U. S. Mars hal Meade Writes to Secretary Bayard.

Major General Terry Placed on The Retired List.—Jake Sharp Dead.

[Special dispatch to the CHAMPION.] ALBUQUERQUE, April 4.—The city election was one of the most hotly contested in many years and resulted in a complete walk over for every candidate on the Republican ticket.

Marshal Meade and posse, who were confined by Mexican officials for 14 days at Janos and then released, without horses, transportation or arms, has written to Secretary of State Bayard, in which he lays before our government in a concise statement, the indignities which they were compelled to undergo.

[Special to the CHAMPION.]

BELLEMONT, April 6.—A man named Haughton, but better known by the nick-name of "Shorty," who has been for some time past employed by the A. & P. R. R. Co., as pumpman at the Belmont station, on Wednesday, while presumably suffering from mania a pota brought on from a long and protracted spree, wandered out into the country. Fearing from his condition that he might commit some rash act to himself, or suffer from exposure, his friends organized a search party, which left Belmont on Thursday morning, and after a prolonged search, found the unfortunate man lying under a tree in a senseless condition. He was brought back to Belmont, but it was feared owing to the exposure endured and his physical weakness, produced from his over indulgence in liquor, that he cannot recover.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Gen. Alfred H. Terry, the junior Major General of the U. S. Army was placed on the retired list of the army to-day. The report of the retiring board was submitted to the President, who immediately approved the same.

Newspapers in 1888.

From the edition of Geo. P. Rowell & Co's "American Newspaper Directory," published April 2d (its twentieth issue), it appears that the newspaper and periodicals of all kinds issued in the United States and Canada, now number 16,310, showing a gain of 890 during the last 12 months and of 7,137 in 10 years.

The publishers of the directory assert that the impression that when the proprietor of a newspaper undertakes to state what has been his exact circulation, he does not generally tell the truth is an erroneous one; and they conspicuously offer a reward of $100 for every instance in their book for this year, where it can be shown that the detailed report received from a publisher was untrue.

Washington Letter.

[From our regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, April 2, 1888.

This is "woman's week" in Washington and a Washington letter of this date with the International Council of Women left out would be an anomaly. Still, with the space allowed me, even the merest epitome of proceedings would be an impossibility.

The Council has been in full sail for five days; there have been three sessions, so that you see I could not even mention the names of the delegates to this convention with the subjects discussed by each without riveting a list of such a character as would prove very monotonous reading.

But really the women are having a good time and an interesting time in Albano's Opera House. The city is full of distinguished women from everywhere, and this is, by far, the most important gathering of women the world has ever seen. They come from the farthest limits of America, and from across the ocean, from England, France, the Scandinavian Peninsula and from far away Finland.

The object of the conference is to improve the condition of women in the church, the state and the home, and the wide scope of the topics under discussion gives unusual interest to the proceedings. The improvement of their political condition is only one of the matters to be considered, and the attention given to their notable advances in other lines of development has drawn to the city certain representative women and has added to the audience a number of leaders who would not be attracted if the crusade had but a single end in view.

Nothing that pertains to woman is foreign to the business of the conference, and this comprehensiveness of plan, involving a review of what has been accomplished in all lines of development, gives to the gathering a cheerful and congratulatory tone, which might be wanting if political conditions alone were considered.

It was on Tuesday that philanthropies were discussed. The subject of temperance, coming under this head, brought upon the stage many women noted for their work in this cause, Miss Francis Willard, the president of one of the most wonderful organizations that ever sprang into existence leading with a strain of eloquence, which held her audience in chains, broken only by applause. She mentioned that there were now forty district departments and 10,000 unions said she: "We have sharpened our weapons in sight of the enemy, and they are about ground to an edge. We want a national prohibition amendment against the liquor traffic, the Egan and Ishmaelite, the social pariah of this land."

Hannah Whithall Smith, another woman known throughout the country for her share in gospel temperance, diplomatically inveigled her audience into endorsing en masse a resolution calling to the governments of the civilized world to protect the Congo Free State from the flood of poisonous gin which was being poured in upon the unsuspecting and bi-bulous natives. The resolution was adopted unanimously, for the good lady refrained from calling a negative vote on the ground that it would be an insult that any one present would vote "no."

