Five Americans Perished When Steamer Was Torpedoed.

Situation Revives Crisis Similar to Sussex Sinking.

ONE SHIP OFFICER SURVIVES

Affidavits Agree Vessel Torpedoed Without Warning.

American Consul Cares for 15 U. S. Survivors at Cork.

Washington, Nov. 1.—The situation growing out of the sinking of the steamer Marina by a German submarine today loomed up as an issue fraught with the most serious possibilities since the torpedoing of the Sussex. With six Americans believed to be dead as the result of the sinking of the British steamer, and evidence yet to show that the submarine gave them a chance for their lives, the situation has become extremely grave. Germany has been asked for the submarine commander's report on the affair, while the American diplomatic and consular representatives near the scene have been directed to forward by cable all information that can be gathered.

If the evidence finally shows that the Marina was sunk without warning, the German government, it is agreed, will face the necessity of taking drastic action to expiate the offense. One subject of the offense, however, has been proved guilty of prosecuting "relentless and indiscriminate" warfare against vessels of commerce, the penalty for which this government declared in its Sussex note of April 15, would be the breaking off of diplomatic relations and recognition of the gravity of such action by a submarine commander was shown at the German embassy when the British commander would be punished, if found guilty, his action disapproved by the government, and American victims.

Topeka's newest financial institution, the Kansas Reserve State Bank which opened for business this morning, kept open house last evening, giving a reception for the public at the banking rooms, 824 Kansas avenue. There were orchestra music, souvenirs of various kinds, and the ladies and gentlemen were warmly greeted. At 8 o'clock the callers began to arrive and automobiles were parked all along the block. The reception was given for the stockholders, depositors and the general public.

She was dressed in a gown of grey tulle, with a trimming of lace and a touch of rose-colored satin on the bodice. She wore a large velvet hat and the private offices were decorated with many bouquets of flowers. In the window were baskets of pink roses, and in the offices were ivory-colored Dresden baskets of pink roses. Many of the flowers were gifts from business houses of the city.

The bank is a fine building given a rose to wear, by Miss Ruth Thompson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Thompson, and another by Mrs. M. A. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. MacLennan. Miss Mary Avery gave to the women callers, little leather vanity cases, as follows:

The bank officials have been deluged with letters and telegrams, offering congratulations and good wishes. These messages come from every part of Kansas and the United States. One of the first to write to President Kath was as follows:

"Dear Mr. Kath: We are today in receipt of your delightful letter of $20,000 which we have been pleased to place to the credit of your bank on our books. We are glad to see that you are so successful and shall at all times use our best endeavors to handle such matter as may be entrusted to us in a manner which is to your liking. DEUTSCHLAND AND CONTINUED FORGING DODGES AND DROGES OF WARSHIPS

Dived and Dodged Way Through Atlantic Voyage.

Subsea Liner Reaches U. S. Port on Second Trip.

DELAYED BY A COLLISION

Submarine Brings Fortune in Cargo of Drugs and Dyes.

Joy at New London Dock Survives Fate of the Bremen.

New London, Conn., Nov. 1.—Plunging and diving at times in the path of a storm—the German merchant submarine Deutschland made her second trip to the United States, thru a veritable lane of allied warships. The Deutschland was safely docked at her screened pier here this afternoon, she came out of the darkness and the waves during the early morning hours. Nosing her way up the harbor she was quickly warped in alongside her "mother ship," the Willehad, and with her sailors at liberty some of the details of her second remarkable voyage were learned.

At one time the Deutschland was submerged for ten hours in mid-ocean. The Deutschland was forced to spend this time beneath the waves owing to the presence of hostile war craft lurking nearby, one of the crew declared. Captain Koenig, the commanding officer, who brought the Deutschland on her first voyage was again in command, but up to an early hour this afternoon he had not seen the other boats with officials of the company operating the merchant submarine he had heard of the fate to tell his story of the second trip.

"Saw Lots of Enemy Warships." "We saw lots of hostile ships," said one of the crew. "He was a big six foot German. Strolling good naturedly he told in German snatches of the story of the trip which again brought the Deutschland over and under the ocean."

"There were many more enemy warships out than we saw on the first voyage," he went on. "There seemed to be a multitude of cruisers and ships of other types. I do not know how much of the trip was made under the surface of the sea. It was a continuous period we were submerged was ten hours. This was somewhere in about mid-ocean. Hostile ships were sighted and we were forced to drop out of sight."

