Addresses National Session of Grain Men in Baltimore. Wild Ovation on Street and in Packed Theater. GRAIN EXPORTS DECREASING President Says U. S. Ought to Double Grain Production. Indorses Reserve Bank and Tariff Commission Acts.

Lytic Theater, Baltimore, Md., Sept. 25.—President Wilson today addressed the farmers and shippers of the country in an appeal for support of the business legislation passed during his term of office. At a meeting held under the auspices of the National Grain Dealers' association, he spoke to a crowd of three thousand people who packed the Lyric theater.

From the time the president arrived here at 1:35 p. m. he was accorded a tremendous reception. The streets were lined with people and long before the hour arrived for his appearance thousands of people were in front of the theater.

Demonstration Five Minutes.—The demonstration which marked the president's arrival at the Lyric theater lasted nearly five minutes. The people stood and cheered and waved handkerchiefs.

Thunderous applause the president declared one of his chief objects had been to see that nothing was done to interfere with the friendly relations between the United States and Latin-America.

President Wilson upheld his tariff policy, defended the federal reserve act and the shipping bill and declared that if his business is properly conducted America has an unexcelled future before it.

"I want to see America seek not to exclude but to excel," said the president in discussing American trade. He spoke in support of the tariff commission created by the last congress.

Politics Interfere With Progress.—"Mr. Wilson declares at the outset that a political campaign seriously interfered with the consideration of public questions. He said he desired his audience to forgive him for the time being that a campaign was on."

"What I have come to say," he said, "I want to say in an atmosphere of calmness."

"I want to speak to you of the business of the world from the standpoint of America."

He said that the export of grain from the United States was decreasing in ratio, adding that the future acreage of the United States should produce at least twice as much grain as at present.

"We have swung out into a new business in America," continued the president. "Now our business has extended to the whole world. Our trade has burst its jacket. We have realized that American business men did not have enough ships to carry their goods."

The president, speaking slowly, turned to a discussion of banking system of the United States.

Government Doesn't Harass Business.—"Only in very recent years," he said, "have we even studied the question. Not until the present federal reserve act was passed did American bankers have proper facilities for carrying on foreign business."

"Not only when this war is over but now America must take its stand in American business on a scale she has never known before."

"A few years ago American business men took up their feet and showed a degree of nervousness to see what the government was doing to them," he continued. "Now they have no nervousness. There is no contest between proper business and the government. We are creating instrumentality thru which it is to investigate and make made of every phase of American business," the president declared.

He was interrupted frequently by handclapping.

"Business must be founded on truth," he said. "We must have co-operation. We must have co-operation between all." As a step in this direction he advocated a law to allow American exporters to utilize common selling agencies abroad.

"My interest in American affairs," he said, "is to do my utmost in releasing the intelligence of America for the service of mankind." No mention was made of the eight-hour legislation.

As he concluded the band played the Star Spangled Banner and the audience stood and cheered again and again.

TOPEKA IS DOOMED

In 20 Years Fair City Will Resemble Rome, Censor Foster Says.

Minus the saving grace of a moving picture censorship, with presumably himself as chief watchdog, Topeka will follow in the footsteps of ancient Rome and sink to her depths of degradation and vice. That was the prediction made by Rev. Festus Foster in a sermon delivered last night at the First M. E. church on "Morality and the Moving Picture Censorship."

In fact, the Rev. Fostering fixed a time limit for Topeka to make the descent—minus the censorship. He mentioned twenty years as the period for uncensored Topeka to be indulging in gladiatorial combats, and other Roman revelry.

Showing the "Deadly grip" of the movies on the country was his assertion that 2,500 Topekanians attend the picture shows whereas only 7,500 turn out for church and Sunday school. An army of 15,000,000 attend afternoon and night picture houses of the United States.

The Rev. Foster also took the opportunity to hand a bouquet to his patron Ross and a jolt to Lizzie Woodster in his statement that "the Kansas City exchanges are backing a woman candidate to defeat Superintendent Ross because the latter insists on enforcing the law to the letter."

"It is up to the Christian people of the community to interest themselves in the fight," he told his audience. "The movie interests are going to do everything in their power to repeal the law. Failing that in they are going to eliminate the preacher from the board."

"Now I know what kind of pictures to choose for Kansas people," Foster modestly announced. "I have lived in Kansas City, Wichita, on a farm, and in all parts of the state. I know what kinds of people Kansas people are and I know what kind of pictures to allow them to see."

"Play ball" is the command given by C. E. Eldridge, manager of the American membership team opposed to the National league team, headed by E. L. Copeland in the world's series membership contest starting next Thursday.

There being no player limit in the Y. M. C. A. membership league, the entire membership of 1,000 has been divided into equal teams and all of them will meet the eve before the battle in a big complimentary baseball supper at the Central Y. M. Wednesday evening.

Among the several hundred players on the American league team the following are all expected to bat: J. D. Willis and Naomi Ruth Dibble, minors.

The plaintiff places the value of the home at $6,000. She says the will of her late husband provided $4,000 to be placed in charge of the trustee for the education of the children. The will, the petition states, also provided that if the widow, the plaintiff, married again before the expiration of ten years the real estate should go to the children. August 2, 1916, the plaintiff says, she married Ursin A. Ralston, and continued to live in the family home.

She says, to her knowledge, the trustee has not paid any of the $3,000 for the education of the children. He also, she says, asks her to pay rent for the home place. On the aforementioned questions the plaintiff asserts that she and the defendant cannot agree and she asks the court to decide upon them. She says she has a new dress made for her by the defendant as the children are in her care and charge. She also says she needs $60 a month with which to take care of and educate the children.