The public buildings all over the city are all draped with emblems of mourning, this time for Justice Waite, the late Chief Justice of the United States. The Waite obsequies, which were simple, but imposing, took place on Wednesday, at noon, in the hall of the House of Representatives.

They were attended by both houses of Congress and the higher government officials who occupied the floor of the House, while the public galleries, were filled with the families of Senators and Representatives, two tickets of admission having been issued to each Senator and Member of Congress for distribution. The reserved galleries, such as the President's Press and the Diplomatic, were occupied by those for whom they are set aside.

In the Senate on Monday, a bill appropriating $5,000 to defray the funeral expenses of the late Chief Justice was passed without debate. His remains were sent to Toledo, accompanied by six of the Associate Justices, a Congressional Committee, and a part of the Ohio delegation. It is probable the House will begin debate on the Mills tariff bill to day and that the discussion will last until the last of May, when the measure will either be defeated or passed by that body. From present indications it would not be safe or wise to venture a more encouraging prediction.

Simmons Liver Regulator

Is what the name indicates a "Regulator" of that most important organ, the Liver. Is your liver out of order? Then is your whole system deranged, the breath offensive, you have headache, feel languid, dispirited and nervous, no appetite, sleep is troubled and unrefreshing. Simmons Liver Regulator restores the healthy action of the liver.

Wool Sales.

The wool sales for the past week were 2,696,300 pounds, including both foreign and domestic. Oregon wools have been quiet, and the sales are reported to have been only 22,000 pounds of Eastern. Fall California wools have been moved freely, but at very low prices. The principal sales have been about 9 cents for wool about one year old, which has been a complete drag on the market for a long time past. In all, some five hundred and fifty thousand pounds have been sold. In spring wool nothing of consequence has been done, and the stocks are small.

The Devil Fish Described by Hugo

Is not a more tenacious monster than malaria, whether it takes the form of chills and fever, bilious remittent, ague cake or dumb ague. Like the octopus of the story it claps the victim in its tentacles, and holds him closer and closer in a horrible embrace. Attacked with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, however, it gradually relaxes its tremendous grip, finally abandons it, and the quondam sufferer, liberated at last, rejoices in the sense of new born freedom, engendered by the restoration of complete health. Dyspepsia, too, and constipation, those old and remorseless, enemies of the human family, give ground, and are finally driven from the field by this Napoleon of remedies, the greatest, the purest in the family pharmacopoeia. Rheumatism succumbs to it, so do kidney troubles. The nerves, when over strained, regain quietude and vigor by its aid, and the ability to rest tranquilly and eat with zest are increased by it. Resort to it in time and avoid unnecessary suffering.

Renews Her Youth.

Mrs. Phoebe Chesley, of Peterson, Clay Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by the residents of the town: "I am 73 years old, have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not dress myself without help. Now I am free from all pain and soreness, and am able to do my own housework. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth, and removed completely all disease and pain." Try a bottle, 50c, and $1 at D. J. Brannen & Co.'s Drug Store.

Rheumatism

Is undoubtedly caused by lactic acid in the blood. This acid attacks the fibrous tissues and causes the pains and aches in the back, shoulders, ankles, knees, hips and wrists. Thousands of people have found in Hood's Sarsaparilla a positive cure for rheumatism. This medicine, by its purifying action, neutralizes the acidity of the blood, and also builds up and strengthens the whole body.

Let Her Go, Gallagher.

The familiar expression, "Let her go, Gallagher," had its origin some thing over a year ago in New Orleans. It was during the strike of the car drivers. The Gallagher, whose name is now a household word was the first driver to start a car from the depot in opposition to the wishes of the strikers. He stood on the front platform, one hand on the brake lever, the other holding the lines, while a mob of malcontents tried to howl him down from his stand. "Let her go, Gallagher!" the superintendent called out when the time for starting came, and Gallagher let her go. This broke the back bone of the strike, and in a day or two every car in the city was running as usual.—Ex.
