Authentic Information.

Landlady to attic floor, back, a newspaper humorist—Will you have another piece of the liver, Mr. Burr?

Stranger to young Mr. Darwin—Will you kindly tell me the time, sir? Young Mr. Darwin (consulting his watch, a Waterbury)—Aw, just twelve, sir.

Man in an unreasonable animal when you come to figure him down, said Brother Gardner as the meeting quietly opened and Trustee Pullback finally got seated.

Waydown Bebee buys a boss. He scripps on de hay in on de wagon, law an' he back, if de contrary an' de case, Sammel kin sleep till 9 o'clock in de mornin' an' loaf all de rest of de day.

Shopping Styles. Lady and Woman. Mrs. Lynn Linton calls attention to the curious fact that whereas fifty years ago gentlemen said "mamma" and were called "ladies," while lumber people said "mother" and were called "women," we have now made a kind of verbal somersault.

Another Fellow. It was the day after election. An usually respectable appearing citizen strolled limpingly down Madison street. Mr. Citizen just now looked the reverse of respectable.

Stockmen! Attention! I will give you special bargains in Ranches and Ranges. Patented Ranches for sale, with or without stock. Can furnish Bulls or Stallions, thoroughbred or grades, at reasonable prices.

STYLES IN STATIONERY.

The Proper Thing in Note Paper and Cards. "ETCHING PAPER" THE LATEST THING OUT. Varieties of Gentlemen's Visiting Cards.

Styles in stationery have not materially changed from last season, though some of the distinctions are a little more marked. New varieties of note paper with florid decorations, eccentric dimensions, and conspicuous tints are produced, but fail to become standard.

It may have a rough cloth finish or a peculiar rough effect known as "parchment vellum." Quite the latest paper used is a so called "etching paper," which has a rough surface with various irregular depressions, and rougher still, almost like Bristol board, is the so called hand made parchment.

The same styles, too, are carried out in the thin lined papers for those who like a thin paper for the purpose of letter writing. In all notes of invitation or regret and formal correspondence the heavier varieties are employed.

Wedding invitations are in every respect the same, engraved on a sheet, note size, which folds once, to be inclosed in the envelope. This envelope contains sometimes three cards besides the invitation proper—the card to be presented at the church door, another for the reception at the house, and a third which may give the future at home day of the bride.

Two Classes of Russian Priests. The priesthood of the Russian church is composed of two classes, the white and black clergy. The latter are monks belonging to the several orders of religious seclusion, and from their numbers all the bishops and higher ecclesiastical officials are chosen.

A Famous Old Ship. It is an interesting fact that the old British war ship, in which Mr. Darwin circumnavigated the world, and began those speculations which revolutionized science, is now a Japanese training ship.

Words Were Unnecessary. Robert (who was at the office very late last night)—My dear, have you seen anything of my letters? Elizabeth (who was at the office very late last night)—Yes, love, they are down here on the hat rack.—Life.

THE RUSSIAN CENSOR.

Examining Letters and Newspapers. OBJECTIONABLE MATTER BLOTTED OUT. A Contemptible Feature of the Administrative System.

The censor must examine every copy before it is issued to the public. For his convenience, the papers have prior one day in advance. The type of Thursday's paper is set on Tuesday.

All foreign mails are also submitted to the censor, not the same man who reads the local papers, but another, who has his headquarters at a staff of readers at the general postoffice. All newspaper mail is dumped on his table, except that addressed to the members of the diplomatic corps and high officials.

When the censor has read one copy of a paper, The London Times, for example, he tucks it back into the wrapper and throws it up into a basket for delivery, picking up the next paper that comes to his hand.

She was very romantic. Her father was a millionaire, whose life had been devoted to vulgar raising. He was very practical naturally, but all the poetry of her family was right in her.

They have the power to open letters as well as papers, and often exercise it. In fact there is no limit to their power. If a citizen or a foreigner is suspected of sympathy with the revolutionary element, or is supposed to be in communication with agitators, whether at home or in exile, the police give orders to have all his letters delivered to them.

Letters going out of the Russian post-offices are examined, as well as those that come in. All packages addressed to foreign newspapers are opened and their contents read. Correspondents residing in Russia write upon the thinnest sort of stationery, and address the envelopes to individuals or business firms, so as to avoid the espionage of the police, who destroy everything that in any way reflects upon the administrative system.

His First Day's Fight.

The constant hissing of the bullets, with their sharp ping or buzz whispering around and sometimes into us, gave me a sickening feeling and a cold perspiration. I felt weak around my knees—sort of faintness and lack of strength in the joints of my legs, as if they would sink under me, writes Mr. Goss in his "Recollections of a Private."

"About 11 o'clock we saw emerging from the little ravine to the left of Fort Magruder a swarm of Confederates, who opened on us with a terrible and deadly fire. Then they charged upon us with their peculiar yell.

Her Hair Drags Two Feet. Miss Laura Burns, of Martinsville, Ind., is probably the only woman in the United States whose natural hair has attained a length of seven feet. It is very heavy, and is of a light brown color.

Mrs. Clara S. Cochrane, who was recently ordained to the ministry at Bath, N. H., pursued the regular course of study in the theological seminary at Meadville, Pa., in company with her husband, Rev. L. D. Cochrane, who is now pastor of the Unitarian church at Littleton.

Miss Louise Lawson is a talented sculptor in Albany, N. Y. She has been commissioned to design a fountain for Washington, and is also engaged upon the statues of several distinguished public men.

The accumulation of wealth, estimated at 14 per cent. of the gross earnings of mankind, now aggregates $5,000,000,000 per annum, and is increasing, relatively as well as absolutely, from year to year.

Rapidity of Thought. The learned Dr. McKatell, in an elaborate article in The Nineteenth Century, on the rapidity of thought, states that it requires one-thirtieth of a second to judge between blue and red. If the doctor had ever noted the fine taken by a woman in choosing the right shade of ribbon for her spring bonnet, he would not have been led into so glaring an error.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

A High Toned Dynasty. The most high toned dynasty in the world is that of Japan, according to a Japanese lecturer in the Berlin Academy of Oriental Languages. The mikado is descended from the gods, and is the 121st of his race. The national religion, Shintoism, possesses 8,000,000 gods and saints, and there are 126,000 temples.

The Cane Has Gone.

The really high caste London swell has "cursed his stick and cast it out." Swagger Englishmen no longer appear in public with canes of any description. The collection of choice silver topped and natural wood weapons they drew mental sustenance from through so many seasons has suffered a temporary divorce from the fashionable toilet.

"The collapse of the stick is attributable to the wholesale adoption of imitation costly canes by the London clerk and petty tradesman.

An American Singer Abroad. Mrs. Belle Cole, the American contralto, has the finest tenor in London. An experienced and daring horsewoman, she is to be seen every afternoon whirling in her stylish phaeton through Hyde park, the admiration of lords, ladies and boi polloi, who gaze in dumb astonishment at the prowess with which the famous singer puts her splendid legs through his paces.
