HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The following Committee on Elections was read from the journal (the same being the appointment of the chairman on Thursday, Mr. Beardsley):

Messrs. Payne, of Alabama, Elmer, of New Jersey, Vinton, of Ohio, Chapman, of Virginia, Newton, of Virginia, Hamlin, of Maine, Ellis, of New York, Douglass, of Illinois, and Garret Davis, of Kentucky.

Mr. Vinton was subsequently excused, and Mr. Schenck, of Ohio, substituted.

AMENDMENT OF THE JOURNAL.

This question came up again as the unfinished business, the same being the amendment of Mr. Gilmer to the motion of Mr. Barnard in reference to the minority protest. This was rejected by yeas and nays.

Mr. HAMLIN, of Maine, moved that the Clerk, in recording this day's proceedings, be directed not to insert this protest at full length.

Mr. WINTHROP, of Massachusetts, expressed his astonishment at this motion. By the Constitution a minority of one-fifth might be heard on the journal. It was a privilege of which they could not be deprived. He demanded the yeas and nays.

Mr. GILMER, of Virginia, talked about having the protest fairly put on, &c.

Mr. HAMLIN, of Maine, contended that the protest had no right upon the journal, and the House could instruct the Clerk how their record should be made up.

Mr. BARNARD said the House had already perpetrated an act of nullification, and now it was proposed to add another.

After some further debate, Mr. WELLS moved the previous question, in order to get rid of the subject.

Mr. C. J. INGERSOLL moved that the whole subject be laid upon the table.

Mr. BARNARD asked for the yeas and nays; and this motion was rejected by 95 to 83.

Mr. WISE (the previous question having been withdrawn) informed the House that the whole difficulty in the case arose from a supposition that there was a House on Monday, whereas there was not, [what a wonderful abstraction!]

Mr. BARNARD said the Constitution of the United States required the "House of Representatives" to choose a Speaker, and therefore, that there was a "House" on Monday.

Mr. WISE went on to argue the contrary. Mr. DAVIS, of Kentucky, replied, and briefly recapitulated the history of this case; he declared that the protest could not be stricken from the journal. It was part of the resolution of the gentleman from New York (Mr. Barnard), and it was a violation of his right thus to divide a part of it, excluding the remainder.

Mr. CLINGMAN, of N. C., replied to Mr. Wise.

Mr. WELLS again called the previous question, and the call was sustained.

The main question was the motion of Mr. Gilmer to "expunge and draw black lines" across the protest on the journal of Monday. The House sustained this motion.

The next question was the motion of Mr. HARALSON, of Ga., to expunge the protest of Tuesday's journal.

Mr. BARNARD demanded the yeas and nays, and this motion was likewise sustained, by a vote of 92 to 82.

Mr. CAMPBELL then submitted a long resolution to amend the journal of Monday last by inserting his efforts and action in endeavoring to arrest the calling of the General Ticket members.

The SPEAKER decided this motion not to be in order.

Mr. DROMGOOLE, of Va., then submitted a proposition that hereafter nothing be placed upon the journal when the House have taken direct action upon the subject, and refused to entertain it. [This is as briefly as we can state the proposition, which is, in fact, to make a new rule.]

Mr. WINTHROP, of Mass., shewed that, with such a rule, the House might act a whole day and the journal would not shew the subject of their action.

Mr. BARNARD, of N. Y., spoke briefly, and with much spirit, against this arbitrary attempt to violate the rights of the minority. He was glad, however, that the question had finally taken this tangible shape; the country would know how to characterize it. This effort on the part of the majority to deprive the one-fifth of their constitutional right in reference to the journal was without parallel or precedent.

Mr. WHITE, of Ky., after shewing how this proposition conflicted with the Constitution, which could not be "ruled" out in any code of parliamentary regulations, asked the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. Dromgoole), what sort of a record he supposed could be made up of the proceedings of this House, under such a rule as he proposed? The record would be absurd.

This question was further debated by Messrs. NEWTON of Va., HALE of N. H., and another gentleman, whose name we did not learn. Mr. Hale suggested that a motion, made a few days since, for printing the Message in the Dutch language, might, had the mover called the yeas and nays upon it, have required that the message in Dutch should be spread upon the journal. [What then, would the journal have been defiled?]

On motion of Mr. WELLS, the House adjourned.

SPECTACLES.—My attention has been called to an article in the public papers and circulated in handbills about this city, called Periscopic Spectacles, said to be constructed in accordance with the philosophy of nature, in the form of a Concavo-Convex Ellipsoid. What is meant by the philosophy of nature may be hard to tell, but certainly they are at variance from the laws or principles of Optics, as certainly no Ellipsoid can converge the rays of light to a perfect focus. They are said not to be the French meniscus or Wollaston's periscopic (one and the same construction of glasses). The meniscus lens is a truly ground surface, concave on one side; the other side, possessing a greater degree of sphericity, consequently becomes a magnifying glass. This species of glass will converge the rays of light the same as a double convex lens. The application of this form of lenses in the shape of Spectacles, gives the eye a greater field of vision.

The celebrated Dr. Brewster, in speaking of these Spectacles says that they give decidedly more imperfect visions than common spectacles, because they increase both the aberration of figure and of color; but they may be of use in a crowded city in warming us of the oblique approach of objects. Now, as spectacles are intended to assist nature, and the Eye, the most perfect masterpiece of Divine Mechanism, (in its natural state,) every part has the very form and office which the laws of optics require for the most perfect vision of an object. Is it not preposterous to apply a piece of bent concavo or convex glass without true form or figure to its assistance? On the contrary, it is not reasonable to conclude that their continued use would destroy the eye entirely? Spectacles are probably the most ancient of all optical instruments, and yet has undergone the least change of any. The subject has been well considered by Opticians throughout all Europe for ages, and the general conviction is that a truly ground concavo or convex lens is the most suitable for assisting decaying or unnatural visions of the human eye. R. PATTEN.

The subscribers have for sale at their manufactory, on Pennsylvania avenue, south side, between 10th and 11th streets, a general assortment of the best of Spectacles, with truly ground glasses. Glasses of the best quality fitted to old frames, &c. Also, Surveyor's Compasses, Levels, and Drawing Instruments, of the best quality.

I have the pleasure to acknowledge your kind favor of the 1st ultimo, by the hand of my friend, Mr. J. Armstrong, and with it your most esteemed present, a package of your Hoarhound Candy, for which I receive my sincere thanks. I am gentlemen, very respectfully, Your friend and obdt servt, ANDREW JACKSON. Messrs. Pease & Sons. Washington, April 6, 1843.

WHEN WILL THE PUBLIC CEASE TO BE HUMBLED?—P. W. BROWNING, Merchant Tailor, in opposition to all humbuggers, most respectfully requests members of Congress and strangers visiting the city, not to purchase their clothing before calling to examine his large and superior stock of French and English Cloths, Cassimeres, and Vestings of the latest styles; as he is prepared to prove to them, that he is selling the same article of clothing from 20 to 25 per cent. cheaper than certain dry goods storekeepers that wish to take the trade out of the tailors' hands by holding out false pretences to the public, that they are selling suits of clothes from $10 to $20 cheaper than they can be purchased elsewhere. I want to know how it is possible for any set of men that have no practical knowledge of the business to sell clothes cheaper than practical tailors—men that know no more about making coats than they know about laying brick—notwithstanding all their arrangements with the celebrated tailors to cut and make their clothes, and their great facilities for buying goods, unless they have a facility for buying without paying for them? I am determined to undersell them, and not to sacrifice my trade, to such an avicious set of men until the last dollar is gone! All I ask is for you to call and examine for yourselves.
