Scores of Entertainments Were Provided Last Year.

Bravely out from the safe port and sheltered harbor of the year 1916, sailed the good ship "Topeka Chamber of Commerce" on that memorable day that bade so fair for the coming year and yet which proved but the lull before the breaking storm and turbulent passage of the Straits of '17. Bravely she started and bravely she sailed for more than five long months

Charles L. Mitchell, President.

David W. Mulvane, Chairman of Military Committee.

over a sea whose placid surface was broken only by the little ripples and waves caused by a wayward breeze. Then all of a sudden on the sixth day of April, 1917, there came sweeping from the east a blast whose portent was evil yet good, bitter but pure, and the need came for strong men to gird themselves for the fray that is to shake the world—then did the Topeka Chamber of Commerce stiffen its braces and incline itself with the wind and strong men and true rallied to its call with dollars and dollars and yet more dollars, all flowing freely and with scarcely diminishing stream thru the scuppers of the bark to the service of all civilized mankind thru the armies and navies of these United States.

Theron C. Kirkpatrick, Secretary.