"But, it's about the same old story now. Not much difference between the first and second trips. From enemy ships," the sailor concluded. The Bremen is definitely known to be lost. This was confirmed by crew members of the Deutschland's crew.

Buffeted by Gales.
New London, Conn., Nov. 1.—Safe from Atlantic perils after buffeting in rough seas, the German merchant submarine freighter Deutschland docked here early today on her second American voyage. The ship, which departed from Bremen, she hummed thru the Long Island Sound outer harbor shortly after midnight, with her cargo of twenty-five, happy and healthy and her valued cargo of rare medicines and dyes intact.

A Scotch hearing fact, ally Captain Hinshon of the Deutsche Ocean Rederei, Deutschland owners, shouted "Wilkommit" to his friend, Captain Koenig, the smiling skipper from Thuringia. The tug cast her a line and she chugged triumphantly into the harbor. The crew, who had been in British frigates followed years since.

Passes Quarantine Quickly.
Health and customs officers, notified only a brief time before her arrival, waived formalities and allowed that the crew was healthy, and allowed her to pass quarantine without any delay. The ship, which departed from Bremen, she hummed thru the Long Island Sound outer harbor shortly after midnight, with her cargo of twenty-five, happy and healthy and her valued cargo of rare medicines and dyes intact.

Hourly temperature readings furnished by the weather bureau:
7 o'clock.....44 11 o'clock.....63
8 o'clock.....47 12 o'clock.....65
9 o'clock.....52 1 o'clock.....67
10 o'clock.....57 2 o'clock.....69
Temperatures today averaged 9 degrees above normal. The wind is blowing from the northwest.

November was ushered in today with clear skies, moderate snappy weather and a prospect of nothing but fine conditions for at least a few days. Temperatures were above normal last night and the outlook is for continued warm weather. Only a light south-west wind was blowing this morning and the weather might almost be termed Indian summer.

ROWANMORE TRIED TO ESCAPE ON SHIP AFTER ITS SURRENDER

Rowanmore Tried to Escape, Then Gave Up Chase.

"Sorry, You'll All Drown," Shouts U-Boat Captain.

TWO AMERICANS ON BOARD

Captain Obdurate, Captured at Point of Revolver.

American Consul at Liverpool Obtains Affidavits.

London, Tuesday, Nov. 1.—The British steamer Rowanmore, from Baltimore for Liverpool, sunk last week by a submarine attempted to escape from the attacking undersea boat but the latter continued to shell the ship after she stopped, according to affidavits from members of the crew procured by the American consul at Liverpool.

The principal details of the sinking extracted from a number of affidavits follow:
On October 26 at 8:45 a. m., the steamer was 120 miles from Fastnet when she was burst about her. A moment later she saw the submarine's helm put hard aport, bringing the attacking craft directly astern. After the chase two shells struck the bridge.

The pursuit continued until 9:30 o'clock, five or six shells in the meantime striking the steamer. The captain of the Rowanmore stopped his engines and hoisted signals that he intended to abandon the ship but the submarine continued to shell her as the boats were being lowered, and when they were in the water the occupants were drenched by spray from falling shells.

Threatened to Run Down Survivors.
The submarine then headed for the lifeboats while one of its officers shouted, "Get out of my way or we'll run you down," but averred when near the boats, passed them and then turned back to the command calling out, "I am sorry for you, but you are very foolish. You will probably all drown."

The captain of the Rowanmore was ordered on board the submarine but declined to obey, although the command was given three times until a revolver was pointed at his head. After the captain had been taken on board, the submarine fired a torpedo at the Rowanmore, but the torpedo failed to explode. About three hours later the crew was picked up.

Two Americans were on board. They were George Murphy of Brooklyn and Albert Sessler of Boston. Five Filipinos on board gave Liverpool addresses.

The affidavits of Murphy and Sessler agree in stating that they saw no shells striking the lifeboats after they were clear of the ship, but that they were clear when the sea was very rough. In the documentary evidence the beneficiary of the insurance company of the ship after she had stopped was due to resentment at the failure to abandon her.

LABOR UNIONS GOING TO POLLS ON ONE TICKET

List of Candidates Are Sent Out Over Kansas.

Wilson for President and Against Justice Porter.

GOVERNOR CAPPER ENDORSED

Democratic Congressmen Will Be Given Support.

Supreme Court Decisions of Porter Are Unpopular.

