life. She becomes such another "Rich Man's Wife" as her mother and finds she is unable to hold her own husband or to even enjoy her own child. Thru suffering and her mother's love she regains all she has lost thru folly and circumstances and her husband as well learns the real joy of a family life and love.

The story was inspired by recent sensational divorces among wealthy couples and the authors, Frank Dixon and Agnes Christine have made of the incidents too well known to the public a story that is filled with heart throbs, gripping drama and light touches of comedy, all the ingredients that are so necessary to a successful play.

There is no need to introduce House Peters to Topekan. He is one of the outstanding stars of the screen who have made a profound impression on the fans here and his role in "The being almost voluptuous in their magnificence and the same can be said of the costumes worn by the feminine members of the cast. It is a veritable fashion show from the start to the very finish. This will be particularly well appreciated by the public when it is said that several scenes of the first part of the film were "shot" during the Southern California Horse show at Los Angeles.

With the feature picture will be shown "Edition No. 84" of the Pathe News. In addition to carrying more scenes of the great fire and sinking of the Titanic by the Titanic recently and the finish of the world's series, all the really up to date news of the week will be included in this premier of all city picture reels. The Shadowland Review will also be added giving the latest "Low Down" on the stars and directors of the screen.

At the Orpheum. It's nobody but Toby Wilson himself. The same old Toby, but not the same old show. Toby has an entirely new show and we'll say an even better show than he has ever shown here with before.

H. R. Seeman, owner of the Toby Wilson show, states that this show is destined to become the best musical tabloid show on the boards in this part of the country. In the cast with Toby are the following persons: Burt Evans, Robert Fleming, James Harrington, William Penderfer, Joe Lee, Emma Bolton, Hazel Wilson, Lila Evans, Bernice Herrington, and Hal Hunter at the piano. However, the above names may not mean anything to the reader, with the exception of Toby and Joe Lee, both of whom have appeared at the Orpheum before, yet each and every one of them are actors to the last letter, and they will prove it in their opening bill "The Call of the Woods." The show is a comedy drama of the type that Toby excels in.

Storm" placed him on the pinnacle of popularity. Claire Windsor is a Topeka girl who has fought her way to stardom making her debut two years ago in Lois Weber productions. Rosemary They is as well known for vamp parts as is House Peters for strong male roles and made a profound impression on Topekan for the way she handled the role of Queen Maggie Le Fay in "The Connecticut Yankee." Other in the support of these three stars and almost as well known here are: Muriel Siedman, Gaston Glass and Baby Richard Hedrick.

Outside the strong story and the cast that is away above par, the production is notable for the richness of its settings, some of the scenes said, engages in no less than six fist fights and performs some daring feats of horsemanship.

At the Novelty. Classy stuff that describes the bill for the first three days of the week and "classier stuff" applies to the bill starting Thursday afternoon and running over Friday and Saturday. With the start of the winter season approaching vaudeville acts of the very highest order are become available and are being booked up. From now on, the Novelty will have acts off the Orpheum and Junior Orpheum time regularly, sometimes as many as three on one program.

Starting Monday the screen portion of the program will be devoted to chapter nine of "The Tinsler Queen" and will be followed by Jessie Millar, billed out over the circuits as "The Modern Orpheus" or "Goddess of Song." She has a voice of exceptional quality and has a program of songs that in addition to being new are well adapted to her tonal qualities. She puts personality into her singing that always carries the public with her.

Hazzard and Oaks are a comedy pair who always "get the hands from out front." Their jokes are original and have that snappy tang that vaudeville fans expect. Arthur Howard and Company present a sparkling little farce sketch entitled "Tangle Tales," that is filled with joy, steps, a song or two as well as a nifty little plot. Cottell and Dowd present a "Bit of Sunny Italy" and that tells it all. It's a real act and worth while. Harry Cornell and the Fay Sisters finish the bill with a musical offering of the highest order presenting "A Symphony in Harmony."

For the last three days of the week the screen will start the show as usual, and chapter six of the historical film serial, "The Days of Buffalo Bill," will be the offering. The feature of the vaudeville bill to follow will be the Ione Kingsbury company of dancers, who will finish the program. These dancers have more than a vaudeville reputation, and have some steps that have not been shown in Topeka. The girls are pretty classy and—well, they're some steppers. The Herneville Brothers have the third position with a musical offering. It is one of the biggest musical acts now on the road, and has one of the best programs. Mabel Harper, "The Funbeam of Vaudeville," assisted by Ethel Fitzpatrick, is another of the big acts to be seen on this program.

MOVIE NOTES

Kathryn Perry won the golden apple for being the most beautiful girl in New York. She found, however, that the gold on the apple, like beauty, was only skin deep.

Wesley Barry, whose latest picture is "Kiss to Riches," has made his debut as a vaudeville actor. According to reports, "Freddie" is as good a two-day artist as he is a screen luminary.

Prohibition may be a failure but the fact remains not a single sea serpent was reported at any of the seaside resorts this year.

Hanford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, and Judge Kenneth M. Leada, director of baseball, were the guests of honor of Halaban & Katz at the world premier of "Skin Deep." Thomas H. Ince's latest release thru First National at the Chicago theater, the other day.

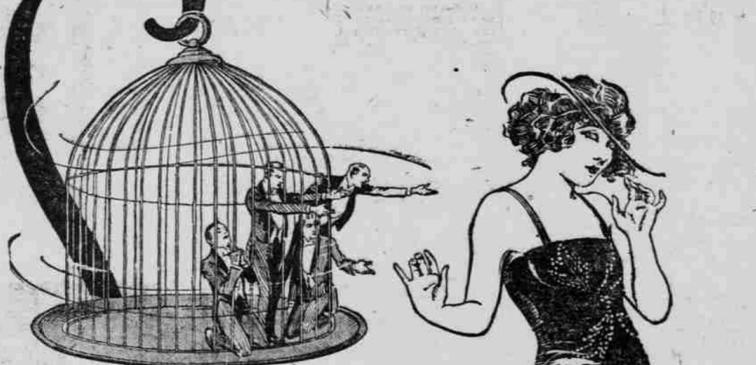

Educational has arranged with Lyman H. Howe for a series of twelve single-reel novelty pictures to be released under the name Lyman H. Howe's Hedge-Fodge. As the name Hedge-Fodge indicates, each reel will consist of several subjects. They will include unique scenic shots, some animation and some trick photography.

"Pawnee" is the name of a new Selznick picture. The actors had no trouble, it is said, in getting into the spirit of the thing.
