HOUSE IS G. O. P.

Republicans Have Majority of Over One Hundred.

Be 159 Democrats, 2 Independents and 1 Prohibitionist.

SENATE VICTORY GROWING

Late Returns May Add to Good
Vote Surplus.

Most Committee Changes Due in the House.

New York, Nov. 3.—Republicans will control the house of representatives, which goes into office March 4, 1921, by a majority of more than 100 votes, according to partial complete returns from all over the United States.

In the 435 members of the house, the Republicans will have 273, according to these figures. There will be 159 Democrats, two Independents and one Prohibitionist.

In the present house, the Republicans have a majority of 39 with 233 members to the 194 of the Democrats, Independents and Prohibitionists. There are eight vacancies.

That the general Republican landslide would seat several more Republican senators was predicted confidently by Republican campaign managers whose claims included a majority of eight to ten in the next senate.

Among the Republican leaders re-elected were Senators Vandenberg, Wadsworth, Dillingham, Watson and Penrose.

Comparatively few changes in committee chairmanships are expected to result in either senate or house, but increase of Republican membership and decrease of the Democratic usually follows a marked change in political lineup.

Penrose Holds Job.

Taxation, tariff and other fiscal measures will remain in charge of Senator Penrose, chairman of the senate finance committee, and Representative Pordney, chairman of the house ways and means committee, both of whom were re-elected. Senator Wadsworth of New York is expected to continue as chairman of the senate military affairs committee, and under the seniority rule Representative Kahn of California, also re-elected, would continue in like capacity for the house committee. Most of the important senate committee chairmanships remain in the hands of senators not involved in yesterday's elections. By defeat of Senator Gronous of North Dakota in the primaries, Senator Norris of Nebraska is next in line to head the agriculture. Senator Cummins of Iowa, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, was reported in a hard fight but leading his adversary.

Among prospective changes in house committee heads is possible promotion of Representative McFadden, Pennsylvania banker, who clashed with Skekelon Williams, comptroller of the currency, to the chairmanship of the house banking committee, succeeding Representative Platt of New York, retiring.

CAR SHORTAGE RELIEVED

Average Daily Movement of Freight
Cars Increased 26.1 Miles.

Real progress in the task of relieving the transportation problem in the United States has been reported in the last bulletin of the Advisory committee of the Association of Railway Executives.

The committee reports that the average daily movement of freight cars has been increased from 22.3 miles in February to 26.1 in July, and incomplete statistics available since that time indicate a further increase.

The average load for freight cars has also been increased, the definite figures for all roads are not yet available later than July, when the average load was 29.6 tons.

Improvement on the number of cars in good repair is also reported. The extraordinary effort which has been made to get all the cars possible on their own lines, has assisted also in getting the cars into good repair. It is stated that in September, 30 per cent of the cars were on the lines of their own roads.

On March 1, when the railroads were relinquished by the government, only 21.9 per cent of the cars were on their home lines, as compared with 44 per cent at the end of 1917, when the roads were taken over. Refrigerator cars are the only type in which an improvement in this respect has not been noted.

The return of freight cars to their owning lines as rapidly as it can be done consistently with the demands of traffic was one of the objects set by the railroads when they returned to private management. In general the different roads have provided themselves with the types of cars best suited for the traffic of their respective territories, and car repairs can be made more satisfactorily on the home roads. Therefore, relocation was regarded as important in the program of service.

"For the week ending October 9," says the report, "American railroads handled 1,999,787 cars as compared with 982,171 in the corresponding week of 1919 and 959,722 in the corresponding week of 1918. This is the first time that car loading has exceeded the million mark this year."

Not only did the railroads break a record for total car loadings in the week ending October 9, but according to statistics of the United States geological survey, they also broke the year's record for the number of tons of bituminous coal transported, handling in that week 12,975,000 tons.

VOTE COUNTING WAS SLOW.

Trouble Was Due to Use of Two Ballots.

One factor which operated to slow voting and counting boards down in Tuesday's election was the fact that the two ballots, one with the state and national tickets, the other with the district, county and township tickets, when folded, could not be differentiated by the judges. In order to get the ballots into their proper boxes the judges were compelled to open and scan each one. The delay is said to have amounted to from one to two hours counting time at each precinct in the city.

The Judge at one precinct polling place solved the difficulty by marking in pencil on the outside of the ballot, at "X" to identify the county ticket ballot.

At several of the precincts, judges or clerks with new ideas about how to count ballots, managed to hold up the process while they tried out their systems and frazzled the nerves of the other members of the board.