LOST ON RAILROAD

Boy in Refrigerator Car Somewhere in the West.

Prisoner When Playing Band With Other Boys.

LOOKING OUT FOR HIM HERE

Railway and Police Officials Are on the Watch.

No Food or Water for a Chicago Youngster.

Three small boys were playing in the Chicago terminal railroad yard Saturday. They were playing "bandits." A smaller boy was the hostage. He was held for ransom. The two companions captured him. An empty refrigerator car standing in the yard was thought would be an excellent place to hide him. They threw him in and locked the door.

A long freight train rumbled by, stopping and backing to the car made a coupling. Before the two playmates realized it the train was speeding out of sight.

According to word received here, the boy is somewhere in the west between the Chicago terminal yards and the Rocky mountains. He is 8 years old. His name is not known here. He is without food or water and no reports have been received to the effect that he has been found. The number of the car is unknown.

Railroad officials in many parts of Kansas have been notified to watch for the car and investigate trains. That as a matter of precaution. The car pulled out of Chicago on the Panhandle and might have been diverted on any western road. The boy and the car may be in Kansas, in the Dakotas or Texas or other states.

Willis and Naomi Ruth Dibble, minors.

The plaintiff places the value of the home at $6,000. She says the will of her late husband provided $4,000 to be placed in charge of the trustee for the education of the children. IN DISTRICT COURT

Hugh Larimer Will Be Tried Before a Jury.

Charged With Murder of Baker, Alleged Bootlegger.

OFFERED TO DISMISS CASE

Justice Expresses Regret Over Issuance of a Warrant.

Undersheriff and Attorneys Insist on Jury Trial.

At his own request, Hugh Larimer, undersheriff, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the district court today by J. J. Schenck, a justice in Berrington, following the issuance of a warrant, which friends and other county officials say is a political frame-up, Saturday evening by the justice. Larimer, the county attorney and a coroner's jury had exonerated Larimer and held the killing purely accidental. Baker had been arrested and was going to court.

The warrant for Larimer was not brought to Topeka and served on him. He went to Berrington, a justice court today by J. J. Schenck, a justice in Berrington, following the issuance of a warrant, which friends and other county officials say is a political frame-up, Saturday evening by the justice. Larimer, the county attorney and a coroner's jury had exonerated Larimer and held the killing purely accidental. Baker had been arrested and was going to court.

"I certainly would not have been issued a warrant," Larimer said. "I know a coroner's jury had exonerated Mr. Larimer. I want to impress upon attorneys and Mr. Larimer that if I had known the attorney general's office and the county attorney had refused the warrant, I would not have issued it. If I had the thing to do over again it would not be issued by me. It was my impression that I had to issue the warrant when the complaint was made."

Larimer's attorneys asked the preliminary hearing be waived, and produced a written waiver.

The request was granted. Larimer's attorneys asked the preliminary hearing be waived, and produced a written waiver.

"We will demand an immediate trial," J. J. Schenck said after the short legal procedure. "We are going to take the case heard in the district court just as soon as possible before a jury."

In Berrington today Justice Messenger said that the county attorney would ask for dismissal of the case he would grant it.

"We want Larimer proven not guilty before the jury," Schenck said today. "Had we obtained a dismissal before there would have been nothing in the way of the persons prosecuting the case from getting another justice and starting a new case."

The killing of Baker occurred on the afternoon of Sunday, August 13. Larimer was arrested at Topeka, selling liquor. He broke away and ran to escape. Larimer fired several shots in the air. At the last shot he stumbled and fell. He was taken to the hospital by police who witnessed the shooting and said it was accidental. It occurred in the neighborhood of the city police station. The convicted Judge Yates that they were not speeded but the "exhaust on their car was just like the noise," he was released.

Goldie Irving, 33, Mexican, investigation. Sunday morning the police received from Kansas City a request, made on complaint of the woman's husband with whom she has not lived for two years, she says, to pick up the Mexican and white woman, Augustin Alba found Hernandez on Kansas avenue. He and Tom Morgan, plain clothes man, found the woman later. On what charge the woman and Mexican are wanted is not known. But the woman, an old woman with deep lines in her face, told she is only a score and three, told her story and the police sympathies are with her.

She married her husband, the man who issued the complaint for her arrest, when she was but 14 years old, she told Chief Parsons. When 17 years old she was the mother of three children.

There was little gentleness in her home, she said. Two years ago she and her husband parted. Fernando Hernandez, a Mexican, crossed her path.

"He was good to me," she said. "The children like him; he bought me presents and he bought them sweets."

"The woman admitted living under the same roof with Hernandez for the last two years at different times. The two have been in Topeka since last May."

Hernandez is in the bull pen. The woman is in the matron's ward. One child which was with the woman when she was arrested is with its grandmother in Topeka.

Chief Parsons and other members of the force are waiting impatiently for the husband to arrive here and make known his complaint. If he doesn't come this afternoon the two will be released, they say.

WOULD CUT 'DAMN' AND 'HELL' OUT OF CHURCH SERVICES

New York, Sept. 25.—That little word "damn" is worrying many of the leaders in the Protestant Episcopal church. They do not exactly advocate rewriting the Bible but they want the "soft pedal" put on "he word."

Because of this the special commission on revision of the prayer book, which will report next month at the national convention of the communion in St. Louis will recommend that wherever "damn" occurs in the book of common prayer, it be changed to read "condemn." This includes also scripture itself when it is quoted in the liturgical services.

There is also an effort being made on the part of some to change in the prayer, scriptural selections and declarations of faith to read instead "the place of departed spirits."