Organized labor will go to the polls Tuesday with a slate. Already the railroad brotherhoods have sent their representatives a list of candidates to whom they will give their support. The big fight of such labor organizations as can be enlisted will be to deliver an organization vote to Wilson for president, to Democratic congressmen and against Justice Silas Porter. The labor vote has endorsed Governor Capper and will support most of the Republican state ticket.

It is probable that the labor organizations will show more interest in next Tuesday's election than in any prior in October to all of the larger towns of the state indicated that the labor organizations will vote heavily in all towns and cities where their vote counts in the general results. In many of the larger railroad towns of the state the registration in railroad precincts has broken records. Now the labor voters are seeking to handle the vote under a slate plan.

All for Wilson.
President Wilson is the one candidate whom the labor organizations will probably give their most united support. The fight for William C. Catherin, president of the railroad brotherhoods and from shop and operating men who will seek to endorse the Democratic ticket because of the support of the Adamson law. An effort is being made, it is asserted, to line up other labor organizations both to support Wilson and the brotherhood slate.

With the support of Wilson, the brotherhoods will in several districts carry the labor vote to support to the Democratic candidates for congress. This move will be especially strong in districts now represented by Democrats in congress and who voted for the passage of the so-called eight-hour law.

Fight on Porter.
One slate was sent out last week. It carried endorsements of Wilson, a Democrat congressman, Governor Capper and J. T. Little for associate justice of the supreme court. The labor men will be asked to support the men endorsed and in many instances, it is probable that voters will vote for the whole slate.

The fight on Justice Silas Porter is said to be confined to certain classes of railroad labor. In one Kansas district a brotherhood representative declared several decisions written by Justice Porter had not been acceptable to the brotherhood. The representative had been marked for slaughter in the election.

Republicans declare they will resist this imposition on Judge Porter for performing his judicial duty, as he sees it, and endeavor to give him a big vote to offset any defection. Members of the labor organizations will be urged to vote the slate on the plea that the slate is non-partisan. In support of this argument, the leaders point to the endorsement of Governor Capper, Republican candidate for re-election.

FIRST DEGREE MANSLAUGHTER TO BE BROUGHT County Attorney Will Charge Johnson-Becker Charge.

Punishable From 5 to 21 Years in Penitentiary.

WEAVERLING BURIAL THURSDAY

Topeka Will Pay Last Tribute to the Dead Boy.

Automobile Drivers Have Entered Plea of "Not Guilty."

W. E. Atchison, county attorney, filed today a design, to effect death, by the preliminary in that the charge of fourth degree manslaughter now standing against J. R. Johnson and Golden Becker in connection with the killing of Jesse Weaverling, will be changed to first degree manslaughter.

Fourth degree manslaughter is punishable by not less than six months in the county jail nor more than two years in the state penitentiary. First degree manslaughter is punishable by a term of from five to twenty years in the penitentiary. "I am satisfied now," said Robert Garver, "that the crime of first degree manslaughter is covered by this accident."

The statute defining first degree manslaughter, reads: "The killing of a human being, without a design to effect death, by the act, procurement, or culpable negligence of another, while such person is engaged in the perpetration of a crime or misdemeanor, not amounting to a felony, in cases when such killing would be murder at the common law, shall be deemed manslaughter in the first degree."

County officials hold that there was "culpable negligence" on the part of Johnson and Becker and that they were perpetrating a misdemeanor, not amounting to a felony, in cases when such killing would be murder at the common law, shall be deemed manslaughter in the first degree.

Johnson and Becker were arraigned in the court of Topeka Tuesday afternoon and pleaded not guilty to manslaughter in the fourth degree. They were released under a bond of $2,000 each.

Must Bring New Case.
In order to change the charge to first degree manslaughter Mr. Atchison said today it may be necessary to dismiss the present cases and bring new cases. That will be done, he intimated, between now and November 14, the day set for the preliminary hearing.

Phillip Becker, proprietor of the Palace garage, and the father of Golden Becker, were today in company with an attorney. They were there when the county officials again visited the scene. Golden Becker went to the court house Tuesday of his own accord, to give a statement to the county officials.

The funeral of Jesse Weaverling will be held today in the residence of J. H. McGovern, at 505 Western avenue. The Weaverling family had just moved to Topeka. The funeral will be attended by a great many people who never knew Jesse Weaverling.

One report declared Maycotte himself had been taken prisoner but this has not been confirmed.

Despite his plea that he was a naturalized American citizen, Jose Diaz, former president of El Paso, has been executed by orders of Gen. Luis Herrera, Carranzista commander at Parral. Diaz's bride returned to this city Tuesday and told the story of the execution.
