrs. S. F. Azlein Admits Hamilton a Visitor in Her Home. Acquaintance Formed During Revival Church Meetings.

The mere fact that he has a charge of white slavery hanging over his head, that he has his freedom on a $500 bond, that S. F. Azlein says he will prove in court that he is guilty of criminal relations with Adelin's wife—these facts made no difference when H. D. Hamilton, well-to-do Oakland widower, secured a marriage license at the office of the probate judge today for himself and Mrs. M. M. Fair and left word that they would be married this afternoon by the Rev. E. A. Peterson.

Mrs. Fair is a widow and the mother of a daughter seven years of age. Her age is given as twenty-eight years. Hamilton is a widower, the father of two children, a girl of fourteen and a boy of eleven, and gave his age in the license application at 47 years.

They expect to be married this evening and to make their home immediately in the Hamilton residence recently erected in Oakland. Mr. Hamilton furnished the information that the wedding has been contemplated for some time, both before and after the filing of the charges by Azlein.

CHARGES AGAINST HIM

It was only last Saturday that S. F. Azlein, a machinist at the Santa Fe shops, appeared at the county attorney's office in a state of great excitement and preferred charges against Hamilton. He declared that Hamilton had enticed Mrs. Azlein away from home on more than one occasion for immoral purposes and that he had also visited her in their home, he had Mrs. Azlein with her husband and she verified his statements.

Following her statements, the prosecutor issued charging Hamilton with "white slavery" in that he transported Mrs. Azlein from a given street corner in Oakland to a nearby barn for immoral purposes. Hamilton was arrested and gave bond for $500. He declared that the whole thing was a trap and that he did not know the woman. The Azleins declared that the acquaintance was formed during a series of revival meetings in Oakland.

TOPEKA MUSICAL ART

The Topeka Musical Art society gave Coleridge-Taylor's famous setting of the poem, "Hiawatha," in concert Tuesday night at the auditorium. The program was in two parts, "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," and "The Death of Minnehaha." The chorus, directed by Dean Horace Whitehouse, was a good deal smaller than that which presented the "Messiah" under his leadership during the winter, but the singing was good, the ensemble rather unusually excellent, and the music itself a character that makes a strong popular appeal.

The soprano soloist was Leonora Allen. She has a clear, vital tone of good range, enunciation of singular clarity, and she pleased her audience. The tenor solo work was done by Albert Lindquist, who has sung in Topeka on two or three other occasions. He had one solo for the evening, and was recalled to repeat it. He is a young singer who has gained immense popularity. He sings with ease and authority, and his voice is clear with a fine, ringing quality of tone.

The afternoon concert of the orchestra was of a popular variety, and the music, of a high order, was frankly useful. The vocal soloists for the matinee program were: Miss Jean Vincent Cooper, contralto, and Mr. Lindquist. Miss Cooper appears a very young woman to be the possessor of a voice of the strength and richness that characterizes her singing. The freshness and spontaneity of her singing was calculated to bring a new delight to one who can lay aside the weariness of a season acquired by much hearing of performances, good and bad.

The violin soloist for the afternoon was Richard Czerwonky, the temperamental gentleman, whose ability has been commented on at the time of previous visits to Topeka by the orchestra, and whose distaste for crying babies in the audience is almost as pronounced as his musical genius. A duet was given by Van Vliet, the cellist, and Pierre Perrier, who plays the clarinet. Both of them have appeared with the orchestra before in Topeka.

RUSH TO REGISTER

Topeka Citizens Are Qualifying to Vote on Auditorium Proposition.

Over 100 new names are being added daily to the city's registration rolls, according to a report from the office of the city clerk. Men are registering more freely than women and many who have enrolled recently have made the statement that they were surprised to know that they were not eligible to vote. According to the law if you have moved from the home at which you last voted, you are registered from, even if it be only next door, this fact debars you from voting on any question either city, state or national.

ALLEN TO ROTARIANS

Wichita Editor Spoke Over Bell Phone to Oklahoma City.

Wichita, Kan., April 18.—At eight o'clock last evening two hundred members of the Oklahoma Rotary club listened to an address of twenty minutes by Henry J. Allen over the Bell telephone long distance lines. The feature of this address was that it was delivered in Wichita, 230 miles distant from Oklahoma City. In the directors' room of the Wichita club, the speaker talked into a telephone transmitter, while at Oklahoma City, the Rotarians sitting in their club, each with a receiver, heard the address. The arrangement was made by the Oklahoma City Rotary club of providing a speaker by this novel and unusual means. Every word of Mr. Allen's address was heard distinctly. Following Mr. Allen, Robert Campbell, president of the Wichita Rotary club, addressed the Oklahoma City Rotary club. Each of the speakers heard the applause of the Rotarians at the Oklahoma City club as distinctly as if they had been in their presence. To make such an arrangement possible, it was necessary to introduce many special features. All provisions with the special circuit set-up were prepared in advance for these addresses. Mr. Allen's address was on city government and city improvements.

T. R. Opposes Taking U-Boat Crisis to Congress.

Says "Town Meeting" Can't Conduct Foreign Affairs.

DUTY OF LEADER TO LEAD

President Should Bear Whole Responsibility in Matter.

Colonel Makes No Statement Except to Close Friends.

Oyster Bay, April 19.—That it is impossible to conduct the foreign affairs of the nation by town meetings is the view of Colonel Roosevelt relative to the joint session of congress called by President Wilson for today to advise him in connection with the U-boat situation. "It is the duty of a leader to lead, according to Colonel Roosevelt, and under the constitution, the president is made responsible for foreign affairs. The constitution places upon him the responsibility for the conduct of all foreign negotiations. Congress cannot wisely determine the issues raised in such a situation as that which has been created wholly by the acts of the executive arm of the government."

JURY FAILS TO AGREE

Stands Seven to Five for Acquittal of Charles Smith.

The jury in the second division of the district court failed to agree as to whether or not Charles Smith is guilty of a statutory crime against Paul Higginbottom, and was discharged from the case by Judge G. H. Whitcomb this morning. The case was on trial and was given to the jury before noon yesterday. Smith is out on bond and will remain out. It is up to the county attorney whether the case against him will be tried at the next term of court. This is the second case of this nature in which the same jury has been unable to reach a verdict. Last week it threebbed over the facts in the case in which Harry Grumble was charged with a statutory offense against Helen Taylor, for two days, and was unable to agree.

Knapp for State Auditor

Recommendations Which Should Carry Weight With the Taxpayers Who Foot the Bills.

"SAFETY FIRST" A SAFE RULE IN POLITICS

Former Governor Hoch's Estimate: "I know no man in Kansas better equipped by nature, by clerical ability and experience, by wide state acquaintance, by a knowledge of state institutions and their needs and by peculiar adaptability for the duties of STATE AUDITOR than Fred W. Knapp."

E. B. Schermerhorn, of Galena, Prominent Banker and Business Man Who Knows His Qualifications; Says: "My close observation of the work of Fred W. Knapp as Chief Clerk of the House of 1905, of which I was a member, and of his work as Secretary of the State Board of Control, during the more than five years I had the honor of being Chairman of that Board prompts me to say that I believe he possesses peculiar qualifications which would make his services as STATE AUDITOR especially valuable to the taxpayers of Kansas. His ability, energy and integrity will not be questioned by those who are familiar with his past experience."

FRED W. KNAPP CANDIDATE FOR State Auditor

Subject to the Republican Primaries to be held August 1st, 1916.

Connected with three terms of the legislature.

Chief clerk of the House of Representatives of 1905.

Over five years Secretary of the Board of Control of State Charitable Institutions.

Three years office Deputy United States Marshal.

Holds Degree of "Master of Accounts" from Kansas Wesleyan University.

Resided in Kansas since 1878.

Son of Union soldier.

What the Salina Journal Said of Mr. Knapp's Ability When He Resigned From the Board of Control to Become Editor of the Beloit Gazette in 1911:

"Fred Knapp, Secretary of the State Board of Control, has resigned and is going to come up to Beloit and run a newspaper. The state is losing a first-class man from its employ. Salina is especially interested in Mr. Knapp because he got his business education here. When the Board of Control took charge of the charitable institutions of the state, they found a tremendous problem of bookkeeping confronting them. The law which created the board also created the necessity for an elaborate scheme of bookkeeping. Not only were the affairs of nine great charitable institutions centered in their hands, but the vital, personal records for those institutions were also centered in the Board. The whole system of keeping account of hundreds of thousands of dollars expenses and receipts, and of receiving, assigning and discharging inmates of the institutions must be brought into form for easy reference. There were great books to be designed, systems of reports to be provided, blanks and vouchers and commitments and discharges of almost infinite variety to be devised. Fred Knapp, as secretary of the Board, did the big end of this work. He was the bookkeeping expert on the job. And he followed this up with a system of uniform accounting for all the institutions, so that the Board can keep as close track of the affairs at any institution as though it were located within a stone's throw of the state house. It is not often that the state can find as competent a man as Fred W. Knapp who will do the work he has done for the pay he has received."

MR. KNAPP'S STANDING AT HOME UNLIKE THE PROPHET'S

From the Beloit Daily Call: Fred W. Knapp of Beloit has announced himself as a candidate for state auditor of Kansas on the Republican ticket. Mr. Knapp, through his past official business, has a large acquaintance over this state, and his qualifications for the office are indisputable. Quite naturally he has the hearty support of his many friends throughout this community as well as in other and more thickly settled communities.

From the Beloit Gazette: Fred W. Knapp surprised his friends by giving out a statement in Topeka last Friday in which he announced his purpose of seeking the Republican nomination for state auditor. The experience gained by Mr. Knapp in positions under the state government and in the office of the United States marshal amply qualifies him for the place to which he aspires. Our guess is that the man that beats Knapp for the nomination will know that he has had a race.

From the Glen Elder Sentinel: Fred W. Knapp of Beloit has been announced as a candidate for state auditor, before the Republican primaries in August. Mr. Knapp is well known in Mitchell county and has a wide circle of friends throughout the state. He is thoroughly competent to handle the office of state auditor and he will make a strong candidate for the nomination.

CHIROPRACTIC Mean to You?

Read This Thoroughly The word Chiropactic (pronounced Ki-ro-prak-tic), means done with the hands. The science of Chiropactic is based on the fact that Nerve Energy is the life giving force to the Body—any interference with which, produces a condition called disease. The trunk nerves pass from the spinal cord through the openings between the Vertebrae of the Spinal Column, to All Tissues of the body. Therefore it will be seen, any displacement of those bones will cause an interference with the normal nerve force. It is our business to locate and remove these displacements which will restore Normal Conditions; which means Health. Investigate Before You Condemn
